INDOT TRASH BASH! USHERS IN SPRING CLEAN-UP

The Indiana Department of Transportation announced that the agency's annual Trash Bash! will take place April 15 through April 30. Trash Bash! brings INDOT crews together with volunteers to beautify the state's roadside areas by cleaning trash and debris.

INDOT urges individuals, organizations, businesses and active Adopt-a-Highway groups to join maintenance staff on two-lane roads with lower traffic volume anytime between Monday, April 15, and Tuesday, April 30, in an efforteffort to beautify our roadside areas. During the first day, INDOT maintenance staff across the state will take a day away from their everyday tasks of maintaining the roads, bridges and roadsides to focus on litter collection.

In 2018, Trash Bash! took place April 13-15. That weekend, hundreds of INDOT employees joined forces with active Adopt-a-Highway groups and other organizations and individuals to collect 3,457 bags of trash, or the equivalent of 874 cubic yards.

FOUR WAYS TO REMAIN MENTALLY SHARP IN RE-TIREMENT

(NAPSI)-Many retirees share a fear of gradually losing their ability to think as clearly as they used to or remember simple information such as other people's names. And while everyone has the occasional "senior moment," medical research indicates that aging by itself is generally not a cause of cognitive decline.

"Studies have shown that you can help prevent cognitive decline and reduce the risk of dementia with some basic good health habits," according to Harvard Medical School's Healthbeat newsletter.

Here are four simple steps to keep your mind sharp at any age:

1. Exercise: It's important to stay physically active. Simple routines such as taking exercise classes at your health club or taking walks in your neighborhood every day can do wonders for your mental health. Just get moving. "The cognitive benefits of exercise have been understood for so long," notes the Center for Retirement Research at Boston College.

2. Serve: Research published by the American Psychological Association found that volunteering in later life "is associated with significant psychosocial, physical, cognitive and functional benefits for healthy older adults." Science is now confirming what many have learned by experience: People often feel better after they have served others and enjoyed the time spent helping someone else.

3. Learn: Experts think that ongoing education and learning new things may help keep you mentally sharp simply by getting you in the habit of staying mentally active. Take a class from a senior center or community college, make it a habit to visit the library and pick up a new book each week. "Challenging your brain with mental exercise is believed to activate processes that help maintain individual brain cells and communication stimulate among them," according to Harvard Medical School.

4. Finances: A study published by The Journals of Gerontology found that "financial strain was a strong and robust predictor of worsening mental health" among older adults, including anxiety and depression symptoms. Another way to help keep yourself mentally healthy in retirement is to make sure you have ample cash on hand to help pay off unexpected health care bills or fund any renovations that might need to be made to your home. Many seniors are surprised to learn that one potential asset for generating immediate cash is a life insurance policy. A life insurance policy is considered your personal property and—as such—you have the right to sell that policy anytime you like. When a consumer sells a policy in "life settlement" transacа tion, the policy owner receives a cash payment and the purchaser of the policy assumes all future premium payments-then receives the death benefit upon the death of the insured. Candidates for life settlements are typically aged 70 years or older, with a life insurance policy that has a death benefit of at least $100,000.

To learn more about life settlements, visit www.LISA. org or call the LISA office at (888) 672-3917.

Kirk Slusher

A change in leadership is occurring at the Ohio Department of Transportation (ODOT) both in Columbus and at the local District 1 headquarters in Lima.

Kirk Slusher of Lima has accepted the position as Assistant Director of Field Operations for ODOT in Columbus. As an assistant director, Slusher will oversee the district deputy directors in each of the state's 12 transportation districts, and will oversee the central office divisions of operations, information technology, facilities and equipment management.

Slusher has served as deputy director for ODOT District 1 since 2011. His new appointment becomes effective April 15.

He will serve under ODOT Director Jack Marchbanks, Ph.D., and alongside assistant directors Lloyd din clinic, where she assists patients who are prescribed anticoagulant or other blood-thinning medications. Shaw brings over 20 years of experience as a nurse practitioner to LHP, having served in both Fort Wayne and Wabash. As a nurse practitioner, she has managed chronic disease processes and provided care for long-term, home health and hospice patients. As a graduate of Indiana University-Purdue University Fort Wayne, Shaw earned her bachelor's degree in health sciences/nursing before obtaining a master's degree in nursing from the University of Saint Francis in Fort Wavne.

Shaw is located at 3534 Brooklyn Ave., Fort Wayne.

Chris Hughes Pamela and Macadam Vest-Boratyn.

"I've been honored over the past eight years to lead a group of employees that is so dedicated to serving the citizens of our eight-county region," said Slusher. "I'm ready to take what I've learned over my 33 years and lead at the statewide level."

Replacing Slusher as deputy director at the Lima office is Chris Hughes of Van Wert. He will officially assume the role on April 15.

deputy director, As Hughes will direct all aspects of the district which is responsible for the maintenance of 3,300 lane miles of state and federal highways and over 800 bridges. The district encompasses an eight-county region in northwest Ohio with 320 full-time employees, a $39 million annual operating budget and a $40 million capital program budget.

ODOT District 1 serves the northwest Ohio counties of Allen, Defiance, Hancock, Hardin, Paulding, Putnam, Van Wert and Wyandot.

'This is an exciting and challenging time for ODOT and I look forward to facing those challenges and being part of the solution. I will give my best to the position, our employees and to the public we serve," said Hughes.

Slusher, who is originally from Antwerp, graduated from Ohio Northern University in 1986 with a bachelor of science in civil engineering. Immediately following graduation, Slusher began working for ODOT in District 1 as a design engineer. He worked in design, planning and construction and served as planning administrator prior to being named deputy director.

As deputy director, Slusher created and executed a plan which consolidated several district work units at the Lima district headquarters into one campus setting. The result was greater efficiency, improved facilities and increased convenience for employees and equipment access.

He expanded a job shadowing program which allows employees to experience other careers within ODOT. The program provides a good basis for opportunity and succession planning as employees leave the agency.

He currently serves as cochair of funding council, a statewide body which guides major funding decisions for the agency, and served as a founding member of technology council, a statewide body which receives and prioritizes technology projects.

Hughes graduated from The Ohio State University in 2006 with a bachelor's degree in civil engineering and began working for ODOT the same year as an engineer in training. He then worked as a field engineer in construction overseeing a portion of the Fort to Port projects, which realigned and expanded U.S. 24 between Fort Wayne, Ind., and Toledo, Ohio. More recently, he served as project engineer during the first year of the current $114 million widening and reconstruction project on Interstate 75 through Hancock County and the city of Findlay.

Prior to being appointed deputy director, Hughes served as the district's capital programs administrator overseeing a program of approximately $40 million and a staff of 64 employees in the construction, and planning and engineering areas.

the grass' roots, which enables them to grow more deeply, producing a more vigorous lawn. In tests, grass roots have been shown to proliferate around the holes. Aerating will also improve soil compaction and reduce the likelihood of thatch becoming an issue. Some signs that your lawn may need to be aerated are poor drainage, a failure for the lawn to turn green after fertilizing, and a presence of many worn areas. Intensively maintained lawns (those that receive regular fertilizer feedings) should be aerated about once a year; those receiving moderate maintenance (not much fertilizer) need aerating every two years or so.

In this area, aeration can be done in the spring or the fall of the year.

To aerate a lawn, use a specialized tool to poke holes or remove cores from the soil. Run the aerator over the lawn several times to make enough holes.

Make sure the soil is moist during aeration, neither too wet nor too dry, so the aerby improving air and water flow to your lawn, making aerating a thing of the past. These soil amending products help loosen soil for deeper rooting of grass plants. They are also fortified with calcium, sulfer & iron which are essential for making your lawn a great ecosystem. All you need to use is your fertilizer spreader. It's a much better solution and you don't need to see those soil plugs all over your lawn.

If your lawn is very uneven, you can roll the lawn first thing in the spring when the soil is still moist. The next best time to do this is in the fall. The key is to use a light roller. Heavy rolling on wet, heavy clay soils can cause harmful soil compaction.

It is not generally recommended to roll a new seedbed, since the new seedlings will take root easier in loose soil. Simply use a garden rake to level the soil.

Please remember that rolling is only necessary if the soil is uneven.

John's statement at the end of verse 9 explains why she asked this. "For the Jews have no dealings with the Samaritans." The Samaritans were a mixed race and the Jews had a strong prejudice against them. Likewise the Samaritans disliked the Jews. But Jesus cared for all people, and

The kind of education God wants for your children is centered around Jesus Christ, Who is the way, the truth and the life (John 14:6). When He is kept out, what do you have left? Springtime is not the only time we checkout our spiritual house for dirt (sin), we must keep watch on our thoughts and words so as to be in right standing with our Heavenly Father at all times. There is nothing so wonderful as a clean fresh smelling home. When our spiritual house is clean and "fresh" with the "fragrance" of kindness, mercy, love and forgiveness it is also a wonderful place of peace and "springtime" joy for folks to enjoy.

No one likes to be around a cranky, grouchy person so "let a little sunshine in" and make room for happiness. Who knows: the bluebird of happiness may nest near or on the windowsill of your happy home. I can just picture a bluebird there now.

Happy Spring!

FINDING HELP, HOPE AND HEALING, THROUGH YOUR TIME OF LOSS & GRIEF

Life is filled with its losses, each of which are little deaths. In this life, we all face great and small losses, but all losses hurt, no matter what the circumstances. There are permanent ones as well as temporal losses. Death of a friend, family member, or a mate or spouse, divorce, facing sickness and possible death, vocational losses, are just a few of the losses we face as we journey through this life.

Friends of Hope in Van Wert, Ohio is presenting a series to assist those who are walking thru the "Valley of Shadows" those dark, lonely, fearful, painful and devastating times in our lives. The attitude we have toward the losses of this life will either make us or break us. There is Hope for a better tomorrow for you, will you choose it?

We invite you to join us as we walk with you on this journey, when you need Help, Hope, and Healing, when just surviving another day takes all the strength within you. Many of those who are trying to find a way to survive the tragedies that touch all our lives are lonely and discouraged. They are at times filled with anger and struggling with depression. Each day, just getting out of bed seems impossible. There is Hope, will you choose it?

If this is you, come join us. If you have a friend, neighbor, co-worker, or family member who is struggling, bring them to the series starting Saturday, April 13th, at 4:30 pm. Sessions last from 4:30-5-30 pm on Saturdays.

What a wonder springtime is! It is our signal to "stir" ourselves to new life and joy. The book of Solomon tells of the yearning for spring: "Lo, the winter is past, the flowers now appear and the birds are singing" (Chapter 2: 11-12). It is a time of renewal and new energy for all of God's creations, we humans included.

The sky is a shade bluer, the grass greener, the air fresher and the earth "friendlier". Maybe we also sing a "happy" tune. It just seems that everything "wakes up" and is blessed. This is a time for the house cleaning and "sprucing"up our habitations. We must not forget our spiritual house, where the Holy Spirit dwells in us.

If sin (dirt) has entered we must quickly clean out our temple (house). Confessing

Official fundraising days

God's work in their lives.

WNZR 90.9 FM, a broadcast ministry of Mount Vernon Nazarene University, is celebrating the success of Lifeline 2019, the radio station's annual fundraiser. Lifeline 2019 was held in late March with a goal of $64,000. This year's effort brought in $72,032, and the total continues to rise. Blessed with over 232 ministry partners, the WNZR staff was greatly encouraged and extremely thankful for the community's support.

"God is so faithful," said WNZR Station Manager Marcy Rinehart. "We are so honored to be part of a ministry that is growing and reaching our community for Christ. Thank you to everyone who pledged their support and became partners in our radio ministry. You are making a difference and helping us tell the story of how God Is On The Move."

The theme of Lifeline 2019 was God Is On The Move, based on the song from 7eventh Time Down. This theme challenged the WNZR staff and listeners to focus their attention on God's blessings and answers to prayer. This theme also reminded us to stay focused on unity within the body of Christ. During Lifeline 2019, WNZR was able to share the stories of unity among the Christian community and how God has blessed many churches and organizations. The theme verses for Lifeline 2019 were Isaiah 43:18-19 which instruct believers to forget the past and focus on the new things that God is doing, because God is on the move.

in the community every third Saturday; plus emergency food distributions throughout each month. They serve 800-850 individuals monthly.

At 8 p.m., March 23, the total stood at $50,330. WNZR returned to fundraising on Monday morning, March 25, with the Lifeline 2019 Wrap-Up Day. A little after 4 p.m. the station received the call that pushed the total over the goal of $64,000.

"Lifeline 2019 has been another example of how meaningful the partnership is between our listeners and our team of student broadcasters," said MVNU Director of Broadcasting Joe Rinehart. "I'm so grateful to the entire WNZR family for continuing to support our radio ministry. The growth of WNZR over the last 32 years has been amazing, and I'm excited to see what God will do next.'

There were 46 first-time donors, 185 continued supporters, and 3 increased pledges, demonstrating that God is continually reaching new people and families through WNZR.

"Your support of this radio ministry goes right back into the community and directly impacts the lives of the students in this program," said sophomore journalism and media production/theatre major from Cincinnati, Ellie Parker. I appreciate the opportunity to learn and grow as a broadcaster and professional and for welcoming me into your community. Our ministry would not be possible without you!

We greatly appreciate you! Your financial support of our radio ministry allows us to share the message of hope to those who are lost and searching. Your financial gifts and prayers are equipping us to spread the message of Jesus to this world," said Rachel Rinehart, junior journalism and media production/theatre major from Mount Vernon. "I pray that, as a community, we continue to see God on the move here in Knox County. Thank you for helping us spread the love of Christ to others."

THE SAVANNAH SIPPING SOCIETY

Reviewed by John Vining

The trio of Jessie Jones, Nicholas Hope, and Jamie Wooten have made quite a name for themselves by writing plays that are especially applicable for production by community theater and dinner theater troupes. Off Stage Productions has presented several "Jones, Hope, Wooten" plays in past years, and does so again this spring with their rendition of The Savannah Sipping Society. Most of the JHW plays are laugha-minute romps, and Savannah delivers its share of lively humor. However, this one is something special, as the funny exchanges are punctuated by an underlying but unmistakable touch of poignance as well.

The play begins with three southern belles converging on Savannah, Georgia; each carrying additional baggage to that clutched in their hands. The ladies are approaching the north side of middle age, and at this point in their lives should be planning for and looking forward to a pleasant and comfortable retirement. Instead, all are faced with life-changing crises that each come to Savannah with hopes of alleviating or forgetting. Of course, as the title of the play implies, each seeks the assistance of liquid refreshment to assist with this task.

create a new start for her career or drown her bitterness in cocktails. Yackey plays "Randa" with a deft touch of strength and vulnerability that not only brings laughs, but also empathy from the audience, as her fear that she will have to face a terrifying life crisis all alone is evident.

Dot Haigler (Pat Howard) is recovering from the loss of her life-long companion: her husband, Ross. Just emerging from a respectful period of mourning, Dot is anxious to pursue new experiences with regard for her husband's memory, but with gusto as well. Dot has led a life of relative abstinence, but in the quaint Southern atmosphere of Savannah, she is game to imbibe - to facilitate healing as well as her pursuit of new adventures. Howard's "Dot" gives life to that fear that most married couples harbor: 'How will I go on if I am faced with the loss of my spouse? I must live, but I must do so with propriety...Can I do this?' Howard's fine acting skill is evident as she walks that fine line with both laughter and a few tears in the corner of her eyes. Marlafaye Mosley (Terri Stevens) is a rambunctious soul who has endured another of the relatively common marital woes: her husband has run off with a younger woman. By turns angry and wistful, Marlafaye appears to see the with a burning desire for revenge. But as the play unfolds, we see that she has a disguised but deeply-held desire for rapprochement and reunion. Of course, she will pursue these unreconcilable ends with the assistance of various types of liquor, both dainty and strong. Stevens' portrayal of "Marlafaye" embodies that inevitable passion of conflicted goals as one faces the devastation of deep hurt inflicted by the one a person loves. Stevens embodies that conflict, as her Marlafaye dips her toes into Savannah society while figuratively casting angry glances back over her shoulder at her unfaithful husband.

es, the ladies determine to hire a life coach to assist with their varied goals. Into their life bursts Jinx Jenkins (Christa Manning), a boisterous, seemingly free spirit who agrees to assist the three ladies with healing and a new start. But as time unfolds, we see that life is not a bed of roses for Jinx, either. She has her own crosses to bear. In the end, we find she needs her three "clients" to navigate life's pitfalls as badly as they need her. Manning's portrayal of "Jinx" is a hilarious roller-coaster ride of emotions, as the seemingly confident lifeguide's turmoil in her inner being is gradually revealed through her "assistance" to her new friends. Manning is perfectly cast as the irrepressible Jinx, and she reminds us again to be kind to those we meet, as they are probably going through trials we cannot imagine.

Off Stage Productions veteran Kelly Smith has a short but memorable cameo as "Grandma." Grandma provides an unintended, unwanted, but badly needed boost to one of the struggling ladies. You will "fall" for Smith's "Grandma!"

Please play particular attention to a rarely-used but very effective (in this case) stage ploy: the "monologue." Each of the cast delivers several monologues throughout the play. These give added depth and understanding to both the characters and the play overall. Resist the urge to take a drink or check the phone during the monologues: they are important parts of the gem that is The Savannah Sipping Society!

THE USE OF THE LETTER "X"

By: Stan Jordan

The letter "X" is the 24th letter of the English alphabet. You don't use that letter in your daily conversation very much, but it is used by us Americans in many different ways.

Like "X" marks the spot. My "X" denotes one of a divorced pair.

"X" is used for Express, a logo like

"X" is used for a worn out object

"X" is used in place of an unknown amount

"X" is used for the location or address

"X" is used for a lady's age "X" is used for a name = like spy work "X" is the spot for you to shoot at

"X" is used for a signature "X" is used in clothes sizing, like 2X

Now I understand that in some states, when you apply for your driver license that you're not male or female, you just mark "X"

JUST TALK

By: Stan Jordan

I have been asked a number of times how I got started writing for the West Bend News. I have told this before, but I will tell you again.

In August of 2005 I was drinking coffee with Steve Knapp down at the bowling alley. At that time, Steve was part owner of the paper and we discussed some home town news and I guess we talked a lot about Antwerp history.

He said, "Why don't you write a column for the paper about what you remember of Antwerp when you was a boy?"

Well I done that for the West Bend News second edition back in 2005 and I have written every week since.

At first it was about old Antwerp and its people and history but after hundreds of columns of history, by golly, it ran out! So when I ran out of history and every day doings, I guess I turned to writing fiction, something I wasn't too crazy about.

But I wrote a column for a year call "Billy Metzger's Journal" about a young boy from Ohio going out west with his family. It covered four years. The boss here at West Bend News printed that into a book. After that, I wrote a column every week called "Sam Rivers, Indian Agent". Both of these were fiction about the old west. Then I wrote about me being a rear gunner in a fighter plane with Snoopy being the pilot. Then I wrote for a little over a year, a story I called "The Lobo Tank Busters". This was also fiction, but I used real names of towns in Europe when I could. In the last chapter of that story I told when I was in that P-51D airplane, I was Alva Ames from Bad Axe, Michigan. Lots of readers thought that was my history, but no, that was all fiction. I was in a tank outfit over in Europe in WWII.

A young lady asked me how I come up with something to write about each week, well, by golly, it isn't always easy. I try to stick to the history and the truth, but it isn't always done that way. See ya!

A ROCKY FUTURE

Someone told me that love makes the world go around, but I think it's cash, or any other form of exchange.

Down through the ages, this love stuff has been right up there in the front though. Ever since Maid Marian in the Sherwood Forest with Robin Hood, or even Madam Pompedor in Paris with my friend Ben Franklin. There has been all types and kinds of romance and love affairs. If this makes the world go around, the timid male has a long, hard road to follow.

The first trial that bafalls a young man is Valentine's Day. The business people advertise for weeks that you should buy flowers, chocolate candy and even diamonds. That puts a young fellow behind the eight ball if he don't abide by some of this.

Then there is Easter, oh boy, all the new bonnets, clothes and even new white shoes.

There is just no end to this type of society and this man must adhere and go along or he will lose out.

Then there is Decoration Day and there must be new clothes and accessories for the

When I was a little lad this was a vacant lot. At the turn of the century that was a big grocery store. There was a store here called Berdan Co. of Toledo. I don't know what happened to it, but it was gone by 1930.

In the 1930's and 1940's there was a grandstand on that lot backed up against Busby's Barber Shop. That is

Then there is Labor Day and this young fellow, again, has to join in the festivities, he has to show up. All this joining and meeting the family and friends is a sort of test or examination of the young fellow before it can go any further and that is great, that is worked out in every state in the union every day and year and that emphasizes the under standing that Love Makes the World Go Around.

ALMOST JUST A MEMORY: ONLY TWO SPANS REMAIN ON CLINTON STREET BRIDGE

As of April 3, 2019 the following is an update regarding the progress of the Clinton Street bridge project, downtown Defiance. The $8.3 million project will completely replace the bridge which carries state Routes 15, 18 and 66 over the Maumee River. The bridge closed Feb. 25, 2019 for approximately nine months. The project is scheduled for completion July 2020.

What's happening now and in coming days:

You likely know this, but the river rules when it comes to working in and around it. The Maumee River level was up by about seven feet from the weekend's rains which temporarily halted construction of the causeway. The causeway extending into the river from the north side is complete. The south side is still under construction. The causeway creates an access point from the river for crews and their equipment.

Crews have removed all but two spans of the bridge, but because of the river level, demolition work has stopped until the water recedes.

What lies beneath? You never know, and we didn't.

(Continued from Page 1) Beyond volunteer and IN-DOT maintenance efforts, the agency is increasing investment in annual roadside maintenance from $19 million to $57 million to put more resources to cleaning and mowing along the state's highways.

An original sandstone footer from an even earlier version of the Clinton Street bridge, estimated to have been constructed in the 1880s, was discovered beneath the north side of the bridge and has created the need to redesign the new bridge's footer. Much of the sandstone footer has been removed but the redesign of the new one will work around that which remains. The runin with history is not expected to result in a delay in the project.

The reinforcing steel cages for the concrete drilled shafts are being constructed. Work on drilling the shafts began today on the north side. The shafts will become the foundation for the new bridge abutments.

Next week, the plan is to remove the foundations of the former piers beneath the water line and to begin drilling the shafts for the new piers.

Demolition of the remaining section of the bridge is expected to resume next week.

SPRING PARTY AT THE LIBRARY

The Children's Department of the Paulding County Carnegie Library will be hosting a Spring Party on April 9, 5:30-6:30 pm.

The library will have games, a craft, snacks and an egg hunt. A spring visitor is also planning to stop by the Children's Room.

Library hours: Monday-Thursday 9-8; Fri 9-6 and Sat 9-1. For more information about this event contact the Children's Room at the Main Library in Paulding at 419-399-2032.

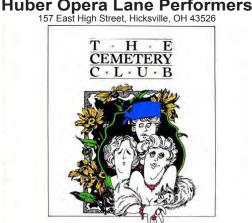

unteers will be collected and disposed of by INDOT crews.

While Trash Bash! is an annual, two-week event, IN-DOT offers opportunities for Hoosiers to help keep roadside areas clean year-round. The Adopt-a-Highway and Sponsor-a-Highway programs are great opportunities for volunteering, community service projects, and offer a highly visible option for showcasing your business or non-profit group.

Motorists are reminded to look out for work crews and volunteers along Indiana highways. When drivers encounter a work crew, they should slow down, be alert for changing traffic patterns, and always avoid distractions such as cell phones while driving.

back-to-back hits. With the Raiders on top 5-2 the Archers would answer with three runs of their own thanks to three Wayne Trace errors. After four innings of play the score was again even at five a piece.

The bottom of the fifth gave the Raiders the upper hand with what would end up being the winning run. A combination of heads-up base running coupled by untimely Archer errors would give the Raiders the one-run win.

In the crucial fifth inning the red, white, and blue opened with Drew Forrer reaching first base due to an Antwerp error. Head Coach Ryan Jerome made a base running change with Dane Moore pinch running for Forrer. The change paid huge dividends as Moore managed to steal second. With Korbin Slade at the plate, the senior shot a grounder to the short stop allowing Moore to advance to third when the Archer short stop threw to first.

Up next at the plate for the Raiders was Gillett who answered with a grounder back to the short stop. Moore, at third base, wasted little time as he darted to home for what would be the winning run.

"Once Dane (Moore) saw the short stop make the throw to first base he knew what to do. He gave us the go-ahead run which is what we were looking for. The Antwerp throw actually went wild and ended up as an error," said Coach Jerome.

The Archer's out hit the victorious Raiders 7-5 with sophomore Austin Lichty hammering out two singles and one RBI. Jacob Savina added a single along with an RBI. Also with singles were Keaton Altimus and Dylan Hines who also added an RBI. Leading the Archer offense was freshman Luke Krouse with a double, single and one RBI.

For the winning Raiders, their five hits came from Gillett with two singles and two RBIs. Yenser collected a double along with two RBIs. Gillett and Reid Miller each added a single.

The winning pitcher was Grant Baumle with Zuber picking up the loss for the Archers.

WHAT CAN YOU DO WITH YOUR TAX REFUND?

Bryan Post, Edward Jones Financial Advisor

We're getting close to the tax-filing deadline. For many of us, this means it's that time of year when we get our biggest financial windfall - a tax refund. If you have recently received a refund, or are expecting to get one in the next few weeks, what should you do with it?

Of course, you could just spend the money on something you want, but if you'd like to maximize the financial benefits from your refund, you might want to consider other options, including the following:

Invest the money. In 2018, the average tax refund was about $2,700. For this year, it might be somewhat lower, due to changes in the tax laws and the failure of taxpayers to adjust their withholdings in response. However, if you were to receive in the neighborhood of $2,700, you'd be almost halfway to the annual IRA contribution limit, which, in 2019, is $6,000. (If you're 50 or older, you can put in up to $7,000). If you have already "maxed out" on your IRA, you could use your refund to fill in gaps you may have in other parts of your investment portfolio.

Pay insurance premiums. Let's face it - nobody really likes paying insurance premiums. Yet, if you have anyone depending on you, you will certainly need life insurance, and possibly disability insurance as well. And if you want to help protect your financial resources later in life from threats such as an extended and hugely expensive - stay in a nursing home, you also may want to consider long-term care insurance. Your tax refund could help pay for some of these premiums, boosting your cash flow during the months you would normally be making these payments.

Contribute to a college fund. It's never too soon to begin saving for college, which has grown increasingly expensive over the last several years. So, if you have young children, you may want to think about investing some or all of your refund into a college-savings account, such as a tax-advantaged 529 plan. Pay off debts. You might be able to use your refund to pay down some debts - or perhaps even pay off some of your smaller ones. The lower your monthly debt load, the more money you will have available to invest for the future. Keep in mind, though, that you might not want to look at all debts in the same way. For example, putting extra money toward your mortgage might help you pay it off faster, but you'll also be funding an asset - namely, your house - that might not provide you with the same liquidity as you can get from investments such as stocks and bonds.

Help build an emergency fund. By building an emergency fund containing six to 12 months' worth of living expenses, you can help yourself avoid dipping into your long-term investments to pay for large, unplanned-for bills, such as a major car repair or an expensive dental procedure. Your tax refund could help build such a fund, with the money ideally being placed in low-risk, liquid vehicles.

Clearly, you can help yourself make progress toward a number of your financial goals with your tax refund so put it to good use.

ANTWERP Liberty Center traveled to Antwerp on Saturday for a baseball doubleheader that saw the Tigers and Archers each take a win on a beautiful spring day. A four-run Archer fourth inning proved to be the difference in the opener as Antwerp doubled up the Tigers

8-4. In game two, the squads were tied at 7-7 entering the top of the ninth before Liberty Center exploded for seven runs in a 14-7 victory.

Austin Lichty and Jason Geyer both had two hits for the Archers while Hunter Sproles, Blake Schuette, Jacob Savina and Luke Krouse all picked up one.

Krouse, Schuette and Sproles each drove in two runs as well for the blue and white.

In the opener, Savina had a pair of singles while Lichty, Dylan Hines, Krouse, Sproles and Geyer all added hits in the Antwerp victory.

Sproles, Savina and Lichty each scored twice for the Archers, who are now 4-3 on the season.

Schuette, Savina and Krouse combined to limit the Tigers to six hits while striking out six and walking six on the mound.

OHIO WILDLIFE SPOTLIGHT: THE BARRED OWL

By: Patrick Troyer, Paulding SWCD

Whooooooo wants to learn about more Ohio wildlife? Whooooo has heard this animal sounding its call in the middle of the night? You may already be able to guess the species that we have chosen for this week's news article. More specifically, this week's news article will look at one member of this species that is found around Ohio, the Barred Owl. Where does this animal live? What do they eat? What are some unique characteristics about them? Learn along with us a we look at another amazing Ohio wildlife resident.

Unlike other owl species, the Barred Owl does not have "horns" or large ear tufts, which are long feathers on the tops of their heads that look like horns. This species is identified by its brownish-gray feathers with white patches on their back, and white streaks that run laterally along their stomach. According to the Ohio Department of Natural Resources (ODNR), the Barred Owl has white bars that appear on their neck and breast that run slanting across these areas and to which this animal gets its name. Additionally, it is important to point out that this species is unlike most of its other owl relatives in that their eyes are brown in color rather than the yellow we traditionally see with owls. On average, the Barred Owl will be around 18-22 inches with about a four-foot wingspan.

According to the Cornell Lab of Ornithology, the Barred Owls will take up residence during the day high in the forest trees while coming out at night to do their hunting for prey, often those of the rodent kind. This is a will move to a different area, otherwise they do not travel large distances.

Previously, it was mentioned that rodents are a favorite of the Barred Owl, although this is not the only thing that they will eat. Other prey of this owl includes: reptiles, fish, snails, slugs, bats, chickens, crows, crayfish, and rabbits to name a few. ODNR writes that Barred Owls that live in Ohio will commonly dine on meadow voles, short-tailed shrews, and white footed mouse. Again, the owl does its hunting at night and it is extremely rare to see them doing any hunting during the daytime hours.

It is common for members of the owl species that they will not go to the trouble of building their own nests. As was previously mentioned, they commonly will use hollowed out tree cavities or maybe an old squirrel's nest. Typically, the incubation time for the egg of the Barred Owl is about a month with the average two to three eggs hatching between the middle of March and the middle of April as spring sets in. ODNR writes that within a week of hatching the eyes of the young owls, known as owlets, will open and leaving the nest a month following that. It is not until the owlets are around nine weeks old that they will gain the ability to fly.

The Audubon Society notes that the Barred Owl is currently "widespread and common" but has possibly seen a population decrease in areas of the south with a loss of swampy habitat. It is also noted that this species has moved into the northwestern areas of the United States only to find itself com-

CELEBRATE EARTH DAY BY GOING GREEN YOUR WAY

There are lots of articles out there that tell you how you can celebrate Earth Day. With the day approaching April 22nd, here are some small things that can make a big difference.

Spring Clean

FREE: Wipe up with old T-shirts and dishcloths instead of buying sponges or using paper products that will end up in a landfill.

CHEAP: Make your own cleaning products with baking soda, vinegar, lemon juice and olive oil (recipes at spryliving. com)

ECO-INVESTMENT: Purchase cleaning products made with toxin-free and biodegradable ingredients.

Getting Groomed FREE: Make a list of grooming must-haves - and stick to it. Buy only the essentials reduces the amount of packaging you throw away (not to mention cabinet clutter).

CHEAP: Cook up self-care concoctions using natural ingredients.

ECO-INVESTMENT: Buy only products that do not contain problematic ingredients such as parabens, phthalates, synthetic fragrances and petroleum derivatives.

Powering Up:

FREE: Unplug electronics when they are not in use to save "phantom energy" that can add up to 5% to your electric bill each year.

CHEAP: Contact your power company to find out whether you can purchase solar and wind power.

ECO-INVESTMENT: Get an energy audit of your home to find out where you are wasting energy.

Getting Around: FREE: Drive the speed limit to save gas.

CHEAP: As often as possible, carpool with friends and colleagues to work and other group gathering places.

ECO-INVESTMENT: Purchase a vehicle that gets at least 30 miles per gallon on the highway.

In the Bathroom:

FREE: Conserve 10 or more gallons of water each day by reducing the amount used by placing pebbles into a plastic bottle, fill with water and place into the tank.

CHEAP: Install a low-flow showerhead to save 3 to 4 gallons of water per minute while you shower.

ECO-INVESTMENT: Get a low-flow toilet that uses no more than 1.6 gallons per flush.

Doing Laundry:

FREE: Switch to "cold" for every load to make a huge impact: about 90 % of the energy required to wash clothing is used to heat the water.

CHEAP: To protect waterways, choose laundry detergents free of chemicals phosphates, bleach and synthetic fragrances.

So, just by doing small things in your own home, can make "going green" easy.

PANTHERS FALL TO BULLDOGS

DEFIANCE - Host Defiance held off a late rally by Paulding for a 3-2 win over the Panthers in varsity baseball action last week.

The Bulldogs scored twice in the fourth to grab a 2-0 lead before the Panthers sliced the lead in half with a run in the top of the fifth.

After Defiance answered with a run in the home half of the fifth to make it 3-1, the maroon and white got one run back in the top of the Jaret Miller had two singles to top the Panther offense with Evan Edwards, Carson Shull and Kolson Egnor all picking up a single as well.

Defiance received singles from Cam McDonald, Brandon Shafer, Adalberto Vega and James Seele.

Jacob Howard tossed six innings to get the win for the Bulldogs, surrendering five hits, two unearned runs and three walks. Howard also struck out six Panther batters.

nocturnal behavior which means they are active at night and typically inactive during the daytime hours. The owl will make a home in an area that offers a mix of deciduous and evergreen trees with their home specifically being in the cavities of the tree. Homes are often located near sources of water. ODNR points out recent research that points to the fact that Barred Owls have shown a preference towards damp sites because these areas have a lesser likelihood to be disturbed by timber harvests that take away the mature trees they use for their nesting areas, which is a critical part of their habitat. Should hunting prove to be less productive in a certain area, this species of owl ty-three counties in Nebraska are currently experiencing a state of emergency declaration with historic flooding and catastrophic losses of over $600 million dollars from one of the most devastating disasters in recent history. As many as one million calves (and counting) have been lost due to the flooding as well as millions of bushels of wheat, corn, and soybeans destroyed with no foreseen ability to plant crops for 2019.

Last week farmers left from many Northwest Ohio counties to help get the much needed supplies to those farms and families in need. After Abram Klopfenstein and his father headed to Nebraska over the weekend, they were in contact with other farmers in Northwest Ohio. Additionally, some farmers wanted to followed suit and continue the drive into Van Wert and Paulding Counties. Tristin Miller contacted his Uncle Tony and wanted to work to continue the efforts. Over the weekend, they continued contact with local farmers, county extension offices, agribusiness, local 4-H and FFA Chapters and the county Farm Bureaus to increase the drive of items needed.

"Everyone is working together to give in this effort. There is a lot of planning when the end result is doing what farmers do best, working together in times of need. Tristin started a Facebook page and Tony started lining up drop off locations and transportation." Stated Noggle.

Noggle and Gottke of the Paulding and Van Wert Extension offices used their resources in creating flyers and press releases as well as working on the places to make financial donations.

'Coordination is key in the process. We don't want to be sending items that the places can't use which is hard when you are thinking about donations. We have been in contact with Abram Klopfenstein after they dropped off supplies in the area of Pleasanton, Nebraska. Additionally, I went with the boots on the ground approach by contacting the local Agricultural Education instructors and County Extension staff as well as the Nebraska Department of Ag to make sure we are working on their needs."

In an effort to support farmers in need, Van Wert and Paulding Counties are working together to collect items to take out to Nebraska to help those in need. The group is planning to travel to Nebraska leaving April 12. They need your help to collect as many items as possible to help! There are many ways to donate your time, treasures and talents.

Specific details include:

1. Donate any items from the list below and drop off at the donation area. Deadline for physical donations is Tuesday, April 9, 2019. Drop off locations are the Paulding County or Van Wert County Fairgrounds.

2. If one cannot donate from the supplies list, we are asking for monetary donations. The cost of fuel, meals and rooming per vehicle will be around $2000 as an estimate per vehicle in the caravan.

Kiwanis member Tiffany Beckman introduced Judge Suzanne Rister as the guest speaker to talk more about the Paulding County Court. A task of the court is to collect money from tickets. Money from traffic tickets are usually dispersed in 3 ways. The state of Oĥio receives money from each ticket and that money then goes to the general fund, to aid crime victims, as well as drug and alcohol treatment programs. Municipalities and the county receive another portion of the ticket monies. "If you get a speeding ticket in Oakwood, Oakwood would receive a portion of that ticket money," says Judge Rister. Lastly some money from a ticket is retained by the court to be used for things like software updates and other updates that allow them to more efficiently run their office. In 2018 there were over $1,000,000 in receipts and $12,000 was worked off through community services in lieu of payment; and house arrests monitored through the court saved $40,000 in jail costs in 2018.

The money paid by those who received tickets was also used to provide a new DNR officer in Paulding County. The money also helped fund a special project to provide all Sheriff's Deputies the ability to use e-citations which takes place of handwritten tickets. E-citations are neatly printed tickets that require the deputy or officer to enter in the offender's information rather than writing out the entire ticket. This technology is currently used by the State Highway Patrol.

Judge Rister mentioned the new distracted driving law which is a secondary offense and can be given on top of a speeding ticket, seat belt ticket, etc. Different from the no texting while driving law, the new law encompasses all types of distractions that can result in accident or injury including messing with the radio or checking your phone. This can result in an extra $100 ticket. "On the plus side you can take an online course to waive that $100 ticket, which some people have chosen to do," says Judge Rister. Kiwanis thanks Judge Rister for her service to our community. Members will meet next Thursday over lunch.

PAULDING PUTNAM ELECTRIC & MIDWEST ELECTRIC CO-OPS CONSIDER CONSOLIDATION

The boards of Paulding Putnam Electric Co-op (PPEC) and Midwest Electric have voted to conduct a comprehensive study of consolidating the two organizations. If the study results are positive and both boards agree to proceed with a consolidation, the decision would go before the membership of both cooperatives for a final vote.

An initial study by National Rural Utilities Cooperative Finance Corporation (CFC) estimates $11 million - $13 million in savings over a 10-year period. Currently, the two electric co-ops have a shared service program where they share a communications coordinator and an energy auditor. "It has been very beneficial in terms of cost savings and provides a glimpse of what could be possible with a full consolidation," stated Midwest Electric CEO Matt Berry.

"A full study will be more comprehensive than the initial CFC study and will help answer specific questions such as where the savings would come from. Ultimately, the primary reason is meaningful, long-lasting financial savings for our members," said Paulding Putnam Electric Co-op CEO George Carter.

The new study will be conducted this spring by the National Rural Electric Cooperative Association and will take 8 weeks to complete. Throughout the coming months and after the study, both co-ops will communicate results with their members and employees at meetings and through a variety of communication channels. Berry and Carter said feedback, questions, and concerns will be solicited throughout the entire process.

At the end of the study process and after seeking member input, each board will determine whether to proceed with a recommendation to consolidate. If both boards recommend consolidation, the members of both cooperatives will vote on a proposal.

"Midwest Electric and Paulding Putnam Electric are small electric cooperatives, smaller than average, "said Berry. "That poses unique economic challenges yet opens the door for us to consider alternative operational models. Because the delivery of cost-effective value is a priority for both organizations, we believe it's in our members' best interest that we thoroughly investigate whether a consolidation can deliver beneficial results to our members.'

"A decision to proceed with a full study is absolutely the right decision for both boards, "stated Carter. "They're being very measured and thoughtful, and not rushing into anything. They're taking a considerable amount of time to ponder this. This is the most important decision the board will ever make. They're in a position where whatever decision they make, whether go or no-go, has a huge impact on the cooperative, its members and employees."

Midwest Electric serves 10,772 members in West Central Ohio, while Paulding Putnam Electric Cooperative serves 13,063 in Northwest Ohio and Northeast Indiana. The two co-ops service territories meet at Van Wert and Putnam counties. To learn more about this study and potential joint venture, visit www.midwestrec.com or www.PPEC. coop.

 IDEA FRIENDLY

COMING TO TOWN

Deb Brown, co-founder of SaveYourTown will be in Paulding County for an Embedded Community Experience (ECE). The focus of this project, made possible by the Great Lakes Rural Community Assistance Program (GLRCAP), is to provide our community with an Idea Friendly way to move forward and continue to create a thriving town. The Idea Friendly platform is simple: Gather Your Crowd, Build Connections and Take Small Steps. "It's not about me; it's about your town! I don't propose to know what you might need or want. I know every town is different and we do share some similarities. We will get to the bottom of what you want and how to go about it," says Brown.

Brown will meet with groups and organizations throughout the five days, tour the community, and visit with business owners and townspeople. The ECE is a customized approach and not some speaker coming in with a template telling the community what to do. Community Revitalizing Paulding (CoRP) and (GLR-CAP) want to have more conversations in the community about what they can do in OUR town.

We have been using a number of her ideas in attracting new business startups and promoting community events and activities," said Jerry Zielke Paulding County Economic Development Director. "CoRP and Deb will be hosting an Open Public Meeting on Monday April 15th at the Branch Christian Church (the former ONG building) at 109 N Main St in Paulding at 6:30 pm for anyone interested in improving our community".

There is a final report prepared after the ECE. This is often used in reports by the community, in grant funding requests, and by showing the town what could be possible, what could expanded, and what is working now. You'll hear success stories from other communities, and ideas that have worked. The people who participate are recharged, learn new tools to use going forward and are able to share what they have learned with other town members. Deb grew up on a farm outside of Geneva, Iowa, population 141. Her first entrepreneurial venture was raising a hog. You'd find her either with her nose in a history book or out exploring abandoned houses and buildings. Funny, things haven't changed much; she's still working on filling empty buildings in small towns.

She has the ability to listen, find the truths in what is working and what isn't, and share your ideas for the future along with other town's examples. Deb is a relentless optimist and knows how to build possibility in your small town. Better yet, she inspires you to take small steps towards a brighter future for your community.
