

IT'S THIS YEAR THAT MATTERS

Jacob Patterson Tray Mills, Nick Barnhouse are working out on the track prior to running, getting in shape for the Archers 2014 Football season.

Drew Altimus, has had a tough few months, "It's been weighing on my shoulders a long time." Antwerp's Athletic Director has heard a lot from both sides as he struggled with how to handle the future of Antwerp football. After talking with him and others, I realized it was what had to be done. One thing you're always told is look to the future. I realized in business is if you don't get through now, there won't be a future.

All schools and sports go through times of high mountains and low valleys. Guess what? Antwerp is one of those in the valley. The troubling part of this is there is nothing that can be done. So why are some people and the media critical of what is happening? Playing on it as if something

MAD ANTS PRESIDENT JEFF POTTER NAMED 2014 NBA DEVELOPMENT LEAGUE TEAM EXECUTIVE OF THE YEAR

Jeff Potter, president of the 2014 NBA Development League champion Fort Wayne Mad Ants, was today named the 2014 NBA Development League Team Executive of the Year, NBA D-League President Dan Reed announced. The NBA Development League Team Executive of the Year is determined by peer voting and teams are not allowed to vote for themselves. "We are very pleased to honor Jeff with the Team Executive of the Year Award in recognition of the Mad Ants' milestone year both on and off the floor," said Reed. "Under Jeff's leadership, the team has become an integral part of the Fort Wayne community and established itself as part of the rich tradition of Indiana basketball."

As president of the Mad Ants, Potter oversees all business and basketball operations for the team. Through his leadership, the Mad Ants captured their first NBA D-League title after a benchmark season in which the team had the best regular season record (34-16) for the league and won its first Eastern Division crown. Potter's squad, which set a team regular season record for wins and swept their opponents in the postseason (6-0), also featured the league's Co-Most Valuable Player and Sportsmanship Award recipient Ron Howard and Coach of the Year Conner Henry. In addition, five Mad Ants earned postseason honors including All-NBA D-League selections Howard (First Team), Tony Mitchell (third team), and Tim Ohlbrecht (honorable mention); All-Rookie selection Trey McKinney-Jones (third team); and All-Defensive Team Sadiel Rojas (second team).

A member of the Board of Directors for the Indiana Chamber of Commerce, Potter's impact stretched beyond the court as he forged a long-time partnership with Lutheran Health Network, the first presenting sponsorship in the team's history, and enhanced the team's social responsibility initiative, which included over 160 community service projects in the area. In recognition of the team's commitment, Fort Wayne Mayor Tom Henry proclaimed Wednesday, April 30, 2014 as Fort Wayne Mad Ants Day following their triumph in the NBA D-League Finals.

"I am deeply honored, humbled, and thankful that my peers voted to give me this wonderful award," said Potter. "It has been a banner year for the Mad Ants both in our business and on the court, and it does not happen without my fantastic staff, which helps make this job the best in the world. I share this award with them and our entire Mad Ants family."

Previous winners of the award include Bill Boyce (Texas Legends, 2013), David Higdon (Bakersfield Jam, 2012), Bert Garcia (Rio Grande Valley Vipers, 2011) and Jon Jennings (Maine Red Claws, 2010).

LETTER TO THE EDITOR

I would like to praise our community (Antwerp). Recently the new Dollar General store contacted me about having a food drive for our local food pantry. I was really excited and humbled that a corporation sought out a way to help others.

They put out a box with a sign and let their customers know about giving to the food pantry. And then our community gave and gave so generously!

We are blessed to live in this caring community. Your giving hearts are very appreciated.

HOW WILL NEW LAWS AFFECT YOU?

The Kruse Report by: IN State Sen. Dennis Kruse (R-Auburn)

Many new laws passed during the 2014 legislative session will take effect July 1. I want to make you aware of how these laws might affect you or your family.

This session featured several bills focused on better protecting our children, including:

- Senate Enrolled Act 50 bans minors under the age of 16 from using indoor tanning devices in a tanning facility. They are no longer allowed to use tanning beds, even with permission from a parent or guardian.
- Senate Enrolled Act 85 helps local schools afford first-class security by allowing them to receive state grants for the training of school resource officers.
- Senate Enrolled Act 222 mandates safety training for football coaches who instruct athletes less than 20 years of age and who use a state or municipally-owned facility. Coaches will be required to complete a training course at least once during a two-year period, which includes content on concussion awareness, equipment fitting, heat emergency preparedness and proper technique.
- Senate Enrolled Act 245 allows health-care providers to prescribe auto-injectable epinephrine, like EpiPens, to schools and school districts. It also provides legal protections to school nurses and volunteer personnel who administer auto-injectable epinephrine to a student suffering an allergic reaction.

Indiana's steadfast commitment to those who have served in our armed forces was reinforced with the following new laws:

- Senate Enrolled Act 331 requires state universities to establish programs encouraging veterans to become teachers. The measure will also expand college credit opportunities in any academic field for veterans who pass certain college equivalency examinations or complete courses at an accredited postsecondary education institution during their service.
- Senate Enrolled Act 352 eliminates the current restriction that service members and their dependents have only three years after the end of the soldier's service to apply for support from the Military Family Relief Fund. It also gives priority to those military members and their families who have not previously received assistance from the fund.
- Senate Enrolled Act 354 creates the Hoosier Women Veterans Program to provide information and services to Indiana's female veterans.

Other new laws addressing a variety of issues include:

- Senate Enrolled Act 169 allows for a sentence enhancement of between five and 20 years for violent offenders who use a firearm in the commission of a crime. It also makes it a felony to steal a firearm or to knowingly provide a firearm to an individual who either 1) is legally ineligible to own a firearm or 2) intends to commit a crime.
- Senate Enrolled Act 357 authorizes the state seed commissioner to license the cultivation and production of industrial hemp. The product will be grown for crops and research purposes. Indiana is currently seeking federal approval.
- House Enrolled Act 1003 allows schools and local businesses to receive financial support for partnerships that provide on-the-job training for high school students.
- House Enrolled Act 1384 prohibits a police officer from downloading information from a cell phone without the owner's consent or a valid search warrant, unless there is probable cause to believe the device was used in the commission of a crime.

To view a summary of all laws passed in 2014, visit my website at www.in.gov/s14 and click on "Publications."

If you have any questions regarding any new laws, don't hesitate to contact me by email at Senator.Kruse@iga.in.gov or by phone at 800-382-9467.

In Attendance: Mayor Hoepfner, Councilman Abbott, Renner, Gerig & Voirel, Treasurer Sarrazine, Chief Duhamell, Superintendent Walls and Deputy Clerk Palmer (Councilman Rice was absent). Police Report: The Woodburn Police Reserves have logged 52 hours of patrol time so far this month with another 34 hours of training time. WPD hosted two senior members of the Allen County Prosecutors Office this past Sunday for our Legal Update Seminar. This was a 2 hour program which was held in the Woodburn Fire Department Training Room. PUBLIC HEARING: Sturtz Public Management opened the second hearing for the downtown streetscape project. Ryan Shrack with OCRA did a site visit on Friday. The full application will be submitted on June 6, 2014. There are a total of three cities that are applying for two grants. Ann Marie Perrine described the point system of scoring and urged the community to write letters as to why there is a need for this project. The Main Street Committee needs to have a "sustainability" fund of at least $5,000 to get 50 points. Councilman Abbott made a motion to set up a fund of $5,250 funded out of rainy day fund to insure the 50 points. Councilman Renner 2nd, all approved, motion carried. Public hearing was closed 7:42.

AUDIENCE: Beth Woods showed the Membership Directory that the chamber put together. Lynn Rorick met with Granite Ridge to talk about putting Villa's in. There are 12-14 people interested. Granite Ridge would like a public meeting. Councilman Abbott said the need to maintain the empty property they have now.

MAYOR: Fred Bean made an offer on the 8 acre corner lot in the Industrial Park at the appraised price. Ramco had some tie ups with the engineering firm, but that has been fixed and they are back on schedule. Loves is contracting out and should start construction in the next month. Line Design gave the city and estimate to fix cracks in Sunview, Burnwood, and paint parking spots on Main Street. This weekend is Memorial weekend, so flags will be going up down Main Street. The farming of the Industrial Park was discussed and the consensus was to farm it if at all possible.

TREASURER: Meeting Minutes from May 5, 2014 - Not approved, will be approved at next meeting. Warrants were presented, Councilman Gerig made a motion to approve, Councilman Voirel 2nd, all approved, motion carried. Councilman Gerig made a motion to introduce Ordinance G-14-1315 all approved, motion carried. Ordinance G-14-1315 was then introduced. Next meeting will be the public hearing on the ordinance which deals with the sewer rate increase. Two homeowners were seeking sewer discounts for watering their yards. The owners are new residents and have not established a 3 month average usage as per our ordinance. Councilman Abbot made a motion to give a sewer discount to the Saalfunks based on 2,000 usage per person average and they will be discounted on usage over 10,000 gallons. The Evan's will be discounted for usage over 2,000 because they have a two month prior history to base their average usage. Councilman Gerig 2nd all approved, motion carried.

SUPERINTENDENT WALLS: The tractor will not pick up the large barrels (355 gallons) for the Chlorine Swirl so we will have to down size to the 55 gallon. Superintendent Walls had a meeting with Adam Scheiderer on route to river and it was determined that we need a basement type application with a building over it. It needs to be about 5' deep. They also discussed rerouting drainage in Industrial Park and Adam is supposed to shoot grade. Superintendent Walls will be on vacation from June 13-23.

Councilman Abbott: Would like to remind people to write the letter of support (need) for the downtown revitalization. Councilman Abbott **commended everyone for the $5,250 for the project. The 50 points is huge. Councilman Abbott requested Superintendent Walls check the manholes in his addition to see how much silt is in them. Councilman Abbott requested an update on the aerator. Superintendent Walls responded that it is seized up and it's in the shop.

COUNCILMAN RICE: Absent COUNCILMAN RENNER: A neighbor has requested something be done about loose garbage. Treasurer responded that it was put on all the water bills that trash needs to be bagged. She will put it back on the website.

COUNCILMAN GERIG: Stated he has had several complaints on 22535 Rupp about the clutter in the yard. There is a car on jacks and a rusty motor at the corner of the house. House will be posted and ordinance enforced.

COUNCILMAN VOIREL: No report Councilman Renner made a motion to adjourn. Councilman Gerig 2nd, motion carried at 8:40 p.m. Minutes prepared by Clerk-Treasurer Holly Sarrazine.

(continued from page 1) sical events on the bandstand throughout the week as well as the rides and great food. The concerts, parade, and light show are all free to the public. So come on out and enjoy.

During the months of June and July every Wednesday evening at 8:00 p.m. the Bryan City Band performs a concert at the bandstand on the court house square, weather permitting. Bring your lawn chair and come enjoy.

The Thursday night Cruise-In is in full swing with a DJ on hand to play those golden oldies as you walk around and enjoy a really cool array of classic cars. There is also a 50/50 cash drawing.

While you're there, stop by the Farmers Market located on the north side of the square and get some home grown local produce as well as home baked goods and home made jellies and jams. Nickerson's BBQ is also on hand on Thursdays located just off the square on South Main St. next to the Marathon station.

Next week, I will have some more fun things to tell you about that are going to be happening, so be sure and pick up your West Bend News and check it out.

BIBLE QUESTIONS

By: James Potter, Oakwood Church of Christ

1. Luke 13:10 - Where was Jesus teaching on the Sabbath?
2. Luke 13:11 - How long had the woman suffered with the spirit of infirmity?
3. Luke 13:11 - What was it this woman couldn't do?
4. Luke 13:12 - What did Jesus say to the woman?
5. Luke 13:13 - What did Jesus lay on her?
6. Luke 13:13 - The woman was immediately made what?
7. Luke 13:13 - After being healed the woman did what?
8. Luke 13:14 - The ruler of the synagogue answered with what?
9. Luke 13:14 - The ruler accused Jesus of doing what?

10. Luke 13:14 - How many days were men to work or be healed according to the ruler?

Comments or questions? Call James Potter at 419-393-4775 or e-mail jsp1941@yahoo.com. Jesus loves you and so does the church of Christ.

Answers to this week's questions are as follows:

1. One of the synagogues;
2. Eighteen years;
3. Raise or strengthen up;
4. Woman, you are loosed from your infirmity;
5. His hand;
6. Straight;
7. Glorified God;
8. Indignation;
9. Healing on the Sabbath;
10. That Jesus was teaching in the synagogue.

Now, let's look at some truths in this lesson. You and I can notice in verse 10 that Jesus was teaching in the synagogue. Notice she has been aggravated with an infirmity of being bowed over for 18 years and could not lift herself up. In verses 12 and 13 we can see Jesus healing her. In verse 14 the ruler of the synagogue, speaks in indignation that Jesus healed on the Sabbath.

Notice what Jesus said in verses 12-16: Don't you water your animals on the Sabbath?

Notice Jesus called these people hypocrites. They didn't believe that even in sickness that anyone should be healed, on the Sabbath the ruler of the synagogue, thought more of animals than humans. He cares for animals, but God has men and women to be saved, for they are created in God's image. It says that Satan had bound this woman. You and I know that Satan is the father of sin, but all disease is the offspring of sin.

REP. COX LEGISLATION CEREMONIOUSLY SIGNED INTO LAW

State Representative Casey Cox (R-Fort Wayne) joined Governor Mike Pence at the Statehouse for a ceremonial signing of Senate Enrolled Act (SEA) 291 and House Enrolled Act (HEA) 1378. Rep. Cox championed both measures.

SEA 291 broadens the authority of the Attorney General, allowing him to coordinate with law enforcement and other state agencies to investigate and prosecute those who run sex trafficking operations. This can improve the efficiency of the state law enforcement's efforts.

"The heinous and despicable acts of human trafficking are a serious problem in Indiana as well as worldwide," said Rep. Cox. "It is imperative that we use every tool possible to crack down on this evil operation, and I was pleased to receive bipartisan support on this effort."

HEA 1378 requires the Indiana State Police Department to file a report with the Criminal Law and Sentencing Policy Study Committee regarding familial DNA searches in criminal investigations. Familial DNA searching refers to situations when no profile matches are identified in a routine search, so law enforcement officials must investigate further.

This new law will give the Legislature the opportunity to research the impact of establishing a database of DNA identifications, obtained from willing participants on a voluntary basis. That database could include crime scene specimens, information on convicted criminals, as well as close biological relatives of missing persons.

"DNA analysis is one of law enforcement's most effective means of fight crime," said Rep. Cox. "I was proud to lead this effort to make sure our brave men and women have every tool they need to succeed."

PRESIDENT SIGNS LATTA'S BILL TO REMOVE UNNECESSARY REGULATIONS ON AMERICA'S AUTO DEALERS INTO LAW

Congressman Bob Latta (R-OH) released the following statement after President Obama signed H.R. 724, legislation he sponsored with Congressman Gary Peters (D-MI), into law. The legislation repeals a duplicative regulation that required auto dealers to provide new car buyers with proof that their vehicle complies with Clean Air Act emissions standards. Since the information included in the certificate is already available in a number of alternate locations and all vehicles must comply with the Clean Air Act prior to entering the stream of commerce, this regulatory requirement outlived its purpose.

"With hardworking Americans currently suffering under nearly $1.9 trillion in regulations, we must find ways to reduce unnecessary burdens and costs," said Latta. "This law, which received overwhelming bipartisan support in both the House and Senate, relieves auto dealers from bureaucratic red tape by removing an outdated mandate, which only generated extra paperwork and costs for consumers and auto dealers. It is also further proof that when we focus on issues where all sides can agree, like addressing regulatory redundancies through common-sense proposals, Congress can get work done."

Under the Clean Air Act, auto dealers were required to present the buyer with written confirmation that a visual inspection had been completed on a vehicle's emissions system. However, documentation certifying compliance can already be found under the hood or on the Internet. In addition, new-car dealers are contractually obligated to perform comprehensive pre-delivery inspections of the vehicle to ensure the emissions system is functioning properly.

I-69 & SR 1/DUPONT ROAD TRAFFIC SWITCH SCHEDULED

The Indiana Department of Transportation (INDOT) Fort Wayne District announced that on Friday, June 13, the eastbound lane on SR 1/Dupont Road will be restricted to one 11-foot lane, with the westbound lanes and left turn lanes unaffected. The restriction is due to the removal and installation of the barrier wall on the south side of the bridge, and also for the construction of the sidewalk on the south side of the road.

Also, beginning that day, both directions of I-69 will have a single-lane restriction in place to accommodate the work on the south side of the bridge. Two lanes of traffic will be maintained during this construction phase, which is scheduled to be in effect for the next 3-4 weeks. The I-69 construction limits, with an enforceable speed limit of 55 mph, are as follows:

- Northbound I-69, from 1.45 miles south of Dupont

PAYNE VENTURING AWARDS ASSEMBLY

On Scout Sunday, members of the Payne Venturing and youth at St Jacob's Church in Payne were presented with awards they had earned. Each youth earned the God and Church award for completion of that education program. Crew Members earned their Bronze award in Venturing.

Road Bridge to 0.19 miles north of the Dupont Road Bridge, a distance of approximately 1.64 miles

- Southbound I-69, from 0.20 miles south of Dupont Road Bridge to 0.46 mile north of Dupont Road Bridge, a distance of approximately 0.66 miles Similar restrictions will occur on I-69 later this summer when construction moves to the north side of the bridge.

The Indiana State Police (ISP) will be stepping up enforcement at the I-69 and SR 1/Dupont Road Interchange. Please remember that speed limit fines are increased in work zones and could be higher if workers are injured. INDOT reminds drivers to use caution and consider worker safety when driving through a construction zone.

To avoid delays, motorists may seek alternate routes.

Brooks 1st Construction was awarded the bid of $3.5 million, with completion scheduled for late October, 2014.

LATTA: LEGISLATION WILL PROTECT GREAT LAKES FROM HARMFUL ALGAL BLOOMS, HYPOXIA

Congressman Bob Latta (R-OH) released the following statement regarding the U.S. House of Representatives' passage of S. 1254, the Harmful Algal Bloom and Hypoxia Research and Control Amendments Act. The legislation reauthorizes a program to monitor and mitigate the harmful impacts of algal blooms on freshwater resources and expands the Task Force within the program to include a representative of the Centers for Disease Control and Prevention.

"Our Great Lakes and freshwater resources are some of the world's greatest natural treasures, and we must do everything we can to preserve them for future generations," said Latta. "The legislation passed today will expand research efforts to monitor and combat the harmful impacts algal blooms have on these freshwater bodies, while also protecting the multi-billion dollar tourism and fishing industries in this region."

Harmful algal blooms (HABs) are excessive growths of poisonous or toxic algae that can cause illness or death in humans, pets, wildlife or food sources, such as fish and shellfish. HABs occur in fresh and marine waters and result in the depletion of oxygen, also known as hypoxia, in the water. Over the past few decades, HABs have resulted in more than $1 billion in costs due to fish kills, human illness, and lost tourism and fisheries revenue.

A VISIT WITH LU LU BELLE KLINGLER

By: Stan Jordan

The following is a very interesting story of the life of Lu Lu Belle Klingler. She had this all typed up for me when we met. Her parents were Wilbur and Elsie (Hartwick) Sinn.

"Not exactly a world-wide traveler, I was born about 10 miles from where I live now, and also grew up, in Briceton, OH. I was raised with five brothers, and no sisters, and wonderful parents. My father started a repair shop and sold Case farm machinery there beginning in the depression years, when income depended upon farmers who had just as much trouble making their business successful as we did. He later moved his business to Paulding, as Sinn Repair Shop, and operated there for several years.

"Our excitement for the week was going to the movies on Saturday nights, and our allowance was close to 15 cents. I saved awhile to buy my banana split for 35 cents! Working odd jobs gave us spending money. We attended many baseball and basketball and softball games and each of us played on various teams over the years. It was almost an unwritten rule that we play ball in order to eat! A disappointing thing though, was that I had no iPhone! We had to sit and listen to people (especially parents) talk to us.

"Graduation was from Latty High School. My daughter enjoys telling that her mother was in the top ten of her class. She fails to say that there were only nine in the class! Our class in 1952 was the last to graduate from Latty. In our very small school, we learned discipline, among other things. When anyone heard Mr. Hart's footsteps in the hall, there suddenly was silence. We also knew that our parents were on his 'side' in all situations. The community enjoyed sporting events (only baseball and basketball), but no girl sports. The only sport for girls was cheerleading, and playing on softball teams in the summer. Our father wanted to move to Paulding to be closer to his work but the family didn't want to go to a town that big and attend that really large school. We enjoyed our high school which had a total of 45-50 students.

"In early years, girls weren't greatly encouraged to go to college. Education was not thought necessary to become a housewife and mother! I was fortunate when at the time of graduation, the Paulding Hospital called about working in their office. The office manager had resigned, and the hospital called to offer that job. Job openings for new high school graduates were not unusual because most women didn't usually work out of the home after they married or had children. From working there several years, I learned business procedures, and, responsibility. Accounting was much simpler with only using an adding machine and pencil and paper, and a typewriter, instead of computers. At that time, the staff was paid in cash instead of by checks. Twice a month, the employee payroll was taken to the commissioner's office for their approval of the prepared payroll, and, for filling each pay envelope with cash, to carry back to the hospital. There were probably 50 employees, full and part time.

"Hospital insurance was not as complicated then. Many families did not carry insurance. When preparing a statement for a patient, it was tough to charge them a new rate for a private room at $18 per day, and/or $4.00 daily for the nursery. Surgery room costs were $25 for the first hour, and $10 for each hour after that. Probably, those bills were as difficult to pay in the 1950's as our costly ones are now. The hospital was a pleasant and interesting place to work, as well as for making life-long friends with workers and patients.

"In February, 1959, the old hospital, which was located out in the country, flooded from Flat Rock Creek, probably due to the ice jams. All the patients had to be moved to other hospitals. It came up quickly and was unexpected. People came from around the county to help. The sheriff's office protected the records and important items. It was thought that this was the first flooding at this location.

"In 1955, at the St. John Lutheran Church, in Briceton, I married Duane Klingler, from Paulding. We have three children, and seven grandchildren. Duane passed away very suddenly while our entire family was together in Detroit, celebrating our 50th wedding anniversary. He had been a contractor over the years and was the developer of Klingler Addition, on Tom-Tim Drive.

"When our children started college, I began working at the Paulding Schools in different areas of the staff for 22 years. Working with nice people in all areas made the job interesting. One happening for me at the switchboard was that one day I received my only bomb threat call. I was stunned, and doubted it, and then, the phone rang again saying, 'You don't believe me, do you?' I thought then it could be true, but when I saw all the firemen, police and sheriff, all flocking into our room, I really had doubts, (thinking I had caused all this!). No bomb was found and I've always wondered who did cause all that commotion.

"An important part of my daily life is my Christian faith. Even though we lived only a block from the church, I think we may have been the last kids into our seats on Sunday morning, but we, and our parents, were there. Rather than to have a choice to attend church, we knew that was a part of the agenda.

"We are blessed that we can make our own choices in all areas of our life in this lightly-populated, flat area of Ohio, where we have chosen to live. I believe that God leads each of us to where we can best serve Him and serve others. The rest is up to us."

Lu retired from the Paulding School System in 1999. I asked her about her hobbies and she said playing the organ. Well, she has been playing the organ in the church ever since she was a teenager!

She likes all kinds of sports: high school, college, all pro—and she understands all of the rules and procedures of the pros, too! She enjoys sewing, but she doesn't have much of a green thumb. They had a lake cottage on Crooked Lake in the Angola area, and they all loved it there—the fishing, the boating, the sun and all that goes with the lake. She really enjoys being with the family and the grandchildren—she has seven! Her son, Tom, has three children and lives in Oakwood. Tim has two children and lives in Michigan. Julia has two children and lives in the Dayton area.

See ya!

YELLOW PERCH RELEASED AT GRAND LAKE ST. MARYS

The Ohio Department of Natural Resources (ODNR) continues its efforts to provide anglers across the state with new and better opportunities by recently stocking Grand Lake St. Marys with approximately 100,000 yellow perch.

The stocked perch are approximately 1.5 to 2 inches long and are considered fingerlings. They are expected to take about three years to reach a size large enough for anglers to keep. This is the third year Grand Lake St. Marys has received yellow perch, meaning some perch are likely nearing the appropriate size. More than 208,000 yellow perch have been released in the previous two years, including 108,113 in 2013.

The latest perch stocking will help boost future fishing opportunities currently being provided by the existing population. The long-term goal of this program is to establish a self-sustaining yellow perch fishery at Grand Lake St. Marys, Ohio's largest inland lake, by creating a naturally-reproducing population. This would eliminate the need for stockings in the future.

FIZZ! BOOM! READ! CHILDREN'S SUMMER READING PROGRAM TO BE EXPLOSIVE!

Head of Youth Services, Sara Molitor shares some of the items children may win during this year's Summer Reading Program.

The Children's Room at the main historic Carnegie library in Paulding announces its 2014 Summer Reading Program. Do you have a budding young scientist in your home? Does the idea of exploring the wacky world of science excite your child? If so, be sure to sign them up for this year's Summer Reading Program, Fizz! Boom! Read! Activities are planned for children aged Preschool - 4th Grade.

There will be programs, prizes, story times and much more each week as Mad Scientist Kooky Kirk and the entire youth services team mix up the best ingredients for a terrific summer! All events are FREE!! Register today. The fun begins with an explosive Kick-Off event at the Youth Leadership Building on June 24th with Mr. Molecule and his Science Show. Children will love his fast-paced, upbeat, and totally amazing show that features super-charged science experiments that will have kids erupting with laughter and bubbling with curiosity. Then, on July 1st, July 8th and July 22nd, the fun continues with three sessions at the main library; 10:00 a.m. for preschoolers, 1:00 p.m. for 1st and 2nd graders, and 3:00 p.m. for 3rd and 4th graders. On July 15th there will be special make-and-take activities for all the children. Each participant will receive a reading log to keep track of books read, books read to them, and books they have listened to on Playaway or other audio formats.

The library's summer reading program has been a popular event for over fifty years. Many parents and grandparents who bring their grandchildren today participated in the library's summer reading program when they were children. Statistics prove that when children stay plugged in to the library and reading over the summer months, they are better prepared to enter school in the fall - ready to learn.

To register, stop by the Children's Department of the main historic Carnegie Library in Paulding or call 419-399-2032.

DEFIANCE COLLEGE WELCOMES NEW FACULTY

Defiance College has announced the appointment of four new tenure-track faculty members. All bring extensive academic expertise and hands-on experience in their respective disciplines together with degrees from a wide variety of institutions such as, for example, the University of Michigan, University of Pittsburgh, The Ohio State University, and the University of Science and Technology in China (a national research university under the leadership of the Chinese Academy of Sciences).

"I am thrilled that we have been able to attract to Defiance College such a wonderful group of new faculty members," said DC President Mark C. Gordon. "Each brings significant expertise, impressive teaching skills, and the clear commitment to helping our students succeed which is one of the hallmarks of our DC faculty."

Mia Cinelli is joining the faculty as Assistant Professor of Art and Design in August. Cinelli has a bachelor of fine arts degree in graphic communication from Northern Michigan University and master of fine arts degree in art and design from the University of Michigan. She has served as head costume designer at the Marquette Arts and Culture Center, rapid prototyping consultant at the UM 3D Lab, and as a freelance graphic designer. She will be very involved in strengthening DC's recently updated design major, with a special focus on customized product design using two and three-dimensional media.

Jia Luo is joining the faculty as Assistant Professor of Chemistry in August. Luo received his B.S. in chemistry from the University of Science and Technology of China and Ph.D. in chemistry from the University of Pittsburgh. He has been a lecturer in the Department of Chemistry, Medical Technology, and Physics at Monmouth University.

GRANT-FUNDED TRAINING AVAILABLE FOR PARAPROFESSIONAL EDUCATORS

Teacher aides, classroom aides and instructional assistants who are interested in earning an associate degree may qualify for free training at Northwest State thanks to a grant from the Ohio Department of Education. NSCC is accepting applications for the paraprofessional education cohort program, which will begin this fall.

"Instructional assistants often enter the workforce with practical experience, but as state requirements continue to evolve, more emphasis is being placed on degrees and credentials," said Lori Robison, dean of the Allied Health & Public Services Division at Northwest State. "This cohort program is a great opportunity for those who are working in the field to earn a degree, broaden their skills and in-

EACS STAFF DEDICATED TO PROVIDING SAFE ENVIRONMENT

East Allen County Schools is committed to providing the safest possible environment for our students and staff. Parents and guardians entrust the schools on a daily basis with their most precious possession, their child. We take that trust seriously, and we are committed to doing everything within our power to keep everyone safe when they are at school. On Thursday, June 5th nearly 100% of the entire EACS staff participated in a 3-hour voluntary training session on the ALICE safety procedures.

ALICE is an acronym that represents an alternative way of responding to a crisis situation. Instead of relying on a typical static lockdown procedure:

- Alert - Inform people that a crisis situation exists
- Lockdown - Lock doors and hide according to established procedures
- Inform - Give brief, specific, periodic updates about the crisis situation
- Counter - In an encounter with a perpetrator distract, delay or defend if necessary
- Evacuate - Get out of "harms way"

Head Coach, Drew Altimus, explains to Jarrett Bute, Austin Wendt, and Trenton Cosey how handling these ropes strengthens the forearms and the rest of the upper body.

is wrong? Look at it from the boys' view. They are here and now. That's how it is now and this year is what matters—not next year. "We can win!" Drew continued, "I have no doubts about it. I wouldn't be here if I thought it was a lost cause."

The 2014 Football season for Antwerp is ramping up right now and they have potential. It may not be a powerhouse yet, and these boys seem to understand that, but they have a lot of what it takes to compete. These boys are gearing up starting in weightlifting and moving out to field practice.

Football 2013 for Antwerp was a small team, and with losing 6 of the seniors from last year's roster, it in turn makes the 2014 team suffer. The team gained five freshman, including the quarterback, Josh Paulson, who is also a freshman. It's a young team, but they are giving everything they have to make this a great year.

Writing over and over, this article made it difficult to think of what the positive is on all of this. I then realized, why are we even thinking about football that is over a year away when this year's team is working hard NOW to make a difference? I've watched these boys sweat on the track and several nearly passed out. "Move, Move, Move!" Coach Jason Hale yelled. Austin Wendt trudged but kept going and finished. Others also struggled, but they all made it back after 150 yards. When they didn't make it on the goal set for them they had to do it again. "You learn more about yourself in football than any other sport," Drew stated. "These boys have to play on all 3 teams Antwerp has. They have no choice. They will work harder." So much of the practice takes place in the mind. Your brain says, "I can't go any further." But you know you can. You retrain the brain.

Shaile Chamberlain, 2011 Antwerp graduate and football alumnus, gave this advice while at the field, "Set your personal goals and break them daily. When the players set goals, then the team sets goals and when you break them together you become a team and play like a team, driving each other forward."

The 2014 team will have to work harder than any other team before it and they may get the least recognition. Not only does Antwerp have a small football team, but the classes are small. This is one of the reasons why the team is struggling to make the numbers it needs to be proficient. "Our first goal is safety," says Drew. "This team means a lot to me. They came out even though they know we have to bridge the gap for next year."

No matter how people are critical of the decisions for next year, the team to support is this year. It's THIS group who work day and night to represent the school they are a part of.

RECIPES: NOT ALWAYS TRIED & TRUE

The Nurturing Well by: Jill Starbuck

While eating natural, unprocessed foods is the best diet to follow, it's often unrealistic to assume we will never eat processed foods. In fact, we eat 31% more packaged food than fresh food. For many, eating packaged food is easier and faster than preparing meals with fresh food. Foods such as frozen pizzas, potato chips, microwave dinners, and others have become staples in many households. Even though processed food is likely to remain part of our food consumption, we should choose those that have the fewest ingredients. Choose packaged items that have five or fewer ingredients. But more importantly, choose foods that have ingredients you can pronounce. If you can't pronounce an ingredient, don't buy it. Many of these ingredients have addictive qualities, making it harder for people to resist.

In addition to choosing products with ingredients you can pronounce, some of those easily pronounced can become diet culprits. This means they can cause unwanted side effects, including diabetes, heart conditions, bloating, obesity, and more. Such ingredients include salt, corn syrup, certain fats, and others. Along with paying attention to the number and types of ingredients in processed food, it's also a good idea to check ingredients often. For instance, a particular product that you consume often may change ingredients from time to time. An example of this is Breyers ice cream.

Breyers was well known for its natural product, with four or five natural ingredients including milk, cream, sugar, and vanilla beans for its vanilla flavor. However, this all changed when Unilever purchased Breyers from Kraft. The ice cream now includes more than five ingredients including those that are hard to pronounce and corn syrup and tara gum. In fact, some of Breyers ice cream is now labeled as frozen dessert rather than ice cream. Using the Breyers ice cream as an example, how many people who faithfully bought this product for its natural ingredients noticed the change? And if they did, how long did it take them? The message is that we shouldn't take it for granted that the food we buy will remain the same over time. Food companies continue to find cheaper ways to process food, whether it is for the benefit of our health or not. Since 2002, the ODNR Division of Wildlife, in conjunction with the ODA Division of Animal Health and the U.S. Department of Agriculture's Animal and Plant Health Inspection Service, Wildlife and Veterinary Services, has conducted surveillance throughout the state for CWD. While CWD has never been found in Ohio's deer herd, it had been diagnosed in wild and captive deer, moose or elk elsewhere in the United States and Canada.

The ODNR Division of Wildlife continues to carefully monitor the health of Ohio's wild deer herd throughout the year. Visit ohioagriculture.gov or wildohio.gov for the latest information on CWD or the Chronic Wasting Disease Alliance at cwd-info.org. All CWD testing is performed at the ODA Animal Disease Diagnostic Laboratory.

CHRONIC WASTING DISEASE NOT FOUND IN OHIO DEER

The Ohio Department of Natural Resources (ODNR) and the Ohio Department of Agriculture (ODA) announced that testing of Ohio's deer herd found no evidence of chronic wasting disease (CWD), which is a degenerative brain disease that affects elk, mule deer and white-tailed deer.

State and federal agriculture and wildlife officials collected tissue samples from 753 deer killed on Ohio's roads from September 2013 through March 2014. An additional 88 hunter-harvested mature bucks and nine deer displaying symptoms consistent with CWD were tested as well. According to the ODNR Division of Wildlife, all samples were negative for CWD for the 12th consecutive year. Since CWD was first discovered in the late 1960s in the western United States, there has been no evidence that the disease can be transmitted to humans.

And the divide continues, focusing on her body, on our bodies, and not on what we say or do. The discussion about whether Diehl is "normal" or "average" or whether a mother is healthier because she accepts her post-baby weight or works hard to lose it prevents us from moving to a place where we truly do not care, nor judge people, based on their height, weight or dress size.

FAT PREFERENCE VERSUS REAL ACCEPTANCE

By: Laura Finley

The risk with any kind of binary-thinking is that there is no real room for difference. You are one or the other. The U.S. loves its binaries: black or white, man or woman, gay or straight. Such thinking misses the complexities of people, limiting us all into narrow boxes. Perhaps nowhere is binary-thinking more obvious today than in what has been called the "fat acceptance movement."

Building on decades of legitimate concern about body image and the ways that women and girls are constantly taught that they are too heavy, the fat acceptance movement has promoted a swing of the pendulum that is equally dangerous. Websites like Upworthy and Huffington Post repeatedly feature pictures and videos of women who are exerting their right to have more ample bodies. Ad nauseam, such sites reveal photo-shopped women and their real, less toned, bodies, mothers of four who wear with pride their sagginess, or heavier women wearing bikinis to show that it is OK. These images and articles are then re-posted on Facebook, tweeted across the universe, and otherwise slammed in our faces.

Of course it is OK to wear what you want despite your size! But that's not the point, or at least it shouldn't be. The goal of this fat acceptance movement, at least purportedly, is acceptance. To show that it should not be our bodies that determine our character. Yet too often these images and the dialogue that surrounds them say exactly that: that it is indeed your body that matters most, and if you happen to be thin you are simply not accepted. Being skinny and fit is equated with some deep flaw. You try too hard. You are too body conscious. You are weak and thus manipulated by the beauty industry. Blah, blah, blah.

Take, for instance, the conversation surrounding Miss Indiana's body in the 2014 Miss USA Pageant. Miss Indiana, McKayla Diehl, who was widely praised for being "more curvy" than the other pageant contestants. She was described as having a "realistic body," which resulted in a full-on explosion of the Twitter universe, as women denounced the 5'8", size

4 Diehl as far from average, which they claim is 5'3" and a size 12. Enter the name-calling of skinny people, "twigs," "toothpicks," or "bag of bones."

And the divide continues, focusing on her body, on our bodies, and not on what we say or do. The discussion about whether Diehl is "normal" or "average" or whether a mother is healthier because she accepts her post-baby weight or works hard to lose it prevents us from moving to a place where we truly do not care, nor judge people, based on their height, weight or dress size.

We can do better. Laura Finley, Ph.D., teaches in the Barry University Department of Sociology & Criminology and is syndicated by PeaceVoice.

USDA ANNOUNCES FUNDING AVAILABILITY FOR BIOMASS MATERIAL INTO ENERGY

Agriculture Secretary Tom Vilsack announced that the U.S. Department of Agriculture (USDA) will begin accepting applications June 16 from energy facilities interested in receiving forest or agricultural residues to generate clean energy. The support comes through the Biomass Crop Assistance Program (BCAP), which was authorized by the 2014 Farm Bill.

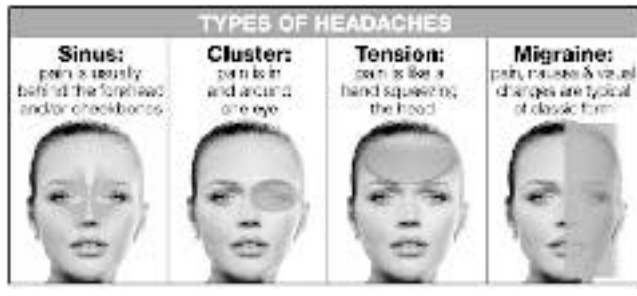

BCAP provides financial assistance to farmers and ranchers who establish and maintain new crops of energy biomass, or who harvest and deliver forest or agricultural residues to a qualifying energy facility. Of the total $25 million per year authorized for BCAP, the 2014 Farm Bill provides up to 50 percent ($12.5 million) each year for matching payments for the harvest and transportation of biomass residues. BCAP matching payments will resume this summer, while crop incentives will begin in 2015. Some matching payments will support the removal of dead or diseased trees from National Forests and Bureau of Land Management public lands. This will be turned into renewable energy while reducing the risk of forest fire. Agriculture residues, such as corn cobs and stalks, also may qualify as energy-producing feedstock.

"Removing dead or diseased trees from forests to use for biomass production creates clean energy while reducing the threat of forest fires and the spread of harmful insects and disease," said Vilsack. "Increasing our country's production of biomass energy also helps grow our economy. Food is made in rural America, but fuel is made in rural America, too. This program is yet another USDA investment in expanding markets for agricultural products made in rural places across the country."

With the 2014 Farm Bill requiring several regulatory updates to BCAP, the resumption of payments for starting and maintaining new sources of biomass (Project Areas) has been deferred until a later date when the regulatory updates occur.

The USDA Farm Service Agency (FSA), which administers BCAP, will begin accepting applications from biomass conversion facilities beginning June 16, 2014,

HEADACHES OR MIGRAINES?

From the desk of Adam Osenga D.C.

According to the CDC, 21.8% of women in the US and 10% of men suffer from severe headaches or migraines. Believe it or not this could be related to your neck and upper back. Many of our jobs confine us to sitting at a computer and standing all day. These positions can change our posture over time causing us to develop aches and pains. Sometimes those aches and pain will lead to much bigger problems as Dr. Len Faye relates to his patients. Those problems can be as follows:

- Headache that usually starts in the back of the neck or base of the skull and radiates to the head or around the ears
- Slight blurring of vision with slight pupil dilation
- Dizziness or easy loss of balance
- Nausea or poor digestion
- Pressure behind the eyes
- Unexplained fainting attacks
- Ringing in the ears
- Numbness in side of the face, neck, head or tongue
- Tight neck muscles
- Difficulty swallowing
- Pain behind shoulder blade
- Shoulder pain, arm pain, tennis elbow or carpal tunnel syndrome

- Weakness, pain, or tingling in arm, forearm and/or hand; weak grip
- Increased sweating
- Shortness of breath
- Heart palpitations, slightly elevated blood pressure or fast heart rate
- Frontal chest pain
- Numbness and tingling of the fingers when awakening
- Anxiety, panic attacks or insomnia

It is hard for some to correlate a pinched nerve in the neck causing the above, but I see it daily. Adjustments to the neck and upper back are crucial for correcting the problem. These issues in the neck and upper back can cause both nerve pinching as well as a postural changes. It is important to know that symptoms and pain tell us that there is a problem and something should be done. Changes to correct the symptoms take time that most often include Chiropractic adjustments, exercises, better movement and nutritious diets. If you or anyone you know are suffering with headaches or anything listed above, call Dr. Adam Osenga of NorthEast Chiropractic Center at 245-0460.

to implement each provision of this critical legislation, including providing disaster relief to farmers and ranchers; strengthening risk management tools; expanding access to rural credit; funding critical research; establishing innovative public-private conservation partnerships; developing new markets for rural-made products; and investing in infrastructure, housing and community facilities to help improve quality of life in rural America. COULD YOU AFFORD TO LIVE TO 100?

Financial Focus by: Gabe Pollock, Edward Jones Advisor

Here's an interesting statistic: Over the past three decades, the centenarian population in the United States has grown about 66%, according to the U.S. Census Bureau. Of course, this doesn't necessarily mean that you have a good chance of living to 100 — but the possibility may not be as remote as it once was. In any case, if you do plan to retire in your mid-60s, and you are in good health, you may well have two, or even three, decades ahead of you. To enjoy this time to the fullest — and to help prevent the possibility of outliving your financial resources — you will need to invest for income and growth throughout your retirement years.

As a retiree, how much income do you need from your investments? There's no one "right" percentage for everyone. Furthermore, you shouldn't have to rely solely on your investment portfolio, because you may have other sources — such as Social Security and potentially your employer-sponsored retirement plan — from which to draw income. Nonetheless, your investments can play a big role in providing you with the income you'll need during retirement.

Many retirees depend on fixed-rate investments for a good portion of their retirement income — so it's a real challenge when interest rates are low, as they have been for the past several years. Consequently, when you retire, you'll certainly need to be aware of the interest-rate environment and the income you can expect from these investments. Longer-term fixed-rate vehicles may be tempting, as they typically offer higher rates than shorter-term ones, but these longer-term investments may have more price fluctuation and inflation risk than shorter-term investments. Ultimately, you'll likely need a balance between short-, intermediate- and long-term fixed-income investments to provide for a portion of your income in retirement.

While it's important to invest for income, you can't ignore the need for growth — because you won't want to lose purchasing power to inflation. As you know, we've experienced quite mild inflation recently. But over time, even a low rate of inflation can seriously erode your purchasing power. To illustrate: If your current monthly costs are $3,000, they will be about $4,000 in 10 years with only a 3% annual inflation rate. And in 25 years at that same rate, your monthly costs will have more than doubled, to about $6,200. To help protect yourself against inflation risk, you should consider having at least some investments that offer growth potential, rather than only owning fixed-income vehicles. And some investment vehicles, such as dividend-paying stocks, can offer both growth potential and current income. In fact, some stocks have paid, and even increased, their dividends for many years in a row, giving you not just income, but rising income. (Keep in mind, though, that companies are not obligated to pay dividends, and can reduce or discontinue them at any time.)

To determine the right mix of growth and income vehicles for your individual needs, consult with a financial advisor who is familiar with your retirement plans, your risk tolerance and your family situation. And it may well be a good idea to plan for a very long retirement. You may not live to be 100 — but it would be a good feeling to know that you could afford to do so.

PAULDING MASTER GARDENER VOLUNTEERS LEND A HAND

The Ohio State University Extension of Paulding County Master Gardener Volunteer's admire the landscaping Paulding's Reservoir Park. Master Gardener's spent over 40 hours helping with this renovation project. Front Row (seated): Helen Maddock, Sandy Burkley, Cathy Fowler and Elaine Gress; Back Row: Sherri Rager, Nila Clementson, Laurel Hopkins, Marsha Cooper, and Rose Munger.

"Many hands, make light work! This is a saying my mother taught us as a child and one I have heard many times throughout my life," says Extension Educator in Agriculture and Natural Resources, Sarah Noggle.

There are a special group of volunteers from Paulding County that give graciously of their time and efforts. Over the weeks leading up to May 30, 2014, The Ohio State University Extension Master Gardener Volunteers worked diligently purchasing plants, preparing the site and re-installing the landscape around the Paulding Reservoir flag pole.

As the new water plant was constructed, the landscaping around memorial stones for Paul Scott, Jr. and Ray H. Rigenbaugh was torn out. Paulding Village President of the Council, Roger Sierer, contacted the Master Gardener Volunteers to donate their time, finances and design principals to re-establish an area around the flag pole and memorial stones.

The Master Gardener Volunteers developed a design, fertilized and tilled the soil, installed a rose, an evergreen, sedum and succulent plants as well as mulched the area. Volunteers gave a total of over 40 hours to complete the project.

Paulding Extension Master Gardener Volunteers come from all walks of life, but all have in common their love of gardening and sharing information. The Paulding County Extension program currently has 14 volunteers. During 2013 more than 1,000 hours were donated to community service projects around Paulding County.

OHIO'S CONTROLLED HUNTING APPLICATIONS ACCEPTED UNTIL JULY 31

Applications are now being accepted for controlled deer and waterfowl hunts on selected Ohio public areas during the 2014-2015 season, according to the Ohio Department of Natural Resources (ODNR). Hunters have until Thursday, July 31, to submit permit applications for a random drawing.

These special hunts are held on selected public areas to provide additional opportunities for Ohio's hunting enthusiasts. All applicants, youth and adult, must possess a 2014-2015 Ohio hunting license and meet the age requirements in order to apply for a controlled hunt.

Hunters can apply for the controlled hunts by completing the application process online using the Wild Ohio Customer Center at wildohio.gov or by calling 800-WILDLIFE (945-3543) and requesting a mail-in application.

Hunters will be randomly drawn from submitted applications. Successful applicants will be notified and provided additional hunt information by mail and email. Applicants are encouraged to visit the Wild Ohio Customer Center to view the status of their application and, if selected, print their controlled hunt permit.

More specific information about hunt dates and locations, including opportunities dedicated to youth, women and mobility-impaired hunters, can be found at wildohio.gov.
