HURRICANE KATRINA FROM YOUTH P.O.V.

By: Kayla Emerson

Hurricane Katrina is a very sad and devastating incident. I wish I could be there to help all of the homeless people. They have to be very unhappy about all of this, I know I would be! I am just so very thankful that the Lord has given me all that I have. Here is a prayer, "Jesus in Heaven please help all of those Hurricane Katrina victims, please help them all find homes, shelters, their families, food and water and please make sure they all turn out to be healthy and well... amen!"

And to everybody who reads this, please try to help out with this disaster. I have donated a dollar to them, my high school, Hicksville High, has made over $1,900 to send to help with Hurricane Katrina. Please help out! Just think if this happened to you, wouldn't you want people to help you?

Katie Jackson of Antwerp won the 50/50 drawing. We had several other winners from nicest tractor to surprised it runs, with lots of others winning door prizes. ROYAL NEIGHBORS GRANDPARENTS NIGHT-GREAT TIME

The Royal Neighbors of America held their grandparents Family Night Supper at the VFW Hall in Antwerp. Everyone enjoyed Lee's Famous Chicken, Mashed potatoes & gravy and a lot of other covered dishes & desserts, which, of course, were out of this world.

We really had a great time & we played the old corn game after the drawing of the prizes Supreme Camps sent.

The adult prizes were won by Chris Boesch. The junior prize went to Kylee Trauterman, Oracle Lelia's granddaughter. Thank you Supreme Camp for sending the favors for each person there, coffee mugs for adults & watches for the children. Oracle Lelia Trauterman wants to thank R.N.A. Supreme Camp for the great times we've had at all the dinners you support us with.

ROYAL NEIGHBORS HELD DRAWING-MATCHING FUNDS RAFFLE

By: Lelia Trauterman
The Royal Neighbors of America held the drawing for the matching funds raffle.

It was a 50/50 raffle. The winner of the money was Robin Trauterman of Antwerp. He won $335.50.

The Friends of the Park got the other half $335.50. Supreme camp will match that sum and they will get $671.00. Michelle Dooley of Antwerp was present for the drawing and her son Matthew Dooley drew the name for the 50/50. Michelle represented the Friends of the Park. Oracle Lelia Trauterman, wants to thank every one for supporting the raffle, the people who sold tickets and a the people who purchased the tickets. A special thank you to Crystal Drake for printing the tickets, it was really nice of you. Thank you, Oracle Lelia Trauterman.

BOOSTERS SPONSOR CHICKEN BBQ

The Antwerp Academic Boosters are sponsoring a Port-a-Pit chicken BBQ before the football game with Wayne Trace on Friday, September 23. Serving will begin at 4:30 and end at 7:00. The auditeria will be available for those wishing to eat at the school; carry-out meals will also be available. There is a minor cost of the ticket, and this includes 1/2 chicken, two sides, dessert, and a drink. A ticket can be purchased from any pride card holder, in the elementary office, or from Mrs. Detmon, the Academic Booster advisor. There will be a limited number of tickets available to purchase at the door, so we encourage you to buy a pre-sale ticket.

The Academic Boosters is a non-profit organization devoted to recognizing academic excellence and improvement in our junior and senior high school. We currently have 105 students in grades 8-12 who have a GPA of 3.25 or higher, which earned them a pride card. A pride card entitles the students to several perks throughout the year, including a monthly doughnut bar, entry into a monthly raffle, savings bonds for seniors, and an end-of-the-year trip to Cedar Point. The Boosters also help defray the cost of the National Honor Society Induction Ceremony.

As you can see, we need to earn a substantial amount of money through this BBQ to pay for all of the special activities that we offer to these deserving students. So come to the school on the 23rd—the chicken is delicious, you won't have to cook before the game, and you'll be contributing to a worthy cause. The Boosters than you in advance for your support.

Race And Chronic Pain

(NAPSA)—Many Americans aren't dealing with pain. Recent studies show one in five chronic pain sufferers has not seen a doctor about the pain and only one in 20 patients has seen a pain specialist.

Chronic pain is about equally distributed among Americans of all races, according to the researchers. The American Pain Foundation estimates 50 million people in this country suffer persistent pain. However, while about 85 percent of Caucasians and African Americans said they'd gone to a doctor, only 70 percent of Hispanics had. Hispanics are more likely to try to treat chronic pain themselves, particularly those who speak Spanish at home. "The remarkable finding that about one-third of the Caucasians, African Americans and Hispanics who were initially contacted for the study reported persistent pain for at least three months during the past year confirms the magnitude of pain as a national public health problem," said Russell Portenoy, M.D., chairman of the Department of Pain Medicine and Palliative Care at Beth Israel Medical Center in New York.

The survey results showed that perceived low access to care correlated with being Hispanic or speaking Spanish, being younger or male, having low income or limited education, being unemployed, and having financial concerns that prevented pain treatment.

"This study validates what most Latinos have known for a long time—that lack of medical insurance and proficient health education along with language barriers all impede access to care, especially when it comes to pain management," said Venus Ginés, CEO/Founder of Día de la Mujer Latina, Inc. Ms. Ginés is also a breast cancer survivor and has been diagnosed with lupus, a chronic inflammatory disease that can affect various parts of the body, especially the skin, joints, blood and kidneys.

"While pain does not discriminate, it seems access to appropriate treatment does," says researcher Ivonne Fuller. "By identifying factors that can limit access to pain care, studies such as this one help demonstrate the need for improved education and health care services for minorities in pain."

Healthful Snacks The Whole Family Can Enjoy

(NAPSA)—It's never too early—or too late—for parents to set a good example by establishing good eating habits and providing healthful foods for children, especially when it comes to snacks. The United States Department of Agriculture (USDA) guidelines recommend up to two cups of fruits a day, reinforcing the importance of healthful eating for parents and kids.

Many families find the idea of snacking on fruit is one that can really grow on them.

According to Grocery Headquarters, Americans eat an average of five times a day, with snacks accounting for almost half of those occasions. Additionally, Parade lists the four most popular snacks as chips, popcorn, cookies and ice cream. With childhood obesity a growing national concern, it's more important than ever for kids to eat more nutritious foods—and for their parents to make sure healthful snacks are available in the household. However, choosing healthier snacks does not have to mean compromising taste or convenience. Many healthy grab-and-go snack choices appeal to all ages and taste buds.

When a snack attack hits and kids crave something sweet, skip the candy bars and cookies and try a fruit or fruit in gel cup instead. Dole Fruit Bowls offer a wide variety of all-natural, refreshing fruits (like peaches and pears) and fruit in gel combinations (like Mandarins in Orange Gel) that are lower in fat and calories than many other snack foods. These fruit cups are packed in convenient, portable containers that require no refrigeration before opening, making them the perfect grab-and-go snacks for busy kids, teens and adults.

"One regular four-ounce Dole Fruit Bowl is a great way to help consumers reach the USDA's recommended servings of fruit per day and is a healthier way to satisfy cravings and cut calories," said Jennifer Grossman, Vice President, Dole Nutrition Institute.

With kids and parents constantly on the go, Dole Fruit Bowls is an easy way to make sure the whole family eats right whether on the road, in school or at home. Other healthful snack alternatives include nuts and seeds (good sources of protein and beneficial oils), multigrain crackers and yogurt. Whole fruit and vegetables—such as carrots and celery sticks—as well as natural fruit juices, dried fruit and raisins also make for tasty and convenient snack choices.

Select items from among the groups listed in the USDA's food pyramids to ensure that your family eats snacks that are healthful and more nutritious than vending machine fare. No matter what the season, it's always a good time for parents and kids to start making healthier snack choices.

Teaching Your Child Love And Acceptance

(NAPSA)—If you think a pet can teach a child about unconditional love, you're barking up the right tree. A delightful illustration of this can be seen in "Because of Winn-Dixie," a film that shows that acceptance can be found in the most unlikely people and places.

Pets teach children that all animals are individual and unique, just as people are. In the movie, the outcasts and recluses of a little Florida town are brought together by a most extraordinary dog, Winn-Dixie, and a little girl.

Based on the best-selling book "Because of Winn-Dixie," the film is a heartwarming "tail" of a young girl (Annasophia Robb) whose life is changed by a scruffy, fun-loving pooch she names Winn-Dixie. The special bond between them works magic on her reserved dad (Jeff Daniels) and the eccentric townspeople they meet during one unforgettable summer.

Child experts say that pets are not only good companions, they can teach a child compassion. A pet helps a young person develop a sense of responsibility as he or she learns to care for a living creature. Also, pets give love with no expectations and in this way teach unconditional love. No matter how bad your day, how tired or frustrated you may feel, when you come home, there's your dog—tail wagging, ready to give and receive love.

A LESSON FROM THE MOVIES—In a heartwarming film, a young girl and an entire town are changed by a scruffy, fun-loving pooch.

For those who missed the theatrical release of "Because of Winn-Dixie," it is now available on DVD.

PAULDING COUNTY HOSPITAL TO UPGRADE BILLING SYSTEM

Paulding County Hospital's chief financial officer Rob Goshia, reviewed on-going efforts to upgrade PCH's computerized billing system with the hospital trustees at their recent board meeting. "We are investigating options to revise our bills," said Goshia. "Our goal is to make the bills as clear and as easy to understand as possible."

Goshia told the group that the PCH-billing focus group, which included several community residents, had provided valuable input on improving the format of the hospital's bills. "They offered several suggestions on how to improve the format of our bills. We're confident we can incorporate their suggestions," Goshia added.

Goshia continued, whatever computer program is selected to generate the bills it also will provide upgrades to the payroll, medical records, accounts payable, and materials management systems. "In materials management, we are moving toward bar-coding. That would give us the capability to take inventory on-line, at any time," he said. "The more efficient and cost effective our business processes are, the more opportunities we have to devote our financial resources to providing the best in healthcare," Goshia added.

In his monthly financial report, Goshia reported a net loss for July of $27,228 and a year to date profit of $165,856. "The loss was primarily a result of lower than budgeted revenue in outpatient surgery due to the delay in Dr. Strawter's coming on board," Goshia said.

The board approved upgrades to laboratory information systems. The new equipment will cost $11,354.

Hospital CEO Gary Adkins reported that Dr. William Strawter, PCH's recently employed general surgeon, started his clinic on August 22. He is currently able to see patients covered by Medicare, Medicaid, Anthem, and Medical Mutual. "We are continuing work to get him enrolled in additional insurance plans so he can offer his skills to an even larger portion of area residents," Adkins said.

Adkins added that Dr. Strawter is preparing to offer a wound care clinic at the hospital.

LETTER TO THE EDITOR

I am writing in response to a letter I read in your newspaper about the "ignorance" of driving far away to shop. I just could not let this go by with out giving my thoughts. Our fighting men and women through the ages has fought to keep us free, we have freedom to make our own decisions in life and yes believe it or not, even the freedom to shop where we want to shop. I wish people in this world would stop trying to run others lives and just make decisions that effect their lives. I support local stores in our community, but I also like to leave town and shop. If there is ignorance in this, oh well. I guess that's what you get when you have freedom.

Adkins' report also included: PCH is reviewing a contract to install an on-line nursery on the hospital web site as well as adding information about the new Financial Assistance Program and a video tour of several areas in the hospital.

The new Healthy Workplace Program continues to progress with a plan for an in-house health risk assessment submitted to the Program committee for review. The assessment should be completed by the end of October. Once the program is operating successfully at the hospital, it will be offered to the other businesses in the community.

Adkins attended a meeting in August regarding the Bureau of Workers Compensation method of reimbursement to hospitals. The Bureau's proposal is a cost-plus method of reimbursement. This method is a financial positive for the hospital because PCH is a low cost provider.

PCH chief operating officer Randy Ruge shared the architectural plans for the installation of new general x-ray and fluoroscopy equipment and the remodeling of the treatment room with the board. He also reported that Dr. Strawter has already performed his first surgery at PCH.

Board members also reviewed the:

Quarterly Quality Assurance Report;

Quarterly legal compliance audit; and

Most recent customer survey by Press Ganey, Inc. The survey showed a vast improvement in several areas of customer services.

ANTWERP ELEMENTARY PTO NEWS

By: Tianne Pendergrast
Antwerp Elementary PTO
Vice President

It is time for our PTO fund raiser, Pizza Man, again this year. Kickoff will be Thursday, September 15th and all orders will need to be in by Monday, September 26th. Delivery of the items will be approximately three weeks later and the money will be due at that time for the items.

The money raised from this fund raiser is used for the many activities PTO provides during the school year. PTO only has one fund raiser a year and this is it.

Pizza Man had been our fund raiser for a number of years and seems very well received in Antwerp. We will be selling many items such as: pizzas, garlic bread with or without cheese, cookie dough, desserts, chocolate and more.

If you were at the Open House at school a few weeks ago you may have tried some of the goodies. Order your favorites from your child or from a neighbor child in the Antwerp Elementary.

Our next PTO meeting will be October 11th at 7:00 pm. Come and see what we are doing for your child and our school. It takes more than a few people to make PTO work. We still could use some help on some of the event committees, so let us know if you would like to help with one.
