FEDERS OPENS FOR BUSINESS

If you haven't noticed all the changes in Woodburn, now would be a great time to visit the small community just a couple of miles west of the Indiana/Ohio state line off of US 24. New manufacturing, truckstops, and much more have recently graced the small city. The newest business to open its doors is called Feders Country Meats & Produce.

The new retail store is a specialty food store specializing in fresh meats, cut to your liking and opened on Friday, November 6th. The store is located just behind where Brenneke's Grocery Store (and for a short time Woodburn Fresh Foods) building was situated.

When the grocery store in Woodburn closed several years ago, it left a large gap in the economy and forced people to look outside their town for food and necessities. Some citizens were already shopping outside in places like Fort Wayne because prices may have been cheaper. Shopping locally allows people to have easy access, especially for those where traveling is difficult, such as the elderly.

But shopping locally is not the only reason to check out Feders. They offer local, high quality meats that large box stores can't compete with, much of it being imported. Feders offers specialty cuts from their own crew trained in the arts of butchering. Your regular meats are offered: beef, pork, chicken, and turkey... but have you tried bison, lamb, rabbit, or duck? Your friends may think you are odd for being different and trying something you haven't before. Don't let them hinder you from thinking independently. It is different. Bison is all-American. There are people who refer to it as buffalo, but bison are not related to the Asian or African buffalo. The American Bison only reside in North America and what is sold at Feders is specifically from Colorado. At one time the creature was within a dozen or two from extinction from the 19th century hunters. It has recovered so well that it's

'We did this because of the needs here in Woodburn. Industry has been driving and moving in, and we felt it's time for Woodburn to have their own meat and produce store once again." Joe Malfait stated. He continues, "Our goal is quality, good prices, carrying local meats and produce." The process of starting a new retail business is not easy. Joe is the owner and explained the delays to the West Bend News about Feders Country Meats & Produce. It's been several years in the making, from ideas to finally opening the doors.

In the construction of the facility housing the business, Joe said they used local businesses to complete the process. It wouldn't have been possible without help from Gerbers Electric, Well's Heating and Cooling, Quality Plumbing Solutions, Wilmer Lengacher, and Schmucker Concrete.

This new store is bringing about 14 new jobs to the area. The store manager is Michelle Federspiel. Alex and Daniel Federspiel are also helping out and have much experience after working with their father at their family's meat processing center in Huntertown. Christie Johnson is also working their as head of the deli and produce section. That's right, you can't get your sandwiches right at the deli with tables to sit at!

Along with the fresh cut meats Feders will have fresh fish from Lake Erie on Fri-

"I wanted to give something for the community. Many people have helped me through the years, and I want to do the same," says Joe. He has invested quite a bit in making this a reality, even from his own farm.

Other featured items here at Feders includes over 100 varieties of cheeses, 50 varieties of Secular's Picles, 20 Different Deli Meats to chose from and over 50 varieties of produce.

Feders is a welcome site for Woodburn and surrounding communities!

COMMUNICATION AND APPRECIATION

By: Tom H. Hasting

We lost the developer of nonviolent communication this year, Marshall Rosenberg (1934-2015), a man focused on how we can more effectively help wend our way through our conflicts with others - but without engendering more hurt along the way.

Rosenberg acted as a facilitator, mediator, and trainer in more adaptive communication methods that help us get what we need while giving others what they need. His framing stressed clarity and accountability.

We all know some of these techniques. Comedian John Cleese may or may not have heard of Rosenberg, but here is an excerpt from his autobiography that shows one of those flashes of genius:

I also knew that I could "do" confident, and it helped enormously socially that I appeared to be able to fake it no matter how insecure, anxious, or inferior I actually felt...[I had] the sense that I should be formidably well informed about everything... I had an epiphany. I was talking to a very well informed fellow called Peregrine something-or-other, and nodding knowledgeably, and smiling wryly at I knew not what, when on an impulse I suddenly said, "I don't know about that. Will you tell me about it?"

silence, but the ceiling did not fall in. Peregrine something-or-other did not slap me contemptuously with the back of his hand, or spit in my face. Instead, he visibly brightened and proceeded to give me a thoroughly good explanation of what he had been talking about. He enjoyed explaining it, and I enjoyed understanding it, and he clearly liked me better for having given him the opportunity to display his learning. Instead of humiliation, then, I had initiated a profitable transaction. It was a revelation, and I found it such a liberation, and a relief, to be able to abandon that phony omniscient posturing. I will suggest we take that even a step further. Give credit to our opponents for being correct. Find the kernel of accuracy or justification in what our "enemies" say or do, and openly acknowledge that. It can be positively disarming and it can draw down the frantic urge to hurt us.

Example: ISIS is right to try to redraw the boundaries in the Middle East. Those borders were imposed on the region by European cartographers at the behest of their colonial and imperialist rulers. The people of the region should enjoy the sovereignty over the political boundaries that all peoples deserve.

this statement Does weaken the drive by all reasonable people in the region to reduce and eliminate the ISIS terrorist threat? No. It weakens the outrage that fuels ISIS, if it's accompanied by a US pullout and cessation of bombing. It makes the US look large and mature. Then a follow up of a US-led global boycott of ISIS and a stress on the outrageous conduct of their operatives can reach the ears of the people of the region and elsewhere. Such conduct by the US could radically reduce recruitment to ISIS and hollow out its authority.

This is the beauty and magic of adaptive conflict communication. It can attenuate damage and increase gain for good ethical and moral practices. Rosenberg, a clinical psychologist, worked his entire professional career on these concepts. If such strategies and tactics can save lives and lower all other costs, aren't they worth trying?

INDUCTION OF CESAR CHAVEZ, DR. MARY-DELL CHILTON TO U.S. DEPART-MENT OF AGRICULTURE HALL OF HEROES

Agriculture Secretary Tom Vilsack announced two new inductees, Cesar Chavez and Dr. Mary-Dell Chilton, into the U.S. Department of Agriculture Hall of Heroes. Established in September 2000, the Hall of Heroes recognizes those who have had a lasting impact on agriculture and America's rural communities. The honorees will be recognized permanently by plaques in the entry hall of US-DA's Jamie L. Whitten Federal Building.

"Both Cesar Chavez and Dr. Mary-Dell Chilton dedicated their public and private lives to improving various facets of food and agriculture," said Vilsack. "The abundant, resilient and diverse food supply that Americans are fortunate to rely on today is a direct result of their commitments and innovations, and I am honored to add these inspiring individuals among USDA's Hall of Heroes."

Cesar Chavez (1927-1993) was a prominent union leader and labor organizer. Shaped by early experiences as a migrant worker, Chavez committed his life to improving working conditions for farm workers.

In 1962, Cesar Chavez founded the National Farm Workers Association. In a strike against grape growers in California, the Association joined with the Agricultural Workers Organizing Committee, and the two organizations later merged to create the United Farm Workers.

"This year marks the 50th viversary of the hunger strike Chavez led to bring justice and equality to the people who feed America," Vilsack said. "Today, USDA is humbled to honor to Cesar

OHIO PARENTS SAY MORE SCHOOL LUNCHES SHOULD BE MADE FROM SCRATCH

Schools play a major role in feeding America's children. About 95 percent of public schools participate in the National School Lunch Program. In 2014, more than 1 million Ohio children participated in the program. Some schools serve fresh whole foods cooked from scratch as an alternative to processed or prepackaged foods.

The Ohio Health Issues Poll (OHIP), funded by Interact for Health, asked Ohio adults with children living in their household about school lunches. A majority of Ohio parents (66 percent) said their oldest child's school lunch is very nutritious (18 percent) or somewhat nutritious (48 percent). About 3 in 10 Ohio parents (28 percent) said their child's lunch is not that nutritious (18 percent) or not nutritious at all (10 percent).

for Health "Interact knows that access to healthy food for our kids is a key component in improving the health of our state," says Jaime Love, Program Officer, Healthy Eating and Active Living, Interact for Health. "School cafeterias feed thousands of Ohio school kids every day. Encouraging them to increase healthy options cooked from scratch within their current systems and budget will further help kids make smart choices about the foods and beverages they consume throughout their

The 2015 Ohio Health Issues Poll (OHIP) is funded by Interact for Health. OHIP was conducted July 15-28, 2015, by the Institute for Policy Research at the University of Cincinnati. A random sample of 811 adults from throughout Ohio was interviewed by telephone. This included 448 landline telephone and 363 cell phone interviews. In 95 of 100 cases, the statewide estimates will be accurate to $\pm 3.4\%$. PATROL REMINDS MOTOR-ISTS THAT SAFETY BELTS SAVE LIVES

There is no disputing that wearing a safety belt can save your life. The Ohio State Highway Patrol is encouraging all motorists to buckle up this upcoming holiday season and continue to do so throughout the new year. From 2012-2014 1,157 people were killed in crashes across Ohio who were not wearing an available safety belt.

"It's simple – safety belts save lives and reduce injury in crashes," said Lt. Tim Grigsby, commander of the Van Wert Post. "It is the easiest and most effective action you can take to protect yourself, your family and your friends."

The National Highway Traffic Safety Administration estimates 361 lives were saved in Ohio and 12,584 were saved nationwide in 2013 as a direct result of motorists buckling up.

According to Ohio's 2014 Observational Seatbelt Survey, 85 percent of motorists were found to be in compliance with Ohio's safety belt law. This is the highest usage rate seen since observational studies began in 1991. While these rates appear high, far too many Ohioans still do not buckle up Ohio's safety belt law remains a secondary violation; however, troopers continue zero tolerance enforcement when motorists are stopped for other violations and are found unbuckled. Troopers wrote 121,945 citations last year for failure to wear a safe-

BROKEN CISTERNS

By Rev. Gerry Weesner, Maples United Methodist Church

"I brought them into a fruitful land, to eat of its bounty and goodness, but they made it into a land of sin and corruption and turned my inheritance into an evil thing. Even their priests cared nothing for the Lord, and their judges ignored me; their rulers turned against me, and their prophets worshiped Baal and wasted their time on nonsense. For my people have done two evil things: They have forsaken me, the

ter; and they have built for themselves broken cisterns that can't hold water!" Jeremiah 2:7-8, 13 (TLB).

The people of Israel are being put on trial, and God, who is both accuser and judge finds them lacking. The counts are spelled out: The people have strayed from God. They have followed worthless idols and so become worthless themselves. They have forgotten the God that brought them out of Egypt. They have defiled the promised land and even their priests do not seek the will of God. God says "My people have committed two sins: They have forsaken me, the spring of living water, and have dug their own cisterns, broken cisterns that cannot hold water." God is not interested in condemning his people. God wants his people to prosper. God wants his people to live. And God wants his people to feast in heaven with him. But for this to happen we must listen to God. But sometimes it is hard to get people to he ar what God is saying. We are social creatures and we are creatures of flesh, with fleshly needs. And these needs can conflict with the other thing that we are, a people of God made in God's image, beings of the Spirit with a spiritual destiny. We forget God and his goodness and we rely upon our own efforts to live our

The sins of Israel at the time of Jeremiah, and the sins of Israel at the time of Jesus, and our sins, are of the same kind. We allow our social conditions and our nature as physical creatures to rule over us and imperil the fullness of life that we could be experiencing, the life that God has created us for.

LETTER TO THE EDITOR

General Horatio N. Curtis Chapter; Ohio Society Daughters of the American Revolution; Daughters of the American Revolution.

Until further notice this chapter will not be meeting. Due to low membership it may be faced with disbandment because our membership is below 12 active members. Through no fault of some of our active membership, some prospective members were turned away by our former leadership. Other activities of the society were not carried out fully to the satisfaction of the OSDAR and all concerned.

Unfortunately, for this reason our chapter has failed to grow. We are faced with the fact that our Organizing Members are now passing on. Some members have moved or can no longer drive to meetings. If you have any other questions about your membership or DAR, please call 419-258-2222 or a State DAR Chair-

We want the Daughters of the American Revolution to be remembered as a Patriotic "Working" organization in the community. I'm sorry that we could not have done so much more for the community. DAR had been my life since 1975, our Chapter here in Paulding County did have some great memories.

LETTER TO THE EDITOR

Isn't it about time?

What has happened to our country and to ourselves? Are we going to sit back and let things remain as they are? I know I'm not the only person who sees this country waning. Our first amendment rights, of religion and freedom of speech are being attacked by the minorties who do not agree with everyday folks who just want what's coming to them. The results? The minorities will win, I'll guarentee it. The Clerk of Courts in Kentucky stood up for her christian beliefs, she spent six days in jail. Isn't that wonderful? Yet, two muslim truck drivers who refused to haul beer were fired. They sued, they won. They don't seem to mind if they can sever coptic christians heads or cage a man and set him on fire or rape young girls and crucify people, but they cannot transport beer in a truck.

What is going on with our government? Mr. Obama draws a red line in Syria, then erases it with a cowardly eraser. Now, hundreds of thousands of refugees are flooding into Europe and Obama wants to bring 2,000,000 of them into our country. They are mostly young Arab men in their 20's and 30's. Doesn't that raise any eyebrows? Do we want another four years of this administration? I love what the Lord said to the Prophet Isaiah, "Come, let us reason together." Can't we come together as Americans, forgetting that "aisle" in Congress that no one dare cross?

What is this rhetoric with "What do you want?" "Dead cops!!!" "When do you want them?" "Now!!!" Democratic candidates were asked, "Do black lives matter?" They all said, "Yes, black lives do matter," yet one candidate went too far when he said, "All lives matter." He was forced to apologize for that statement! I consider myself to be level headed, just a common person. Not expecting any handout from the government, no free health care, no subsidies of "Obama Cash" nor do I expect a free cellphone. All I ask of my government is to keep your nose out of my business. It seems everything I deem right and proper, the left disagrees. I was very happy to see that the marijuana quest was defeated, for the sake of the young children. I want to end with this: We have a national election coming up in 2016. I believe this election will decide the destiny of this country. I ask all citizens rich and poor, vote with your conscience and use common sense, know what your candidate stands for and trust your

Last December a lame duck congress jeopardized the livelihoods of hundreds of thousands of retirees by rolling back a decades old provision preventing cuts to promised retiree benefits. Our nation's retirees deserve to have the benefits they earned and were promised for years of loyalty and service to their employers. Right now some of these retirees are facing enormous cuts, but we can help them by convincing Congress to pass legislation protecting hard earned pension benefits.

The Central States Pension Fund became severely underfunded while under the supervision of the Department of Labor and U.S. District Court, from 1982 through 2014. The CSPF assets were mismanaged by the government, who selected and vetted the Wall Street banks that squandered an estimated $20 billion through risky and reckless investments, which could have been prevented if The Employee Retirement Income Security Act of 1974 (ERISA) had been enforced by the Labor Dept., as was their responsibility.

The Teamsters Union has been working with several members of Congress to develop legislation that would prevent massive cuts to some pension beneficiaries. We applaud Senators Sanders and Portman and Representative Kaptur for sponsoring legislation that will protect the financial stability of hundreds of thousands of society's most vulnerable individuals, retirees. We need your help to convince other members of Congress to add their support to this crucial legislation.

S. 1631/ H.R. 2844, the Keep Our Pension Promises Act, sponsored by Senator Sanders in the Senate and Representative Kaptur in the House of Representatives not only would restore the anti-cutback rule but it also helps prevent multi-employer pension plans from failing by making pension obligations a higher priority in bankruptcy proceedings which will reduce the number of plans that become "orphaned." The bill also creates a legacy fund within the Pension Benefit Guarantee Corporation by closing two tax loopholes that only benefit the wealthiest members of society. Additionally, legislation sponsored by Senator Portman, S. 2147, the Pension Accountability Act, will give plan participants a meaningful voice when plans are considering making cuts. A majority, binding vote from plan participants will be required before any cuts may be made. This process will be made fair by only counting returned ballots where previously all unreturned ballots were counted as a yes vote.

These bills will help ensure that our nation's retirees will continue to have financial stability and a voice when it comes to cuts in benefits that were earned over a lifetime of service. We urge you to email and call your Senators and Representative to ask them to sign onto S. 1631/ H.R. 2844, the Keep Our Pension Promises Act and S. 2147, the Pension Accountability Act. -I Keith Knoff

THE LOBO TANK BUSTES

By: Stan Jordan

This morning, we four pilots in our P51D's had on extra fuel tanks and we headed northeast to the small country of Luxembourg. Some of the Resistance people gave us the word that there is a German Ordinance Depot in a town called Thionville. The German repair a lot of tanks and vehicles there. It is situated beside the railroad and also has a lot of the place under green paint.

We got there in the middle of the morning and we went on by the place so we could look it over. There were tanks and vehicles parked outside the building along with a couple 88mm canons that needed to be repaired.

We went on past the area a few miles and talked things over on the radio. I and my wingman would take the right side and the right side parking area. We would do the best we could on the first pass, there might not be a sec-

We came in a little low and slowed up some what, but I still could only put some rockets into the canon in the parking area. I was able to hit a canon with each rocket and then I was past the place.

I flew on by a few miles and went up to about 1000 feet altitude and the other pilots came up to the same level. In our discussion, we figured we shot up that parking area pretty good. That must be at least an acre under roof and we didn't know what was in there, but we assumed it was all war material. We will have to make another pass.

We totaled the rockets and we have nine left. We dropped our speed down to about 250 mph and went in one plane at a time. We planned on blowing up this whole building with our nine rockets.

I went in on the right side and fired both rockets about the same time. I flew on by and went into a steep climb and looked back after both rockets exploded. My share of it was blown to bits. I could see one of the other rockets hit a fuel tank. Boy what a fire, at least 100' feet in the air!

The flight home was uneventful. Col. Bainebridge came on over tonight and we played some euchre.

THIS PAST GROWING SEASON

By: Stan Jordan

This past growing season and harvest is one to be remembered. The first part of April was pretty good and some of the farmers got most of their corn planted, but the window was not long enough and it started to rain. It rained almost every day and the water just covered some of the fields, and it laid in low spots for many days.

It did this for a number of weeks and a number of farmers didn't get all their corn planted, it got to be too late. It got into June and that is too late for corn planting but okay for beans.

Well, we still had some more wet weather and July came and then it was too late even for beans and some of that acreage didn't get plant-

It stopped raining in July and hardly had rain again until late in October, but the corn and beans that did get planted lived and thrived on the water in the subsoil. Actually, they did better then expected, in fact some farmers reported that some of their best crops and worst crops were in the same field. Where the water didn't stand and kill the corn it produced pretty well. Not a record, but pretty well, considering everything. Then September turned into October and the weather was ideal. It didn't rain for many days and the beans were combined and the wheat was put in.

The early corn was ready to harvest and the farmers had lots of good weather to get the job done.

Some of the later beans will need a little longer time.

We finally got a good rain from tropical storm Patricia and it slowed up the corn harvesting for a while but the wheat needed the rain. Actually, the subsoil for next year will need more rain and snow. This year proves that the crops can live and do okay on the moisture in the subsoil.

VETERANS DAY ORIGIN

The first World War ended on November 11, 1918 at 11:00 a.m. That was the hour to end all combat.

The American government passed an act that made that date and hour Veterans Day in America it has been so celebrated by veterans ever since then.

That day, more or less, is sacred to any and all veterans. It means so much to them to have gone and served their country, it creates a special

Over the years, the ruling few in Washington wanted to change Veterans' Day to make it another three day weekend for government employees, but all the veteran groups shouted to high heaven and that never came about.

It's a national holiday on November 11th and we hope it always will be. It is sort of a compensation and more of remembrance. A special pride and a feeling that you went and answered the call. Our flag, Ol' Glory, may she wave

I ATTENDED THE SENIOR CITIZENS BREAKFAST AT THE HIGH SCHOOL

By: Stan Jordan

On Thursday, October 22, 2015, the Antwerp High School had a breakfast for the senior citizens of the Antwerp school district. My good friends Steve and Sue Knapp helped me with my chair and chores. We had a fine breakfast made by Mrs. Altic and her kitchen crew and served to us by the Honor Society and the student council, a fine bunch of young folks.

I had a nice talk with our new high school superintendent, Dr Martin Miller. We are lucky to have hired a fine man like that. He told me he grew up in the Oakwood area and graduated from Paulding High School. That is another Paulding County boy that made good, it is a pleasure to know him. He made a fine presentation of a lot of improvements that have been made and some news about the school.

The enrollment now, prek through grade 12 is at 740 students. He talked about the new ball field, the practice football field and other sports on out there.

He talked about the security system, the lights, the camera and the new fences. He covered a lot of the activities, he even gave me a print out of his presentation. We were entertained by the Show Choir under the direction of Mrs. Mary Smith. I cannot say enough about that group. They sang and danced about 8 number and it was fantastic! I understand they practice before and after school not on school time. They looked spectacular in their attire. I didn't get to talk with Mrs. Smith this time, she was very busy. Equally entertaining, was the high school pep band. Andrea Newell is the director of this fine group. I would like to take this opportunity to thank the staff of Antwerp High School for a nice morning and I know I speak for all of the guest.

OHIO WILDLIFE COUNCIL PASSES RULE TO HELP MONITOR CWD

The Ohio Wildlife Council passed a rule change that will allow the creation of disease surveillance areas to monitor chronic wasting disease (CWD) at its regularly scheduled meeting Wednesday, October 21, according to the Ohio Department of Natural Resources (ODNR). The rule permits the ODNR Division of Wildlife to establish a disease surveillance area when CWD has been detected. This designation, when enacted, will include all areas within a minimum of 6 miles surrounding a location where the disease has been detected. The designation will remain in effect for a minimum of three years and will be posted at wildohio.gov.

These regulations would apply within any CWD designated surveillance area:

- Required submission of harvested deer carcasses to ODNR Division of Wildlife inspection stations for sampling during the deer-gun and deer-muzzleloading sea-• Prohibit the placement of
- or use of salt, mineral supplement, grain, fruit, vegetables or other feed to attract or feed • Prohibit the hunting of
- deer by the aid of salt, mineral supplement, grain, fruit, vegetables or other feed; and • Prohibit the removal of a deer carcass killed by a motor vehicle, unless the carcass complies with the deer carcass regulations. Normal agricultural activities, including feeding of domestic animals would not be affected. Hunting deer over food plots, naturally occurring or cultivated plants and agriculture crops would still be allowed.

Also on Wednesday, the council passed a rule to include the Eurasian collared-dove in the definition of migratory game birds and game birds. The council also amended a rule to permit the possession of Eurasian collared-doves in the field, consistent with the exemption for mourning doves. The Eurasian collared-dove is a non-native species that has spread rapidly across North America. In flight, it is very similar in appearance to mourning doves.

The council also voted to amend rules to require trotlines used in the inland fishing district, and all float lines used statewide, be tagged by the user with their name and address or their unique ODNR Division of Wildlife customer identification num-

In addition, rules were amended to update the list of areas owned by American Electric Power that require a special permit to fish under an agreement with the ODNR Division of Wildlife, and amend the language for possession of fish and fish fillets at Pymatuning Lake.

WOODLAN STUDENTS PREPARE FOR TECHFIT SHOWCASE AT PURDUE

By: Michael Bemus

Woodlan 6th through 8th grade students are preparing for the Techfit program sponsored by Purdue. "What is Techfit?" you may ask. Techfit stands for teaching engineering concepts to harness future innovators and technologists.

We started all the way back in August. We meet on Mondays and Fridays after school and on one Saturday a month. The showcase will be held at Purdue on December 10th. We are doing this to promote jobs in engineering and technology. It was also designed to promote fitness. The students also find it fun. The overall goal: to create the best exergame.

The game we are designing and creating is an obstacle course. There are two teams of ten people each. There are two people who go from each team at a time. A referee will press a button to start the game and timer. They start off with an obstacle where you tap two sensors which are diagonal from each other. One is in an upper corner and the other is in the opposite side's lower corner. You have to hit them in a specific order. Then your teammate does it. Afterwards you crab walk under another obstacle with your partner. Then you do bounce passes to your partner until you get to the bucket on the other end. You then hit a golf ball into a goal. Your partner then scores. You and your partner finally grab a puzzle piece and signal the next pair. Once all five pairs have gotten their pieces, you put the puzzle together. The first team with a completed puzzle wins.

We can make your wedding, graduation, anniversary or any other announcement that you may need! Come in or give us a call to see how we can help! West Bend Printing & Publishing - 419-258-2000

USDA ANNOUNCES $3.7 MILLION TO REPAIR RURAL HOUSING

Agriculture Tom Vilsack announced that USDA is investing $3.7 million to help rural families repair and rehabilitate their homes. The funds are being awarded through the Housing Preservation Grant (HPG) program in 46 states and the Commonwealth of Puerto Rico to support the renovation of 1,147 units.

"Many low-income families in rural areas struggle to afford necessary housing upkeep," Vilsack said. "This USDA program provides grants for repairs not only to ensure that properties are in compliance with health and safety codes, but also to help people lower their maintenance costs through energy efficiency and weatherization improvements. All of these efforts make sure rural folks can live in safe and healthy homes."

USDA provides financing to local governments, public agencies, federally recognized Indian Tribes, non-profit organizations and faith-based and community groups. These entities distribute the grants to individual homeowners as well as to owners of multi-family rental properties or cooperative dwellings who rent to low- and very low-income residents.

In Kentucky, the Housing Development Alliance, Inc. will use a $28,366 grant for two single-family homes in Perry County to reduce overcrowding and make energy efficiency improvements. Perry County is located within the Kentucky Highland Promise Zone. The Promise Zone Initiative is a program created by the Obama administration to help high-poverty areas that have lost middle-class jobs in the last several decades. These communities work with private and public partners to increase economic enterprise, improve educational opportunity, enhance public health and advance the overall well-being of their citizens. The Housing Development Alliance, Inc. will leverage the USDA grant with $25,000 of its own fund-

WOODLAN WINS FIRST SECTIONAL IN YEARS

2015 Sectional Championship Winners. More pictures at westbendnews.net

Woodlan took on Whitko in the Sectional Championship Football game on Friday, November 6th at Warriors home field. The Wildcats were the underdog in the tournament with a less than stellar season. They made quite the impact, beating Churubusco to make it to this match.

This game was fairly equal in stats and both teams had points on the board with just a few minutes into the game.

The game was pretty straight forward with Woodlan taking charge, though not by much, from the beginning. The defense struggled in a few spots, letting the Wildcats through on a couple of plays.

Jack Rhoads, Mitchell Van-Brocklin and Justin Durkes all scored touchdowns. Quentin Graber added two points from the point after kicks and Jeramiah Cassell added to the score in a two point conversion. The final score was 22-19.

Notable events in the game: Woodlan's Donald Guerrant catches a ball after the onside kick bounces back and is recovered. In the fourth quarter, Woodlan's Black Acosta gets called for defensive passing interference even though it was Landon Goff of Whitko who was pushing Acosta to stop the interception.

This is the first Sectional Championship Woodlan has won since 1988 and the first time they have won 12 games

During the half time, the Woodlan band practiced their routine for their state competition they were ready to perform the next day in Indianapolis. What a recognition for all the hard work, late nights and practices all the kids endured through this season. Great job to the band for all of their achievements.

The Warriors will take on Winchester Community at the Woodlan home field on Friday, November 13th at 7:00 p.m. for the Regional Final. The Golden Falcons also have an excellent record at 11-2.

It's November 7 and girls basketball has already started in Indiana. It seems a little early considering fall tournaments are still going on, but the girls season has been moved up a week to separate the boys and girls tournaments completely.

LATTA ON REJECTION OF KEYSTONE XL PIPELINE

"I am deeply disappointed in the President's decision today to reject the construction of the Keystone XL pipeline. After seven years, and five positive economic and environmental assessments from the Administration's own State Department, the President has once again chosen politics over the needs of hard working American men and women. By the State Department's own studies, this project would have brought $3.4 billion into the U.S. GDP, and created over 42,000 good paying jobs. We are on the path to attain the North American energy security that has been sought for generations, and the rejection of the Keystone XL project puts that objective farther down the path.

In justification of his decision, the President again implied the protection of our environment is incompatible with fostering the development of our energy resources. This is a false choice, as states and industry have already demonstrated the ability to balance environmental stewardship and promote economic growth. This is another example of the Administration's failure to listen to the American people, and another obstacle to achieving our economic and security goals."

SECRETARY HUSTED APPOINTS KURT SAHLOFF TO THE PUTNAM COUNTY BOARD OF ELECTIONS

Secretary of State Jon Husted has appointed Kurt W. Sahloff as a member of the Putnam County Board of Elections. Mr. Sahloff will fill the unexpired term of Virginia Price.

State law requires bipartisan representation on each of Ohio's 88 county boards of elections. Each board is made up of two Republican members and two Democratic members, all of whom must be qualified electors in the counties for which they serve. The Secretary of State makes appointments to boards of elections based on the recommendations of the executive committees of the respective county political parties.

INVESTING IN OPPORTUNI-TY IN INDIAN COUNTRY

Agriculture Secretary Tom Vilsack met with leaders from the 566 federally-recognized Native nations who participated in the White House Tribal Nations Conference. This was the seventh of such conferences hosted by the Obama Administration, and built upon the President's commitment to strengthen the government-to-government relationship with Indian Country and to improve the lives of American Indians and Alaska Natives, with an emphasis on increasing opportunity for Native youth.

All told, over the course of the Administration, the U.S. Department of Agriculture alone has invested nearly $3 billion in rural development projects that have helped Tribal members achieve the dream of homeownership; improved community facilities in Tribal communities; made critical upgrades to electric, water and telecommunications infrastructure that serve Tribal communities and members; and invested in the Tribal businesses and entrepreneurs who drive economic growth in Indian Country.

My conversation with Tribal leaders focused on three key areas: how public and private partners can drive infrastructure investment in Indian Country; how to expand access to capital for Tribal-owned businesses to spur economic growth in Indian Country; and how to strengthen services and programming for Tribal youth. An overarching theme of the conversation was how we can sustain and establish permanency for the good work done in partnership with Tribal leaders over the past seven years, as we move into the final year of the Administra-

Investments in strong, secure infrastructure in Indian Country – things like roads and bridges, but also internet access, housing and commu-

connectivity and access to information, move products to market, and make communities competitive and attractive to businesses and investments. One of the ways we work to secure investment in these types of projects is through the Obama Administration's place-based initiatives, exemplified by the Tribal Promise Zones and USDA's StrikeForce for Rural Growth and Opportunity, which work with American Indian and Alaska Native communities across the country. Just this week, USDA announced an investment of $3.9 million to build and improve water and wastewater infrastructure, including one award for the Red Lake Band of Chippewa Indians in Minnesota and five awards in California, including Big Sandy Rancheria, two awards to the Cortina Band of Wintun Indians, the Grindstone Indian Rancheria, and the Yurok Tribe. Upgraded facilities in particular can help to improve the quality of life in Tribal communities and provide state-of-the-art healthcare, education and training, particularly for young people. One of the most important things we can do for any child, no matter where they're born and raised, is to ensure that they have access to a high quality education and USDA has the resources to help. For example, USDA worked with Red Cloud Indian School in Pine Ridge, South Dakota to update the substandard furniture students, faculty and staff used every day. USDA employees in South Dakota helped the school apply for a grant through the Economic Impact Initiative Grant Program, and Red Cloud Indian School was able to purchase new tables, desks and projectors. And earlier this year, Education Secretary Arne Duncan and I met with leadership from Native American LifeLines, an organization that serves Native American families in east Baltimore. During the meeting, we explored ways to better serve urban Native communities, including using urban agriculture as an opportunity to reconnect Native youth to the land and teach important lessons about healthy eating. And to support higher education opportunities in Tribal communities, today, USDA announced nearly $2 million in grants to support research projects in American Indian communities through the Tribal College Research Grants Program, made possible by the 2014 Farm Bill. This funding builds on more than $115 million invested in Tribal post-secondary institutions by USDA over the past seven years. Projects from this year include research by Tohono O'odham Community College into new practices for food-seed storage and hospitable living in areas of extreme heat and drought through modernizing and increasing the energy efficiency of ancient architectural practices. Another project from Diné College will work on the most efficient way to propagate seeds of yucca species and identifying plants from five yucca species that exhibit superior qualities as food and fiber crops.

and schools – help to improve

These are just a few examples of the myriad ways USDA works with Tribes. As 2015 comes to a close, we will continue to work with Tribes

THE OTTAWA PEOPLE OF OUR AREA REVISITED

Did you ever wonder who the Native Americans were that lived in our area and what happened to them? Come out Monday, November 23 at 7:00 p.m. to the Cooper Community Library in Oakwood to find out. Randall Buchman, Defiance City Historian, will deliver an illustrated lecture entitled "The Ottawa People of Our Area Revisited.'

The village of Charloe was once the center of Oquanoxa's Reserve, a three-mile square territory, established by the treaty of 1817 for the Ottawa people. The U. S. Congress's Indian Removal Act of 1830 set the stage for their removal to the West. Buchman is the author of the book "A Sorrowful Journey" based on a recently discovered journal that reveals the details of this government act. Copies of the book will be available for sale.

The program is being sponsored by the Oakwood Arbor # 759 of the Gleaner Life Insurance Society. All are welcome. Refreshments will be served. For further information call 419-594-2797.

Dear Miss C,

My boss is horrible! He pretty much has it out for me all of the time. If he would just care more about what we the employees need, he would be a better boss. But we can't talk to him about it because, I am sure he would just find a reason to get rid of us, and I need the job. So what can I do?

At least one time in our professional lives, we are going to have bosses we do not like. So before you try anything drastic, I challenge you to make sure you are actually dealing with a horrible boss. Are you being too hard on him? Or is there a reason for his behavior? Spend a day or two observing your boss but instead of noticing all of the things you do not like about him, look for things that he does well. When you do observe those behaviors that you feel are horrible, try to figure out why it occurred. Is it really his fault or could there be something outside of his control, such as outside factors or stress with his own boss. Because understanding why your boss does what he does can give insight into his management style.

No matter what you observe, do not let it affect your own work, because it is important for you to put your best foot forward. You always want to stay on good terms with the other leaders in your work place.

Stay one step ahead and document everything. If you can anticipate your boss's plans, you can prepare yourself and potentially have things completed before even being asked. Document your work but also document interactions with your boss. This will help you to identify your boss's triggers which will help you avoid undue stress-

When you cannot avoid the stressors use some "relationship" Summarize his communications and end the statements with, "is this what you meant?" If your boss says you are on track, ask him to tell you more about it, because when you repeat someone's perspective back to them, you give a chance to feel heard. Feeling heard can help improve relationship difficulties.

DZ, be patient. If this job is important to you, you owe it to yourself to use these tips and create an opportunity to give the best employee you can be. Your record will stand for itself.

Blessings,

- Miss C Be sure to send your own questions to AskMeMissC@ gmail.com, visit my Facebook page, or write letter to my attention and send to the West Bend News

AUDIT CONFIRMS PAULD-ING COUNTY PROBATION DEPARTMENT THEFT

The former director of probation services for the Paulding County Court Probation Department illegally collected $10,000 in cash from probationers, created fake receipts and never deposited the money with the county, according to an audit released today by Auditor of State Dave Yost. Emily Munger was indicted on charges of theft in office and tampering with records in September. "Cash transactions and fake receipts - this whole thing is shadier than the Amazon forest," Auditor Yost said. "Thanks to the watchful eye of Judge Rister and our partnership with local law enforcement, this scheme was brought to light." The Paulding County Court Probation Department's policy states that employees are prohibited from accepting any payments from probationers. Instead, probationers are instructed to make payments for fines, costs, restitution or probation fees directly with the Paulding County Court.

However, auditors determined that Director of Probation Services Emily Munger collected cash payments for fees from probationers and did not deposit the funds with the clerk of courts. Consequently, these payments were not credited to the probationers' accounts.

During the audit period January 1, 2014 through December 31, 2014, Munger collected a total of $10,040 in cash that she did not pay to the clerk of courts. A finding for recovery in the amount of $10,040 was issued against Munger. In July 2015, Munger was terminated from employment for violations of the Paulding County Court Probation Department's personnel policies and procedures. An Auditor of State partnership with Paulding County law enforcement led to Munger's indictment in September 2015. She was indicted on one third-degree felony charge of theft in office and one third-degree felony charge of tampering with records.

SECRETARY KRYSTA HARD-EN ANNOUNCES NEW USDA COMMITMENTS TO HELP BUILD UP NEXT GENER-ATION OF FARMERS AND RANCHERS

AGRICULTURE DEPUTY

Agriculture Deputy Secretary Krysta Harden announced a commitment by the U.S. Department of Agriculture (USDA) to prioritize $5.6 billion over the next two years within USDA programs and services that serve new and beginning farmers and ranchers. Deputy Secretary Harden also announced a new, tailored web tool designed to connect burgeoning farm entrepreneurs with programs and resources available to help them get started.

"Today's announcement is symbolic of the evolution of USDA's efforts to better serve the next generation of farmers and ranchers. What began seven years ago with the recognition that the rapid aging of the American farmer was an emerging challenge, has transformed into a robust, transparent, tech-based strategy to recruit the farmers of the future," said Harden. "No matter where you're from, no matter what you look like, no matter your background, we want USDA to be the first stop for anyone who is looking to be a part of the story and legacy of American agriculture."

The new web tool is available at www.usda.gov/newfarmers. The site was designed based on feedback from new and beginning farmers and ranchers around the country, who cited unfamiliarity with programs and resources as a challenge to starting and expanding their operations. The site features advice and guidance on everything a new farm business owner needs to know, from writing a business plan, to obtaining a loan to grow their business, to filing taxes as a new small business owner. By answering a series of questions about their operation, farmers can use the site's Discovery Tool to build a personalized set of recommendations of USDA programs and services that may meet their needs. Using the new web tool and other outreach activities, and operating within its existing resources, USDA has set a new goal of increasing beginning farmer and rancher participation by an additional 6.6 percent across key USDA programs, which were established or strengthened by the 2014 Farm Bill, for a total investment value of approximately $5.6 billion. Programs were targeted for expanded outreach and commitment based on their

21st CENTURY AFTER SCHOOL PROGRAM VISITS PAULD-ING COUNTY SHERIFF OFFICE

School Program students at Wayne Trace Jr./Sr. High School recently visited the Paulding County Sheriff's Office for a tour and to hear Sheriff Landers speak about what it takes to be in law enforcement. This after school program combines homework help, tutoring and hands on learning activities Monday - Thursday each week. If you would like additional information, please contact Ashley Shepherd, Program Coordinator at 419-399-4711 or Anne Gerber, Site Coordinator at 419-399-4100.

impact on expanding opportunity for new and beginning farmers and ranchers, including starting or expanding an operation, developing new markets, supporting more effective farming and conservation practices, and having access to relevant training and education opportunities. USDA will provide quarterly updates on its progress towards meeting its goal. A full explanation of the investment targets, benchmarks and outcomes is available at: BFR-Commitment-Factsheet. Deputy Secretary Harden made the announcements during remarks to more than 60,000 attendees at the National FFA Convention in Louisville, Kentucky. The National FFA Organization is the largest youth organization in the United States, and focuses on preparing students for a wide range of careers in agriculture, agribusiness and other agriculture-related occupations. As the average age of the American farmer now exceeds 58 years, and data shows that almost 10 percent of farmland in the continental United States will change hands in the next five years, we have no time to lose in getting more new farmers and ranchers established. Equally important is encouraging young people to pursue careers in industries that support American agriculture. According to an employment outlook report released by USDA's National Institute of Food and Agriculture (NIFA) and Purdue University, one of the best fields for new college graduates is agriculture. Nearly 60,000 high-skilled agriculture job openings are expected annually in the United States for the next five years, yet only 35,000 graduates with a bachelor's degree or higher in agriculture related fields are expected to be available to fill them. The report also shows that women make up more than half of the food, agriculture, renewable natural resources, and environment higher education graduates in the United States. USDA recently released a series of fact sheets showcasing the impact of women in agriculture nation-

The Center of Excellence

Agriculture Secretary Tom Vilsack announced the creation of the nation's first Supplemental Nutrition Assistance Program (SNAP) Employment and Training (E&T) Center of Excellence. The Center of Excellence will build on the Administration's commitment to job-driven training. It will build on best practices that help SNAP participants gain the skills they need for jobs employers are looking to fill today.

"The labor market is rapidly evolving," Vilsack said. "By 2020, two-thirds of jobs will require some education beyond high school. To compete for these jobs, SNAP participants need skills training and education, not just help with a resume."

The USDA's Food and Nutrition Service selected the Seattle Jobs Initiative (SJI) to establish and operate the Center of Excellence for the next two years. SJI is partnering with Abt Associates in this effort. SJI has a long-standing history of providing technical as-

Phone: 419-258-2000 • Email: info@westbendnews.net

On Saturday, November 7th, all the months and months of training and practicing culminated for two Antwerp High School seniors at the OHSAA State Cross Country tournament in Hebron, OH. As the frost was melting in the morning sun, teams and runners from all across the state descended upon the course for warm ups.

The girls' divisions began the late morning events at 11:00 a.m. just as the air was beginning to warm. The boys concluded the afternoon with Division I racing at 3:00 p.m. Sam Williamson and Erik Buchan came to their last high school starting line at 1:30 p.m. on Saturday in the Division III category. These boys both have had an amazing journey in cross country through their junior high and high school careers. This race was a crowning achievement to put in their record books as the last of many for both of them this year. Sam came across the finish line in the 2nd place slot at 15:36.7, while Erik came in at the 47th slot at

Coach Cord Ehrhart has been a constant support for these boys and the entire team this season. After the accolades bestowed upon him and the team this fall, he had this to say, "Thank you all for the kind words and support this XC season. I'm very proud of what our kids have accomplished!"
