BETHANIA HOUSE PIGGY BANK OF GENEROSITY

The students and staff at Woodburn Lutheran School recently raised and donated over $1,000 to the Bethania Ministries. The Bethania Ministries provide loving, nourishing homes for orphans in Tamil Nadu and Andra Pradesh in southeastern India. Though the ministry is sensitive to the beliefs and practices of people in the region, all of their centers and homes offer Christian discipleship and an opportunity to come into a personal relationship with Jesus Christ.

During the month of February, each student was given their own Bethania House piggy bank and had the opportunity to collect money to put into it (pictured are third grade students, Jaden Keller and Helena Emenhiser). The goal for each student was to collect $20.00. The students exceeded their goal and were one of the top schools that were involved in raising funds for Bethania. Enough money was collected to support 55 orphaned children in India for one whole month. To learn more about this ministry and/or donate visit: www.

I received a message from a friend who is depressed about his life, where he is, and how he feels. This is what I wrote in response. Maybe it will help someone else feeling the same way. I'm reminded of Nine Inch Nail's Hurt. You know the one that Johnny Cash covered and made famous. That song was originally released on Nine Inch Nail's Downward Spiral. In an interview, Trent Reznor noted that he wrote the album to be one whole message. In his downward spiral, he rejects God, he lives for himself, but by the end, he wishes he could throw it all away and start over. You seem like you are in a downward spiral of sorts, and at the end of that spiral is Hurt. A place where you wish you could start again and throw everything away. The good news is that place of restoration is always now. We constantly have to throw away the hurt others have inflicted on us, the hurt we have self-inflicted, and the dreams we have missed fulfilling. That's what forgiveness is.

The problem is that people don't think that it is possible to start over, but with God it is possible. Jesus offers grace, a grace that helps us overcome the failure we feel like we are and, sometimes, have been. A grace that will give us the strength to continue on despite continuing to be a failure. A grace that helps us become more than we can be without it.

In the end, a life filled with God's Spirit, forgiveness and grace will be a life that will end that downward spiral; a life that will stop the hurt; a life that will reflect the glory of God; the life you were intended to live. Don't give up. Be real, be honest, and pursue God with your whole heart.

"Have you not known? Have you not heard? The Lord is the everlasting God, the Creator of the ends of the earth. He does not faint or grow weary; his understanding is unsearchable.

He gives power to the faint, and to him who has no might he increases strength. Even youths shall faint and be weary, and young men shall fall exhausted; but they who wait for the Lord shall renew their strength; they shall mount up with wings like eagles; they shall run and not be weary; they shall walk and not faint" Isaiah 40:28-31 (ESV).

"God save you from the werewolf and from your heart's desire."

WINNING THE BATTLE FOR A GENERATION

By: Rick Jones, Executive Director Defiance Area Youth for Christ Have you ever been hurt

by someone and above all else found yourself wishing perhaps even praying for an opportunity to "get even?" During the days of the "desert fathers" (a 4th century Christian movement that tried to renew the church), a young man came to his spiritual mentor and father-figure named Sisoes. The young man blurted out, "I was hurt by my brother in Christ, and now I'm angry and I want to avenge myself.' The older man tried to comfort him, but he also gave him a gentle warning: "Don't do that, my child. Rather, leave vengeance to God."

But the young Christian refused to listen to Sisoes. Instead, he became even angrier and loudly said, "I will not quit until I get even."

When Sisoes saw that reason alone wouldn't change the young man's heart, he quietly said, "Let us pray, brother."

After a pause, Sisoes offered the following prayer: "O God, apparently we no longer need you to take care of us since we can now avenge ourselves. From now on we can manage our own lives without your help." When the young man heard this prayer, he immediately repented. Falling at Sisoes feet, he cried out, "Have mercy on me. I am not going to fight my brother anymore." Regarding forgiving another who has hurt us, the Apostle Paul writes in Ephesians 4:30-32 (NIV) 30 And do not grieve the Holy Spirit of God, with whom you were sealed for the day of redemption. 31 Get rid of all bitterness, rage and anger, brawling and slander, along with every form of malice. 32 Be kind and compassionate to one another, forgiving each other, just as in Christ God forgave you.

BEING SNATCHED FROM THE JAWS OF DEATH

By: Pastor Joel DeSelm,

Woodburn Missionary It was the perfect day: clear skies, no wind, bright sunshine, no humidity and temperatures in the low '70'. A number of parachutists were going to perform a routine group jump. Gregory Robertson, a safety and training advisor for the U.S. Parachute Association and a veteran of 1,500 jumps, followed Debbie Williams and 5 other divers out of a plane 2 miles over Coolidge, Arizona. He watched as the group tried to link hands at 9,000 feet. All of a sudden, Williams violently collided with another skydiver knocking herself unconscious. Robertson, from his vantage point a hundred feet above, tucked his arms to his side and using his shoulders to steer, plummeted at 200 miles per hour straight down. Debbie was spiraling downward on her back. Robertson's bullet maneuver allowed him catch up with her. He pulled her into a sitting position and yanked on her rip cord at 2,700 feet.

Still hurtling earthward, Robertson was finally able to pull his own ripcord at 2,000 feet, just ten seconds before he would have slammed into the Arizona Desert floor.

Robertson Gregory risked his own life to snatch Debbie Williams from the threshold of death.

As we approach the Easter season, we are again reminded that through the cross of Christ, God has snatched us from the threshold of death.

Through the cross, God in Christ reached out and provided an escape from our plummet to hell. Jesus took our place by dying on the cross for our sin. He paid the penalty for sin that was ours to pay.

And though He died, on the third day he was resurrected from the dead. The good news of the gospel is very simple, yet very profound. If you believe by faith that Jesus died on Calvary's cross for your sin and ask Him to forgive you of your sin, you can be saved.

You, too, can be snatched from the curse and the penalty of sin. And you can know abundant life in this life and eternal life after you die. This Easter season, why not make sure you've trusted in Christ for your eternal salvation?

SPRING FARM SAFETY

By: Jim Lopshire, Extension Educator

Research from the National Safety Council indicates that 700 farmers and ranchers die in work-related accidents yearly. Most every farm family and rural community knows of someone that has been one of these statistics. The sad part is that a majority of these accidents are preventable.

Ohio farmers are currently in the process of preparing their equipment for planting, looking for dry fields, and waiting for soil temperatures to warm. What better time than now to take a few extra minutes to check equipment lighting and marking to help ensure a safe spring?

Let's review what is required and recommended for agricultural equipment while traveling on public roads:

At all times, an Slow

Moving Vehicle (SMV) emblem is required. Headlights and tail lights are required 30 minutes after sunrise and 30 minutes before sunset. Headlights and tail lights are required during day hours if inclement weather fog and rain. Additional extremity lighting is required on dualwheeled tractors.

conditions exist, including

Amber flashers and turn signals are recommended at all times.

Ideally towed implements should have their own reflectors, lights, and an SMV emblem. However law requires these items be present when the implement blocks the lighting/marking configuration on the trac-

In addition to lighting and marking on equipment, other items should be considered while traveling on public roads: Safety cables or chains should be used in any towing situation; Lock tractor brakes together before traveling on public roadways; Wear seat belt while operating tractors with ROPS.

Ohio law states that only one wagon/implement may be towed behind any vehicle with two exceptions: Towing with a tractor; More than one wagon/implement may be towed; While no maximum is indicated, common sense and safety should play a role in the decision.

Towing with a pickup or straight truck: A truck designed by the manufacturer to carry a load of not less than 1/2 ton and not more than 2 tons may tow two wagons/implements. Use escort vehicle when possible. Additional information on lighting and marking of agricultural equipment can be found in the Factsheet AEX 598 08 Boosting Visibility of Ag Equipment found on the Ohioline web site at: http://ohioline.osu. edu/aex-fact/pdf/AEX_

Zimmerman April 7, 2011 CANAL-TOUR - "Taming the Swamp"

The Canal Societies of Indiana and Ohio sponsored tours in Paulding Co. and surrounding counties on the Wabash & Erie Canal (from Antwerp to Junction) and also the Miami & Erie Canal (from Junction to Delphos) April 1-3, 2011. There were people from Massachusetts, New York and even California in attendance as well as local enthusiasts who staved at the Van Wert Motels and traveled back and forth to the host Historical Society (John Paulding Society) in this county.

There was registration on Friday at the John Paulding Historical Society; Author -Georgia Kohart spoke about the canal and swamp life followed by a book signing. Then Docents led tours of the three museum buildings. At 6 p.m. the group met at Van Wert for Happy Hour, a picnic supper and at 7:30 was slide presentation preview of the Saturday tour.

On Saturday, the group met at 8:00 a.m. at the Motel in Van Wert and left in two coach buses for the canal sites in Paulding Co. The first was the Wabash-Erie in Antwerp, Ohio, leading easterly out to the Antwerp Reservoir. After pointing several highlights in that area, (the Harrman house; the Locks, and embankments) the buses headed on toward Tate's landing with explanations about the dynamiting of the Reservoir and Canal locks in the 1880's by the "Dynamiters". Mentioned on the State line was Saylor's Lock; we then passed thru Downing Lock and Payne's Lock West of Antwerp. Bank's Lock ran on the W. side of the Reservoir at Antwerp. We got out at the Antwerp Lock that was blown on the NW corner or the Reservoir. Then proceeding to Paulding Furnace then to Tate's Landing, past 1 Mile Lock; Six - Mile Creek Culvert; Junction; Little Auglaize Aqueduct; Lock 32; St. Andrews; Lock 31; Mandale: Hamler; Lock 30N; Lock 29N; Box Culvert; Ottoville (picture taken); Lock 28N; Lock27N; Lock26N; Lock25N; Jennings Creek Aqueduct; Lock 24N; Lock The group had stopped at Junction to see the marker and was told the history of the area and several stops were made at different locks and the aqueducts. They had gone to the John Paulding Historical Society for a nice box lunch, continuing the tour until 5:00 p.m. Banquet was held at Elk's Lodge at Van Wert at 6:30. At 7:30 Peter Wilhelm from Northwest State Community College spoke about "Taming the Black Swamp". Mr. Wilhelm is not a native of Paulding Co., but is very knowledgeable of it's past drainage problems. "Between 1870 and 1920 the construction of thousands of miles of open ditches alleviated the major portion of surface water by lowering the water table to at least ground level. There remained the stagnant surface water on individual fields which could only be removed in a timely fashion by under drainage. Beginning in the 1880's farmers employed tiling technology which transformed the waterlogged clay soils of the Black Swamp into the most productive agricultural land in the state.' Program was following by the American Canal Society Meeting. (members only).

The group met on Sunday in their cars by caravan at the hotel with flagged cars to see the sites not seen on Saturday over by Defiance. They came back through Junction and took the Canal to Defiance, looking at the locks in that area. The historical museum in Delphos was to be open for anyone wishing to have something more to do on Sunday afternoon.

Thanks to Robert and

Carolyn Schmidt for an informational and economical tour for all the meals and places that we went. LAWN CARE – MOWING

Now that the grass is starting to grow, we'd like to share with you a few guidelines on mowing that we learned at STI. Many homeowners take mowing for granted not realizing how much effect this has on the health and appearance of the lawn. Each of these tips plays an important part in the lawn's appearance. For the best cut, sharpen your mower blades at least once a year and keep them sharp. Sharp mower blades give a clean even cut to your lawn and prevent tearing and shredding which can give your grass an off-color ap-Adjust the cutting height on the mower for the season. Set your mower at mediumheight in the spring and fall. In early spring this will remove the top brown part of the blades and let more sunlight reach the grass plants encouraging early green-up. However, do not mow too low which causes stress to the lawn. Mowing too low eliminates too much of the leaf surface, reducing the plants ability to perform photosynthesis. Higher adjustment settings should be used during the hotter summer months when the grass growth is slower. This also helps your lawn maintain better drought tolerance with hotter temperatures and when there hasn't been much rain. Remember, the hotter and drier, the higher you should set your Frequent mowing with a regular mower or using a mulching mower will avoid the necessity of bagging your lawn clippings; however, you may catch the clippings if you prefer. The important thing is not to let the grass get so high that mowing removes more than one-third of the grass blade. Cutting off more than a third creates a physiological shock that can make it more susceptible to disease. For best results, mow your lawn every 5 days.

Mow when your lawn is dry to avoid clogging your mower. Wet grasses stick to your mower and can cause problems. However, if you absolutely have to mow when it is wet, make sure to wash out the cutting area of the mower immediately when you are finished. This makes it much easier to keep the mower clean and problem free.

To achieve a quality appearance, try to alternate mowing patterns and directions. For instance. If you mowed horizontally last time, mow diagonally this time. This tends to keep the grass blades more erect and ensure a more even cut.

Paulding Village Council met in Regular Session on March 21, 2011 Mayor White called the meeting to order.

Sierer motioned to approve the minutes of the March 7th

Council meeting, seconded by Trausch. Vote: all yea. Trausch presented the Recreation Committee's minutes from their March 14th meeting. The following items were discussed: Elaine Sierer inquired of current rates and if a discount could be given to pool employee's families. The Committee will research past minutes to find where admission rates were set, and Solicitor Jones will be requested to look into the matter of discounted Ed Carlisle, Street Supervisor, and Administrator Wiebe were present to discuss the proposed walking path at Jeffery Park. Carlisle and Wiebe relayed the need for sewer jet and maintenance vehicle access, and inquired about the possibility of filing in some low spots along the bike path when it is put in. Travis Mc-Garvey will be contacted with their concerns. Mike Trausch met with representatives of Master Gardeners to discuss sprucing up Lafountain Park's entrance and flag pole. Master Gardeners have come up with a couple of proposals for the entrance, but are still researching what would best suit accessibility and maintenance around the flag pole. The Committee also met with Bruce Whitman, Park Manager, to discuss increasing his responsibilities to include the Wiffle Ball Field at Reservoir Park and adding the Lela McGuire Jeffery Park. The Committee recommended increasing the Park Manager's pay to $10,840

to cover the increased work

The Committee decided not to purchase a new mower at this time for the Lela Mc-Guire Jeffery Park. It was decided that the Reservoir Park mower would be used for both the Reservoir and Jeffery Parks. Mr. Whitman inquired if the Village would be willing to move the mower from park to park since he does not have a truck or trailer to move the mower. Sierer inquired if Village employees would be willing to perform these duties. Wiebe noted he will discuss his request with the Street Supervisor and get back with him.

Guelde motioned to approve the Recreation Committee's report, seconded by Daeger. Vote: all yea.

Guelde presented the Buildings & Grounds Committee's report from their March 9th meeting. Committee reviewed the three mowing bids received earlier that day, and recommended awarding the 2011/2012 Mowing Contract to Dan Vance of Paulding. Sutton motioned to approve awarding the 2011/2012 Mowing Contract to Dan Vance, seconded by Trausch. Vote: all yea.

Resolution 1250-11 re: A Resolution Authorizing URS Corporation to Advertise for Bids for the Construction and Use of a New Water Treatment Plant for the Village of Paulding and Declaring an Emergency, was read for the first time. Solicitor Jones noted the legislation authorizes URS to advertise the Water Plant for bid contingent upon URS receiving final authorization from Rural Development. Rife inquired why this legislation is being read as an emergency. Jones noted that if Council does not wish to declare an emergency on this legislation; therefore requiring three (3) readings, the project will not go out for bid until sometime in April. Ap-

While the agency guts some major programs, like its Great Lakes Restoration Initiative and state grants for infrastructure, EPA will increase its enforcement budget by $24 million". Wiebe noted he and Mayor White met with Congressman Bob Latta at the courthouse earlier today, and did discuss this article with him. Latta noted he understands the Village's situation regarding unfunded EPA mandates, and wishes he had the article prior to meeting with the new EPA director to address some concerns this article presents. Daeger would like the public to know that the EPA has given the Village an unfunded mandate to separate its sewers. The Village had requested the EPA grant the Village a 10 year extension on its sewer separation project, but the EPA shot down its request and instead granted a 5 year extension. Wiebe noted that while the Village has renewed its current NPDES permit with the EPA, the new EPA director will not tolerate non-compliance and is seeking an attitude change among the state entities it monitors. Wiebe also noted he and Finance Director Tope have been discussing the impact the 25% reduction in Local Government Assistance will have on the Village's General Fund. He noted that revenues will decrease approximately $19,000 over the next two vears, and that Council may need to re-evaluate General Fund expenditures. Mayor White relayed he had at-Paulding-Putnam's annual shareholders' meeting on March 19th, and read a Proclamation celebrating the electric cooperative's 75th Anniversary. He also noted he and Wiebe will be attending a Legislative Luncheon in Columbus on March 22nd. Solicitor Jones requested the Mayor to stay after the Council meeting for a few minutes to sign the URS contract for engineering services related to the building of the new water plant. He noted the Village has already paid URS $924,280 for its engineering services, and per the contract the Village promises to pay an additional amount, not to exceed $519,000, for the construction (including Project Manager) and postconstruction (training of village employees for the operation of the plant) phases of the project. Jones also relayed that in order for the Village to receive financial assistance from Rural Development, the Village needed to prove it had contributed $250,000 towards the funding of the project from its own sources. With Julie Ward's, a representative of RCap, assistance; Rural Development has agreed to apply the Village's $300,000 pilot study payment (to URS) towards the Village's portion of the project cost. Trausch noted the Paulding Ball Association will be hosting a "Pitch, Hit, & Run" competition on April 16th at 8:00am. Sierer inquired if there had been any interest in the Cherry St/North Drive project. Wiebe relayed Craig Knapke, Project Engineer from Fanning-Howey Engineering Group, has informed him bid packets are been being mailed out to interested contractors. The following meetings were scheduled:

Street Committee - Thursday, March 24th at 5:30 pm. Recreation Committee Thursday, March 24th at 6:00 pm.

BILL METZGERS JOURNAL - 1846

By: Stan Jordan

It is 1846 and our family is just leaving Germantown, Ohio, heading west. Here in the Midwest, Ohio hasn't been a state very long - 1803 and Indiana in 1816. We are Buckeyes but the Indiana State Line is just a few miles to our west.

My parents, William & Mollie Metzger and I and my 2 younger sisters, Margo is 12 and Mazie is 10 years old and I am going on 15 years old.

Grandpa Metzger fought in the Revolutionary War and for a bonus he was given 160 acres called the Firelands. He had to improve it and we did. After grandpa died, my father inherited the farm. My folks talked a lot at night about going west on the Oregon Trail, to the Land of Milk and Honey. Dad sold the farm and bought 2 wagons with canvas covers to get us to Independence, Missouri. Dad burned the house and buildings down about 2 days before we left. Then we searched the ashes for all of the wrought iron nails. We have been told to do this as iron nails are hard to get after you leave the Mississippi River.

Dad bought a team of mules to pull the second wagon. This is filled with supplies more than household goods. It carries all the food for the animals and a crate of chickens. We have a small barrel of water on each side. We have 3 bushels of potatoes, cabbages, carrots, etc. from last year's

We crossed through Ohio and Indiana, it's pretty much straight west to Indianapolis. I think that is the capital of the state. This land is also pretty flat, a little rolling maybe.

I haven't written for a few days, they are all the same. We are about half way to Indianapolis, pretty good roads, quite a few people going west and a few going east. When you are in the sun you can take your coat off for a while.

Met a local man today and he said pretty good trail into Indianapolis, four maybe three days travel yet. Well, we finally left Indianapolis. We got groceries there, salt, bacon, flour, baking soda, beans, coffee, sugar, soap, dried fruit, potatoes, onions, sweet potatoes, hard tack, tobacco for dad, cornmeal and a sack of horehound candy.

All of the supplies we put into the first wagon. Filled the water barrels also. I guess we go about 10 miles each day. Not too much mud. We keep the mules on the first wagon now, they are slower than the Met a horseback rider today, he was going east. He said about 3 days at a mules pace to the Illinois line, a little place called Danville. This country is flat, but the farm ground looks good. That rider said they call this the prairie.

Got into Danville today. Been on the trail about 6 weeks. An old timer told us today to stay pretty much straight west to get to Quincy, the last town in Illinois.

The days are getting a little longer and mom has school every night before dark. Boy, she sees to it that we can read, write and cipher. If we have a rainy day and don't travel she holds school in the big

APACHE TRAIL, TORTILLA FLATS, SUPERSTITION MOUNTAINS

By: Stan Jordan

The Apache Trail in Arizona was originally an old stagecoach trail that was used by the coaches through the Superstition Mountains. It was a trail used by the Apaches because lots of them lived in and around these mountains and they were very superstitious in their way of life.

The trail links Apache Junction at the east side of Phoenix with the road to Theodore Roosevelt Lake and the Tonto National Forest.

This trail winds through the desert and the mountains are very steep and unsafe for some campers and R.V.'s. Every facet of this country is history or legend or both. This trail goes through Tortilla Flats and this is history also. It is or was the last stage coach stop that still survives along the Apache Trail. At one time it had about 100 inhabitants, but it is the smallest community left in the area, it only has 6 people there now but it has a post office and a voting precinct. At one time it had about one hundred folks living there but a flood came and ruined it and most folks didn't rebuild. It was a stage stop while they were building Roosevelt Dam. Lots of freight haulers and construction workers would stop for the night. It served it's purpose well.

It got it's name Tortilla Flat in the early years as the cowboys would stop in the saloon and spend all their money and not buy supplies. They always would drive cattle from Globe to Phoenix. They usually got back on the trail with no supplies and had to use flour to make some tortillas at the flat, hence the name. This area now is a pretty the Salt River Reclamation Project, the Tonto National Forest is also in the area and a tourist attraction. The Superstition Mountains are east of Phoenix and a big recreation area now. But there is a lot of history and natural wonders in and around this entire area. The Apaches knew the mountain very well and had a lot of legends and superstitions about them. Such as, they thought the entrance to the world below was right here in the Superstitions.

Some rock formations like the 'Weaver's Needle' and other out cropping rocks had effects on their beliefs.

The legend of the 'Lost Dutchman's Mine' to them and other people is not a legend but the truth, although the mine has never been found. But all these rumors have helped the tourist trade and the economy.

There are numerous hiking trails here, some long and some short ones.

To the common American tourist and history buff you could spend days in the area to see the natural wonders, the state and national parks and just lose yourself in the beauty of it all. I sure would like to go back.

She tries to throw her arms around the horse's neck, but she slides down the horse's side anyway. The horse gallops along, seemingly impervious to its slipping rider.

Finally, giving up her frail grip, the blonde attempts to leap away from the horse and throw herself to safety. Unfortunately, her foot has become entangled in the stirrup; she

EILEEN SHAFFER

By: Stan Jordan

Eileen was born in Paulding County in June of 1919. Her folks were Brice and Blanch Baldwin Highland and she had 2 brothers. She went to school in Paulding, but she went to Briceton School for the first 1 1/2 years. She met Gerald Shaffer at a dance and they were married in 1934. Their son, Donald was born in 1937, Carol was born in 1940 and Linda was born in 1947.

Gerald, her husband was employed at the Weatherhead Corp. in Antwerp. He was injured in 1952, having fallen into a vat of acid. The doctors didn't think he would live long but he was a tough fellow and he lived until 1997. He drove a school bus for Antwerp for many years prior to his accident.

Gerald's father was Everett Shaffer, his grandfather was Gold Shaffer. Gold Shaffer cleared the land by hand on the home place and handled some logs in the old Wabash and Erie Canal.

After Gerald passed away Eileen worked for the Meijer Store in Ft. Wayne from 1997 until 2007. While she was there in the delicatessen she was very surprised to have Channel 21 to come and put her on T.V. as the favorite worker at that time. She was given a large bouquet of flowers because of her gracious personality. When she retired in 2007, she still loved her work in the delicatessen. She is a workaholic.

She is in very good shape physically and mentally and feels very good for 92. She keeps in shape by working out 3 times a week at The Community Memorial Hospital Fitness Center in Hicksville. Then she volunteers there 3 times a week. Eileen would have liked to have been a nurse but she had to take care of her parents when she was young. She likes to take care and

ODOT CONSTRUCTION & MAINTENANCE PROJECTS WEEK OF 4/11/11

Defiance County:

County Road 424 (formerly Ohio 424), from approximately three miles east of Ohio 281 in Defiance County and 11 miles west of Ohio 108 in Henry County will be closed for approximately 30 days beginning April 12 for the replacement of five culverts. The route will remain open to local traffic only. There will be no official detour because the work is not taking place on a state route. Resurfacing of 5.3 miles of the roadway from the east corporation limit of the city of Defiance to the Henry County line will follow the completion of the culvert replacements. The project, which is being performed by Gerken Paving of Bluffton, is part of an agreement which will turn maintenance responsibilities for the former state route over to the Defiance County Commissioners. On Friday, April 1st, the hallways at Vantage were filled with anticipation as the Vantage seniors presented their Senior Capstone Projects to teachers, staff and community members. The Senior Capstone Project is a part of the student's final year at Vantage. The project incorporates the skills, concepts, and data from the student's career technical program into one culminating project. This is a three-part process: a written research paper, a project or product created outside of the normal school day, Nolan Feathers, a Delphos Jefferson senior in the Auto Body program restored his 1997 Dodge Ram pick-up truck for his project. Nolan said, "I gained a lot of self confidence doing my senior project. Beth Evans, senior English teacher said, "The Senior Capstone project provides an opportunity for making the last two years of high school meaningful and practical. Brad shared, "Things are harder to do than they look, but when I was done I felt a real sense of accomplishment." Cosmetology seniors Kayla Peoples from Lincolnview, Tabrina Vance from Paulding, and Diedre Knippen from Ottoville organized a fashion show for their senior project. The fashion show was held during Sophomore Visitation Day at Vantage so 10th graders could get a glimpse of the type of skills that are learned in Cosmetology.

During their formal oral presentation, all the seniors explained the processes they went through in developing their project, the expectations they had, problems or challenges that they encountered along the way, how long it took them to complete the project and what they really learned from the project.

Juniors were able to observe the seniors during their presentations. Just about all the seniors had the same piece of advice to the juniors, "Start early, don't procrastinate and choose a topic that interests you."

In addition to Vantage staff members, nearly eighty business and industry partners, community members and advisory committee members took the time to observe and evaluate these seniors. Several home school principals and guidance counselors were also in attendance.

ODOT AWARDS RECORD $11.6 MILLION FOR SRTS

The Ohio Department of Transportation (ODOT) announces the awarding of $11.6 million in anticipated federal transportation funds for 90 projects through the successful Safe Routes to School (SRTS) Program. Each project will receive anywhere from $1,000 to nearly $500,000. All totaled, these awards make up the highest amount of funding the program has ever distributed at one time.

The proposed projects sponsored by Ohio communities - encourage and enable schoolchildren from Kindergarten to eighth grade to safely walk or bicycle to and from their neighborhood schools. "The goal of SRTS projects is to combine health and fitness with safety," said ODOT Director Jerry Wray. "It is an opportunity to work closely with schools and communities to create a healthy lifestyle for children and a safer, cleaner environment for everyone."

Funding will go to 34 communities requesting support for school travel plan development. With these grants and engineering support, these communities will be able to develop their own SRTS programs. Once completed, they will be in a position to apply for more funds to implement their ideas.

SRTS awards went to infrastructure improvements for local communities: improving sidewalks, creating new walking/biking connections, putting in bike racks and improving cross-walks and other safety features in communities all across the state. More comprehensive projects to be funded include the construction of new sidewalks, curb extensions and pavement markings.

Still other funds will go to providing education and encouragement programs on the SRTS concept.

'The safety message needs to be heard by many people at all levels," stated Director Wray. "The recent awards will not only go for providing information to children and their parents, but to provide professional assistance, such as training for crossing guards."

ODOT has administered the SRTS program since 2004, and has awarded more than $32 million in project

PUNKY PRUNE

One question people often ask me when talking is if we eat any sweets in our household. Given our family's focus on nutrition, most people presume we shun all the scrumptious things in life. However that couldn't be further from the truth. I have a crazy sweet tooth, always have and always will. Back in the college days I tried to offset my terrible eating habits with the latest fad of munching on anything labeled "sugar free". What a joke. That stuff is simply test tube food created in a lab full of chemicals. Do I have to mention how

Once married, we realized we shouldn't be eating white sugar either. Refined sugars are void of vitamins and minerals because they have been stripped out during the bleaching process. Plus, it is harder to digest, addictive and can cause spikes in your blood sugar.

After researching the alternatives, we concluded that using raw honey is natures perfect ingredient for pure and simple sweetness. Raw honey is that which is not heated above 115 degrees during extraction and it is not strained. The honey is also already digested by the honeybees so it is less taxing on our digestive system.

One of the major benefits of raw honey is that it's nature's own muİti-vitamin. Vitamins such as B1, B2, B3, B5, B6, and even antioxidant-rich vitamin C are found in raw honey. It also contains 27 minerals like potassium, magnesium, calcium, sodium chlorine, sulphur, and phosphate along with 22 amino acids and 5,000 live enzymes. It is definitely different from the commercial varieties which are often not 'raw' as they lose much of their nutritional value through processing. It keeps you healthy by fighting disease and boosting the digestive system. One daily spoonful in your tea or spread on your toast is all that is needed to reap these benefits.

Taking raw honey is also a healthy way to get an energy boost. Its carbohydrates supply us with energy and strength. It can boost your endurance and reduce muscle fatigue. As stated in my article on basic baking substitutions a few weeks ago, you can use honey to replace sugar in any recipe. If you need 1 C of sugar, simply replace it with ½ C of raw honey.

Not only for cooking and baking, but honey has many wonderful uses. Honey is also antiseptic, antibiotic, anti-fungal, and antibacterial. This is why we often hear to have some honey in our tea when we are sick, or to swallow a spoonful as studies have shown it is more effective than commercial cough syrups in coating the throat and providing throat relief. Honey can also be spread thinly on burns and scrapes as you would Neosporin. It not only will kill any of the bad bacteria and prevent infection, but will help with scarring and will make your skin baby

Another fantastic use for raw honey this time of year is to combat allergies. Raw honey contains all the pollen, dust and molds that cause 90 percent of all allergies. The bees use the available vegetation in the area to help produce the honey which in turn has minute amounts of those allergens in it. It is essentially a homeopathic medicine because when ingested, people build up an immunity to the pollen, dust or mold that is causing trouble in the first to enjoy honey is because it is a sweet gift from God. In the words of King Solomon "My son, eat thou honey, because it is good; and the honeycomb, which is sweet to thy taste." Proverbs 24:13. If you have any questions or topics you would like discussed, please email: punkyprune@yahoo.com

WOODBURN'S "DAY IN THE PARK" PLANTER COMPETI-

This year as part of the "Day in the Park" festivities we are having a planter competition. There are 12 planters available. If you are interested in participating you can sign up at Ladybugs (open weekdays at 10 am) and pick out your planter. There is no entry fee. Participants will be required to start planting by the 2nd weekend in May and may continue to add plants or amend your design throughout the competition. You may design the flower arrangement in your planter in any color scheme or combinations of plants that would compliment your design. You may use shepherds hooks or other yard art in your design but the city is not responsible if the art is stolen, broken by vandals or by wind. We ask that no vegetables be planted and you use only live plants. You may replace or amend the soil to encourage growth of your plants. You will be responsible for the upkeep (including watering) of your assigned planter through the month of July. Your planters will be judged by an expert in the field of landscape design and the results announced in the Park on Saturday, July 23rd and prizes awarded to the top three planters. After the month of July you may still continue to take care of your planters or we can request that the nearest business water them on a regular schedule depending on the weather. This competition is open to individuals as well as businesses in or around Woodburn. We hope that all the planters will have participants in the contest. This can be fun and competitive and an enjoyable way to beautify our city. Please consider this fun project.

PAULDING COUNTY CHRONICLES II

By: Caroline Wells Zimmerman

EARLY CANAL TRAV-ELER'S LAMENT

Do you know these definitions: 1. Landing - a place for taking on or discharging passengers or cargo; 2. Dock - a wharf or platform for loading or unloading materials; 3. Lock – an enclosure (as in a canal) used in raising and lowering boats from level to level.

Was there one of these in Antwerp, Ohio? There was an area at the south end of Main Street (where it meets Canal Street) where "a lot of activities went on during the Canal Era" (1843-1860). Canal boats were used for different things and not all boats were used commercially or otherwise. There were posted schedules with times and rates just like a train station. It was a busy place with vendors and tearful greetings and good-byes. The luggage was limited and so was space. Passengers met new people, perhaps sleeping beside a stranger for the next few days until their destinations. Musicians were sometimes on board for entertainment. The charge was so much per mile.

Why didn't Antwerp have a hotel for Canal travelers? It was an exciting town as far as the Civil War (1861-1865) was concerned. More men signed up in Paulding County than anywhere in Ohio percentage wise. They must have had some riproaring parties urging men to fight for 'the cause'. The money was probably part of it at $13.00 per month it beat farming Paulding County clay. Over 2,200 men served in the Civil War from Paulding County over 900 are said to be buried here. I had one 3rd grade uncle who was in Andersonville Prison Camp for 3 months (James Furrow) and other veteran relatives were 3 Longberry 'Blues'. The Canal played a part in all their descendant's lives. The railroad had come through prior to the Civil War, how-

It appears in the history books that Junction met all the criteria for 'landing, dock, locks' and rolling out the welcome wagon for all 'canawlers' and travelers as Were the hotels in Junction acceptable by any standards today? Who knows, except those who complained about them and journaled it. Bedbugs were a problem and travelers would almost rather stand up than lie on a ratty bed. Wine, women and song were what Junction was noted for. The Miami-Erie Canal met the Wabash-Erie and went on to Fort Defiance from there. All along the canals were small factories and if you

(or wherever) a person was probably glad if there wasn't a tannery there (maybe there It's said that those people that worked there had a hard time getting wives because of the smell they brought home on their clothes, plus that whole part of town stunk badly. Odors from the outhouses, in-town chicken coops and pig pens, horse poop in the streets (who cleaned it up?) and much more must have been overpowering. The dainty people held their hankies to their noses when they went through certain parts of town and were very snooty to stinky street people of lower classes. See part 2 next week.

lived in Antwerp or Junction

STUDENTS LOVE DIVINE MERCY

I am in second grade at Divine Mercy Catholic School, Payne, Ohio. My class is special because we learn about Jesus. Miss Kuhlman reads us stories. We have library every Wednesday. We have reading everyday. We have music every Monday. We have church every Friday. We do grammar everyday. We have math everyday.

Treyton Banks, 2nd grade, Divine Mercy Catholic

I am in first grade at Divine Mercy Catholic School, Payne, Ohio. My class is special because we have fun with experiments. Mr. Linder has fun games in gym. My two best friends are Grady and Kaden R. I like Junie B. Jones books. I like the Biscuit books, too. I have a great teacher named Miss Kuhlman. Phonics is hard but fun. Practice books is really fun,

-Ethan Noggle/1st grade Divine Mercy Catholic A letter from former student of Divine Mercy I was asked by my former principal to write about what I learned from Divine Mercy Catholic School. Well, I can tell people that there is a great deal of things you can learn from this small school. It might be a small and not very popular school, but it has helped me improve my lifestyle. When I went into seventh grade, I was nervous because I had no clue if I was going to get made fun of because I went to a Catholic School. But of course I wasn't treated any differently. I feel that I got a lot of moral values from my small school. My teachers taught me to show respect towards others and it helps me today with my junior high teachers. Divine Mercy School also helped me to be patient because if our teacher is working with the other grade we had to wait until they were finished explaining their lesson. Teachers help you to get along with all the kids and we treat each other like one big family. The teachers are not just there to teach us, they help the students get along and they are like parents guiding us on the right path to success. The teachers take their time and work with each student one on one if the kids ask the teacher for help. However, we are very different from other schools in Paulding County. We have two classes in one room with one teacher. We do not have different gym, art or choir teacher. The Divine Mercy School teachers work together to get all jobs done. People might think that because we are small we don't learn a lot. Well, that is not true because I feel like going into junior high I am on top of the students in my classroom. At Divine Mercy you learn the main subjects but you also learn religion and go to church every Friday. I feel like learning religion has helped me be respectful toward my teachers in junior high. At Divine Mercy if you don't turn in your homework we don't get lunch detention, we get one more chance or we get a zero. This helped teach us responsibility. This is a big help when you enter junior high. Please send your children to Divine Mercy School because it is worth it. I have learned a lot from this school and so can your kids. Just give them the
