WOODBURN HIGH SCHOOL CELEBRATES 100 YEARS

The last graduating Class of 1959 was represented by Roger Rekeweg, David Hartman, Charlotte Korte, Karen Hostetler, Jim gordon, Larry Doehrman, and Janice Ort.

The Woodburn High School Alumni celebrated at Grant's Catering Hall in Antwerp on Friday, July 18th in celebration of the high school opened 100 years ago.

In attendance this year, was the current East Allen Schools Superintendent, Dr. Ken Folks, who was also the guest speaker. The introduction was given by retired school teacher and alumnus Bill Mull.

There was more than 150 people in attendance, including spouses from the High School that graced the city of Woodburn. Some came as far as Texas, Atlanta, and Iowa to see their classmates.

The high school was opened in 1914 and had many good years. The gym still stands today, now known as the Woodburn Community Center. With the consolidation of Woodburn and Milan schools, formed the new school, Woodlan, in 1959. Several years later Harlan High School was disbanded and enrollment split between Leo and the new school at the west end of Woodburn Road.

RACKS GOES NON-SMOK-

In two weeks, on August 1, a major change will be coming to Rack & Helen's. We have heard the overwhelming feedback from our customers and have decided to make a change in our business. On August 1, Racks will become a non-smoking establishment. We understand this is a major change. We also understand it may be unpopular to some of our most loyal customers. We hope we can continue serving each and every one of you! As a family owned business, we are especially excited to bring back our Family day on Sundays (something we had to sacrifice to keep smoking) and allow parents to bring kids back into Racks! We've said it before, but we truly have the best customers around! -Wes Anderson

A few changes... the inside Stairway to the upstairs will open back up, the family (with children) will be downstairs on Sundays just as before, the upstairs will remain non-smoking, they will put cigarette receptacles outside.

SHERIFF: DO YOU WANT THE JAIL REOPENED?

Several years ago the jail levy was up for a renewal vote and it failed. After a second rejection, the newly remodeled county lockup was closed, shipping many jobs and prisoners to other counties.

Recently, the idea to resurrect the facility has come about for several reasons including people asking why it's not open. Paulding County Sheriff, Jason Landers, wants to know, "Do you, the taxpayers, want the jail reopened?"

Some have thought he's forcing the idea upon the people. If you have been to any of the presentations at the fire stations in the townships, you will see and hear the pros and cons of the county, once again, having its own incarceration system.

The idea of the county handling more of the inmates is not new. From talking to the people at the meetings, many are for it, but they would like to know

Sheriff Landers is also offering to speak to anyone about this or if you want to remain anonymous, please use the link on the website that the office has set up for

A quick rundown:

 Taxes would go up a little. He specifically gave the figure that his house would go up around $30 a year or about going out to eat once with his sons. The amount would vary based upon the value of the property, like all taxes.

• The benefits would include but not be limited to: Adding good jobs to Paulding County; less traveling expenses and wear and tear on vehicles for transportation of inmates; the jail would be used instead of sitting idle; families/friends/pastors visiting would not have to travel

• The idea is similar to Vantage. A school like Vantage brings benefits to Van Wert County by having monev and students coming in from other areas. Teachers and staff are paid and spend money in Van Wert and it benefits the whole community in multiple ways while other county schools send money to Van Wert.

Scott resident, Lisa Clark asked, "Would the inmates paying for their stay help pay for the jail?" County Commissioner Roy Klopfenstein responded, "It would, but it's not a guaranteed source of income. Many times the inmates are in there already without any way to pay because of their situation."

Could the Paulding Jail bring in revenue from other counties? Yes, it could because it can hold many more prisoners than the number of incarcerations on average for the county. Should that be counted as a benefit? It shouldn't be counted as either a + or - until it happens.

What do you think? Would you support it? Are you opposed? Jason wants to know.

WAR JOURNALISM LEADS THE BLEEDING IN GAZA

By: Erin Niemela

As Israel's boots hit the ground in Gaza, Operation War Journalism rages on. Both Arab and Israeli war journalists weaponize rhetoric: False dichotomies (do we bomb or do nothing?) and a pro-violence worldview, among other deadly bullets. War journalism sells violent conflict - "if it bleeds, it leads" - and we're buying it. The violence in Gaza is partially a result of decades of media-distributed war products made from state-provided materials. War journalists escalate and prolong violent conflict. Their reporting choices, whether conscious or not, are harmful to citizens on all sides of violent conflicts, the Gaza crisis included.

Fortunately, violence isn't the only product on the market. "To say that violence is the only thing that sells is to insult humanity," Prof. Johan Galtung said his 2000 essay, "The Task of Peace Journalism." Peace journalism, Galtung's conception of the 70s, is defined as "when editors and reporters make choices - about what to report, and how to report it - that create opportunities for society at large to consider and to value nonviolent responses to conflict." Peace journalism insulates journalists from war propaganda by avoiding false dichotomies, highlighting nonviolent options and making other positive peace reporting choices. For the immediate cynics: Peace does, in fact, sell. Conflict & Communication Online studies in 2005 and 2006, by Wilhem Kempf and Monika way, give us a call.

Sphors, respectively, showed audiences accepted peace journalism articles no less, and even more, than traditional war journalism articles on the same issues. Nevertheless, war journalism continues, and Gaza is the perfect battleground. The photo: A grieving Palestinian woman, wailing toward the sky. The headline:

"Gaza Under Siege: Naming

the Dead." Al-Jazeera's regularly updated webpage lists the names and ages of the now-285 Palestinian victims in Gaza. In a 2013 study on Arab news framing of the 2008-2009 Gaza conflict, author Mohamad Hamas Elmasry and colleagues found that some Arab news networks regularly framed Palestinians as victims of Israeli aggression, showed images of Palestinian grief and included names and ages for Palestinian victims more than that of Israeli victims. In fairness to Al-Jazeera, two Israeli victims' names and ages - the only Israeli deaths, so far – sit below the list. But the names aren't meant to provide balance or personalize those deaths. They're meant to dichotomize between good and evil and provoke the question: Whose side are you on? With victimization comes demonization - the "evil" side is implied and violence against evil is culturally jus-

For Israeli news, it's the same story. In an extensive 2004 study on audience effects from news of Israeli-Palestinian conflicts, "Bad News from Israel," Greg Philo and Mike Berry observed that participants identified more with the side where violence was presented as justifiable. Words like "retaliation" for Israel's military operations provided this justification. Palestinians were presented as having "started it." A July 18th article from The Times of Israel on the Gaza invasion is a case in point. The title: "20 Hamas fighters killed, 13 captured in first hours of ground offensive." With violence in the headline, the lead justifies: "IDF says soldiers in Gaza destroy 21 rocket launchers, find several tunnel openings; Eitan Barak, 21, from Herzliya, is first IDF fatality; 80 rockets fired at Israel." Dangerous weapons, nefarious tunnels and an Israeli death are just the facts on the ground and they happen to provide justi-

Yet, there are other facts, such as in a curious blurb near the bottom: "Gaza health officials said at least 20 Palestinians have been killed since the ground operation began, including three teenage siblings killed by shrapnel from a tank shell attack. It was not immediately clear if the 17 terrorists killed by the IDF were among the casualties reported by Gaza authorities." Peace journalism refrains from emphasizing our facts while marginalizing their facts, and names "evil-doers" on all sides.

War journalism gives us

two sides to choose from, but it only offers one option for resolving conflict: violence. As media often frame the Israeli government and its citizens, and Hamas and Palestinians, as one and the same, we get to choose the violence of either Hamas or Israel. But violence is never the only choice for dealing with conflict. Peace journalists report nonviolent options from Palestinians, Israelis and any other stakeholders. Not because we don't recognize claims to victimhood, but because we recognize that emphasizing violence as the only conflict management option only produces more violence. Reporting nonviolent options means sourcing peacebuilders, like the Christian Peacemaker Teams that work with locals to build nonviolent, Palestinian-led, grassroots resistance. Or Gush Salom – Jewish-Israelis using direct action to stop the occupation. Insight on Conflict and Peace NGO Forum host a long list of peacebuilding organizations in Israel and the Occupied Palestinian Territories. Any respectable reporter can find a peacebuilder to quote, and a balanced, impartial report on Gaza depends on including the voices of peace.

Traditional war journalists support perpetual violence - their bread and butter. Yet, reporters could choose to support perpetual peace and still maintain journalistic integrity. Peace journalism practices deflect war propaganda, provide actual balance and fully inform democratic audiences. We need more peace journalists in Gaza, America, Israel and every country suffering through violent conflict. This isn't advocacy, public relations or advertising - these are the goals of war profiteers. This is simply good journalism by good journalists with a commitment to democracy, accountability and the wellbeing of global society.

HOUSE PASSES LEGISLA-TION TO LIMIT IRS OVER-REACH AND ABUSE

Congressman Bob Latta (R-OH) joined his colleagues in the U.S. House of Representatives in passing legislation to limit the Internal Revenue Service's (IRS) overreach and abuse. H.R. 5016, the Financial Services and General Government Appropriations Act, also addresses the agency's prior misconduct, including the improper targeting of conservative groups.

"The IRS has demonstrated that it knows no bounds when it comes to overreach and abuse," said Latta. "From illegal targeting of conservative groups and destroyed emails to lofty bonuses with zero accountability, the agency is out of control. This legislation will hold the IRS accountable to the American people and prevent it from continuing these blatant abuses of power."

H.R. 5016 prohibits IRS targeting of individuals for exercising their First Amendment rights. The legislation also prohibits the IRS from awarding any bonuses to its employees unless tax compliance and conduct are given consideration. Next, it prevents the destruction, defacing or disposing of any records in accordance with the Federal Records Act. Finally, the legislation prevents the IRS from enforcing Obamacare's individual mandate.

LETTER TO THE EDITOR

Fellow Paulding Residents & Voters:

Typical Paulding County. Let's request a long-term levy, and additional taxes for our cash-strapped citizens, without giving you any of the data and figures to justify their request. Two big articles in the Crescent News so far, multiple TV appearances, and multiple articles in local papers – and - what data/numbers do you have to justify the reopening of the jail in Paulding County so far? NONE!

Yes, at least they now admit that it will cost more to reopen the local jail than to house inmates out-of-county, but who has crunched the numbers to see HOW MUCH MORE? Is this facility even large enough to hold all of our inmates? What are the complained about transportation costs to and from Putnam County? Do the courts use electronic video-conferencing to save on transportation costs of inmates?

WHERE is the documentation from the State of Ohio that the closed jail is even a worthy facility that can be reopened, since it has been left standing

Thank You

We would like to thank all of our friends and family for the large amount of support they have given us during this rough time. No words could ever express our appreciation for the love pport you have showr us after the passing of Harper. We would like to say thank you to our neighbors on Woodland Dr. for the generous donation and also to everyone that has brought meals to our home. It makes us so thankful that we chose such a great community and closed for 6+ years? What are the State staffing requirements if it reopens? How in the world can you justify paying 8-12 jail staff only $300k? That translates to $37,500 to $25,000 in yearly salary, INCLUDING BENEFITS - which is an impossibility! Let alone when you add in the additional staffing and costs mentioned later in the article (jail administrator, four supervisors, eight corrections officers, a head cook and part-time personnel. There will also be costs for jail supplies and clerical items). Who is to say that 8-12 people are enough to staff this facility? Where will women and juveniles be detained? What will Putnam County or other counties charge once we reopen to house our women, since our facility will not house women?

What Paulding people even have the necessary experience, training, and licensing to staff these NEW positions if the jail reopens? What guarantees are there that the jobs will be filled with Paulding County resi-I remember when REPUB-LICAN used to mean fiscally conservative, and small government. Why is our "REPUB-LICAN" sheriff hell bent on doubling his staff and almost doubling his budget? What are the positives for reopening the jail? What are the negatives? Has Putnam County even been asked to lock in the $250k figure to house our inmates on a long term basis?

What about the added costs of insurance for the jail? What about covering the liabilities for inmates in our own jail?

Why a jump of .25 mills since 2002? Can we expect that every 10 years? How can you project possibly five percent salary increases from negotiations - when most County personnel in Northwestern Ohio have been lucky to see a 1% raise yearly?

As far as the inconvenience of those visiting inmates by having to go visit them in Putnam County, why should law abiding citizens be paying for this convenience of our crimi-

What ever happened to going in with Putnam County to construct their jail, or with Van Wert, or with Defiance, or CCNO? why does Paulding, a small and shrinking community of under 20,000 citizens, need its own jail? Defiance County does not have its own jail – and is thankful for it!

Sadly, none of the above items and questions have been addressed or answered for the public before asking them to pull more money out of their own homes and mouths, just to inflate the ego of our sheriff by increasing his staff and budget.

Serious questions should be raised before even considering this bad idea of reopening the Paulding County Jail! The first should be: Why? Why now? What has changed to justify this idea? These should have been answered before the first meeting. Unfortunately, our Sheriff has put the cart before the horse, in typical Paulding fashion! Hopefully, those with a voice and a vote are smart enough to see through this!

—Russell R. Herman

LETTER TO THE EDITOR

Russ, I am disappointed that a person with your high degree of education would not have done a little more research prior to writing such a lengthy letter to the editor. However, I do agree that you have some excellent questions contained within your letter. You also have a few things just a little off-balance. Due to space, I will try to give brief comments by numbering your paragraphs 1-12. 1. No levy has been requested at this time, but if it would be, it would be a five year levy and it would be a new tax. The purpose for my meetings is to provide the public with data and listen to their feedback. I'm pleased you noticed the attention the media has given this important issue—that's kinda the point!

2. It will cost more money. I have crunched the numbers and I estimate between $300,000-$450,000 depending on how many people we would hire. I would hope it is big enough. It has 52 beds and we have around a 20 inmate per day average. I have talked with local officials about video conferencing, however we have not implemented it at

3. Via email, the folks in Columbus say if we have the same policy and procedure with the same staff, there "should" be no problems opening the doors. That said, they will not physically be in the building until September to look things over. The $300,000 you speak about would be new money in addition to the $538,825 currently budgeted for the jail operations, and I already have 1- Jail Administrator and 3-Supervisors.

4. We know how many people it takes to run this facility since it was in full-operation for a year and a half. We would house females in this facility as we did when it was open. 5. Really Russ? I know you're not a native of Paulding County and you don't work in Paulding County, but we really do have some pretty awesome people who live here. Although, if you heard me speak in my meetings, I would tell you I hope we could find all Paulding County folks, but I can't predict that today. 6. I am a registered Democrat, Russell. And to think I am "hell bent" on doubling my staff and budget is asinine. It takes more staff to operate a full-service jail, and that unfortunately takes a lot more money. I speak on what I feel are a lot of positives and negatives to reopen the jail in my meetings. Our MOU with Putnam expires December 31, 2015.

7. As I know it, the jail is still insured the way it was when it was in full-operation. But good question. I'll ask our agent.

8. Not sure what you're asking in the first part here, but with the 5% issue, I am simply trying to project what "could" happen over a five year span, as we are a union operation and I need to project high enough on this millage so I don't have to come back asking for more as was the case years ago.

9. Wow, I thought I was running low on compassion, but you have me beat. There is more to this inconvenience than what I can type here.

10. I'm not sure when you moved here, but this issue was resolved when our citizens decided they did not want a shared jail. My opinion is that your attitude in this editorial indicates you should consider moving somewhere you would be more happy. 11. Again, had you attended a meeting prior to writing this editorial, I think you would've learned this is exactly what I am doing, informing the public with answers to nearly each one of your listed questions. As far as your final comment in this paragraph; come on Russ, really? 12. And finally, you are correct. Our citizens should ask some serious questions. They should ask why, and why now, and what has changed, if anything. Because this is about what Paulding County residents want, not just me! I am simply the elected fella responsible to inform you what is taking place within my office. So after all of this typing I believe that you, Russell, have put the cart before the horse in writing this editorial as you clearly are not informed enough to realize the point of my meetings is not to force a levy on the people. It is not to vote today. It is simply to share facts and receive opinions so an educated decision can be made as to if a new operating levy should be placed on the ballot, and if so, there is a lot of work to be done on

In closing, I would like the public to realize I am passionate about what I do. I am one resident that believes in Paulding County. I have experienced a lot of blood, sweat and tears in this community and I care about it. I am proud to be your Sheriff, and at the end of the eight town hall meetings, I sure hope my heart can lead me in the right direction on this very important issue at hand. Should we invest in Paulding County and reopen the jail? Or are we content with the status quo? We truly do have a great financial deal today for our jail

PAGE 3 - WEST BEND NEWS - JULY 23, 2014 operations and I would never tell you different. But, I would suggest there is a lot to be said about that state-of-the-art facility sitting empty at 500 East Perry Street. Through talking with citizens, I think there would be a renewed sense of pride to our county if the jail reopened. But rest assured, no matter how this issue turns out, I will be at work the next day, and the day after that, as a proud American citizen serving the public. –Jason K. Landers,

BIBLE QUESTIONS

- 1. Luke 14:1 Whose house did Jesus go into?
- 2. Luke 14:1 Why did Jesus go into the Pharisee's house? 3. Luke 14:1 – What were
- the Pharisee's doing? 4. Luke 14:1 - What day
- was it?
- 5. Luke 14:2 Who had dropsy? 6. Luke 14:3 – Who did Je-
- sus speak to? 7. Luke 14:3 - What ques-
- tion did Jesus ask?
- 8. Luke 14:4 What did the lawyers and Pharisees do? 9. Luke 14:4 - What did Iesus do?
- 10. Luke 14:4 After healing this man what did Jesus do for this man?

Comments or questions? Call James Potter at 419-393-4775 or e-mail at jsp1941@ yahoo.com

Answers to today's questions:

1. One of the rulers of the Pharisees.; 2. To eat bread; Watching Him closely.; 4. Sabbath.; 5. A certain man; 6. Lawyers and Pharisees; 7. Is it lawful to heal on the Sabbath?; 8. Kept silent; 9. Healed the man; 10. Let the man go.

What are some truths from these few verses?

Verse 1 – As we have seen in our past studies, the Pharisees opposed Jesus, but in this verse they are inviting Jesus to eat bread on the Sabbath. Jesus accepts, but why? First, as we have seen in our other studies, Jesus never refused any man's invitation to hospitality and second Jesus knowing the thoughts of men knew the Pharisees intended to use this occasion against Him. In verse two notice who also was at the feast, a certain man who had dropsy. Also in verse 1, it says they were watching Him closely. Verse 3, Jesus asks, "Is it lawful to heal on the Sabbath or not?" Notice in verse 4, the lawyers and Pharisees kept silent. In verse 5, Jesus heals the man: read the question in verse 5 and then go to Deuteronomy 5:14. What Jesus is telling the lawyers and Pharisees is that it is alright to do good on the Sabbath. Read Matthew 12:11-12. "Ol Baldy" says bye for now, but please continue to pray, read, and study the Bible. "Luv Ya !"

WHAT ARE THE THREE HARDEST THINGS TO SAY IN THE ENGLISH LAN-GUAGE?

Winning the Battle for a Generation by: Rick Jones

I was raised in a home where the words "I love you" were never verbally conveyed to me. Those were three hard words for me to learn to add to my vocabulary. Over my 36 years in Christian ministry I've encountered another set of three words that surpassed the difficulty I had with saying "I love you." What were those three words? They were, "I don't know." I read the following article about learning the three hardest words to say in the English Language in PreachingToday.com.

In their book, Think Like a Freak, economists Steven Levitt and Stephan Dubner state, "It has long been said that the three hardest words to say in the English language are İ love you. We heartily disagree! For most people, it is much harder to say I don't know." They point to the following experiment as one of the many ways that we won't admit "I don't know":

Imagine you are asked to listen to a simple story and then answer a few questions about it. Here's the story: A little girl named Mary goes to the beach with her mother and brother. They drive there in a red car. At the beach they swim, eat some ice cream, play in the sand, and have sandwiches for lunch.

Now the questions:

- 1. What color was the car? 2. Did they have fish and
- chips for lunch?
- 3. Did they listen to music in the car?
- 4. Did they drink lemonade with lunch?

How'd you do? Let's compare your answers to those of a bunch of kindergartners, who were given this quiz by researchers. Nearly all the children got the first two questions right ("red" and no"). But the children did much worse with questions 3 and 4. Why? Those questions were unanswerable—there wasn't enough information given in the story. And yet a whopping 76 percent of the children answered these questions either yes or no. Kids who try to bluff their way through a simple quiz like this are right on track for careers in business and politics, where almost no one ever admits to not knowing anything. [But it's a shame we can't humbly admit our ignorance], for until you can admit what you don't yet know, it's virtually impossible to learn what you need to.

The scripture reminds us regarding our need for humility, to admit that "we don't know it all." The Apostle Paul writes... 1 Corinthians 8:2-3 (NIV), "The man who thinks he knows something does not yet know as he ought to know. But the man who loves God is known by God.' May all of us be willing to learn, to have heart to admit when we don't know the answers to everything. Having said that, we can be encouraged to know that we do have the scriptures to guide us and enlighten us along the way. Rick Jones, was former Executive Director of Defiance Area Youth for Christ and serves as pastor of an area local church.

MERMAIDS AHOY

By: Stan Jordan

I was talking with Dan Bowers, the head honcho of Advanced Chassis the other morning about the Maumee River Raft Race. He says everything is shaping up nicely. The date is finalized now and it will be Saturday, August 16th. But it might be more of a canoe race instead of the river rafts. More on that later. As I understand, they have been in touch with Mermaids Ahoy, some outfit in south central Zamboanga.

They would like to see a beautiful mermaid sitting on a rock on the shore of the Maumee River eating bonbons and beautifying the

But you can't hardly find a beautiful blonde, blue-eyed honest to goodness, real for sure, official mermaid anymore. They are a scarce article. But if one is available they will leave no stone unturned to get her here. If you know of one please call BR 549.

On July 26, this young at heart lady celebrates her 90th birthday. Family and friends can help her celebrate by sending cards in acknowledgement of her birthday to: Eloise Hopkins, Vancrest of Antwerp, 204 Archer Dr., PO Box 759, Antwerp, OH

Seated here are these young people from earliest grades: Harold Zook 1934, Eleanor Zook 1940, Lucille Richmond 1935, Pauline Rekeweg 1938, and Mary Lake 1937.

Lois Litzenberg Vongunten, class of 1955, said, "I'm very happy with the response we see tonight. We all worked hard to make this happen."

There were tables lined with yearbooks and graduation certificates along with pictures of most of the classes. The Woodburn High School Alumni worked hard to make this school reunion happen and make this night special. Joan Wells took care of much of the promotion of the event and introduced me to so many of her peers. Class of 1934 was the old-discussed the county tournament of 1941 and the girls corrected them. Everyone in attendance had a great time. Memories like this cannot be bought. Hopefully, it teaches us all to love and respect our past while we realize how important our communities and schools are.

The Friends are asking anyone who wants to bake a pie (or two) or judge the contest to visit the library today! New this year - cream pies will be accepted (must have cooler)! Entry forms and rules can be found at the front desk of the Antwerp Branch Library.

In the first six months of 2014, the Ohio State Highway Patrol investigated a wide range of felony offenses and increased total drug arrests from the year before, thanks to troopers who take extra time during traffic stops to look for possible indicators of criminal activity.

From January through June, troopers made 5,652 total drug arrests, representing a 19 percent increase compared to 2013 and a 44 percent increase compared to the previous 3-year average, 2011 to 2013.

Every day our troopers are out on the roadways arresting felons and removing drugs from our communities," said Colonel Paul A. Pride, Patrol superintendent. "By being observant and spotting criminal indicators during traffic stops, troopers continue to contribute to a safer Ohio and improve the quality of life here in our state." Troopers made several of the largest drug seizures in OSHP history in the last six months. A traffic stop in Preble County led to the second largest marijuana seizure on record with 2,330 pounds, worth an estimated $11.6 million. Troopers seized the third largest amount of prescription pills in Allen County and the second largest amount of non-prescription pills in Hancock County.

Motorists are reminded that public participation is critical to highway safety. Call # 677 to report impaired drivers or drug activity.

NATIONAL NIGHT OUT, TUESDAY, AUGUST 5th

The New Haven Police Department has announced that they will again be hosting National Night Out in New Haven. Each year, citizens are encouraged to turn on their porch lights, take to the streets and meet their neighbors. National Night Out is not just one night of the year, but the culmination of year long crime prevention activity in New Haven neighborhoods where people work together in neighborhood associations and other networks to prevent and address neighborhood problems. It is an occasion to celebrate past successes, discuss current challenges or issues, and re-dedicate collaborative efforts with neighbors, police, businesses and others to improve the quality of life in our city. "This is a great opportunity for neighbors to meet each other. When friendships are built, they will watch out for each other and that will help lead to a safer community" said Police Chief Steve Poiry. A community-wide block party will start at 6:00 p.m. at the Schnelker Park Pavilion. Members of the city government and public safety departments will be on hand to greet citizens and discuss security, safety and quality of life issues. Mc-Gruff the Crime Fighting Dog will also be on hand. Food and refreshments will be provided along with entertainment for the kids. Neighborhoods are

CITY OF NEW HAVEN TO PERFORM SMOKE TEST-ING ON SANITARY SEWER SYSTEM

The City of New Haven Department of Public Works has been evaluating the sewers throughout neighborhoods in New Haven.

The City will be performing smoke testing to complete the overall evaluation. Smoke testing in the downtown area, from Lincoln Highway to Rose Avenue between Green Street and Broadway Street will begin July 16, 2014 and may take several weeks to complete.

Director of Engineering Keith Schlegel said, "We are performing a thorough evaluation of our sanitary sewer system. The evaluation is necessary because during heavy rain events, the sewer system in our neighborhoods is causing raw sewage to back up into some basements and causing the manholes to periodically overflow." PHS GRADUATES COMPETE IN STAR EVENT COMPETITION

More than 7,000 Family, Career and Community Leaders of America (FC-CLA) members, advisers, alumni, and guests from across the country gathered in San Antonio, Texas for the 2014 National Leadership Conference. Kelsi Manz and Tiffany Spangler, recent graduates of Paulding High School and members of the Paulding High School – Vantage Career Center Satellite FCCLA, were among the members that took part in STAR Event Competitions at the conference.

FCCLA offers over 30 Family and Consumer Sciences related events, also known as STAR (Students Taking Action with Recognition) events. Members compete at the District, State and National level. This year, Kelsi Manz and Tiffany Spangler were among over 4,200 STAR Event participants who competed in San Antonio. This is the largest number of competitors at any National STAR Events competition. Kelsi and Tiffany competed in the National Programs in Action STAR Event - Leadership Service in Action. Their project was titled "Bookin' it to Ethiopia". Kelsi and Tiffany raised over $30,000.00 to build a library in Mekele, Ethiopia. After graduation, they traveled to Ethiopia to paint, furnish, and dedicate the new library. Kelsi and Tiffany received the highest award, a gold medal for their project. They scored a 99.3 out of 100 points on their project.

Family, Career and Community Leaders of America is a national Career and Technical Student organization that provides personal growth, leadership development, and career preparation opportunities for students in Family and Consumer Sciences education. FCCLA has 200,000 members and more than 5,500 chapters from 49 state associations, Puerto Rico, and the Virgin Islands. The organization has involved more than ten million youth since its founding in 1945.

FCCLA is unique among youth organizations because its programs are planned and run by members. It is the only career and technical inschool student organization with the family as its central focus. Participation in national programs and chapter activities helps members become strong leaders in their families, careers, and communities.

LOSING LEBRON: REFLECTIONS FOR PEACEMAKERS AND EDUCATORS

By: Laura Finley

As a huge fan of the Miami Heat, my heart was broken twice this summer: First, when the team was overwhelmed by the San Antonio Spurs to lose the 2014 NBA finals, and again when Lebron James announced he is leaving the team to return to his home, Cleveland, to play for the Cavaliers. Despite these disappointments, though, I believe that losing Lebron has much to teach us about dignity in the face of adversity, leadership, and forgiveness—all important themes for peacemakers and peace educators. First, throughout his years in Miami, and in particular during the 2014 NBA finals, Lebron James was the model of nonviolent response during incredibly tough moments. When Indiana Pacer Lance Stephenson tormented James physically and mentally, even at one point blowing in his ear in an attempt to get a rise, James responded by devoting himself to his game, playing harder but not retaliating physically. This is the type of resistance used by famous peacemakers like Mahatma Gandhi and Martin Luther King Jr.—it is not ignoring the affronts so much as channeling them into even greater commitment to the goal.

Second, Lebron James has modeled leadership on and off of the court. In addition to his obvious prowess with the basketball, he has helped catalyze renewed interest in using sports as a platform to challenge injustice. When African-American teenager Trayvon Martin was shot and killed by George Zimmerman, James and other Heat players led the way in protesting racial stereotyping and racial profiling by donning hooded sweatshirts while posing for team photos. No athlete was more outspoken in criticizing Los Angeles Clippers owner Donald Sterling's racism and demanding action by the NBA. Further, James has been an important financial supporter of Boys and Girls Clubs and has contributed more than a million dollars worth of computers and athletic gear to disadvantaged youth through his Lebron James Family Foundation.

Third, Lebron James is

tance of forgiveness in his return to Cleveland. When he left in 2010 to play for the Heat, Clevelanders reacted poorly, burning his jerseys in effigy. Cavs owner Dan Gilbert wrote a scathing letter in which he called Lebron "selfish," "heartless," and "callous" and referred to the decision as a "cowardly betrayal." Gilbert guaranteed that his team would win an NBA title before the Heat, which of course did not happen. This letter even stayed on the team's website for the last four years, only to be removed days before James' decision to return to the Cavs. Despite this nastiness, however, Lebron James has been nothing but gracious and forgiving as he has explained his decision to return home. In his essay for Sports Illustrated, he commented only on the importance of family and roots, modeling the sort of forgiveness peace educators seek to inculcate.

In sum, I will miss seeing Lebron James in a Heat jersey as much as every other fan of the team. But I admire him for his values, his leadership, and the gifts he shared with Miami. And, in another important reminder for peacemakers, I am viewing this change not as abandonment but rather as a chance to rebuild, to grow in a different direction, and to highlight that one individual is not a team

NEW SIGN GIVES HERB MONROE PARK CLASSY EDGE

Jane Nice, Barb Sear-Ann Furrow were all close friends of Herb Monroe. All three of their families donated money towards the signage of the Herb Monroe Memorial Park. The design of the sign was the result of the Park committee and these three people. A sign of this magnitude was going to be very expensive – probably outside the budget entirely - but by luck or divine intervention they came in contact with Mark Greenwood who does custom signs at his company, New American Reel Company. And boom! He gave the group a great deal and they now have this mag-

The goal is to coordinate the park being finished with the release of Jane Nice's book about Herb Monroe (Married to Millie... The Humble Life of Herb Monroe). Word was received that it is expected to be published by the end of August or early September. Herb's 101st birthday would be on September 3rd, so that's the goal for the dedication date.

This year's theme for the first ever Chalk Walk at Day in the Park is, "I Imagine in Antwerp." So what does this mean? Use your imagination. Featuring the renowned artists of the area, the children will have a great time coloring with chalk on their own piece of black construction paper. All of the artwork will be featured throughout the day and will be ready for parents to pick up by 5:00 p.m.

All of this fun will take place on August 9th on the west side of Riverside Park. Young and those of heart may come, participate and demonstrate your inner Di-Vinci to all in attendance.

There will be multiple sizes of paper to choose from: 8.5x11, 11x17 or 17x22 for your masterpiece. There will also be sections of sidewalk for those who want to leave their artwork temporally at the park. Chalk will be provided. For those wanting greater palette of color may bring their own (no oil pastels or paints allowed for sidewalks this year.)

Start working on your ideas now and we'll see your vivid imagination at the Day in the Park on August 9!

STRETCH IT OUT

The Nurturing Well by: Jill Starbuck

Most of us can agree that one of the best physical feelings is a nice big stretch. You know the one after you've been sitting in a car or at a desk for hours? Or the one after you wake up in the morning? These types of stretches are instinctive. We just do them out of necessity. They help us rejuvenate by increasing blood flow and loosening tight muscles. While these types of stretches come automatically, the majority of us need to make a conscious effort to stretch more often. Every day in fact.

In addition to loosening tight muscles and improving circulation, the following list identifies more benefits of stretching. These are just a few of the reasons we should incorporate stretching into our daily lives.

1. Increases flexibility and range of motion. Have you ever tried to get up from a chair after sitting for long periods only to find it takes a few minutes to stand up straight? As we age, we no longer have the same ability to bounce back from inactivity as we had when we were children. Both overuse and inactivity cause us to become stiff and achy.

2. Reduces risk of injury. By increasing your flexibility and range of motion, you are less likely to become injured. When we try to lift things or become physically active after long periods of inactivity, we place ourselves at great risk. Tight muscles and inflexibility are some of the biggest reasons for injuries.

3. Improves athletic performance. When we do not stretch, our movement becomes slower and inflexible. Therefore, our performance suffers. Furthermore, we are at greater risk of becoming injured via sprains, strains, and other physical ailments.

4. Alleviates stress. Stretching helps us become more relaxed. Since stretching takes time, we have to slow down and focus on what we are doing. Have you ever tried yoga? Yoga provides a calming environment with a variety of stretching techniques, which also help to improve balance and coordination. Also, stretching is thought to help in lowering blood pres-

5. Relieves back pain. Back pain is a common ailment among Americans, ranking number eight among top 10 diseases in the United States. A number of studies indicate that as much as 80% of patients who experience back pain find relief simply by stretching.

As you can see, stretching provides a number of benefits that we can all use in our daily lives. However, stretching must be performed properly to avoid injury. Check in next week for stretching tips to enjoy the full benefits stretching can offer when performed

Financial Focus by: Phil Recker, Edward Jones Advisor

If you think back to your math classes in high school or college, you may remember that many of the problems involved the use of variables. Changing these variables around in any fashion would change the outcome of the problem. Similar situations occur in life all the time. To illustrate: If you look at the need to manage your retirement income so that you can't outlive it as a "problem" to be solved, you will need to adjust some variables to arrive at the solution you seek. That's why it's so important you be aware of the key variables involved in your retirement income planning.

What are some of these variables? Consider the following:

 Your investment mix — You might think that once you reach retirement, you can invest solely in income-producing vehicles, but you can't forget about inflation. Even a low rate of inflation, such as we've had for a number of years, can seriously erode your purchasing power over time — which is why you need to consider owning at least some investments that provide growth potential. Of course, you can change your investment mix at any time: For example, you might want to shift to a greater percentage of income-oriented investments as you move deeper into retirement.

 Your withdrawal rate – You'll need to calculate how much you can afford to withdraw from your investment portfolio each year without

depleting it prematurely. Your annual withdrawal rate will depend on a few different factors - such as your projected longevity, your investment mix and your other sources of income but you'll want to be careful not to take out too much too soon. As was the case with your investment mix, you have the flexibility to adjust your withdrawal rate during your retirement years. • Your Social Security —

You can start collecting Social Security benefits as early as age 62, but your benefits will be permanently reduced by up to 30% unless you wait until vour Full Retirement Age (FRA), which is likely 66 or 67. However, your monthly checks can increase if you delay taking your benefits beyond your Full Retirement Age, up to age 70. If you come from a particularly long-living family, and you have sufficient income apart from Social Security, you might want to delay your payments to get the larger benefit amount. Once again, you have a choice to make.

• Your earned income -Just because you've retired from one career, it doesn't mean you'll never again earn some income. Many retirees take part-time jobs, do some consulting or even open a small business. Whether you feel that you need to work, or you just want to work, the money you earn from employment can be an important component of your overall retirement income.

As you can see, all these variables involve choices on your part. And how you choose to exercise each variable will affect all the other variables. Consequently, as you manage and monitor your retirement income, you'll need to make many important decisions. Still, this doesn't have to be a scary prospect — because the very fact that you have choices means you also have a great deal of control over your situation.

So, study your choices carefully, as you work toward achieving the income you need to enjoy the retirement you want.

The names of all those recognized will be added to a plaque which will hang in the front hall of the Paulding County Historical Society building. The committee members that organized the program were Pam Young, chairperson, Karen Walker, and Ron Grabianowski.

The Conservation Reserve Program (CRP) Pollinator Habitat practice, known as CP42, establishes vital habitat for many wildlife species, including pollinators, and keeps fields awash in color throughout the growing season. Ohioans are now able to sign up for the CP42 practice with the reopening of CRP enrollment.

- CRP is administered by the USDA Farm Service Agency and provides incentives to farmers to plant natural vegetation and reduce soil erosion, prevents nutrients such as phosphorus and nitrogen from entering streams and lakes, and increases wildlife habitat.
- CP42 focuses on providing nectar and pollen sources for a variety of important pollinator species, such as honeybees, hummingbirds, and butterflies. Bee-pollinated plants account for $20 billion in annual U.S. agricultural production. Pollinator numbers, however, are declining because of several factors, including habitat

DAN MCGINNIS NAMED OHSAA DIRECTOR OF OF-FICIATING DEVELOPMENT FOR BASEBALL

Five-time state baseball tournament umpire Dan McGinnis is the Ohio High School Athletic Association's new Director of Officiating Development for baseball, OHSAA Assistant Commissioner Beau Rugg has announced. McGinnis takes over for the retired Kyle McNeely, who held the post since 2009. A native of Columbus, McGinnis was named Ohio's 2013 Baseball Official of the Year. He is a past president of the Central Ohio Baseball Umpires Association and now serves on the Board of Directors of UMPS CARE Charities, a non-profit organization established by Major League Baseball umpires (www.umpscare.com).

Under Rugg's leadership, McGinnis joins 11 other individuals who serve as the OHSAA Director of Officiating Development in their respective sport. The Directors serve as instructors, state rules interpreters, official's observers, liaisons with local officials associations and consultants to the OHSAA. More information is posted at: http://www. ohsaa.org/officials/directors.htm

McGinnis has been a licensed OHSAA baseball umpire for 16 years and has conducted the state umpire mechanics clinic since 2011. He has been an adult education instructor since 2005.

Ohio has some of the finest high school baseball umpires around," McGinnis said. "Our state tournament is second to none and we need to make sure that we are providing these student-athletes with the best qualified officials. Clinic participation, observations and continuing education need to be part of the process in determining their selection."

McGinnis recently retired after 35 years in the pharmaceuticals industry, including the last 27 years as a national account manager. He is a 1978 graduate of Western Michigan University. Dan and his wife, Deb, have two sons who played collegiate baseball and are now baseball umpires.

retary. Sports Pictures are scheduled on Friday, August 15 at 9:00 am. Teacher workday will be Monday, August 18. First Day of school Tuesday, August 19. Fall Sports will have first day of coaching on August 1. Elementary Principal Tim Manz said he is looking to hire a new secretary. The ad was posted in the newspaper and as of the meeting there were 79 applicants. Chad Schindler was hired for preschool teacher.

Meet the Teacher Night is scheduled for August 18. Preschool is up around 60. Kindergarten is also around Superintendent Pat Ross stated the Family and Consumer Science staff has not been hired yet. Alexandria Gillis has resigned as Spanish Teacher and the district is looking for someone ASAP. Distance was the primary factor from Bowling Green for Ms. Gillis' decision.

The school remodeling painting has been started and looks nice and the academic wings are all completed now. The gym bleachers has had a major improvement in cleaning the steps. The gym floor will be resurfaced by a third party contractor this year as the price was better than having the janitorial staff complete the project. The nutrition standards has all been met and approval was signed by Deb Altic.

Harold Gottke, Technology Coordinator, talked about the 1 to 1 computer project. It would solve some problems, but the cost might be too great for the results. The Dell 2100 series and the NL3 series are showing their age. The Atom processors are not powerful computers and should be replaced. He would like to have a five year rotation on all the computers instead of replacing them all at one time with the new i5 processor laptops with SSD's instead of hard drives. Replacing about 100-150 each year would get the rotation started. He also purchased 150 or LCD screens from Wayne Trace for a great price. He is getting good rates on these computers by the purchasing power getting them with other schools, naming Paulding. The electric bill was very high and Harold explained the changes in environmental controls to make sure it doesn't happen again. The system shuts down at 10:00 p.m. for about seven hours per day and should help significantly reduce costs. There was a meeting with American Heat Tech and they have been diligent to get these problems solved. There is a web-based set of controls that the company can monitor everything remotely and would be notified of any problems in the system.

ALLISON COLE CROWNED MISS EDGERTON IN EDG-ERTON QUEEN PAGEANT

By: Sally Whitford

Miss Allison Cole and her court will reign over the Festival of Flags July 24-July 27. The Festival of Flags will be held at Miller Park, Edgerton, OH.

The Queen's Court consists of Jr. Miss Edgerton Miss Emma Siebenaler, Teen Miss Edgerton – Miss Madyson Pahl, and Little Miss Edgerton - Elisabeth Cheek.

The Festival began in 1921 by the American Legion as a reunion to reunite current and former members from Edgerton and has evolved into the Festival of Flags.

The Festival will have arts and craft vendors, kids games, food vendors and much more.

Friday the 25th will be a car, truck, motorcycle show, a 5K run, and karaoke night.

There well be a parade Saturday the 26th at 11:00 a.m., and at 6:00 p.m. there will be a truck pull.

For more information about the festival, you can contact the Edgerton Chamber of Commerce at 419-298-2335.

 $1^{st}$ Annual Williams County Rib Fest will be held July 26th at the Williams County Fairgrounds under the pavilion from 4:30-11:00 p.m. during the Antique Tractor Show.

For further information, please contact John McDonald 419-485-4202.

The 2014 Fountain City Festival summer production will be the classic, Fiddler On The Roof.

The production will take place July 24-26 at 7:30 p.m. and on Sunday the 27th at 2:00 p.m. in the Arts and Education Building at 120 S Beech Street Bryan, OH.

This classic musical is loaded with local talent from NW Ohio. It is a must see even if you've seen the movie or other renditions of the Fiddler. This is the 50 year anniversary of its opening on Broadway in 1964.

It is an awesome way to support our local artists and to keep family-friendly entertainment available to our communities. Perhaps your kids have never seen a live play it's an experience that is so different from a movie, or a TV show. Introduce them to the excitement of a live production. Who knows? You might awaken the actor/ actress, singer, or dancer in them.

For anyone who is not familiar with Fiddler on the Roof, it's a story of one man's struggle with family and faith in a changing world. The lead character is Tevye, a poor man with five daughters who struggles to live by his Jewish faith and traditions in Russia in 1905, but is forced to make want the best for their daughters - rich husbands - but they watch each one as they select with their hearts and not their heads. The daughter Chava's choice is the saddest of them all as she marries a man outside the faith, a Russian soldier who represents those who kill and persecute Jews driving them from their homes. I'm not going to reveal the ending, though, so you must go see for yourself. For more information, you can contact the Bryan Chamber of Commerce at 419-636-2247, or you can go to http://fcflive.tix.com As you can see, there is a lot to choose from to do this month all the way from a truck pull, 5K run, car shows, a Broadway play, and a Rib Fest. There is certainly something for everyone in this month's events.
