The team of eleven lay evangelists, will be led by Rev. Fuatael Munisi. The purpose of this tour is for these Evangelists to visit throughout the Northwest Ohio Synod to, in Sahili, IN-JILI, when translated, means "Spreading the Gospel of the Lord". The Dodoma Diocese of Tanzania has tripled since 1993, while in the Northwest Ohio Synod, congregations have declined.

Judy Paffenberger, a member of St. John in Toledo and a world traveler, with a personal goal of visiting over 100 countries, wrote the following after returning from a visit to Tanzania last fall with Bishop Marcus Lohrmann:

"Tanzania is not my favorite country and this was not my most fun trip, but, next to the Holy Land, it was the most inspiring. The enthusiasm and faith of the people at the churches we visited was so uplifting and unforgettable. I can see why we want to bring some of the evangelists to visit us here. They have much to teach us.'

The entire group will be at the Schomburg Auditorium at Defiance College at 7:00 p.m. on Tuesday, October 24 for the major gathering. They will share their faith and love of Jesus Christ in song, skits and personal testimony.

LIVING LIKE CHRIST

By: Jeff Shadowen, Westwood Fellowship, Woodburn

Last week we looked at he discipline of study. For the past few weeks we have been alternating between disciplines of abstinence and disciplines of engagement. We have also been going through these disciplines pretty quickly. I will try to continue that pattern for four more weeks (today included), to see if we can finish up this series.

Today we are back to a discipline of abstinence - the discipline of frugality. Do you have to be a Christfollower to be frugal? Definitely not! But practicing frugality as a Christ-follower will give a completely different perspective to the idea of "avoiding the unnecessary expenditure of money."

Why? Because an essential aspect of "trusting in God" is trusting that He will provide all that you need. Note carefully: I just said all that you NEED, not all that you may WANT. The truth is most of us want far more than what we need.

Why is that? One of my favorite quotes (I have shared it on more than once occasion in these columns) is "Enough" by Dot Jackson. She writes – "There is something perverse about more than enough. When we have more, we never have enough. It is always somewhere out there – just out of reach. The more we acquire, the more elusive 'enough' becomes."

For me, this quote describes perfectly where we are in our land of plenty. How can we escape from this "more than enough" environment in which we live? In the Renovare Spiritual Formation Bible, the definition for frugality is tied to that of simplicity in this manner, "Simplicity/ Frugality - The inward reality of a single-hearted focus upon God and His kingdom (simplicity) which results in an outward lifestyle of modesty, openness, and unpretentiousness which disciplines our hunger for status, glamour, and luxury." (frugality)

In other words, it is our clear understanding of the provision of God, our trusting in God, that gives us a foothold in our efforts to renounce "more than enough".

Also, by learning to live with less in this framework, the monies "saved" can be invested in "kingdom work", God's work. As you can see, this type of frugality, as a Christian discipline, is totally different from simple frugality. The "mainspring" is different as well as the end result. In short, God is truly glorified in the discipline of frugality. He is glorified in our lifestyle!

THE SILVER RING THING COMES TO NORTHWEST OHIO

The NW Ohio Youth Collaborative is bringing the Silver Ring Thing to the Defiance Middle School Auditorium Sunday, October 29, 2006. The event is expected to be the largest event of its type to come to NW Ohio and is expected to fill the 1,460 capacity of the Auditorium. The Silver Ring Thing (SRT) is the fastest growing teen abstinence program in the United States and is rapidly gaining international recognition for its high-tech presentation style incorporating music, laser lights, fast-paced video, drama and comedy performances. Through this program, teens are able to understand that abstinence until marriage is the best way to avoid contracting a sexually transmitted disease and to enjoy a richer and more blessed marital life. By offering a message of forgiveness and new beginnings the program reaches out to those teens that have become sexually active and offers an opportunity to embrace a "second virginity."

SRT was founded in 1996 in Yuma, AZ by Denny and Amy Pattyn who felt a burden to address the issue of skyrocketing teen pregnancies. In 2000, SRT moved to Pittsburg, PA and has been traveling across the country and the world inspiring teens to make healthy choices for their future by committing to abstinence until marriage. Their goal is to reach teens and encourage a cultural shift to choose abstinence. This event addresses the issue of sex-saturated teen culture in an attention-grabbing way that teens will not soon forget. Led by a group of teens and young adults, the SRT program reaches teens on their level, in their language.

October 29th offers parents the opportunity to bring their teens (7th to 12th grade) and support the important message of abstinence. There will be a separate presentation for parents and teens during the first half of the program, and then all will join together for the remaining half. At that point, teens will be given the opportunity to make a decision to choose abstinence or strengthen their resolve. Parents are encouraged to attend and keep an open dialogue with their teens about choosing abstinence long after October 29. Anyone concerned about the future of the teens of our community will not want to miss this event. Admission is free (teens should bring some money to purchase a ring) and the program lasts from 4:00 to 7:00 p.m. with registration beginning at 3:15 p.m. A free pizza party will immediately follow the program (7:00-8:00 p.m.) with entertainment from The Atonements. For more information, call Shirley Briggeman at 419-784-9006 or email respect@henry-net.com. You can also pre-register online www.silverringthing. at com. PAGE 4 – WEST BEND NEWS – OCTOBER 18, 2006 JUDGE TIMOTHY PIEPER RUNNING FOR RE-ELEC-TION FOR PAULDING COUNTY COURT JUDGE

By: Mike Knapp

I sat down with Judge Pieper the other day. Judge Pieper was born and raised in Paulding County; he currently resides in Crane Township. He is married to Rae Ann and they have four daughters and one grandson. He currently holds the position as Paulding County Court Judge and loves the position.

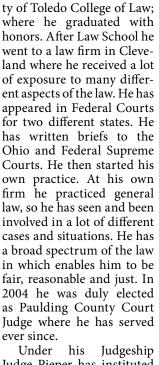

He is very active in the community; he is a member of the Paulding Kiwanis Club, Antwerp Conservation Club, Paulding Methodist Church, Paulding County and Ohio State Bar Associations, life member of the Paulding County Fish and Game Club, and many more organizations.

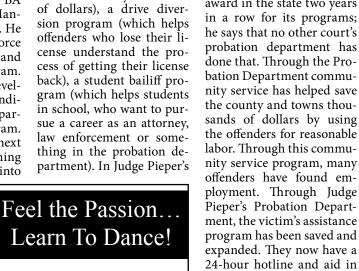

Judge Timothy Pieper graduated from Paulding High School. He then went on to Anderson College pursuing a Christian based education; he received a BA Degree in Business Management and Marketing. He then went into the Air Force where he was an officer and was in the jet pilot program. During this time he developed an inner ear condition, which ended his participation in the program. He then went on to his next goal, which was becoming an attorney. He went into where he graduated with honors. After Law School he went to a law firm in Cleveland where he received a lot of exposure to many different aspects of the law. He has appeared in Federal Courts for two different states. He has written briefs to the Ohio and Federal Supreme Courts. He then started his own practice. At his own firm he practiced general law, so he has seen and been involved in a lot of different cases and situations. He has a broad spectrum of the law in which enables him to be fair, reasonable and just. In 2004 he was duly elected as Paulding County Court Judge where he has served importance of probation. He sees the importance of changing the behavior of the offender. He takes his position very seriously and takes into account all the facts before sentencing. He has instituted nine new programs in the Probation Department, which help the offender to change their behavior. His Probation Department works very closely with the counseling programs in the county so the offender gets the chance and education to change their behavior so they do not become habitual offenders. Judge Pieper has seen that the programs that have been instituted have made a positive difference in the community, that the offenders have become better citizens and people that help the community and not harm it. That is one of the reasons that he became a Judge, because he himself wanted to make a difference in the community. Judge Pieper's Probation Department has won the highest award in the state two years in a row for its programs; he says that no other court's probation department has done that. Through the Probation Department community service has helped save the county and towns thousands of dollars by using the offenders for reasonable labor. Through this community service program, many offenders have found employment. Through Judge Pieper's Probation Department, the victim's assistance program has been saved and

He has seen a lot of changes made to the offenders in becoming better citizens and in turn being a positive influence to the community. Judge Pieper understands the importance of being a good steward of the county's funds. He has utilized various separate funds included in Court costs to complete projects such as a new security system, computerization of the Courtroom, and updating of the employees' computer stations. All of this was done at no cost to the county's general fund monies.

HOLIDAYS AND EVERYDAYS AT ST. JOHN'S AND ST. JOSEPH'S PARISH

Getting through the holidays in the absence of someone you love can be difficult and painful. Expectations for celebration and joy surround the holiday season making feelings of isolation, sadness, and fatigue more prevalent for the bereaved. In addition to the loss of the loved one, bereaved persons may also suffer losses of traditions, customary routines, and special times shared.

Bereaved persons may wonder, "How can I make it through the events of this season while missing so desperately the one I love?" "Would I be better of ignoring the holidays this year?" "Should I act as if everything's normal so that I don't ruin others holidays joy?" "How can I escape this sadness and ease my pain?"

With this in mind, we are offering bereaved persons time to gather and share thoughts, feelings, and ideas about getting through this holiday season.

Our guest presenter for "Holidays and Everydays" will be Wanda Gross, who is with the Paulding Hospice Program. Call for your reservation at 419-399-2576. Ask for Heather.

It will take place on Sunday, November 5 at St. John's Parish Hall, 203 W. Townline St., Payne from 2:00 – 4:00 p.m. This is a free workshop open to all in the community.

POLITICAL SIGNS, OB-JECTS FORBIDDEN IN STATE RIGHT OF WAY

The Ohio Department of Transportation (ODOT) District 1 is advising that the placement of signs or objects within state right of way is prohibited.

The placement of objects is not permitted on state highway right of way under Section 5515.02 of the Ohio Revised Code said Norman R. Redick, ODOT District 1 deputy director.

Each year at this time we see numerous violations of the code. We are especially seeing a number of political signs being placed within the highway right of way outside of municipal corporation limits," said Redick.

The code states that any individual, firm or corporation that uses or occupies any part of a road or highway on the state highway system with lines, pipes or any object or structure, without legal permit, shall remove same from the bounds of the highway.

In accordance with Ohio Revised Code, Redick said highway personnel have been instructed to remove any such signs and objects discovered within the right of way of any state highway. The items will be stored at the local state highway garage for a short time where they may be claimed during normal working hours which are 7:30 a.m. to 4:00 p.m.

Just say no ... to cold weather! Jack Frost is already nipping, and we haven't even gotten through Halloween yet! Oy ... all right, that was my rant for the week. It was a valid complaint, no?

Speaking of just saying no, this coming Monday marks the beginning of Drug Awareness Week. SADD has organized the week's activities, concluding with Friday's themed Character Day. Friday is also the date of fall parties for the elementary classes.

All this Halloween talk is making me feel like bobbing for apples! Now that's a sport at which I could excel. Until they make it official, though, we have plenty of other teams to support! See below for details.

ODOT CREWS READY FOR WINTER WEATHER

While it seems like it's too early in the season, there is snow in the weather forecast. But Ohio Department of Transportation (ODOT) crews are ready. ODOT's preparations began as early as this summer, stocking salt barns, going over routes and training drivers.

"Clearing snow and ice is ODOT's main priority in the winter months," said ODOT Director Gordon Proctor. "Our crews are ready to battle any winter storm, but motorists need to recognize that they too can make a substantial contribution to the roads by exercising extra caution when driving during the winter months.'

How motorists drive during snow and ice conditions is critical in preventing accidents and keeping people safe. The most common causes of crashes during snow and ice season are failure to control, excessive speed and following other vehicles too closely. All of these causes are related to driver error, which means many of the crashes are preventable. Last winter, there were a total of 8,092 accidents attributed to snow and ice on ODOT maintained roads and about 32,000 snow and ice related accidents on all Ohio roads.

"There is no question that inclement weather slows down traffic regardless of our crews treating the roads," said Tony Vogel, ODOT's deputy director for highway management. "That's why, in addition to clearing the roads, ODOT works to provide as much information as possible so motorists can plan ahead and allow extra travel time during snow and ice season."

ODOT calculations show that travel times can be up to 33 percent longer during inclement weather. To help them plan ahead, motorists are strongly encouraged to use ODOT's Web site www. buckeyetraffic.org. The site is a one-stop shop for lane closure information, road conditions and traffic cameras. During snow and ice events, road conditions are updated as often as necessary, with information such as current weather, roadway surface temperature, general roadway conditions, traffic speed and how many ODOT trucks are working in the area. The winter weather portion of the site is operational between November 1 and April 15 each year. ODOT can activate it sooner if weather conditions warrant it. The information is real-time data from every county of the state. The technology combines solar, wind and conventional power with cellular and radio frequency to transmit weather and pavement conditions every three to five minutes via ODOT's Buckeye Traffic Web site.

Although last winter started with several major storms, overall, it was a mild winter. The department spent $40.1 million statewide clearing state-maintained highways and used almost 500,000 tons of salt. ODOT typically spends about $56 million annually and uses about 650,000 tons of salt.

ODOT has more than 1,500 trucks and 3,200 drivers to cover 38,800 lane miles of highway across the state. In addition, ODOT's 230 salt barns are stocked with about 500,000 tons of salt.

that abstinence until marriage is the best way to avoid contracting a sexually transmitted disease and to enjoy a richer and more blessed marital life. By offering a message of forgiveness and new beginnings the program reaches out to those teens that have become sexually active and offers an opportunity to embrace a "second virginity."

SRT was founded in 1996 in Yuma, AZ by Denny and Amy Pattyn who felt a burden to address the issue of skyrocketing teen pregnancies. In 2000, SRT moved to Pittsburgh, PA and has been traveling across the country and the world inspiring teens to make healthy choices for their future by committing to abstinence-until-marriage. Their goal is to reach teens and encourage a cultural shift to choose abstinence. This event addresses the issue of sex-saturated teen culture in an attention-grabbing way that teens will not soon forget. Led by a group of teens and young adults, the SRT program reaches teens on their level, in their language.

October 29th offers parents the opportunity to bring their teens (7th to 12th grade) and support the important message of abstinence. There will be a separate presentation for parents and teens during the first half of the program, and then all will join together for the remaining half. At that point, teens will be given the opportunity to make a decision to choose abstinence or strengthen their resolve. Parents are encouraged to attend and keep an open dialogue with their teens about choosing abstinence long after October 29th. Anyone concerned about the future of the teens of our community will not want to miss this event. Admission is free (teens should bring $15 to purchase a ring) and the program lasts from 4:00 to 7:00 pm with registration beginning at 3:15pm. A free pizza party will immediately follow the program (7-8 pm) with entertainment from The Atonements. For more information, call Shirley Briggeman at 419-784-9006, or email respect@henry-net.com. (Continued from Last Week)

Paulding facility became the Peninsular Division for General Portland. In 1961 Cement City closed its doors. In 1980 General Portland contracted with Systems Technologies Corporation to supply fuel for the use in the kilns. They later changed their name to Systech. In 1982 Lafarge bought out General Portland and in 1986 purchased Systech. General Portland changed its name to Lafarge but Systech kept their name. And now here we are 50 years later and Lafarge and Systech are still operating together at the Paulding plant.

Now onto my interview with Geoff and Ben, they tell me that the Lafarge Paulding Plant has enough resources to keep production for 100+ years. They reclaim the land back to nature when they are finished with a pit. They refill it with a by-product of the operation called cement kiln dust (ckd) and they put topsoil over it and plant grasses and trees that are native to the area. They set aside areas for Pheasants Forever and other native animals to the area. Some of the pits will be filled with water and made a lake out of and some will be made into wetlands. Lafarge is a very environmentally friendly corporation and the Paulding plant continues to give back to nature what it can. When they are finished with a pit, it will be the same as they found it or sometimes better, because of the different grasses and plants that are introduced back into it. They progressively reclaim the land back to nature in sections. They do not wait until the very end to reclaim; it is a work in progress venture. There is no waste in the processing of materials that they dig up, either they use it for their own purpose or they sell what they cannot use to someone that can use it. Everything that they dig up they use, there is no waste of resources.

In 1979-1980 they began to use liquid fuel quality waste (FQW) as a fuel for their kilns. They use about 25 million gallons of FQW a year in the fuel in their kiln process, this is about 25 million gallons of waste that is not dumped into a landfill. They constantly monitor the burning process of the fuel to ensure complete consumption; they can turn off the fuel at an instant if something arises. 80% of the fuel that they use is this FQW, by using this alternative fuel, their dependency for fossil and non-renewable fuel sources is dramatically reduced.

There are four basic components to make cement limestone (which they get out of the quarry) aluminum (which they get from the clay in the quarry) iron (which they get from a by-product of the iron ore industry) and sand (which they get from a by-product of the foundry sand industry). Fundamentally three of the four basic ingredients of cement come from a by-product of someone else's industry. Lafarge supplies a service to use the by-products of other industries so that those byproducts will not get dumped in a landfill. Both of their main fuels are also by-products of other industries, the liquid hazardous waste (paint thinners, fingernail polish remover, discarded oils and byproducts) and petroleum coke (which is a by-product of the petroleum industry).

There are three companies on the Lafarge grounds, Lafarge, Systech (which blends the hazardous fuels for the kilns), and Hanson Aggregate (which uses the cap rock that Lafarge digs up). There are roughly 120 people working at the Lafarge facility. The employees there are very dedicated, loyal and supportive of the community and the facility. Lafarge is a part of the Paulding Chamber of Commerce and the Paulding Economic Development group. Every year they sponsor youth groups and sports and are a very big sponsor of the Environmental Council of Ohio, which sponsors teachers all over the state for education on the environment and the impacts of the environment. They also sponsor high school teams on environmental issues and identifying wildlife, trees and all things of nature. Lafarge was a big sponsor for the Friendship Park in Antwerp, they donated all of the cement used to make the Skateboard Park in Paulding, and they donated to the batting cages at Fairview. They are a part of the community and the community has supported them all these years and they are happy and willing to support the community in all that they can.

of Paulding County.

The Paulding plant basically makes two kinds of cement, a Portland cement, which is used for building purposes, and they make a masonry cement, which is used in between bricks to hold them in place. They make about a half a million tons of cement a year, most of their cement goes out in bulk by truck and the masonry cement is bagged at the facility and goes out in bags. They are most busy in the summer time when the construction business is heaviest. In a day they produce about 2,000 tons of cement and have the capacity to ship over 3,000 tons per day. Cement is the binding agent in concrete; it is what holds concrete together.

The people that work there are highly skilled and committed to the facility and to their community. They are a very close-knit group of people, they not only see each other at work, but they also see each other at ball games and at the park, they are truly a part of the community and a close group of people. The Lafarge Group worldwide has 80,000 employees in 80 different countries. Lafarge is the #1 producer in the world of Portland cement and it is #2 in production of construction aggregates and soon it will be #1 in gypsum wall board production with a plant opening up soon in the United Sates. Even though Lafarge is worldwide, each division is locally operated, so the people at the Paulding plant are the same people that are in the community. The people at the Paulding plant are very proud of the division that they work at. In 2005 the Paulding facility was recognized as #1 in the Lafarge Group as the plant with the highest alternative fuel consumption, 80% of the fuel that they use is the

When the clinker comes out of the kiln, it is still about 1,800 degrees and still to hot to process, so they put it into an air quench process to cool it down to 300 degrees, a more manageable temperature. The hot air that they get off the clinker in the air quench box is returned to the kiln; truly they do not waste anything. After cooling you have the finished clinker. After this process there are different additives added to the clinker to get the final result. These additives and the clinker are then sent to a finish grinder, which grinds and mixes the clinker and the additives and what comes out is the finished cement. This is sent to storage where it is either put into trucks or as in the case of the masonry cement, it is bagged. This is pretty much the whole process of making cement in a nutshell. As always, it was a very educational experience for me and I am grateful to Geoff Fehr and Ben Fogle for the time that they gave me, it truly was a wonderful experience.

LINDSAY HEFNER: REPUB-LICAN CANDIDATE FOR COUNTY AUDITOR

By: Mike Knapp

I sat down with Lindsay Hefner the other day. The statement that Lindsay has on her candidate brochure sums up who Lindsay is and her goals, if elected.

"I am honored to have been elected as your Republican candidate for Paulding County Auditor. I take this responsibility very seriously and am excited about the possibility of serving all citizens of Paulding County.

"In this time of political campaigning I assure you that I am not a politician. My only promise to you is that I will provide you with friendly and professional access to the county auditor's office.

"For the past seven years I have served a select group of Paulding County citizens through my position at Payne Equity. I have developed a good working relationship with the customers that I have the privilege of serving.

"Given the opportunity I will work equally hard in the auditor's office at creating a rapport with every citizen of the county. I would be honored to serve you as the next Paulding County Auditor."

Lindsay has lived in Payne since 1998 and has two daughters. She has worked at Payne Equity for 7 ¹/₂ years and has performed all of the administrative duties at the equity; she has been office manager since 2003. Her duties have included banking (reconcile accounts, lock in interest rates on borrowed money, manage cash flow between banks and ACH and wiring), managing customer accounts (payments to farmers, purchase contracts with farmers, manage patronage balances), accounts receivable, accounts payable, receive, grade, and settle inbound grain, generate month end and year end reports, and assist customers in office and on the phone. She loves working with the farmers that she comes into contact with and she enjoys meeting and helping the people of the community. She is a graduate of Ohio State University with a bachelors of Science degree in business administration with a specialization in accounting. She is interested in governmental accounting and this is one of the reasons she is interested in the auditor's office.

She is a self-motivated, hard worker who goes above and beyond what the job calls for and with her education and experience she is fully capable of learning the job of County Auditor and will learn all of the aspects of that job. She has spent time with our current auditor researching all that she can for the job. She sees this as an opportunity and a position that is made for her and one that she will fit right into. If elected, she believes that she can and will do good for the county and it's people.

Some of her goals for the office are to continue the excellence exhibited by current auditor and staff, build on the accessibility of information already available on the auditor's website, provide herself as a resource to the people of Paulding County, serve the citizens in a friendly manner and handle each situation individually, and work hand in hand with other elected officials in balancing each department budget.

Lindsay is looking forward to being your County Auditor.

LOU ANN WANNEMACHER REPUBLICAN CANDIDATE FOR PAULDING COUNTY TREASURER

By: Mike Knapp

I sat down with Lou Ann the other day. She is active in the community and has been a 4-H advisor for 20 years. A former Farm Bureau board member, member of St. John the Baptist Catholic Church, she helps at the school by chaperoning students, and is very involved in the community. She has lived in Payne for 26 years with her husband Tom. They are the parents of 4 children. Tom runs a full time farm business and she keeps the books for the business.

Lou Ann's experience is extensive in the position that she is running for. She has worked for Paulding County for almost 10 years. Her first 6 years she worked for the OSU Extension (she was an administrative assistant doing all of the newsletters and accounts payable and receivable, balancing all of the books, balancing budgets and grants for four county agencies), for 2 years she worked for the Paulding County Economic Development (she was in charge of newsletters, sending them out to businesses letting them know what we have to offer in Paulding County) currently she works at the Treasurer's Office as a Deputy Clerk to the Treasurer for the past 2 years. At the Treasurer's office she is in charge of daily balancing of multiple accounts with the Auditor's Office, such as, obtaining pay-ins from the Auditor's Office, working closely with the bankers on redeeming warrants, accurately recording pay-ins and warrants into the proper accounts, obtaining interest from banks for Certificates of Deposit Accounts and Money Market Accounts, spreadsheet balancing interest earned from all the investment accounts, and developed a more up to date computerized process of billing for the Personal Property Tax collection, as well as, maintaining a weekly balance with the Auditor's Office. She is very adept in working with the computer; she loves the challenge of taking work that used to be done by hand and setting up programs on the computer to do them, which cuts down on waste and time. She is working on getting a website together for the Treasurer's Office so people can go to the website and get various information, pay their taxes online and see where the investments are going and how they are doing. She just loves working on the computer. With her computer knowledge she has streamlined many processes in the Treasurer's Dept. She has 11 credit hours for the Treasurer's position already, taken classes at the Center for Public Investment Management, and Deputy Treasurer classes. If elected she will build upon what the current Treasurer has started in the Office. She has worked with many county entities and sums of money. She is very detailed oriented, she loves a challenge and is looking forward to working with the people of the community. She is currently working under the present Treasurer so she knows and understands what the position entails and the ins and outs of the position. She has been fully endorsed and supported by the current Treasurer (Betty Layman). Lou Ann is looking forward to serving the community as Treasurer of Paulding County.

WACHTMANN AGAIN NAMED 'WATCHDOG OF THE TREASURY'

State Senator Lynn Wachtmann (R-Napoleon) was recently honored with the 2005-2006 "Watchdog of the Treasury Award" by the United Conservatives of Ohio (UCO) for his commitment to lower taxes, greater efficiency in government, and accountability to Ohio's taxpayers.

Senator Wachtmann has received this accolade a total of 11 times, one for every term he has served in the General Assembly. The Senator is currently serving his second and final term in the Ohio Senate. He is currently the Republican candidate for the 75th Ohio House District, which encompasses Henry, Paulding, Putnam, Van Wert Counties and Adams Township in Defiance County.

UCO bestows this coveted award every other year once the state's biennial operating budget is passed. To receive this honor, legislators must show agreement with fiscally responsible policy positions through their voting records. Wachtmann's award is the result of his voting record, which aligned with 100% percent of UCO's policy positions.

"I am honored that the United Conservatives of Ohio has again presented me with this prestigious award," Wachtmann said. "I look forward to continuing my work to ensure state government is efficient and responsible in its use of the taxpayers' hard earned dollars."

She wants to be an OB nurse when she graduates from college.

Amber is also involved in the FCCLA (Families, Career and Community Leaders of America - formally FHA). Last year she wrote an essay and won the Hugh O'Brian Leadership Award, sponsored by the FCCLA. This award is given out once a year to one sophomore from each high school that participates in the FCCLA. Amber was able to go to Findlay College where she attended a seminar on leadership and community service skills. Amber can also enter this project in the FC-CLA Regional Rally where she can compete to go to the Nationals and win scholarships.

Amber's Aunt Elaine Manz passed away last year of cancer. Amber decided to celebrate her life and by using what she has learned from FCCLA, she organized a benefit where all the money will go to a local cancer fund.

The event is for girls young and old. It will be an evening of pampering fun, games, food, movies, crafts, mini-make overs and fellowship. There will be a Hip-Hop Dance Team from Ft. PAGE 9 – WEST BEND NEWS – OCTOBER 18, 2006 REP. GILLMOR NAMED importance of small business to innovation, job creation, economic opportu-

The Small Business and Entrepreneurship Council recently presented Congressman Paul Gillmor (R-Tiffin) with its prestigious "Small Business Champion Award" for his support of the small business community.

Upon receiving his award Gillmor said, "I am honored to have been named a Small Business Champion for my efforts to help America's small businesses. Small businesses are the lifeblood of the American economy and it remains my foremost goal to create an environment conducive to economic prosperity and job growth. With our low unemployment and strong job growth in the past four years, it is evident that our policies are working."

The Small Business and Entrepreneurship (SBE) Council is a non-partisan coalition advocating for the importance of small business to innovation, job creation, economic opportunity and the U.S. economy. Rep. Gillmor scored a 100 percent on the small business issues which the council tracks. Among the votes for which the council commended Rep. Gillmor for are permanently repealing the death tax, eliminating lawsuit abuse, providing relief from the alternative minimum tax and his support of property rights.

"While most politicians talk favorably about small businesses, U.S. Representative Paul Gillmor actually voted in favor of their key issues during the first session of the 109th Congress, and therefore earned the SBE Council's 'Small Business Champion Award," said Karen Kerrigan, President and CEO of the SBE Council.

Taxes, Lawyers and Yard Signs

By: Brad Dysinger

While campaigning around Paulding County these last few weeks I've talked to lots of people with lots of concerns, three have caught my eye as they are concerns of mine.

Taxes, Taxes, Taxes seem to be on everyone's mind. I've yet to meet that first county resident who thinks they don't pay enough tax. Be it city income, school, or property tax residents feel taxed to death. State and Federal taxes are out of a county commissioner's ability to effect other than by being a constant pest to state and federal elected officials so I'll keep my comments on local issues.

Just because state government gives a town or county government the right to impose an income tax, a sales tax, or any tax on it's residents without those residents' voting on it doesn't make it right. If I'm elected I will vote no on any tax proposal brought before the commissioners that doesn't give county voters their say at the polls.

Many times (again because the state government says they can do it) a school, a county board, or a county agency, with the commissioners permission, will run a stealth tax issue either in the primaries or worse yet a special election when they think less voters will vote. As a Paulding county commissioner I'll vote to end these types of sneaky tax issues and let everyone decide in the general election, when everyone is more apt to vote. I may be out voted 2 to 1 on this but right is right and common sense needs to be heard in government.

Groups such as the ACLU and trial lawyers have scared the crap out of many elected officials to the point they don't do what they know is right. They do what is politically correct instead. Having been born and raised in Washington Township not Washington DC I know that PC stands for Paulding County not politically correct. With less than 20,000 residents we don't need someone in Columbus or Washington telling us what to do. I don't think they're doing such a bang up job running their own affairs. If elected on November 7th I promise to point this fact out to any federal or state official I come in contact with. Some times things need to be said. The constitution gives elected officials the power to write the laws not lawyers and judges the power to do what they want.

I'll confess that the topic of yard signs is mine. While driving around the county I've seen a great disparity in homes with yard signs. Some homes have literally dozens of yard signs, some a few, and some only one. This has got me feeling bad for those poor poor homes with no signs. Do their residents feel left out, unwanted as voters, different and why are some blessed to have so many while others suffer with few or none?

So thinking about this if you're one of those poor souls without your own yard sign I'd be happy to give you one of mine, or even if your among those lucky few with many signs and you need one of mine to fill out your collection I'd be happy to give you one too. Just call Brad Dysinger at 587-3557. Also with Halloween coming my signs have my picture on it, you just might scare the begees out of your neighbor.

PAGE 10 – WEST BEND NEWS – OCTOBER 18, 2006 station wagon to the fullest ANTWERP HISTORY

By: Stan Jordan

I've started to write about the incidents that happened to me over the 34 years when I was mail carrier on Route 1 out of Antwerp. I know it doesn't matter to you, but I will follow the route lay out rather than the time these things took place.

I had this letter for Elmer Laney, Box such & such, Route 1 Antwerp. So far that's A- OK, but typed above the name said "Registered Mail". Well, it wasn't so marked any place else and the postage was only first class. So I got out of the car and took the letter to the door and explained to Elmer that it was not registered mail. I handed it to him and it got the same treatment that it would have had the postage been paid. So I went on my way. He was waiting for me at the box the next day and he said, "You can bring me a letter like that anytime, Stan". He explained it was from International Harvester Plant in Fort Wayne and they were giving him a retirement pension for the rest of his Îife. Well, I was just as tickled about it as he was.

So we go on down the road and over on road 230 and we have the Gene McCalla family. Gene had about 40 acres, but he did have a worm farm there. He raised a large family of kids that would work, they had to. After Gene lifted those worms all the kids had to count them and box them. Altogether they had about five varieties plus night crawlers. Gene would load up his on Fridays and cover all the lakes in northeast Indiana. He did this for years and his baits were well received by the bait shop people. Another thing, most of those kids were good singers and they generally entertained at the Fireman's Banquet.

Going on east past the Grange Hall and before you got to the old iron bridge over the Marie De Larme' Creek I saw this huge buck deer. It was rutting time and he had his nose to the ground and heading for the road right in front of me so I stopped and watched him. I knew he would not look up and he didn't.

He climbed the hillside, crossed the road and down the other side and never knew my car was there. I had heard that that was the way of the buck deer in the fall and I seen it for myself.

Going east of 230 was a couple families of Gordon's. I had five families of Gordon all together and this letter said Mr. Gordon Route 1, Antwerp. I left it at Dwayne Gordon's house first. He put it back in the box next morning with a note that said, "This is a check for $200.00 for selling some pigs." At that time that was a lot of money. I figured the only one that might raise hogs would be Harry Gordon, so I left it at Harry's place and I must have done right because I didn't get the check back.

Henry Cravens lived down around the corner on 230. When the girl walked down the lane to get on the school bus she either carried the kitten or it followed her. So it would not get killed, she would put the kitten in the mail box. Well, I got there about the same time everyday and Mrs. Cravens would meet me, get the mail and take the kitten back home. The lane back to the house was a good 300 yards. Later on the Cravens moved to Hicksville and Harry Gordon moved there. They had a pond dug and a new house was built. They lived there for years. This was two families of fine people.

Going on down the road to where Rex Hopkins used to live was now home to Robert Scott. Well, Mr. Scott has become owner of Scott's Electric, he does private work and commercial work and he is busy around Antwerp all the time. Well, anyhow, at that time Mr. Scott had a dog with only three legs. The right front leg was cut off. The dog could balance himself on his two left legs and scratch himself with his remaining right leg. Now you just picture that good sized dog balance on two legs and scratch with the other. It's like the man once said, "Where there's a will, there's a way.'

After leaving Bob Scott's place I retraced and would go east on the Henpeck Road. Well, the roadside gets a little thick along here and I would see a lot of deer along here. But one day, years ago, right there in the thicket, in that ravine, I saw a Snow Owl. He was close to 3 feet from head to tail. I had never seen one before or since. He was sort of a dirty white with some dark specks on him. He surely was a majestic looking bird.

Years ago, John Meyers lived on Road 220 where Billy Joe Hicks lives now. John had two sets of twins and then some other children. But this story is about one of the twin girls, Virginia. She had a boy friend in Korea and they were pretty serious. They were both good about writing to each other. There was always a letter in the mail box going to Korea. After I saw how important his letter to her was, I would toot the horn when one came and she would sail to my car like a condor. There was five steps on the porch and she could clear them in two. She was a typical girl and I liked her very much. Well, the boy came home and they were married and lived on my route.

Once on the north side of the County Line Road was the Alvin Miles family. They had a daughter named Ann who grew up on my route and was a very pretty girl. But what was better was that she had a friendly personality. She came out to see me about everyday and we talked a little each time. Well, when I retired in 1981, she wrote me a fine letter that I have to this day in with my retirement papers. It was a nice friendly letter that covered her growing up years and us talking at the mail box. She would wait for me to come each day. Well, she grew up and married a nice boy, Denny Lake, who works for the telephone company. I didn't see her but I talked to her husband and he said she was fine and raising a family. One day, we were sitting in the Chinese Restaurant in Hicksville and this nice looking lady came over and said, "Didn't you used to by my mailman?" She told me who she was, it had been 24 years since I had seen her. It made me feel good that she came over and talked. Ann, you made my day. Yes, there are some people that you never forget.

My Grandpa and Grandma Jordan were happily married for over 65 years. Their names were George and Sarah. After I was a little older, I asked someone how they got along so great and this is what he told me that might have had something to do with it.

They got married in Lancaster County, Pennsylvania. They were riding home in Grandpa's one horse wagon. Jim was the horse's name. Well, they had only got started home and Jim acted up, he was rearing and bucking something awful. So Grandpa got out of this wagon and looked Jim right in the eye and said, "Jim, that's once." They continued on a mile or so and Jim acted up again. Grandpa looked him right in the eye and shook him a little bit and said, "Jim, that's twice." A little farther on down the road, Jim acted up again and got out of the traces and Grandpa got mad, looked Ole' Jim right in the eye and said, "Jim, that's three times". He went back to the wagon and got an old Navy pistol from under the seat. He went up to Jim and shot him dead. Grandma was astonished, upset and everything. She said, "George, I don't think that you should have don that", and George said, "Sarah, that's once!

PAGE 12 – WEST BEND NEWS – OCTOBER 18, 2006 CONGRESSMAN GILLMOR NETS AWARD AND EN-DORSEMENT FROM NFIB

Congressman Paul Gillmor (R- Old Fort) received double the good news today from the National Federation of Independent Business (NFIB). The NFIB both awarded Gillmor with its prestigious Guardian of Small Business Award and endorsed his bid for reelection to the United States House of Representatives.

While presenting Rep. Gillmor with his Guardian of Small Business Award, NFIB President and CEO Todd Stottlemyer praised Gillmor for "standing for small business" and cited Gillmor's 100 percent NFIB voting record in the 109th Congress. "The record shows that Rep. Gillmor is a true champion of small business, having stood strong on the key small-business votes in the 109th Congress," said Stottlemyer. "This award reflects our members' appreciation for supporting the NFIB pro-growth agenda for small business."

Gillmor was also honored by the NFIB with an endorsement of his bid for reelection to Congress. NFIB executive vice president Dan

Danner noted that Congressman Gillmor stands up for small businesses and has 'consistently voted for lower taxes, affordable health care and less regulation. He understands a strong economy starts with Ohio's small job creators, and knows a onesize-fits-all economic policy can hurt small businesses. Ohio's small-business owners are fortunate to have such strong representation championing their issues in the U.S. House.'

"Small businesses are the backbone of the American economy and advancing the goals of American business should be a top priority for any person running for office-it certainly is mine," Gillmor said. "Having the support of an organization representing the 23 million small businesses in the U.S. is very important to me."

More than half of America's workforce was employed by small businesses and 75 percent of new jobs in 1999-2000 were created by small businesses. The NFIB is a nonprofit organization representing more than 600,000 small businesses across America. The organization has offices in Washington, D.C. and all 50 state capitols.

"FROM THE VANTAGE POINT": STU-DENTS ON THE CUTTING EDGE

Vantage senior Jessica Rachel, a Cosmetology student from Antwerp, prepares to apply a foil highlight to a training mannequin during lab.

The Vantage Cosmetology salon, "Avantage" (pronounced a-van-taj), which is a French word meaning "new beginnings" is now open for business!

The 2006-2007 school year brings even more opportunities for you to check out the hair care services offered at Vantage. For the first time ever, due to overwhelming enrollment, there are two senior Cosmetology classes – a morning class and an afternoon class. What does that mean to you as a client? The salon will now be open from 8:30 - 11:00 a.m. and 12:00 - 2:00 p.m. on Wednesdays and Thursdays. A variety of cosmetology services including hair care, skin care, nail care, permanents, manicures, pedicures, hair cutting and styling are being offered. Please be sure to call 238-5411 ext. 134 to make an appointment.

In addition to serving customers, students are also taught salon management skills, retailing practices and communication skills. Specific study of anatomy and chemistry, related to the hair care industry, is also included in this two-year program.

Cosmetology teachers Marty Bishman and Amy Grothouse have included "arts appreciation" as a curriculum topic for all cosmetology students. During lab, different types of music (ranging from classical to Elvis and rock and roll), serves as background when clients are in the salon. Paintings, posters and sculptures are brought in and discussed for their artistic value. Adding appreciation of the arts to the cosmetology program helps students expand their imagination and better understand the different forms of human expression. "We want the students to see the connection between the arts and the creativity of design in the field of cosmetology and hair care", says Bishman.

Students completing the cosmetology course of study and meeting the competencies have the opportunity to graduate with a diploma and a license issued by the Ohio State Board of Cosmetology. This program continues to boast a high rate of graduates who receive their license prior to or immediately upon graduation from high school.

The Cosmetology students have also elected class officers for the 2006-2007 school year. Senior officers in the morning lab are Pres-
