OHIOAN TESTS POSITIVE FOR SWINE FLU

The Ohio Department of Health (ODH) today confirmed a case of swine flu involving a nine year old boy from Lorain County. The patient is considered to have a mild case of the disease and is recovering at home.

Because this combination of strains of the influenza virus is new, ODH and local health departments remind Ohioans of the precautions they should take to avoid exposure. As with all newly emerging flu strains, no vaccine has yet been developed.

"I urge Ohioans to be alert to information about this new flu," said ODH Director Alvin D. Jackson, MD. "In addition, the tried-and-true saying about washing hands and covering one's cough remains sound medical advice."

Symptoms of this swine flu virus closely resemble seasonal flu, and include fever, weakness, coughing and lack of appetite.

ODH and local health departments are working with health care providers and hospitals around the state to determine if there are other cases. According to recommendations from the Centers for Disease Control and Prevention (CDC), all health care providers who see patients with flu-like symptoms and learn that the patient traveled to Mexico, affected counties in Southern California or Texas during the seven days preceding their illness onset, should have nasal swab samples from the patient tested. Recommendations from ODH and CDC include:

-Cover your nose and mouth with a tissue when you cough or sneeze. Throw the tissue in the trash after you

-Wash your hands often with soap and water, especially after you cough or sneeze. Alcohol-based hand cleaners are also effective.

-Try to avoid close contact with sick people.

—If you get sick with influenza, CDC recommends that you stay home from work or school and limit contact with others to keep from infecting them. Avoid touching your eyes, nose or mouth. Germs spread this way.

Additional information is available on the ODH and CDC websites at http://www. odh.ohio.gov and http://www. cdc.gov/swineflu/. The Ohio Department of Health will be providing additional updates as information becomes available.

has been very successful due to all the Antwerp area residents who use the facility regularly. Recently, items have been placed in the trailer that are not recyclable or not a part of our recycling program. We are able to take #1 plastic, #2 plastic (milk jugs, detergent and oil containers which are cleaned out), newspapers, glass food containers and bottles, including beer and wine bottles (must be cleaned out), and aluminum cans. We are unable to accept rubber tires, residential window glass, construction debris, or any other items not listed above. ### PAGE 2 – WEST BEND NEWS – MAY 6, 2009 THE LONG-LASTING INFLU-ENCE ON YOUR FAMILY

By: Pastor Joel DeSelm, Woodburn Missionary Church

Regardless what critics say, families who build their lives and their relationships on biblical principles and who are committed to Jesus Christ have the greatest likelihood of not just survival, but also lasting joy.

Not that destruction and devastation can't come to even the finest Christian families. But the odds are so much greater when a husband and wife have given their lives to Christ, covenanted to one another for life, and are striving to rear their children according to God's word.

The principles which govern your family life have influence not only on TODAY, but also on generations to come. Godly families leave their descendants a rich heritage and a sterling example to follow.

Apart from God's grace damaged family is injured for many generations to follow. Destroyed marriages and hurt children produce a progeny of discouraged offspring which beget the same... and worse. Max Jukes was a nogood horse thief, married to a woman of like kind. From their loins came 310 professional vagrants, 440 lives wrecked by debauchery, 130 prisoners, seven murderers, 100 alcoholics, 60 habitual thieves, and 190 public prostitutes. It is no wonder Andrew Murray said a hundred years ago that "the family is Satan's greatest stronghold."

But in contrast, a marriage built on godly principles will strengthen generations yet unborn. Unlike Max Jukes, the offspring of the great preacher, Jonathan Edwards, includes 13 college presidents, 65 professors, 100 lawyers and a dean of law school, 30 judges, 66 physicians, 80 public officers, three U.S. Senators, three mayors of large cities, three governors, one controller of the U.S. treasury, and one Vice President of the U.S. (study done by A.E. Winship)

Strong churches, communities, and countries do not make strong families; rather, strong families make strong churches, communities, and countries.

CREATION 1

By: James Potter, The Oakwood church of Christ

In our last study we made it through Genesis 1:5 and stopped with talking about day. Now, looking at Genesis 1:6-8, and the second day of creation. In verse 6 the word firmament is used and the Hebrew word for this is Ragia and means an expanse, the sky, the space above the earth. This is Hebrew for to hammer out, or to spread out. Continuing with verse 6 it mentions dividing the waters, this means the water between the earth and the universe or space above, some Bible scholars called this fog; Read Jeremiah 10:12-13; 51:15-16. Read Psalms 136:5-9; II Peter 3:5-7; God divided our atmosphere from the universe and looking at two Hebrew words, Bara conveys the thought of creation out of nothing and the other word is asah and it is broader in scope and depth with refinement. The outer firmament is called heaven, which is the universe and not the heaven where God dwells. And the evening and the morning were the second

Genesis 1:9-13 these verses tell of dry land and vegetation. In verse 9 we read let the waters be gathered together, just how did God do this? Read Psalms 104:5-9 for the answer. Also in verse 9 dry land appeared and we read in verse 10 that God called the dry land Earth. There are two Hebrew words for earth, one is Adamah and is translated as earth, ground, land and country in the King James Version of the Bible. The other word is Erets and this word means earth, the physical planet and this word is much more diverse and frequent in its use than Adamah. Erets is the word used in Genesis 1:10. The word seas means the different bodies of water as I said earlier read Psalms

104:5-9. In Genesis 1:11-12 God spoke and vegetation appeared according to its kind. Notice in the creation such as vegetation, this includes trees, grass, everything that is vegetation, then all the fowl, animals, fish, and humans were the last to be created, when all was created they were created in adult form. Notice in verse 12 God said after his kind and that it was good. This finishes the third day of creation. Please remember that Jesus loves you and so do I! ### UNDERSTANDING H1N1 (SWINE) FLU

By: Jim Lopshire, Extension Agent Source: Steve Moeller, OSU

Extension, OARDC

Ohio swine producers follow diligent swine production practices to prevent the introduction of disease-causing organisms in their herds. For consumers concerned about the recent swine influenza outbreaks and their impacts on pork safety, understanding such intensive protocols is important.

"First, it is important to note that the virus has not been isolated in any animals to date. In addition, swine influenza viruses are not spread by food; therefore, consumers will not be infected with swine influenza from eating pork or pork products. Eating properly handled and cooked meat products is safe for the consumer," said Steve Moeller, an Ohio State University Extension swine specialist. "Second, it's critical for consumers to know that Ohio's swine producers implement extensive biosecurity protocols and carry out best management practices to prevent the introduction of disease-causing organisms to their operations. These practices protect the pig, the producer and the consumer." "Scientific advances in disease diagnostics, vaccine development, and effective vaccination protocols have allowed the swine producer to provide protection to the pig for numerous harmful diseases while simultaneously protecting the health of the caretakers and improving the safety and wholesomeness of the food products at the consumer level," said Moeller.

'There are swine vaccinations to combat the more common strains of swine specific influenza; however, the ability of the existing vaccines to prevent the new, multi-component avian, swine, and human variant is not known. At this time, it is also not known if this new strain of influenza causes any type of illness in swine. Unfortunately, the flu viruses found in human and animal populations continually adapt and change making vaccine development very challenging." Maintaining the health of the swine caretaker is also paramount for the general public. To reduce the chance of transfer of influenza from animal to human, human to animal, or human to human, Moeller encourages animal caretakers to practice good personal hygiene, thoroughly wash hands after handling animals, consider use of plastic gloves and dust masks in swine facilities, and wear clean clothing and boots

when entering swine facilities

ODOT IMPROVING TRAFFIC SIGNAL SAFETY FOR MO-TORCYCLES AND SCOOT-

As more Ohioans choose motorcycles and scooters as their primary means of transportation in warmer weather, the Ohio Department of Transportation (ODOT) is taking special steps to ensure their safety at intersections across the state.

Over the past several months, ODOT has worked closely with the American Motorcycle Association to target automated traffic signals that are not sensitive enough to recognize when a motorcycle or scooter is waiting for a light to change. Frustrated bikers or the drivers in cars behind them may choose to run the red light, putting them and other motorists at serious risk.

Last year there were 60 intersection-related motorcycle fatalities, representing nearly a third of all motorcycle fatalities in Ohio.

To enlist the help of Ohio's motorcyclists, ODÔT has set up a special phone number (614) 387-0722 and email address bike.report@dot.state. oh.us for motorcyclists to report these problem intersec-

ODOT will then notify signal owners - often a city or county - about the problem and offer recommendations, such as increasing the sensitivity of the in-ground loop detectors which trigger the signal. Another possible solution is to paint symbols on the pavement where motorcyclists should stop to activate the loop detector. ODOT will update the state's construction specifications later this summer to improve traffic signal safety at future intersections. Any new signals that are paid for using federal or state transportation money will be required to follow the updated specifications, which will include improved layout and sensitivity requirements for loop detectors. With riding season now underway, ODOT is joining the Ohio Department of Public Safety and the Ohio Highway Patrol on a new campaign to improve motorcycle safety. "Ride SMART" encourages motorcyclists to ride Sober; ride Motorcycle endorsed; ride Alert; use the Right gear; and ride Trained.

Motorcycle fatalities have increased 35 percent over the last three years on Ohio's roads, from 133 fatalities in 2004 to 214 fatalities in 2008.

ODOT will display motorcycle safety messages on highway message boards in Columbus, Cincinnati, and Dayton over the next several weeks during weeknights and weekends.

Motorcyclists can get up-to-date road closure and construction information by visiting www.buckeyetraffic. org. ODOT's 24-hour online source for state roadway and traffic conditions.

LETTER TO THE EDITOR

May 4-8, 2009 is National Teacher Appreciation Week. Teachers at all grade levels make a difference daily in the lives of their students. We would like to recognize teachers for their dedication to every child that enters their classroom. Teachers inspire children to learn and grow in so many ways. A teacher takes time out of his or her busy schedule to ensure that a child knows and understands what is being taught. A teacher is a person who is not only concerned about the education a child is receiving, but also addresses so many life issues as well. Teachers, we all notice what you do for children, but rarely express hope the community will join me in applauding the dedication and commitment of our teachers. Thank a teacher to--Jami Sullivan, Sylvan Tootsie is this week's featured pet. Tootsie is a young adult yellow lab mix. She looks like a lab but she is a really tall girl with little white toes. She is a happy go-lucky girl that I think would love to live in the country.

Cotton, the little poodle, did get adopted. The shelter had over 50 calls for her. I tried to get everyone called back that inquired about her but I am afraid I might have missed a few. So, for everyone that called for her please know that she did get a wonderful home here in the county.

Capitol Letters Weekly Column by: Senator Steve Buehrer The world was put on high alert this past week over growing concerns about the spread of a new, potentially deadly strain of flu called H1N1. According to statistics from the World Health Organization (WHO) as of May 4, the virus, which has been widely classified in the media as "swine flu," has infected 985 people in 20 countries and been linked to several deaths. Specifically, there have been more than 225 confirmed infections in the United States, including a young boy from Northeast Ohio. On Wednesday, April 29, the WHO raised their pandemic flu alert to Phase 5, which is one step below a global outbreak. President Obama has also urged schools with confirmed or suspected cases of H1N1 to "strongly consider temporarily closing." As of Friday, nearly 300 schools across the country had closed, including 200 in Texas and 60 in Alabama, as well as schools in Ohio and several other states.

The H1N1 influenza virus is a common cause of illness in the world's swine population. While it can be transmitted from pigs-to-humans, as well as humans-to-humans, these cases are relatively rare. In fact the Centers for Diseases Control and Prevention (CDC) reported only 12 instances of human infection with swine flu from December 2005 through February

However, the current strand of H1N1 influenza making news across the globe is different than the common swine flu. This new virus appears to carry elements of the human flu, avian flu and swine flu, while demonstrating an ability to jump from human-to-human.

While scientists continue to study the situation, there are a number of questions still left unanswered. For instance, how many people have the virus? The WHO has confirmed 985 cases of H1N1 flu worldwide, but there could be thousands more people who have had the virus that simply didn't get tested.

When and where did it start? While the virus began to appear in Mexico several weeks ago, there is no guarantee that it originated in that

How serious will the problem get? Aside from Mexico, which has reported hundreds of infections and several deaths from H1N1, most of the cases of infection in the U.S. and elsewhere have been no more serious than the average human flu. However, the potential is there for the virus to become more dangerous.

As researchers work to find answers to these questions and slow the spread of H1N1, it is important to know that Ohio is prepared should the problem get worse. Several years ago, the Ohio Department of Health and other key state agencies helped develop the Ohio Pandemic Flu Preparedness and Response Plan, a comprehensive strategy to prepare for, identify, respond to and attempt to control a pandemic flu outbreak. The plan, which can be found at www.ohiopandemicflu.gov, requires a collaborative effort between local, state and federal leaders, agencies, businesses and health care providers. At the same time, Ohio has begun to receive several resources from the federal government to help prepare for a possible pandemic flu outbreak, including gowns, masks, gloves and other protective gear, as well as medications that can help treat the H1N1 virus. There have also been efforts to activate emergency preparedness plans at the local level. While it is important to be prepared and take steps to protect against the spread of H1N1, because the virus has been widely classified as "swine flu," many people have been confused into thinking that they could get infected by eating pork products. First of all, there is no clear evidence that the current H1N1 virus in humans was transmitted from pigs. In addition, you cannot get swine flu from eating properly handled and Fears about the spread of swine flu through pork products led China and Russia to announce a ban on imports from some U.S. states and Mexico. Also, health officials in Egypt unnecessarily ordered the slaughter of an estimated 300,000 pigs in that country. These actions and misinformation about the spread of H1N1 have had a tremendous financial impact on our country's already struggling pork industry.

After listening to the concerns of pork producers, the WHO recently decided to stop using the term "swine flu" to describe the current influenza outbreak. The organization will now call the virus "influenza A H1N1 flu." Other groups have also followed suit with similar name changes.

While many people are understandably concerned about the spread of H1N1 flu, I can assure you that in the coming days, with a solid emergency preparedness plan in place, state and local officials will continue to monitor the situation and do whatever possible to protect the health and well-being of Ohioans. I encourage all residents of the 1st Senate District to contact me with any questions, thoughts or concerns, or if you need assistance working with a state government agency. You can write me, Senator Steve Buehrer, Ohio Senate, Statehouse, Columbus, Ohio, 43215, or contact me by phone at (614) 466-8150. In addition, I can be reached by email at SD01@senate.state.oh.us.

REPRESENTATIVE WACHT-MANN ANNOUNCES PAS-SAGE OF STATE BUDGET

State Representative Lynn

Wachtmann (R- Napoleon)

yesterday announced the

Ohio House of Representatives passed House Bill 1, the two-year, $54 billion state operating budget. The bill includes funding for the operation of state government agencies and services. The House-passed version of House Bill 1 increases government spending by more than $1 billion over the next two years. House Democrats established the proposal using a more optimistic growth in tax revenue projections than the governor's proposal, when all indicators point to a decline in revenues of the over two years. In addition, the plan maintains the governor's original proposal to include more than $4.3 billion in one-time revenue sources, including approximately $2.2 billion in temporary federal funding and draining the state's $1

billion rainy day fund. Ohio's Medicaid expenditures are 40 percent higher than the national average. Yet, the House proposal continues the expansion of Medicaid without providing for any cost efficiency measures. Furthermore, the plan maintains the governor's proposal to institute $1 billion in fees to raise funds for Medicaid and other government operations. For example, the House

Democrats increased the governor's proposed hospital franchise fee by $111 million, which is essentially a tax on hospitals to pay for Medicaid.

PAGE 5 - WEST BEND NEWS - MAY 6, 2009

"It's time we dispel the myth that welfare does our constituents a service," Wachtmann said. "Communities with the largest welfare systems are least able to help themselves, especially after calamities. More welfare weakens society, whereas hard work and initiative strengthen our society. "Government programs are not the solution-they will simply create a reliance on government that weakens America and harms the future of our economy. Our forefathers warned us repeatedly that society will take a turn for the worse if ever we teach our citizens to be takers instead of givers." While Medicaid spending increases, House Bill 1 flat funds state aid to Ohio's local school districts. Overall, the proposal cuts state funding for education by $216 million and $167 million in fiscal years 2010 and 2011, respectively, compared to 2009 funding levels. In addition, House Democrats have underfunded their plan by $2.5 billion in fiscal year 2010 and $2.7 billion in fiscal year

House Bill 1 was approved by a 53-45 vote. The bill now moves to the Senate for further consideration.

BABY FACE NELSON

By: Stan Jordan

He was born December 6th, 1908 in Chicago, IL. He was born Lester Joseph Gillis. He was sometimes known as George Nelson. He was a gangster and bank robber in the 1930's and was called Baby Face Nelson because of his youthful appearance and small stature.

He was called George by his family, and in his early years around Chicago he spent a lot of time stealing cars and meeting some future members of the Roger "Terrible" Toughy Gang. He was arrested for robbery when he was 13 and sent to penal school. He had a terrible disposition and a violent temper and sometimes he couldn't control it. His employment with Al Capone ended quickly because of his temper.

He was arrested in 1931 for robbery and sent to state prison; while he was being transported, he overpowered his guard and escaped.

He had a buddy, Eddie Bentz, and they robbed their first bank in Grand Haven, MI on August 18, 1933. The robbery was almost a complete disaster, but all of them did escape and made a clean get away.

Nelson hit the big time in 1934 when he teamed up with the Dillinger Gang. But Nelson was the exact opposite of the sort of Robin Hood figure that Dillinger sometimes used. He did not hesitate to kill any lawman or even an innocent bystander.

Sometimes he was called Public Enemy #1; during this era he and Clyde Barrow, were credited with killing twelve lawmen.

But even with this, Nelson was a devoted husband and father. He sometimes had his wife and family with him when he was on the run.

After Dillinger's demise

Baby Face became Public Enemy #1. It is said that he planned to rob one bank every day for a month to outdo Dillinger, but I don't think that ever occurred.

The Battle of Barrington took place on November 27, 1934 outside of Chicago that caused the death of Special Agents Herman Hollis and Samuel P. Cowley.

Baby Face Nelson and his wife Helen Gillis and John Paul Chase were driving down the road, and they saw a police car driving in the opposite direction.

Nelson hated any and all police and carried a list of license plates of police and FBI cars. You see, there wasn't all that many automobiles in those days. He apparently recognized it as a police car and gave chase.

Both cars stopped and all occupants got out. Nelson's wife and Chase used their car for cover. But Nelson walked right up to this police car, both pistols blazing. He yelled and fired and said, "I'm going to kill all of you SOBs!'

Nelson nearly fell flat from his 17 bullet wounds. The two agents lay dead on the road. Chase and Helen loaded Nelson in the police car and left

A team of agents was dispatched to the scene and found the bodies of the agents. They scouted the area for any signs of the car or people. They got an anonymous tip where to find Nelson's body.

The body was wrapped in a blanket in a ditch in front of St. Peter's Catholic Church in Skokie, IL.

His wife said he died at 8:00 p.m. the night before and she wrapped him in a blanket because he always hated be-

He was born George Kelly Barnes in 1895 in Memphis, TN. His father was a well-todo insurance executive. He was raised in the traditional way with a number of broth-

He enrolled in Agriculture in Mississippi State University (MSU). Right from the start he was considered a poor student. The highest grade he earned was a C+ for physical hygiene. He was constantly in trouble with the faculty, and he spent most of his time working off the demerits he earned and was soon flunked out. About this time, he met and married Geneva Ramsey. They had two children. He didn't want to rely on his parents support, so he took a job as a taxi driver. His father didn't like George's antics at college and he didn't like Geneva, that strained the relationship, so the couple soon

As this was the prohibition era, he could find work anywhere as a bootlegger or anything tied to that profession. He had a few scrapes with the Memphis Police so he picked up a new girl friend and left town.

He changed his name to George Kelly to protect his family name. He had run ins with the Tulsa, OK. Police. He committed several small robberies and bootlegging misdemeanors. The Tulsa Police picked him up for selling liquor to the Indians in 1928. He was given three years in Leavenworth, but as he was a model prisoner, he got out

It was about this time that he married Kathryn Thorne. It was she who bought him his first machine gun. She went to great lengths to publicize his prowess with the Tommy Gun. She even coined the nickname Machine Gun Kelly. They say, she even arranged some small robberies, to make his name known.

Kelly's last criminal act was to kidnap a wealthy Oklahoma City resident Charles Urschel and his friend Walter R. Jarrett. This man Urschel was always blindfolded, but all while he was being held, he made mental notes of all sounds around him and he tried to leave his finger prints where ever he could. All of this was helpful to the FBI during the investigation and trial. They learned that Urschel had been held as a prisoner in Paradise, TX.

After 56 days of investigation the police located this bunch in the home of JC Techinor there in Memphis. The FBI was summoned, and on the early morning hours of September 26, 1933 a raid was conducted and these people were arrested by Memphis Police.

As he was apprehended, he did not have a weapon, and it is said he shouted, "Don't shoot G-men! Don't shoot, G-men!"

The media started calling the FBI or G-men according to reports I have read, but I have heard other stories about the word G-men. The media

It was the first trial after the passing the Linbergh Law that made kidnapping a federal crime and the first time that defendants were transported by airplane.

Kelly spent 21 years in Alcatraz. It was at this time that he was called Pop Gun Kelly. This was because he was a model prisoner, and not the brutal killer his wife made him out to be. Machine Gun Kelly died of a heart attack in Leavenworth, KS in 1954; his 59th birthday. He is buried in Cottondale Texas Cemetery. As near as I know, he never killed anybody.

"Well, well, I...!"

"No, you're done as head rooster, now I'm top dog around here! So just move out of the way over to the far corner of the barn yard." "Well, now, not so fast.

I am old, but there is a lot to this roostering business. Besides, taking care of the girls, you have to watch out for eagles, hawks, minks, foxes, and other hungry animals. You got to look for food for the hens. Find new places for them to scratch. You've got to keep them on the straight and narrow and inside the barn yard. You've got to accumulate a lot of good old rooster common sense that only comes with years of experience. I can't just turn my flock over to you on your say so!" The young rooster said,

"Enough of talk. We will race twice around the barn yard and whoever wins is the head rooster!' Why that ain't no deal.

I'm a lot older and I should get a head start, the rest of the rules are okay."

"I tell you what, I will give you a head start, over to the silo, then I'm coming."

"Okay, deal."

So off they went, the old rooster in the lead, running as fast as he could and screaming his head off for help around the farm house and back of the barn and up to the farm house again. The old rooster was holding his own, and he was still calling for help.

As they passed the back porch the second time, as the old rooster still hollering for help, the farmer took his shot gun and blew the young rooster into the next

BUEHRER URGES SUPPORT FOR BILL TO ESTABLISH WAR OF 1812 COMMIS-

State Senator Steve Buehrer (R-Delta) recently gave sponsor testimony before the Senate State & Local Government & Veterans Affairs Committee on Senate Bill 93, legislation which seeks to raise public awareness about Ohio's role in the War of 1812 and help preserve important historic sites across the state.

'The War of 1812 was a key event in Ohio's history that should be celebrated and preserved for future generations of Ohioans," said Buehrer.

The War of 1812 was critical to America's fight for independence from the British Empire, our country's expansion into the Northwest Territory—which, today, includes Ohio, Indiana, Michigan, Illinois and Wisconsin—and our relationship with Canada. Sen. Buehrer noted that the war was fought in 31 Ohio counties, including sites in Auglaize, Defiance, Hancock, Hardin, Paulding and Putnam Counties in the 1st Senate District.

As the country approaches the 200th anniversary of the war, community leaders and historians from Northwest Ohio asked Sen. Buehrer to lead an effort in the General Assembly to help remember the significant contribution of the region and state to this important military conflict. SB 93, which Sen. Buehrer introduced on April 2 with bipartisan support, would create the State of Ohio War of 1812 Bicentennial Commission to help plan celebrations and educational events to commemorate the anniversary of the war and its significance in our state and nation's history. The 18-member Bicentennial Commission would include two legislators and seven members of the public, including a representative from the Native American community, who all have substantial knowledge and appreciation of the War of 1812. In addition, the panel would include officials from the Ohio Department of Education, Ohio Department of Commerce, Adjutant General's Office, Ohio Division of Tourism, National Museum, Afro-American Ohio Humanities Council, Ohio Historical Society and Northwest State Community

While not often men-GMC tioned in discussion about our country's rich military history, the War of 1812 helped shape Ohio's landscape, influence our relationship with Canada, and most importantly, continued our Fore Fathers' fight for independence from Britain," explained Buehrer. "Ohio's role in this momentous event and all the people from our state who fought and died for this worthy cause should be celebrated and remembered."

Former clerk Susan Barron presented council with her resignation letter that she had turned in to council eight years ago. The purpose of the reviewing the past was to remind council and the Mayor how rude they were with her and forced her out the door, and reminded them not to do the same thing to the current clerk. You guys gave Dolly a raise and then turn around and say she gets paid to much. This is not an easy job and stated that Dolly has eight years of experience and does a good job. You people need reminded of duties and the responsibilities that the clerk has to consume. It's a tough job and it takes a strong person to stick with it. Dolly was here during the worst of times and she stuck it out when most of us would have walked out. Susan continued by stating that you could offer me $50,000 a year to come back to that job and I would refuse.

You need to keep what you have.

Jake replied by stating that the money is not coming in, we will have to take a look and cut the budget. Things have to be changed but must take time.

parking in street before it's all over with.

Danny also wondered why his business is a big deal with Village, several other business are not in zoned area like Steve Cox, Avon lady, and babysitters. They don't have commercial license so why are you trying to chase me out of Phil stated that he doesn't have a problem with Danny putting stone by the garage. Todd asked if it was going to be 20' out from garage, Danny stated it would be 20'. Jake replied by stating that it was going to be 20' and 21'. Danny stated that his offer still stood of doing the street. Todd asked if there was an ordinance on drive-way installations. The mayor stated that there wasn't any as far as he knew. Carolyn says that this should be tabled and dis-cussed, Todd agrees therefore, Carolyn made a motion to table, Jake seconded, all

The mayor mentioned the ball association comments should have read that a couple of years ago a few people were running the association and money was

ANTWERP CHAMBER OF COMMERCE PLANS A BUSY SUMMER

The annual June Community Garage Sales are fast approaching. This is always held the second Friday and Saturday of June, this year the 12th and 13th. There will not be a map available. The chamber advertises the date, it will be up to individuals to advertise any specific information that they wish. For those who wish, Veterans Memorial Park is available to set-up for the sale, the V.E.T.S. committee will be located in the large pavilion with their items for sale. At the end of the day on Saturday there will be a cruise-in organized by Rex Shaner. The biggest chamber event of the year is the August 8th Day In The Park. The committees are rapidly filling the park with food and craft vendors as well as games and entertainment. It promises to be an exciting day as the Antwerp School Reunion will also be that weekend. Anyone wishing to participate as a vendor for this event should call the chamber at 419-258-1722 and leave a message. A parade is not planned this

The community is encouraged to begin thinking about who they would like to see honored as our Gem of the Year for 2009. Very soon there will be containers around town where you may pick-up and deposit your nominations, or you may mail a nomination to the chamber at P.O. Box

1111, Antwerp OH 45813. The nominee should be a community minded, living person, who has made a positive influence in the Antwerp school district area. Currently the chamber is partnering with the city council to purchase new summer banners for Main Street. We did this for the Christmas/winter season and we were very pleased. These banners are about $100 each and approximately 12 to 15 are needed to make a good impression. Anyone wishing to help defray this cost may do so by making a donation to the chamber indicating their intention. These donations may be sent to the chamber address above. Besides the Halloween

Parade in the fall, the chamber is planning a Holiday Parade of Lights which will be December 5th. It is hoped that businesses, organizations, churches and individuals will plan to participate in this event. Any vehicle decorated with lights, including floats, in keeping with the spirit of the season, will be welcome. Many do not understand how to make the lights operate. The chamber will make this information available very soon in a separate news re-

The chamber welcomes suggestions and volunteers, as many hands makes lighter work. The next meeting of the Antwerp Chamber will be on May 12 at 12:30 at the Essen House Restaurant on Woodcox Street.

As part of the continued coordination between the Ohio Department of Transportation (ODOT) and the Federal Highway Administration (FHWA), the first 15 projects in Ohio have been authorized for funding through the American Recovery and Reinvestment Act (ARRA) allowing these projects to move closer to construction.

This initial federal authorization of $12.8 million of stimulus funds includes investments in three interstate projects and three bridge replacements. FHWA expects to authorize more Ohio projects soon. A complete list of the projects prioritized for stimulus funding - with updates on which projects have been authorized by FHWA - can be found online at www.dot. state.oh.us. ODOT expects to award contracts for this first round of stimulus projects starting in May.

Certification of Prioritized Stimulus Projects:

ODOT will send to the U.S. Department of Transportation (US DOT) the next list of projects to be certified for stimulus funding: 69 of the projects announced by the Governor in March; 65 local projects identified by the state's Major Metropolitan Planning Organizations; and 142 investments in Ohio's Rural Transit Systems.

This certification letter is required by US DOT to verify that projects to be funded with stimulus dollars meet all federal eligibility requirements, including inclusion on Ohio's Statewide Transportation Improvement Program (STIP).

A total of $161.5 million was directly allocated to Ohio's eight major Metropolitan Planning Organizations (MPOs). The MPO sub-allocations include $14.1 million to Akron, $6.6 million to Canton, $30.1 million to Cincinnati, $44.2 million to Cleveland, $28 million to Columbus, $17.4 million to Dayton, $11.8 million to Toledo, and $9.3 million to Youngtown.

As part of the Recovery Act, Ohio also received $29.8 million for Rural Public Transit capital projects, including dollars set aside for rural intercity bus capital projects. Combining the Recovery Act dollars with Ohio's annual federal transit funding, ODOT will be able to fund every rural transit system request for new vehicles.

ODOT has already certified 38 of the projects announced by the Governor in March; 19 local projects identified by the state's Major Metropolitan Planning Organizations; and 88 investments by Ohio's Urbanized Transit

Additional Stimulus Proj-

To make certain that the stringent timelines to obligate stimulus funds under the Recovery Act are met without delay, ODOT will also certify 52 additional projects to receive Recovery Act resources. These projects have all been previously announced by ODOT as part of the state's 2009 construction season.

Adding these previously announced ODOT projects to the list of those slated to receive Recovery Act resources will be accomplished by exchanging the planned allocation of state transportation funds for these 52 projects dollar-for-dollar with the more than $115 million in federal stimulus resources currently allocated to the Interstate 90 Innerbelt Bridge in Downtown Cleveland

Be aware of "too good to be true" scams. Paulding-Putnam Electric Cooperative is not involved and does not endorse unproven technology that claims to reduce your electric bill. We are making an effort to caution our consumers to get all of the facts before responding to ads promising electric bill savings from plug-in or wire-in power conditioning devices. Besides the effect on your wallet, the other issue is personal safety. Many devices must be wired into the home's electrical system or meter base. Do-it-yourselfers should be extremely cautious. Installing equipment that would encourage you to pull your meter or modify the meter base could result in electrocution. Meter tampering is seen as an attempt to steal service. Power theft will be prosecuted and is extremely dangerous. Don't fall victim to claims of electric bill savings that seem too good to be true. Contact your electric cooperative for information and advice before investing in residential power quality equipment or installing such devices.

ANTWERP COMMUNITY BAND PRESENTS ANNUAL SPRING CONCERT

The Antwerp Community Band will present their annual spring concert on Thursday, May 7, 2009 at 7:30 p.m. in the Auditeria at Antwerp Local Schools. Some wise person has observed that "you can't please all of the people all of the time", but hopefully this concert will come close. The evening will open with the "Fall River Overture", then play the "Klaxon", a rousing Fillmore march, follow with a blending of the American classics "Shenandoah and Simple Gifts", and finish with the gorgeous, lush "Scheherezade" by Rimsky-Korsakoff. Two selections on the second half of the program have a distinctly Western flavor: Aaron Copeland's "Scenes from Billy the Kid" and Robert Smith's 2005 work, "Buffalo Dances", in which the band members must not only play their instruments, but use their feet as well. Also being presented will be Holst's "Moorside March" and another serving of "lush" for the second half of the concert: the rich mesmerizing Gershwin "Prelude No. 2".

A good audience is an inspiration to performers. When you attend these concerts, your support is greatly appreciated and is, of course, visible. Although they are not always "visible", the Antwerp Community Band cold not exist without these individuals and organizations whose generosity enables them to continue providing music to the community: Antwerp Chamber of Commerce, Antwerp Exchange Bank, Antwerp Gold Star Auxiliary #5087, Antwerp Bee-Argus, Antwerp Insurance Agency, Antwerp Pharmacy, Antwerp Rotary Club, Dr. William Bricker, Mr. and Mrs. William Cleland, Dooley

Please mark the time and date and take a break from your busy spring schedule - come out at 7:30 p.m. on Thursday evening, May 7, in a charge for admission, but if you choose to make one, your free will donation is greatly

PAULDING & ANTWERP PROMS: WEEKEND OF GREAT FUN!

Hannah Butcher and Kevin Dillinger are the first to arrive at the Antwerp High School Prom Saturday, May 2. More pictures at www.westbendnews.net

Prom for some is the most memorable part of high school. We may not remember much of high school, but for many people it can be recalled like it was yesterday.

The classes of 2009 and 2010 for Paulding and Antwerp experienced their proms this past weekend with great weather to be thankful for.

Antwerp High School scheduled their splendid evening at Grant's Reception Hall off of Canal Rd. east of Antwerp. The evening was warm, the sun was dropping to a warm glow while the cars pulled up to drop off the young gentlemen and their dates in front of the many people watching from both sides of the aisle. The crowd's attention was quickly grabbed as the beautiful young people came forth on the black carpet to be introduced by Barry DeLong. While the dates where serenaded by professional harpist, Nancy Morse, their pictures were taken by hundreds of clicking shutters. Prom Court: Queen - Katie McCague, King – Michael

Girlie, Senior Attendants Quinn Tempel and Victoria Zuber, Mark Parisot and Iamie Fry, Junior attendants -T.J. Short and Christy Goudy and also Natalie Cottrell and

Not be left undone, Paulding also had a red carpet affair at the school called "Beneath the City Lights". The gymnasium was all decorated up looking like a city scene with white lights outlining each "building". The young people at Paulding really knew how to have a party! The whole room was dancing to the beat of the songs having a great time. The prom court for 2009 is listed below under the picture.

Both proms had beautiful young ladies dressed in their best. The young men's attire was outstanding and classy.

The most disappointing part of prom is the fact of knowing school is nearly out for the year. Yet many of you think that's great!
