HOW MUCH DO YOU KNOW ABOUT ALGAL BLOOMS?

By: Patrick Troyer, Paulding SWCD

Recently, some may have noticed areas along the rivers and streams may have looked a bit on the green side like you would see for St. Patrick's Day in many towns and cities. Well, we are a bit removed from that holiday where rivers are artificially died green. So what is the issue? That green color is one culprit that we have seen dominate the agricultural headlines for the

UPDATE ON ANTWERP COMPOST SITE CLOSURE

As of 8/30/19 the Compost Site at the Antwerp Sewer Plant is still closed. All branches and leaves have been chipped and removed from the site. The Village is waiting for Ohio EPA to inspect the site clear of all compost to release the Village from their over-site. Once EPA has inspected the site the Village will re-open the site for branches and vegetation again. There will be no change in what is taken, just how it was reported and controlled by EPA. It is anticipated it could be another 2 weeks before the Village will be allowed to re-open. As soon as we get the OK we will post the opening on this website, the Village's facebook page and in the West Bend News.

PROMEDICA EXECUTIVE TO CHAIR THE TOLEDO REGIONAL WALK TO END ALZHEIMER'S

An executive who has spent a majority of his career in the elder care industry will lead this year's Toledo Walk to End Alzheimer's.

ter is proud to announce that Steven M. Cavanaugh, Chief Financial Officer of ProMedica, is chair of this year's event.

The Walk, which serves residents in metro Toledo, will be held Saturday, Oct. 12, at Promenade Park in downtown Toledo. Mr. Cavanaugh said, "ProMedica is proud to be part of the Walk to End Alzheimer's, not only here in Toledo, but in the communities we serve across the country. Many of us have a loved one or know someone with a family member who has been affected by this devastating disease. We are honored to join the Alzheimer's Association in their pursuit for preventing and curing Alzheimer's and related dementias."

In Northwest Ohio, 32,000 individuals live with Alzheimer's and 96,000 family members and friends are caring for them. Alzheimer's is a fatal brain disease that cannot be cured, prevented or slowed. It is the sixth leading cause of death in the United States, killing more than breast cancer and prostate cancer combined.

The Alzheimer's Association Northwest Ohio Chapter serves a 24-county region. Julia Pechlivanos, Executive Director, Alzheimer's Association Northwest Ohio Chapter, said, "The Walk to End Alzheimer's" is a great opportunity to remember and honor a loved one who has been touched by the disease. The Walk is so powerful because everyone there wants to find a cure for this disease."

As chair, Mr. Cavanaugh will work to raise awareness about the upcoming Walk. On the ProMedica/HCR ManorCare Walk Page, the company wrote, "The Walk to End Alzheimer's is not 'just' a company event. We walk because we have seen the effects of this disease first hand. We have seen it in the eyes of family members, residents and clients. Alzheimer's doesn't care who you are, what you do for a living or what income level you are. It can happen to anyone."

Prior to becoming Chief Financial Officer, Mr. Cavanaugh was President of HCR ManorCare, a division of ProMedica. As Chief Financial Officer, Cavanaugh is responsible for the overall financial leadership of ProMedica, including accounting, financial planning, revenue cycle, managed care, reimbursement, treasury and internal audit as well as supply chain management and financing.

Registration for the Toledo Regional Walk is open now. Individuals can go to alz.org/nwhio/walk to sign up as a Team Captain, to join a team or to register to walk as an individual. While at the walk, participants can learn about Alzheimer's disease, advocacy opportunities, clinical studies enrollment and support programs and services from the Alzheimer's Association. Walk participants also honor those affected by Alzheimer's disease with a poignant tribute known as the Promise Garden ceremony.

All funds raised through the Walk to End Alzheimer's further the care, support and research efforts of the Alzheimer's Association. Last year, hundreds of local residents participated.

Alzheimer's Association Walk to End Alzheimer's® The Alzheimer's Association Walk to End Alzheimer's is the world's largest event to raise awareness and funds for Alzheimer's care, support and research. Since 1989, the Alzheimer's Association mobilized millions of Americans in the Alzheimer's Association Memory Walk®; now the Alzheimer's Association is continuing to lead the way with the Walk to End Alzheimer's. Together, we can end Alzheimer's.

IN MEMORIAM

On the night of August 9-10, Apollo, one of Soarin' Hawk's Great Horned Owl ambassadors, died suddenly. As you might imagine, we all were shocked and devastated at such a great loss. Apollo had a personality as big as the sky, and we will love and miss him always.

It is very hard to put into words what this magnificent Great Horned Owl meant to me. He was the face of Soarin' Hawk for many years, because he was our only Great Horned Owl until Zeus joined us in 2014. They quickly became very close, and you would always find them perched right next to each other, with Apollo seemingly being the protector of Zeus.

Apollo's tenure with Soarin' Hawk Raptor Rehab began in 2010 when he was brought in with a previous wing injury that had healed incorrectly. He was left unable to fly and would not have survived in the wild.

I had the gift of working as one of Apollo's handlers for nearly three years. He had attitude, a huge presence, and personality. It is an indescribable experience developing a bond with a fierce predator; having Apollo or any raptor trust you is a gift like no other. I love all of our birds at SH but there are a few who have always had a big part of my heart, and Apollo was one of them. We had a special bond. My favorite times with him were when I took him outside for a walk. He would see things in the sky and stare at them. Then, I would look too, and eventually see what was in his sight. He didn't miss anything! I felt as if he was teaching me to be more observant, to look for things that might not be seen at a first glance.

I think about Apollo and his mew-mate, Zeus, were always together, always sitting next to each other on their perch or in their box. Apollo seemed to protect Zeus. Apollo was the vocal one in their mew. He clacked and puffed when I first entered their pen, then I would talk to him and he would settle down. I'd offer my gloved arm, ask him to step up, and he would sit on my arm close to me and look content, and then let out a few hoots. He trusted me, and I trusted him. I respected the fact that he could do serious damage to me if he wanted to, but he never did. He was always a good owl. I will miss him so very much. He always made me smile, no matter what was going on in my life. Apollo would make my dark days bright, and the bright days brighter.

Fly free and soar high Apollo. I will always love you. You are missed by your Soarin' Hawk family.

the hurting. There are preventive as well as recovery themes throughout the Living Free curriculums, adding further benefits to anyone in the community."

NEW RESEARCH SHOWS WASHING RAW POULTRY DANGERS

I just can't stomach the idea of not washing raw chicken before cooking it. The slime on it is really off-putting. Isn't rinsing out my sink afterward good enough to prevent spreading any germs?

No, it's not. You shouldn't wash or rinse raw chicken or any other raw poultry before cooking it, because doing so doesn't kill any bacterial pathogens such as Campylobacter, salmonella, or other bacteria that might be on the inside and outside of raw chicken. When you wash or rinse raw chicken, you are likely splashing chicken juices that can spread those pathogens in the kitchen and contaminate other foods, utensils, and countertops, according to the Centers for Disease Control and Prevention. Some estimates say the splatter can spread out and land on surfaces up to 3 feet away. In fact, a new report issued last week from the U.S. Department of Agriculture Food Safety and Inspection Service showed dangerous levels of contamination between bacteria from raw poultry and other surfaces, and foods being prepared nearby. The study involved 300 people who prepared a meal of chicken thighs and salad in a test kitchen. Of those who washed the chicken before cooking it, 60% were found to have left a trail of bacteria in the sinks and surrounding areas. Even after washing out the sinks, 14% of the sinks were still contaminated with bacteria. Even worse, of the salads that were prepared in the test kitchen where participants washed the raw chicken, 26% were contaminated with bacteria from the raw chicken. That's a problem because pathogens such as Campylobacter and salmonella can survive on surfaces such as countertops for up to 32 hours, according to the USDA Food Safety and Inspection Service. The only way to kill these potentially dangerous bacteria is to cook the chicken to an internal temperature of 165 degrees Fahrenheit. Practicing sound, safe food handling is important, considering that 48 million Americans get sick with a foodborne illness every year, 128,000 are hospitalized, and 3,000 die, according to the CDC. "Everyone has a role to play in preventing illness from food," according to a USDA written statement. "Please keep in mind that children, older adults, and those with compromised immune systems are especially at risk. "Washing or rinsing raw meat and poultry can increase your risk as bacteria spreads around your kitchen, but not washing your hands for 20 seconds immediately after handling those raw foods is just as dangerous." To lessen your chances of developing a foodborne illness, the USDA says to:

- prepare foods that will be served uncooked, such as vegetables and salads, before handling raw meat or poultry.
- clean and sanitize thoroughly any surface that has potentially touched or been contaminated from raw meat and poultry, or their juices. To do this, clean sinks and countertops with hot, soapy water, let them dry, and then apply a sanitizer to them.

- wash your hands with soap for at least 20 seconds, rinse them under warm running water, and dry them with a clean cloth or paper towel after handling raw poultry or any other raw meat.
- Lastly, be sure to cook your chicken to an internal temperature of 165 degrees Fahrenheit, using a food thermometer to measure the temperature. Beef, pork, lamb, and veal steaks, roasts, and chops are safe to eat at 145 degrees, while ground meats are safe to eat at 160 degrees, the USDA says.

PARSON TO PERSON

By: Dr. James Bachman
Dear Parson,
Do you believe that everyone will have to face judgment and if so, by what will they be judged?

I believe everyone will face some sort of judgment before God. Romans 10:10b and 12 - "...for we shall all stand before the judgment seat of Christ. ...So then every one of us shall give account of himself to God." Hebrews 9:29 - And as it is appointed unto men once to die, but after this the judgment."

It appears we shall all be judged by our works (Ecclesiastes 12:14) and words (Matthew 12:36). As for getting to heaven, God has never lowered His standards. He wants perfect righteousness and no sin. That rules everyone out (Luke 7:21, Romans 3:23, James 2:10).

However, God's love sent His sinless Son as our substitute to take our judgment (Isaiah 53:4-6). Now by grace anyone may receive Him by faith and have the gift of His perfect righteousness and payment for their sins applied to their account (Ephesians 2:8-9, Romans 5:17).

If anyone receives Him by faith, they shall go to heaven (John 3:16), but if they reject Him, they are condemned and will have to eternally pay for their own sin (John 3:18).

The judgment for Christians is called the Judgment Seat of Christ and decides how much reward they will receive for their good works (1 Corinthians 3:11-15).

However, the judgment for unbelievers is called the Great White Throne Judgment which will determine the extra degree (not length) of eternal torment they have earned by the amount of their unrighteousness (Revelation 20:11-15).

If you have not yet received Christ, call me at 260-466-9937 and I will lovingly show you how to be 100% sure of your salvation.

last few years which would be none other than a Harmful Algal Bloom. What causes this? Is it toxic? How could we have these blooms if we are below average on rain? What are the effects? All these questions may have crossed your mind at one point or another, so let's get some answers.

According to the US EPA, algal blooms have become a major problem in all 50 states. In Ohio, the Toledo Water Crisis a few years back was one of the worst examples on algal blooms as quite a few were left without drinking water. These blooms have severe impacts on human health, the economy, and the aquatic environment. The US EPA notes that the harmful algal blooms can appear in a green, blue, red, and even brown color that looks like paint on the water and can be both toxic and non-toxic in which case plants and animals will use this as a food source.

According to the Michigan Sea Grant, the HABs we see in our region are made up of blue-green algae which are technically classified as a type bacteria known as cyanobacteria. The blue-green algae that cause HABs thrive on high amounts of sunlight, nutrients such as phosphorus and nitrogen, slow moving water, and shallow water.

Runoff is one way the nutrients reach the waterways, but we haven't seen much rain recently so what's the deal? Recent calm, dry, and hot weather in the area has lowered water levels in rivers as well as streams and created still water providing the prime environment for the algae to grow in our rivers such as been seen on the Auglaize River as well as the Maumee River.

HABs are a natural occurrence in nature but have been amplified by human activities. These algae thrive on excess nutrients that they can get from sewage discharge, dishwasher detergent, phosphorus/nitrogen lawn fertilizer, and agricultural runoff. Whether we are involved in agriculture or not we all play a part in the green color we are seeing in our rivers and lakes. The National Oceanic & Atmospheric Administration (NOAA) had predicted a large algal bloom on Lake Erie for 2019, but the size is not always an indicator of how harmful the bloom may be. A larger bloom could have a less concentrated mixture of toxins compared to a small bloom.

Some may be thinking, so what is the effect of that green water they see on the river. The blue-green algae use the oxygen in the water as part of their processes and create dead zones in the water. Without oxygen plus the water being covered by the HABs, nothing is able to survive these conditions. HABs produce toxins called mycotoxins that can cause fish kills, make the water smell, contaminate drinking water which can severely sicken both humans and animals.

What can be done to deal with the algae? There are many simple things we can do to make sure the blue-green algae (cyanobacteria) do not have the environment in which to form. The EPA notes that simple things can be done in the home such as choosing cleaners & detergents that are phosphate free, using the right amount of detergent in the washer, picking up after our pets, and inspecting our septic systems. Washing our cars can also provide the right environment for algae as many of the soaps contain some form of phosphorus, which the blue-green algae find very pleasing. When washing the car, do so on a grassy surface as the grass will act as a natural filter before the carwash reaches the stream.

The one thing that cannot be controlled is the weather, so the shallow water and hot temperatures are factors that cannot be avoided. Regardless, if we all follow the steps described above, we at least can decrease chances of having to see the green water. It is truly the little things we can do that will make a big difference! Do your part and help us maintain a clean and safe water supply for all to enjoy!

GETTING TO KNOW JESUS

Presented by the Oakwood Church of Christ

The Penitent Thief Read Luke 23:39-45.

T/F. One of the men crucified with him also mocked him.

The other criminal said that he knew Jesus had done:

a) great miracles; b) nothing wrong; c) terrible crimes.

This penitent man asked Jesus to:

a) pray for help; b) remember him in his kingdom; c) be strong.

Jesus assured him that he would:

a) that day be with him in paradise; b) die soon; c) soon stop hurting.

While Jesus was on the cross there were how many hours of darkness?

a) two; b) three; c) four.

John wrote that the penitent criminal was a robber. There has always been much interest in this thief because we can see in his case the wonderful grace of the Lord in saving even one who was dying for his crimes. It should be remembered, however, that this occurred before the death of Christ and therefore before the New Testament system of salvation came into place. See Hebrews 9:16-17. It is sometimes argued that he was not baptized. We don't know whether he might have been baptized before that day. The point has no bearing on us, however, because under the New Testament of Christ all sinners are commanded to be baptized for the remission of their sins (Acts 2:38).

His Mother and John Read John 19:25-30.

(The apostle John is identified in the book that bears his name as "the disciple whom Jesus loved.")

23. T/F. Mary, the mother of Jesus, was not present when Jesus was crucified.

T/F. John accepted the responsibility for the care of Jesus' mother.

The next thing this text mentions that Jesus said was: a) "I am hungry"; b) "Give me vinegar"; c) "I thirst."

What was raised up to his lips? a) vinegar (sour wine); b) water; c) honey.

After they did this, what did Jesus say? a) "God bless you"; b) "I do not want it"; c) "It is finished."

Hours of Darkness Read Mark 15:33-36.

Darkness covered the land from the sixth hour to the:

a) eighth hour; b) ninth hour; c) tenth hour.

Jesus cried out "My God, My God, why:

a) are they so cruel?" b) is it so dark?" c) hast thou forsaken me?"

Because he used the Aramaic word for God, "Eloi," some people thought he was calling for:

a) Elias (Elijah); b) his mother; c) Enoch.

Why did Jesus say that God had forsaken him? We must remember that Jesus was dying for the sins of the world. He was actually experiencing the consequences of sin--not his own sin, but ours. One of the horrors of hell is that one will be separated from God. To pay the penalty for our sins he had to endure it all.

This even included for the time the awareness that he had been separated from the Father.

NEW WELCOMING COMMUNITY AT NEW HAVEN

The installation of the vinyl is just finished as the storefront building is cleaned up from the ladders and tools needed to finish.

"2 communities growing, serving & sharing life" is the tagline of the new window vinyl installed in New Haven, Indiana on Main St. These Churches, which have had a presence in this facility for several years, have decided to reface the windows on the front of the building with welcoming information for people who want to know more of the community of Jesus Christ. The plan was implemented by Stan Gerig, member of the Church and working with Courier Printing Co. in Grabill, IN and West Bend Printing in Paulding County, Ohio to broaden the understanding, purpose and reach of the Church in the community. As people pass by, a perfect opportunity presents itself for those to understand the welcomeness of Jesus Christ in this Church when they read the Message on the glass.

The world that exists today has lost hope, forgiveness and community. The Church is there to provide these since its establishment. The love that Jesus showed to His followers then is the same love that continues in the Church today.

The Crossing Community Church meets on Saturday evenings at 6:00 p.m. and Impact Community Church meets on Sunday mornings at 10:00 a.m. If you would like to find out more of the church communities that exist in this old storefront, stop in Saturdays at 6:00 p.m. or Sunday morning at 10:00 a.m. at 909 Main Street, New Haven, IN, 46774.

LMVFM provides free care and counseling to our military Veterans, contractors and their families, no matter how long they served, where they served, or what branch of the military they served. By being non-profit and not accepting government funding, they are able to keep Christ at the center of their services and care.

The Battle Rattle Run will be fun for the entire family as we race along the scenic country roads of Lake Township. The race will be timed by Indiana Timing and parking will be available at St John's Lutheran Church, 7914 W Cook Road, Fort Wayne, IN US 46818

LEAVING YOUR JOB? WHAT HAPPENS TO YOUR 401(K)?

If you're in the early stages of your working life – or even in the not-so-early ones – the chances are pretty good that you will change jobs at some point. When that happens, you'll probably leave a few things behind – but will one of them be your 401(k)?

Of course, you wouldn't really forget about your 401(k). (It does happen, however – over the period from 2004 through 2013, more than 25 million people left at least one 401(k) or similar plan behind when they left their job, according to the U.S. Government Accountability Office.) But you will have to do something with your account.

Essentially, you have four choices:

You can cash out your 401(k). It's your money, but if you take it out before you reach 59 ½, you will owe federal income taxes, plus any applicable state and local taxes.

Also, you will likely be charged a 10% penalty for early withdrawal. Perhaps even more important, if you liquidate your 401(k) when you change jobs, you'll be reducing the amount you'll have left for retirement.

You can leave your 401(k) with your old employer. If your former employer permits it, you can leave your 401(k) intact, even after you move to a different job. This might be appealing to you if you like the investment choices in your account, but you won't be able to make any new contributions. Plus, you won't face any immediate tax consequences.

You can move the money to your new employer's 401(k). You can consolidate your old 401(k) with one offered by your new employer, if allowed. You won't take a tax hit, and you might like your new plan's investment options. And you may find it easier to manage your funds if they're all held in one place.

You can roll your 401(k) into an IRA. You don't need the permission from any employer – old or new – to move your old 401(k) to an IRA. Your money will continue to grow on a tax-deferred basis, and an IRA offers you a virtually unlimited array of investment options – stocks, bonds, mutual funds and so on. You can make either a direct or indirect rollover. With a direct rollover, the administrator of your old 401(k) sends your money directly to the financial provider that holds your rollover IRA. No tax is withheld because you never actually take possession of the money. With an indirect rollover, you're technically withdrawing the money and moving it to the IRA provider yourself. (You've got 60 days to make this transfer.) You will face a withholding of 20% of your account's assets, but you may be able to recover most of this amount when you file your tax return. Still, for the sake of ease of movement and avoidance of all tax issues, a direct rollover may be more advantageous.

Which of these options is right for you? There's no one "right" answer for everyone. You'll have to consider several factors, and you'll certainly want to consult your tax professional before making any decision. But in any case, do whatever you can to preserve – and hopefully grow – your 401(k) assets. You'll need these resources to help fund the retirement lifestyle you want and deserve.

OHIO PUBLIC HEALTH OFFICIALS INVESTIGATING REPORTS OF INDIVIDUALS WITH SEVERE PULMONARY ILLNESS FOLLOWING VAPING

State and local public health officials are investigating reports of six Ohioans who experienced severe pulmonary illness following use of e-cigarettes, or vaping. The reports follow a recent national alert to health-care providers by the U.S. Centers for Disease Control and Prevention (CDC) about pulmonary illnesses linked to vaping in at least 16 states, primarily among adolescents and young adults.

The investigations into Ohio's six possible cases are just beginning and no additional information is available at this time.

The Ohio Department of Health (ODH) has issued a health alert to health-care providers asking them to report all suspected cases of serious pulmonary illness where the cause is unclear with a history of vaping to local or state public health officials for investigation.

According to CDC, patient respiratory symptoms have included cough, shortness of breath, and fatigue. In some cases, symptoms worsened over a period of days or weeks and required hospitalization. Other symptoms reported by some patients included fever, chest pain, weight loss, nausea, and diarrhea.

"We are seeing a tremendous increase in vaping among our youth, which is a public health crisis," said ODH Director Amy Acton, MD, MPH. "There is a perception that vaping is safe, and these reports of serious pulmonary illness linked to e-cigarette or vaping product use show that this is simply not true."

Besides nicotine, e-cigarette aerosol that users breathe in can contain harmful and potentially harmful substances, including cancer-causing chemicals; heavy metals such as nickel, tin, and lead; volatile organic compounds which can adversely impact health; ultrafine particles that can reach deep into lungs; and flavorings such as diacetyl, a chemical used to give butter-like and other flavors that is linked to serious lung disease.

"Anyone who thinks that they may be experiencing serious breathing problems linked to vaping should seek immediate medical attention," said Dr. Acton.

Information about vaping and risks associated with e-cigarette use is available on the ODH website at www.odh.ohio.gov and the CDC website at www.cdc.gov. Information about resources to help people quit smoking and vaping are available on the ODH website, including the Ohio Tobacco Quit Line (1-800-QUIT-NOW).

NH CHAMBER OF COMMERCE SPOTLIGHT ON BUSINESS: HARRIS HUMAN RESOURCES GROUP, INC & ACTION-COACH-BUSINESS COACHING

Tom Harris, owner of Harris Human Resources Group, Inc. and ActionCOACH-Business Coaching is all about businesses and organizations succeeding. While growing up in Fort Wayne, Harris has been a part of the business world from a very young age. Harris shared, "I had a paper route at ten years of age and I had an almost full-time job at thirteen. Alex Azar hired me and I was clocking thirty and forty hours a week quite often." Harris was also heavily involved in Junior Achievement in school. He started out as the Marketing Vice President and stated that he couldn't wait to become President of the Company. Harris said, "We made money and won some awards but I was always involved in entrepreneurial type of stuff growing up."

While Harris shared that high school wasn't really his strong suit, once he began his college career, he went full speed in earning several degrees from a variety of schools. He said, "When college came in, I got this drive for knowledge. Now I just can't get enough." Just some of his degrees are: a BS degree in personnel from IPFW, a MS degree at St. Francis College, and an MBA from Indiana Tech. Those are just a few of the educational opportunities Harris took advantage of.

Now, Harris is the owner of two businesses which work hand in hand. One is the Harris Human Resources Group and the second is ActionCOACH-Business Coaching. Both businesses work with business owners to create a smooth running and successful operation. Harris HR Group has as its goal to help any business with any needs they have in Human Resources. They assist with all aspects of human resources from anything like how to hire, how to recruit, and how to select employees, and on to compensation, job descriptions, policy, even the development of employee manuals. Harris said, "I have over twenty-five years in human resources management. I've been in large corporations and small corporations, non-profits, government, and more. I help clients in all aspects of human resources."

"I also own a franchise with ActionCOACH-Business Coaching", Harris shared. "It is the largest business coaching business in the world. We are in seventy countries. There are approximately two or three franchises in Indiana. The other two are down near Indy. I am allowed to go anywhere in the state of Indiana and just beyond into Michigan and into Ohio a little bit."

ActionCOACH is focused on teaching business owners their exclusive business-building strategies that will help to achieve the ActionCOACH definition of a successful business: a commercial, profitable enterprise that works without you. Utilizing sales, marketing, and financial management systems, ActionCOACH not only shows you how to dramatically increase your business revenues and profits but also how to develop your business so that you, the owner, can work less and make more even while relaxing more too.

Harris shared, "We try to re-educate. Most business owners didn't go into business because they have a background in running a business, it's usually a skill or function that they were good at or had a passion for. Then they get in the water and they find out 'oh my gosh its going in a different direction, growing up faster, I didn't know it was going to be like this'. And so, what we try to do is, jump in if you will, and help them navigate the waters."

Right now, Harris is reaching business owners all the way to Warsaw and Fremont and down in Adams and Wells counties as well as in Columbia City and the Fort Wayne area. "I am in a position of being able to hire coaches and so I will probably be hiring coaches in the next three to six months," said Harris. "I am also able to grow Harris Resource Group and bring on HR consultants to do HR services."

Recently Harris has started sharing his knowledge with local Chambers of Commerce. There are seven to eight core sections that ActionCOACH has developed to help business owners. At each Chamber event the Chamber Director and Staff can choose a different topic to focus on. Then at each session Harris will share a little bit about running your business better, but then he will focus in on one or two items which have been chosen.

Harris shared that he enjoys going to various communities. He said, "You get a different feel there. It's fun and kind of exciting. If I can help organizations and businesses be better and help people with their careers that's a beautiful thing. Continual improvement from individuals to organizations and businesses....seems to be my passion. I started giving back to organizations a long time ago and if I can continue to make improvements for business owners and organizations, my personal and professional goals will be met."

"The people have an indubitable, unalienable, and inalienable right to reform or change their Government, whenever it be found adverse or inadequate to the purposes of its institution."

"This is That Process!"

CHURCHILL

By: Stan Jordan

I'm going to write a few lines about Mr. Churchill because I never really knew what a big part he played in England's part of WWII.

To start with, his own party didn't back him and the other party, the Labor Party, were in control.

Before the war started, a man named Chamberlin, represented England and when they met with the other leaders and Hitler, Hitler had already taken the Sudetenland and part of Czechoslovakia and he said if those other countries would give him the rest of Czechoslovakia he would be satisfied and there would be no more aggression.

Well, Chamberlin fell for that and he went home satisfied, a big hero, a non-aggression pact.

Well, Hitler never meant to keep his word and in six months he and Stalin invaded Poland. His airplanes destroyed Poland and he arrested all of the Jews. So, England and France declared war on Germany. The war went bad and the German drove the soldiers to a place called Dunkirk and about 400,000 of the soldiers were rescued, but no equipment.

The war continued and in the middle of the 1940's England was bombed every day and night and Labor Party wanted to an ominast with Hitler. This is where Mr. Churchill became a leader.

Hitler didn't want to trust the Germans in any way, but he was the only person there that was against capitulation, he was against trusting the Germans and he alone, all he could do was make a pleading speech to fight them on the beaches and in the air and on the water. It was a moving speech and it kept Great Britain as it is today.

England was bombed night and day for months. All England had was the R.A.F. to fight the luftwaffa off but after a few months the Germans were losing too many bombers and Hitler decided to start a war with Russia.

That saved England, but that was Hitler's first big mistake. The Russians didn't stop the Germans, the weather did. It was miserably cold and the soldiers only had summer clothes, what didn't get killed, starved or froze to death. Hitler's second big mistake, he would not let the soldiers fall back and regroup, just stay there and freeze. Germany couldn't fight another front, so when the invasion came, things went bad for Hitler. History tells you about the invasion and how the war ended. All the soldiers came home and were treated as heroes and correctly so, but the man who saved England from being part of Germany was Churchill, but to me, Churchill never got the respect and honor that he should have.

He was soon forgotten and in a few months he was no longer the prime minister, people soon forgot.

I am as bad as they are. I put about six years in two and a half pages.

See ya.

RECORDS

By: Stan Jordan

I sit here at my desk and I notice that August is half gone as this is Friday the 16th.

2019 has been some year for setting records. Now, these last couple of weeks have been pretty nice. May and June were record setters for rainfall, of course it depended on where you were. Some places didn't get all the rain we did.

Then July has gone down as the hottest July ever. We have had our share of heat and humidity, but a good deal of the nation was hotter than we were.

Last spring was continuous storms and rain, we had more tornadoes than ever and flood after flood and some places are still under water.

In lots of places the farmers didn't get all of the fields planted, the ground was just too wet and then it would rain some more. Lots of farmers didn't get any corn planted, most of that acreage will be soy beans, what they did get planted was 4-6 weeks late.

I hope we have a good late fall. As I understand the average first frost for the area is October 14th, if the frost will hold off till then, that will be a big help. Harvest time here will be late and hard. It will take the corn a long time to dry down.

It sure has been a different year and we still have a few months to go.

I think the beans and what corn got planted have had enough rain to see them through.

See ya!

POLITICS TIME

By: Stan Jordan

Well, it has started...actually it has never stopped, I mean the politicing stuff. It is well over a year till the big election time of 2020.

As soon as a candidate gets elected, he starts campaigning for the next election. It makes no different what they are, a big or a little frog in the pond, It's all the same.

For the next 16 months that is all you will hear and see, BLAH-BLAH-BLAH.

Some of their talks and promises should be recorded and after he is elected, keep him to his word. There is no difference, both sides are a little shaddey. The t.v. people will make billions off of this crap, at our discomfort. I congratulate Canada because they keep politicing to a minimum (about 2 months and the election is over).

See ya!

A blonde and a brunette are in a car and the brunette mentions that Christmas falls on a Friday this. The blonde says "I hope it's not the 13th!"

Where did Captain Hook buy his hook?

At a second hand store!

An elderly woman was walking her dog when a young man grabbed her purse and ran away.

I asked if she was ok. She smiled and said that it's really no big deal because she carries her old purse to put her dog's poop in it until she gets home to dispose of it.

A blind guy on a bar stool shouts to the bartender, "Wanna hear a blonde joke?"

In a hushed voice the guy next to him says, "Before you tell that joke, you should know something. Our bartender is blonde, the bouncer is blonde, I'm a 6' tall, 200 lb black belt. The guy sitting next to me is 6'2 weighs 225 and he is a football player. The fella to your right is 6'5 pushing 300 and he's a wrestler. Each one of us is blonde. Think about it, mister. Do you still wanna tell that joke?"

The blind guy says, "Nah, not if I'm gonna have to explain it five times."

You are dust, and you will return to dust...That's why I don't dust, it could be someone I know.

My to do list:

1. Buy four pigs
2. Paint numbers 1,2,3 & 5 on their backs
3. Release them at the mall
4. Sit back and watch security desperately search for number 4

A recent study has found that women who carry a little extra weight live longer than the men who mention it.

A couple never fought in 25 years.

A friend: How did you make that possible?

Husband: We went to shimla for our honeymoon. While horse riding, my wife's horse jumped and my wife fell off. She got up and patted the horse saying "This is your first time" After a while it happened again and she said, "This is your second time" And when it happened the third time she took out a gun and shot the horse. I shouted at her saying "You psycho! You killed the horse!"

She gave a grave looked and said, "This is your first time" and we have lived happily since then.

THE BATHTUB TEST

During a visit to the mental asylum, I asked the director, "How do you determine whether or not a patient should be institutionalized?"

"Well," said the director, "we fill up a bathtub, then we offer a teaspoon, a teacup and a bucket to the patient and ask him or her to empty the bathtub..."

"Oh, I understand," I said. "A normal person would use the bucket because it's bigger than the spoon or the teacup." "No," said the director, "A normal person would pull the plug. Do you want a bed near the window?"

Mildred, the church gossip, and self-appointed monitor of the church's morals, kept sticking her nose into other people's business.

Several members did not approve of her extra-curricular activities, but feared her enough to maintain their silence.

She made a mistake, however, when she accused George, a new member, of being an alcoholic after she saw his old pickup parked in front of the town's only bar one afternoon.

She emphatically told George and several others that everyone seeing it there would know what he was doing.

George, a man of few words, stared at her for a moment and just turned and walked away. He didn't explain, defend or deny. He said nothing.

Later that evening, George quietly parked his pickup in front of Mildred's house... and left it there all night.

A boss wondered why one of his most valued employees had not phoned in sick one day.

Having an urgent problem with one of the main computers, he dialed the employee's cell phone number and was greeted with a child's whisper.

"Hello"

"Is your daddy home?" he asked.

"Yes," whispered the small voice.

"May I talk with him?"

The child whispered, "No." Surprised and wanting to talk with an adult, the boss asked, "Is your mommy there?"

"Yes," whispered the small voice.

"May I talk with her?" Again the small voice whispered, "No."

Hoping there was somebody with whom he could leave a message, the boss asked, "Is anybody else there?"

"Yes," whispered the child, "a policeman."

Wondering what a cop would be doing at his employee's home, the boss asked, "May I speak with the policeman?"

"No, he's busy," whispered the child.

"Busy doing what?" "Talking to daddy and mommy and the fireman," the whisper answered.

Growing more worried as he heard what sounded like a helicopter through the ear piece on the phone, the boss asked, "What is that noise?"

"A helicopter" answered the whispering voice.

"What is going on there?" demanded the boss, now truly apprehensive.

Again, whispering, the child answered, "The search team just landed the helicopter."

Alarmed, concerned and a little frustrated the boss asked, "What are they searching for?"

Still whispering, the young voice replied with a muffled giggle, "ME!"

MY NEW BASS BAIT

By: Stan Jordan

This semi-true story happened in the late 1950's. I and a buddy, who has long been gone, went fishing for large mouth bass up at Hamilton Lake at a place called Penn Park.

I had purchased a new black, green and yellow bass bait called a jitter bug. Every bass fisherman has at least one of them and a story to tell.

We worked our way over to this Penn Park area without having a hit at all.

I put on my new jitter bug bait and casted under a man's dock there expecting a big hit right away, but it didn't happen. My bait went too close to the dock and all I got was fast to a water soaked board, and had to row over and retrieve my bait.

So we rowed to the south, toward another man's dock and I threw my bait again up close to his dock and I didn't sort of expect what happened next. When my new bait hit the water, the peace and serenity of Penn Park was over. The water boiled and splashed like I hadn't seen for weeks. A fish had hit that new bait just as it hit the water. He came up out of the water and jerked back and forth to shake that hook, but it didn't work and he fell back into the water and he tore off toward the neighbor's dock, the line just buzzed and he came up out of the water again and he took more line and jumped out of the water again, but he was getting tired. He made one more circle and by then he was up to the boat and my friend had him into the net.

I pulled out my De Liar scale and he weighed just 4 lbs. He fought like 4 lbs of dynamite. He sure was a good scrapper.

I never caught a bigger one on that bait. We only caught a couple more small ones that day.

My friend had three children so he took the day's catch.

See ya!

OAKWOOD HOMECOMING

By: Stan Jordan

The boss called me Monday morning about 10:00 and said, "I'm going over to the Oakwood Homecoming, do you want to ride along?" It was a nice morning and I said, "I believe I would like to go."

When we got there, Main Street was closed to traffic, so we went on east a block, then up to the parade route. There was a policeman there and he helped us to get parked in a good area. The policeman was Greg Reinhart and he was a lot of help.

Right there was a four wheel Ranger from Real Waste Disposal and Lori gave me her front row seat in the Ranger. Oh what a good seat to watch the parade, her mother, Margaret, and I were a couple of old timers, enjoying the whole situation.

The parade was a nice one with a lot of Corvettes, classic cars, tractors, floats, bands, fire trucks and EMS squads.

There were fire trucks from Oakwood, Continental, Kalida, Ottoville and Auglaize Township. Oh, so much new and big equipment. A lot of old tractors and some new John Deere machinery.

I want to thank Lori, for giving me such a nice seat, right in the front row, curb side.

One month has never gone by so quickly in my entire life. The immense amount of change and difference I have discovered in my time here is hard to explain. Naturally, there are parts of the German country and culture I can easily identify. For example, nearly every car here is stick shift, every road has many curves, everyone drinks sparkling water instead of still, and eating later than nine at night is not that abnormal here. Some parts are more difficult to understand and explain, like the dynamic between older teens and their parents, the culture of friendships and relationships, and the common eating mannerisms. Creating a daily rhythm in a place I have never seen before has been, despite the unfamiliarity, natural, and I feel proud of myself for doing so.

Anywhere in the world, a person can enjoy a sunset, a starry night, or a flower. Regardless of location, people can always find a common struggle on an especially warm day. Of course, the world is full of people, and in any place, people can feel and find connections. A shared smile, laugh, or tear is universal. I feel so warmed by the connections I am making here. Even though I am a new kid and no one knows me as well as their other peers, I am still treated as a person and involved in the kindness, humor, and relatability of those around me. Perhaps words are cheap, but they are the key to the door of creating relationships. Conversation, like emotion, is also omnipresent globally. It is the reason for language, the root of interaction, the expression of thought, the background of action; talking is important everywhere I am realizing. My mind has been opened by this change of scenery.

I am thankful for the opportunity I have taken advantage of by being here in Germany. By being here in this new environment, I am seeing the levels of complexity in everything. Every day, every interaction, everything I do can be looked at closely or with distance, in many ways, from multiple points of view. My month of solitude has mostly taught me that life must be lived. I am a piece of anything I am involved in, whether it is on purpose or out of coincidence, and I have the ability to create my own experience and take away my own conclusions. Yesterday, I could not have predicted today, just as today I can not predict tomorrow. Knowing I have one year here, in this place with these people, warms my heart. I enjoy new places and talking to people and being a teenager and seeing that each day with its own unique circumstances is making up what my life is. Germany has welcomed me with open arms, and I am here, embracing all that I come across.

WARRIORS BLANKED BY FLYERS

MARIA STEIN - Woodlan and Marion Local each ran 34 plays in Friday night's high school football game in Maria Stein.

However, the difference came down to the Flyers scored seven times in those 34 plays while holding the Warriors scoreless as Marion Local cruised to a 49-0 victory.

The Flyers scored early and often in the first half, pouring on 21 points in the opening quarter to take a commanding 21-0 advantage after one period.

Marion Local then broke the game open, adding two more scores in the second stanza to widen the margin to 35-0 at the midway point.

Quarter number three saw the Flyers pick up one more score to make it 42-0 before Marion Local wrapped up the game's scoring with a touchdown in the final period.

The Flyers picked up 15 first downs in the contest compared to Woodlan's six.

Warrior quarterback Benjamin Reidy finished 15 of 24 through the air for 161 yards.

LONG PARTICIPATES IN STEAM NASA TOUR

This summer, Mrs. Harla Long, math teacher at Antwerp Middle/High School, was able to participate in a unique STEAM opportunity. Long and her daughter Rayna Moore were part of a small group who received a private tour of the Neutral Buoyancy Lab, Johnson Space Center, and Space Center in Houston, Texas. They met astronaut Dr. Tom Jones, built rockets that they launched on NASA property, and were invited to learn to scuba and complete astronaut training activities in the same pool where astronauts get their scuba certification. Long and Moore experimented with robotics and touched a moon rock and the actual Apollo 17 command capsule, which was the last to take humans to the moon. Long even graduated from astronaut training with a special certificate.

ARCHERS DROP SEASON OPENER

Antwerp Junior Jordan Buerkle, 2 time letterwinner, scores the first touchdown of the game for the Archers! More pictures at westbendnews.net

ANTWERP - The high school football season kicked off at Archer Field on Friday night where visiting Montpelier jumped out to an early lead and held off Antwerp for a 40-26 victory. The Locomotives opened a 12-0 advantage after one quarter and never looked back in starting their season at 1-0. Antwerp did pull within 12-6 in the second quarter on a 46-yard touchdown toss from Blake Schuette to Jordan Buerkle before Montpelier rallied to take a 19-6 halftime advantage. However, the visitors then added a pair of scores in the third quarter to extend the margin to 32-6 before the Archers would score again. Schuette connected with Buerkle for Antwerp's second score as well, this time a 58-yard scoring strike, to get the Archers within 32-12 entering the final period. After Montpelier struck again to push the lead to 40-12, Schuette found Hunter

Sproles on an 11-yard touch-down pass to trim the deficit to 40-18. Schuette then scored the final Archer touchdown, running one-yard for a score, before hooking up with Quincy Brinneman on the two-point conversion to set the final margin. Schuette finished the night 17 of 28 passing for the Archers for 248 yards and three scores. Antwerp will return to action Friday as it makes the trip to West Unity to battle Hilltop.

Wayne Trace 2019 Football team with the Black Swamp Trophy. More pictures at westbendnews.net

PAULDING - The 2019 edition of the Black Swamp Bowl had fans from both sides of the field on the edge of their seat but when the the scoreboard showed 00:00 it would be the Wayne Trace Raiders claiming the opening season win 28-27. The competitive game was in doubt throughout most of the contest. Paulding, trailing by one, decided to go for the win with 1:45 remaining. Going for a two-point conversion, Panther quarterback Payton Beckman's pass attempt would not materialize and the Raiders escaped with the one-point win.

Paulding's Fernando Garcia drives into the end-zone and picks up the last touchdown of the night for the Panthers. More pictures at westbendnews.net

The Raiders opened the contest with a score on their first possession. Wayne Trace quarterback Trevor Speice guided the 65-yard drive, capping it off with a two-yard run past the end zone cones. A Speice to Alex Rinehart connection was successful on the two-point attempt and the Raiders established an early 8-0 lead. With the Raiders holding it's eight-point margin heading into the second period the Panthers would answer at the 5:07 mark. Fernando

Garcia found an opening extra-point to keep the Panthers through the Raider defense and rumbled 34-yards to pull through the Raider defense and rumbled 34-yards to pull Paulding within two at 8-6 followed by an Evan Edwards extra-point to keep the Panthers within one at 8-7. A PAINFUL PROCESS

By: Doris Applegate

The American farmer has certainly come a long way in how they plant and harvest the crops. Tractors now have a "brain" that guides it and the farmer sits with t.v. and munches on snacks, putting on extra weight while watching the process. Perhaps we will "out smart" ourselves with all of this technology. If farmers shorten their lives with over eating, lack of exercise and with no one to take over (a lack of young farmers) many could go hungry.

Another tool that farmers use in "no till" taking the place of the "good ole plow". The ground does not get loosened up, open and oxygenated.

Hardening of the soil is like the hard heads we Christians must guard against. Sometimes problems, turmoil, confusion and chaos can cause us to wonder where God is and we lose hope. Our spiritual ground in being "plowed" by the Holy Spirit so that our lives will learn a vital lesson from the chaos and bear much more fruit.

God allows our lives to be "turned over" because He has a very good purpose. He wants produce and abundance from us. Only "plowed" loosened soil will bring forth what God is looking for, so REJOICE in the process and yield to His leading. All will turn out just great. You will be better, stronger and wiser person after you see the wonderful results of a "plowed field". Just think of those who will benefit from the fruits of your life.

This is our calling as a Christian; to bear much fruit so realize that it is a process and fruit does not develop overnight. Be patient and wait for it to "ripen". No one enjoys a "sour" orange, a "green" strawberry, or a "hard" peach. We love fruit that is in it's "prime" so the key is patience. Our hard head is now softened and pliable by the "plowing" of our field. We can now understand and relate to others and the pain they are going through, lend a helping hand an offer encouragement. AMEN!

There was all kind of candy suckers, gum, and goodies flying through the air. Joe Barker of WMYW, 102.7 ran over and gave us a handful of everything on the dash behind the windshield.

The boss, Bryce Steiner, had all the parade on a video, it is so nice. We want to thank everybody for their help.

The Oakwood Homecoming, what a nice way to start a new month.

See ya on down the road!

the Raiders managed to put six more on the board when Speice found team mate Nate Showalter open for a 20-yard pass play to help stretch the visitors lead to 14-7. The extra-point try was no good,

With the one touchdown lead by the Raiders, the Panthers would not go away. Prior to intermission Beckman would find the end zone from four-yards out to keep the Panthers close - trailing 14-13 at the break.

A scoreless third quarter for nearly 10 minutes, the maroon and white would take the lead for the first time. With 2:43 showing on the clock Beckman teamed-up with Caleb Manz for a five-yard score. Beckman was equally impressive with the extra-point attempt as the Panther signal caller connected with Riley Coil for two-points and the Panthers on top 21-14.

Entering the final 12 minutes of play and trailing 21-14 the Raiders needed just a single play to light up the score board. Speice connected with senior Nate Gerber on a short five-yard strike capping off an eight-play, 69 yard drive. Inching closer and within a single point the Raiders would answer again with the extra point. What worked for the touchdown would also work for the two-point conversion when Speice threw to Gerber for the go-ahead play and the Raiders were back on top 22-21.

After a stalled Panther drive the Raiders would take advantage and would cover 60 yards needing just six snaps of the ball. Wayne Trace put six more on the board when Speice rifled a 16-yard toss to Reinhart for the 28-21 lead with just over seven minutes remaining and setting up the final Panther score.

Wayne Trace stats: First downs 17; Rushing yards 104; Passing yards 239; Total yards 343; Passing 19-

ANTWERP SPORTS COMPLEX READY FOR BUSINESS!

The new entrance at Antwerp is ready for business!

The original concept drawing by Superintendent Dr. Marty Miller, looks very similar to what was actually made.

The Antwerp Archer Football sports complex just got received a major, much needed, upgrade. Prior to this year there were entrances on both the home and guest sides for people to enter in. Now the entrance has been redesigned on the south side at Waterplant Drive. The classic architectural style was envisioned by Superintendent Marty Miller as he dreamt of a grand entry in to the Antwerp Local Schools campus with the flags of the competing schools in the Green Meadows Conference circling the walking paths and gardens.

The first game of the year was on August 30 for Antwerp and Montpelier christening the new season. The entrance area contains the centrally located restrooms and the concessions and dining areas. If you didn't get a chance to see it Friday evening, stop and have a look during the week! It's quite the new facility!

LOCAL FAIRS BENEFIT FROM NWECH HOT AIR BALLOON APPEARANCES

ing in the sky and glowing at dusk as it participated in local balloon festivals this summer. Though inclement weather prevented the balloon from leaving the ground at the Montpelier Bean Days Balloon Festival in July, the balloon, sponsored by North Western Electric Cooperative (NWECH), did take flight, provided tethered rides and participated in the glow at dusk during the Defiance County Hot Air Balloon Festival on August 3.

As a result of the balloon's appearance at the festivals, NWECH presented donations in the amount of $1,020 to both the Williams County Agricultural Society and Defiance County Agricultural Society. The donations represent North Western Electric's commitment to the communities it serves and the co-op's stone Energy® as a goodwill ambassador for Touchstone Energy Cooperatives across the country. The brand's identity and core values — integrity, accountability, innovation and commitment to community — are promoted through the balloon and its professional team wherever and whenever the balloon is flying nationwide.

The Touchstone Energy balloon is a highly visible example of co-op spirit and support at local civic and philanthropic events. Every day that the balloon participates in an event on behalf of the local sponsoring Touchstone En-tery cooperative, a monetary contribution is made to a local charity of their choice.

Touchstone Energy Cooperatives are a national alliance of local, consumer-owned electric utilities across the country committed to providing high standards of service to customers large and small. More than 750 Touchstone Energy Cooperatives in 46 states are delivering energy and energy solutions to about 32 million consumer-members every day.

LAST ANTWERP CHAMBER'S GRAB YOUR NEIGHBOR FOR 2019

The Dog Days of Summer are upon us. Come out with the Antwerp Chamber of Commerce and Grab your neighbor and explore your downtown on September 9th.

This will be our last Grab Your Neighbor event for 2019. We hope you have enjoyed the evenings strolling through the downtown. We enjoyed visiting with you and opening up our shops to you.

We thought we would say good bye to summer by celebrating the Dog Days of Summer with our very own 2nd annual Antwerp's dog show.

Categories will be simple: Big dogs (over 30 pounds) and little dogs (30 pounds and under). All breeds are invited to participate. Dogs will be judged against "dog standards": Most appealing eyes, waggiest tail, dog the judge would most like to take home, best paw shake, and dog that looks most like their owner. We do have to limit our furry friends to 8 pups in each category.

"Best in show" will be rewarded. The winning dog will become Antwerp's "top dog" for the next year. His/her reign will begin with a tour of the town, followed by an appearance and interview on Facebook.

Judging will begin at 6:30 in front of Dr. Mowery's office. To register your pup for the dog show, please send an email to antwerpchamber@gmail.com with your dog's name and weight or bring your dog up before 6:15 that day so we have time to get him/her entered. Remember we are taking only 8 large pups and 8 small pups. Entry fee will be an item (or money) that will be given to the Paulding County Dog Kennel.

ANTWERP COMMUNITY- PAYS IT FORWARD! In addition to the dog show we will also be taking up donations for our local food pantry. Please bring a nonperishable food item and enter to win $15 worth of Chamber bucks to be used at any Antwerp business. Table will be set up in front of Hometown pantry to collect your items.

Several of our businesses will continue to be open that evening for your shopping pleasure. We encourage you to stop in and check out any summer items that will be on sale.

OHIO STATE SEEKS TRUSTEE APPROVAL ON INTERDISCIPLINARY HEALTH SCIENCES CENTER

The Ohio State University is taking the next step on a proposed Interdisciplinary Health Sciences Center that will blend innovative technology and hands-on learning in conjunction with the university's strategic plan.

Ohio State will seek approval for the $155.9 million health sciences center during next week's Board of Trustees meeting. Funding sources are to be determined. The project is poised to benefit colleges, including medicine, dentistry, nursing, optometry, pharmacy, public health and veterinary medicine, and strengthen the interdisciplinary curriculum of Ohio State.

"A healthier future demands health care leaders who are prepared to work together to address health challenges," said Bruce A. McPheron, Ohio State's executive vice president and provost. "Ohio State's new health sciences education building is the place where students will become those leaders."

The multiphase project advances Framework 2.0, the university's long-term planning vision. It includes a 150,000-square-foot renovation of Hamilton Hall and construction of a new 100,000-square-foot building featuring flexible facilities to serve multiple disciplines. Program space will include:

VANTAGE TEACHER RECEIVES MATHEMATICS AWARD!

Each year, the Ohio Council of Teachers of Mathematics recognizes outstanding teachers, professors, emerging leaders and friends of mathematics. Teachers can be nominated by a colleague, administrator, student or parent. Once nominated teachers submit an application. Then, an outstanding elementary, middle and high school teacher is selected from each of the eight districts based on their philosophy on how students learn mathematics, their participation in professional development and organizations, as well as their leadership roles. After receiving a district award, teachers are eligible to apply for a state teaching award.

Vantage Career Center is pleased to announce that Math Teacher, Mrs. Kelly Horstman, has received the 33 interdisciplinary, state-of-the-art classrooms, each with new teaching technology, including virtual reality and enhanced anatomy and surgical practice labs; 6,000-square-foot informal learning space; 125-seat grand reading room

The Interdisciplinary Health Sciences Center will focus on inclusive work environments to create:

Spaces for students in the health sciences to convene conversations and build team approaches to health care - a way to quickly assess patients' needs and work with the right colleagues to design the best care plans for each individual.

Opportunities for students to be at the forefront of innovation through modern technology - whether by using realistic virtual reality models to simulate patient care or learning how video chats, texting and other emerging "telehealth" innovations can help health care providers and patients stay in regular communication between in-person office visits.

Warm and welcoming

2019 Ohio Council Teachers of Mathematics (OCTM) Northwest District Outstanding Teacher Award.

Vantage Director Mike Knott shares that, "Kelly was nominated because she consistently uses best practices in her classroom for both pedagogy and classroom management. She is a leader in our academic department. She models the use of relevant technology and always tries to relate her math curriculum to career applications. She has been a leader in the use of the Desmos online graphing calculators and the associated Activity Builder. This has been important to our students, as Desmos is the built-in calculator used by the State End of Course Tests. Her expertise has led her to present at both local and state wide conferences to share these best practices with other educators."

This year more than 120 amazing classroom teachers were nominated for the Ohio Council of Teachers of Mathematics Teacher Awards. Through our rigorous selection process, 21 teachers were chosen for the district awards and 6 were selected for the state awards. The award winners will be honored at the annual OCTM Conference in Sandusky, OH during the banquet on Thursday, October 24, 2019. Congratulations, Mrs. Kelly Horstman!

environments that support Ohio State's work to build diverse communities of medical students. Research has shown that diversity in medicine - including increasing representation of women and people of color - leads to better health outcomes.

Design for the new Interdisciplinary Health Sciences Center began in August 2018. Pending board approval, construction could begin in October 2019, with completion targeted for late summer 2023.

Progress continues on a separate Health Sciences Faculty Office and Optometry Clinic at 11th and Neil avenues. The 106,000-square-foot building will be home to optometry clinics, retail spaces and faculty offices. The $35.9 million project is 60% of the way through steel work and targeting an October 2020 opening.
