It's an Antwerp tradition to decorate, plan parties, make plans, get dressed up with costumes/face paint/masks and celebrate Halloween the Saturday before October 31st. A persistent drizzly icicle-like rain canceled the traditional Costume Parade that is lead by the Antwerp HS Marching Band. Despite the rain, the costume judging went on as planned at the firehouse in downtown Antwerp. The judges had a difficult time deciding who's costume was the best in each category. There are some creative residents in this town! Overall, Nash Zartman earned the Grand Prize status. The following categories were represented Saturday.

A special shout out to Antwerp's AWESOME fire department and EMS crew for a fun-filled afternoon. Bob Addis did fantastic organizing the event; Ashley McDougall helped with naming the winners and Gale Jordan MC'ed the event; Bobby Wales, The Pit Stop and the Pop-n-Brew donated candy. And we cannot forget to mention the wonderful judges: Denise Coleman, Claire VanVlerah and Matt McDougall. This may NOT be an exhaustive list of all the people who volunteered their time on this wet Saturday. If your name was omitted, we offer our sincerest apologies — community is built on working together and Antwerp has this in SPADES! Thank you!

BRADY DUBOIS NAMED CEO OF LUTHERAN HOSPITAL

Brady Dubois, an experienced health care leader with a focus on exceptional patient care, quality and operational performance, becomes Lutheran Hospital's new chief executive officer on Dec. 4.

Dubois comes to Lutheran Hospital from his position as president of Mosaic Life Care Medical Centers, a health care system based in St. Joseph, Mo. During his time at Mosaic Life Care, the organization expanded to four wholly owned hospitals, providing coverage to 21 counties in northwest Missouri, southwest Iowa, southeast Nebraska and northwest Kansas. From 2007 until he joined Mosaic Life Care in 2016, Dubois held executive leadership positions in hospitals and healthcare systems across the country. He also served as a Medical Service Corps officer for the U.S. Navy from May 2000-2007, where he oversaw several high-level initiatives within the continental United States, internationally and in deployed environments. It was during this time that his personal philosophy of "Mission First, People Always" was formed. He began his career as a recreational therapist at DeTar Health System in Victoria, Texas.

"Brady's experience and leadership style are the per-

We are blessed to add Brady to the senior executive leadership team," said Mark Medley, FACHE, regional president and chief executive officer, Lutheran Health Network.

Throughout his health-care leadership career, Dubois has worked extensively on physician recruitment, leading quality improvement efforts and building cultures of physician and employee engagement. While serving as chief executive officer for

"I look forward to the opportunity to serve at Lutheran Hospital," said Dubois. "It comes down to patient care - we must excel at delivering care at the bedside with a concentration on outcomes, continuous measurement and improvement."

Dubois is a Texas native and roots for the Houston Astros. He graduated magna cum laude from Southwest Texas State University with a bachelor's degree in Recreation Administration. He received his master's degree in Business Administration from the University of Houston-Victoria.

Military life has taken him and his family to communities across the country and Dubois has been active in each one. MILLENNIALS MAY NEED TO BOOST LIFE INSURANCE

Bryan Post, Edward Jones Financial Advisor

If you're a Millennial - born between 1981 and 1996 - you're either in the very early or relatively early stages of your career, and as the old song goes, you've got a lot of living to do. Still, it's not too soon to think about a financial issue you may have overlooked: the need for life insurance.

Regarding this topic, Millennials need to ask three key questions:

When should I purchase insurance? The answer to this question depends somewhat on your stage of Millennial-ism. If you're a young Millennial, perhaps just out of college, single, and living in an apartment, your need for life insurance may not be that great. After all, you may well have other, more pressing financial needs, such as paying off your student loans. But if you're an older Millennial, and you've got a mortgage, a spouse and - especially - children, then you unquestionably need insurance, because you've got a lot to protect.

How much do I need? Millennials who own life insurance have, on average, $100,000 in coverage, according to New York Life's 2018 Life Insurance Gap Survey. But that same survey found that Millennials themselves reported they need coverage worth about $450,000, leaving an insurance deficit of approximately $350,000. That's a pretty big gap, but of course, these figures are averages and may not apply to your situation. Still, you should know how much insurance you require. You might have heard that you need life insurance worth about seven or eight times your annual salary. And while this isn't a terrible estimate, it doesn't apply to everyone, because everyone's situation is different. A financial professional can look at various factors - your age, your marital status, number of children, size of mortgage, etc. - to help you arrive at an appropriate level of coverage.

Keep in mind, also, that your employer may offer life insurance as an employee benefit. However, it might be insufficient for your needs, especially if you have a family, and it will probably end if you leave your job.

What type of life insurance should I get? Many people initially find life insurance to be confusing, but there are basically two types: term and permanent. As its name suggests, term insurance covers a given time period, such as 10 or 15 years, and provides only a death benefit. It's generally quite affordable, especially when you're young and healthy. Permanent insurance, on the other hand, offers a death benefit and a savings component that allows you to build cash value. Consequently, the premiums are higher than those of term insurance. Again, a financial professional can help you determine which type of insurance is most appropriate for your needs.

Thus far, we've only been talking about life insurance. But you may also need other types of protection, such as disability insurance, which can replace part of your income should you become ill or incapacitated. And you may eventually want to explore long-term care insurance, which can help cover you for the enormous costs of an extended nursing home stay.

You should at least consider all forms of insurance as part of your overall financial strategy. The future is unknowable - and as a Millennial, you've got plenty of future ahead of you.

This article was written by Edward Jones for use by your local Edward Jones Financial Advisor.

Energy Assistance Program (HEAP)

The Winter Crisis program provides a benefit once per heating season to an income-eligible customer's main and/or electric accounts. The benefit can be used by eligible households that are disconnected, have a pending disconnection notice, need to establish new service, need to transfer service or have 25 percent (or less) of bulk fuel supply remaining. The program can also assist with fuel tank placement, fuel tank testing and furnace repair. For utilities that are in disconnect status (regulated utility company), a hold can be placed on the account until the time of appointment, but is limited to one hold per program year and cannot be extended. No-show appointments may result in utilities being shut off.

HEAP, also known as the Home Energy Assistance Program, is a federally funded program designed to help eligible low-income Ohioans meet the high costs of home heating. This program can only be accessed one time per season and the amount of the benefit depends on the size of the household, household income and what type of fuel is used. In most cases, the one-time benefit will be a credit applied directly to the utility bill. Income eligible household must be at or below 175% of the Federal Poverty guideline. No emergency need is required for this program.

To Schedule an appointment for heating assistance, please contact our toll free 24-hour hotline at 1-844-493-1193 or visit our website at www.nocac.org to schedule online.

PARSON TO PERSON

By: Dr. James Bachman
*Dear Parson,
 Why would Lot choose to offer his two virgin daughters to be sexually abused by perverts of Sodom to protect the two men he was hosting that night?*

2 Peter 2:7-8 - "And delivered just Lot, vexed with the filthy conversation of the wicked: (For that righteous man dwelling among them, in seeing and hearing, vexed his righteous soul from day to day with their unlawful deeds.)" Here Lot was called a just and righteous man, and yet his righteousness was the positional righteousness imputed to him by believing on Christ, the promised Messiah (Ephesians 2:8-9, Romans 3:20-26).

Later he became backsliden and started making fleshly decisions instead of trusting God. When Abraham gave Lot a choice, he chose the best land for himself (Genesis 13:10-11). Then he pitched his tent toward Sodom (Genesis 13:12). Next, he dwelt in wicked Sodom (Genesis 14:14).

In Genesis 19 he faced the crisis with the Sodomites wanting to sexually abuse his two guests. In his pressured flesh, he made a wicked decision to offer them his daughters. God showed He was able to deliver them and He should have been trusted before Lot made his wicked offer. God blinded the Sodomites so they could no longer even find the door of his house. Unfortunately, even today backslidden Christians continue to make fleshly decisions instead of walking by faith.

GETTING TO KNOW JESUS

Presented by the Oakwood Church of Christ

His Ascension - Read Acts 1:9-11.

As Jesus was taken up he disappeared behind: a) an angel; b) a cloud; c) a star.

The two men (angels) told the apostles: a) that Jesus would come again; b) to go back to Galilee; c) to wear white.

Jesus is coming again. In Revelation 1:7 we read: "Behold, he cometh with clouds; and every eye shall see him, and they also which pierced him: and all kindreds of the earth shall wail because of him." Daniel 7:13-14 tells of a remarkable vision Daniel had over 500 years before Jesus was born. He saw the Lord's return to heaven and how that he received his kingdom. Jesus is in heaven now, where he lives to make intercession for us (Hebrews 7:25).

Christ is on the Throne Read Acts 2:22-36. (Peter explained that David had prophesied that Christ would be raised from the dead. In these verses he shows that Christ was resurrected so that he could take his place at the right hand of God on David's throne. In 2 Samuel 7:12-14 God had promised David that one of his seed (descendants) would be raised up to sit on his throne and that his throne would be established forever. In Acts 2:22-36 Peter showed that this applied to Christ being raised from the dead and ascending back to heaven. The throne of David promised for Christ, therefore, was not an earthly throne, but heavenly.)

David rejoiced that his flesh (body) would not see corruption (decay), but Peter explains that this actually applied to: a) David himself; b) Jesus; c) no one.

Peter reminded them that David: a) had been resurrected; b) was still in his tomb; c) never died.

T IF. David never knew that God had promised that Christ would be raised to sit on his throne.

Since he knew that Christ was to sit on his throne, he spoke of: a) Christ's resurrection; b) Jerusalem; c) Solomon.

Peter declared that Christ is now: a) at God's right hand; b) in hiding; c) dead.

Christ will be the King on the right hand of the Father until: a) his foes are his foot stool; b) he gets a throne in Jerusalem; c) his kingdom is established.

Though they had crucified him, God had made Jesus: a) an angel; b) forget what happened to him; c) Lord and Christ.

CHANGING TIMES

By: Doris Applegate

Many times we get "caught" up in a memory "trip": thoughts of days gone by, some good, some not so good, don't we? The following verse reveals one of my memories:

"Returning from the "out-house"

One dark and chilly night, We girls were scared half "witless"

By a noise in the drive. Running crazy, like the wind,

And falling "o'er" each other,

We finally stumbled in the house Among us was our mother!"

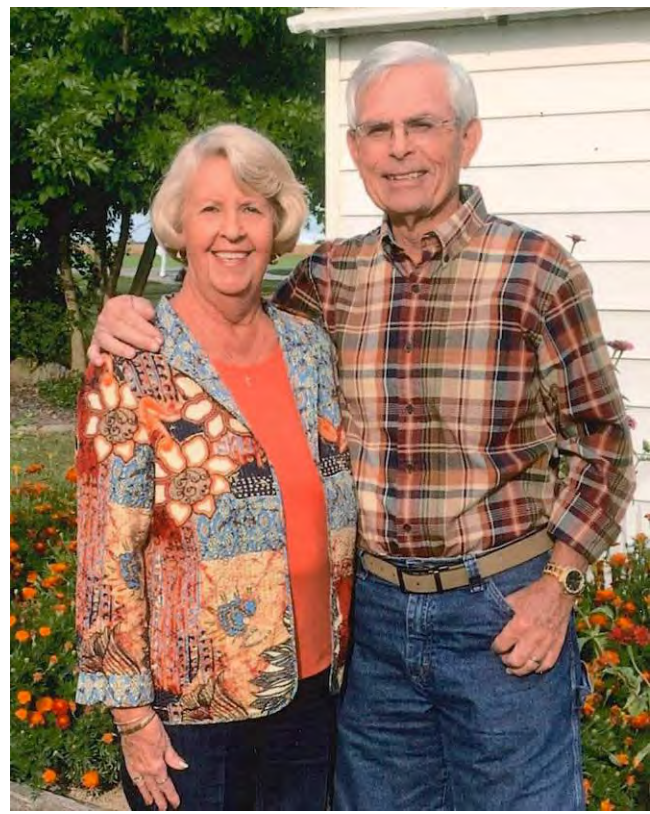

Yep, my mom was a kid at heart and she made life fun for us. She was part of our wintertime snowball "fights", making snow "angels", building "igloos" and sledding.

Our work times were always rewarded by "praises" from her lips that made us want to do more and work harder. Vacation Bible school and church plus mom hearing our good - night prayers and "tucking" us in was also a wonderful part of my happy life.

Dad was the quiet one, working at his job, reading, wood crafting or gardening. He was the one who took us fishing and taught patience by sitting still waiting for a "bite".

One of my favorite things was to find the biggest, red-ripe tomato in the garden and

60th ANNIVERSARY

Ron and Karen Cooper of Oakwood, OH, have been celebrating being married 60 years!

Ron Cooper and Karen Hoffman were married October 10, 1959 at the Church of Christ in Leipsic, OH.

The couple have two daughters: Jill (Dan) Straley, Paulding, OH and Leslie (Steve) Heilshorn, Paulding, OH., and three grandsons: Alex Straley, Paulding, OH; Samuel Heilshorn, Columbus, OH and Benjamin Heilshorn, Fort Wayne, IN.

The Cooper's have been celebrating all year with family dinners and a cruise.

with salt shaker in hand, just enjoy!

Our times of swimming in a nearby lake, visiting gram and gramps, aunts, uncles and cousins, family reunions where Uncle George had the best and coldest watermelon ever! The rope swing he made went so far and high it would delight any child's heart.

Every child should be brought up in the nurture and ways of the Lord. (Ephesians 6:4). Any abuse, rejection or too harsh and wrong kind of discipline is uncalled for. "Children are a heritage of the Lord and the fruit of the womb is his reward!" (Psalm 127:13).

We wonder why women would abort such a great reward when years ago the more children a woman had she was praised and if barren, she was looked down upon.

In Psalm 127:5 we read that "a man was happy if his quiver was full of them." Today many men do not want children and we wonder what has gone wrong!! Perhaps our love has turned to hate and we "have lost the fear of the Lord

In 2 Timothy 3 we read that "men (women too) will be lovers of themselves" Also that "many things will change in the last days before the Lord Jesus comes back again".

In Jude verse 18, we read that "people will mock and say that things are as they have always been, walking after their own desires."

Let's do a "check up" and see if we truly fear the Lord and are ready to meet him when we die or at His return. Being ready is the best and wisest thing we can do. We are told to watch and pray. Amen!

LETTER TO THE EDITOR

My name is Terry Brown, and I am seeking your vote for township trustee, representing Hicksville Village and all of Hicksville Township.

As a trustee my duties/responsibilities would be: Attend township board meetings; Follow state laws on open meetings and public records; Know the township's structure, its hiring and firing policies, zoning and other rules; Vote in the interest of the community; Adopt a budget; Set health and safety ordinances; Oversee programs and services; Maintain roads. I would appreciate your vote and if elected I will faithfully pledge to carry out these duties to the best of my ability.

—Terry J. Brown, Candidate for all of Hicksville Township

LETTER TO THE EDITOR

My fellow New Haven residents. I urge you to vote for Steve McMichael on November 5th. I have known and been friends with Steve since we met 13 years ago. My bride and I bought our home in New Haven from him. His customer service level is impeccable. Not only did he sell us our home, but we were neighbors until he built his new home across the street in Castle Rock. In the years since then, all 3 of our sons have gone on to buy homes from him.

I am not the kind of person who is blinded by my friendship. I understand that our city needs a Mayor that is qualified and prepared for the job. I have interviewed Steve for this job for years. I have spent many hours over a table, or on the back porch talking with him talking about these subjects. He is passionate about our lovely town. He cares about what happens to its citizens and that our quality of life is vastly improved. His qualifications are unmatched and as our current Mayor Terry McDonald says, "Steve is ready day one". Steve knows the ins and out of the workings of our city. I have been amazed at the breadth of his knowledge in our chats of the local, state, and federal laws that govern what can be done and how they must be done to achieve the desired goal. This is important to be able to hit the ground running as Mayor of New Haven. If I didn't believe that he was ready for this job I would not support his efforts to become Mayor. I want what is best for my family and our town. Steve is the kind of man that can move our town forward to build on the successes of Mayor McDonald.

Under Mayor McDonald's skilled leadership our town's population has grown by over 30%, our parks have expanded with the addition of the Jury Pool and the New Community Center. And many new large businesses have moved in creating new and higher-paying jobs. Steve has been mentored by Mayor McDonald and he wants to expand upon the groundwork that has been laid by Mayor McDonald's administration. Steve has plans to make our city better than ever. Now, mind you Steve and the Mayor or have not always seen eye to eye while Steve has served on City Council. Steve is 100% his own man and wants to look at all aspects of our city government to make sure that everything is running exactly the way it should. Starting in 2021 every department will have to approve every line of the budget that they have. Steve also if elected wants to increase the police department by at least one officer a year for the first four years of his term.

Steve is a family man that loves the town of New Haven. He is also a very successful small business owner because of his impeccable customer service, not only have I heard him talk about it but I have seen him do it. He is a tireless worker. Steve is the type of man that our Mayor should be.

In April of 2018, I had a liver transplant down in Indianapolis and had to stay in Indy for a month after my transplant to be close to the hospital and for follow up appointments. In our rush to leave our house when we got the call for the transplant, we forgot some things that we would need for our month-long stay in Indy. Steve found out about those and made a special trip to Indy to deliver those things to us. I know how busy Steve is and he took basically a full working day to come bring things to us and spend time with us. He did not make a big deal about it. Anyone that has been to Indianapolis over the last couple of years knows how big of a deal it is just driving to Indy with the road conditions and construction. I know and appreciate how big of a deal it really was to us. Steve is a great friend and neighbor!

I have had many opportunities to hear from my New Haven neighbors the kinds of things that they want in town. They want new restaurants, grocery stores, hotels for family visitors and better jobs. It is very important that we have a Mayor that has the outside contacts and relationships to make these things happen. Relationships matter! Steve doesn't have to develop these relationships he already has them. The Mayor cannot make these things happen, but the Mayor can create an atmosphere to make these things happen.

I do not have room here to mention all of his qualifications, but they are vast in the public and private sector. But I encourage you to do a bit of research and see everything that has prepared him for this job as our CEO. The job of New Haven Mayor is not a ceremonial position. It is daily business decisions to better the lives of all its citizens. Steve has the knowledge and leadership to take on this role!

In conclusion, I urge everyone to get to know the candidates and what they propose to make our city better and make an educated vote. Not one based on emotion. Your family and our town deserve that. If you are still undecided contact both candidates and talk to them about the things that you think are important to you and our city. No matter who you vote for, get out and vote on November 5th.

—Steve Kennedy

LETTER TO THE EDITOR

My name is Mitchell Kipfer and I am running for the vacant position on the Wayne Trace School Board. I believe that I can make a positive impact on the school system and community by providing my own unique perspective and experience. As a parent of four (3 of which are currently attending Payne Elementary), I am committed to the success of the school district and I will continue to be a present and active member of the community. My wife, Jaime, is also a teacher at Vantage Career Center so I can relate firsthand with some of the challenges that teachers face. I feel that running for School Board is a great way to be involved in a very important part of the lives of our children.

There are a couple of different areas that I would like to focus on. I want to utilize technology in the classroom to its fullest extent. Choosing the best technology and implementing it into the classroom will position our kids for success in an ever-changing environment. I want to also make sure that our resources are being used as efficiently as possible. Funds coming into the school system, whether they be from grants or tax dollars or anywhere else, should be utilized in ways that provide the greatest benefit to our children. Lastly, we need to find ways to balance teachers' expertise with the requirements of standardized testing. We need open dialogue with teachers to see what is needed for success and what improvements could be made. At the end of the day, it truly should be letting the teachers teach while keeping children engaged to achieve positive meaningful results.

I would like to thank everyone for reading this and I look forward to your vote this election.

—Mitchell Kipfer, Payne, OH

GRANDPA NEEDS A PICKUP TRUCK

By: Stan Jordan

Yes, it is about half necessity and half a luxury, but grandpa needs a truck. Now he doesn't need a big four door with an extended cab like one of those $50,000 jobs, fact is he might even like a small one. He doesn't even need a radio in it, just a good engine, heater and maybe an a/c. He doesn't need a/c but his riders will.

When his wife is using the family car, he can crawl into the pickup and go off to where he wants to, at the speed he wants.

Now some of the grandchildren have a license and will borrow grandpa's truck. They won't be caught dead in it, but it beats walking. Then when grandpa is taking the young ones fishing, all the gear goes in the back of the truck. When young Joe has a job trimming the neighbor's hedges, he borrows grandpa's truck and gas.

To grandpa, a good pickup is as welcome as an extra youngen. There is a natural friendship between man and truck.

When you go through the drive-thru if you don't give the change to the girl, you can put it in the door handle. In the glove box, all that is in there is the insurance card, the registration and maybe a clean shop towel.

The chores that gramps can do with the old pickup are endless. He has an eight cylinder engine and the mileage around town is not very good, but what the heck...he has worked hard all his life and this old pickup is his toy...another right arm and the second best thing for him in the world. Yes it has a couple of dents, some rust and some one else's paint and scratches and has seen better days, but it is still his truck.

That reminds me of an old ditty:

You've got to quit kicking my dog around every time I come to town.

I don't care if he is a hound, you've got to quit kicking my dog around.

See ya!

MY NEW BALL CAP

By: Stan Jordan

Kenny Hahn, Tim Derck and some others boys went down to Cincinnati on September 20th to see the radio announcer, Marty Brennaman's last day as the Red's announcer and color commentator after 43 years. The Reds played the Milwaukee Brewers and got beat 5 - 3.

I have been a Reds fan as long as I can remember. I guess about all I can recall is Ernie Lombardi was the catcher about 1939 - 40 - 41. I remember the series of 1941, I was a senior and Mr. Bell was the superintendent and told me to come up to the office and listen to the World Series, because they had a small radio there. I did listen to the game, but I don't think the Reds done very well, I just don't remember. Oh yes, I forgot to tell you, Kenny Hahn bought me a new Reds ball cap. The Reds have fallen on bad times these last few years. I wish Santa Claus would bring them about 3 good starting pitchers and a number of good relievers from the bullpen.

I know the Reds can do better, they have lived in the cellar long enough. A couple of good hitters would also help. They have the nicest stadium in the league but that doesn't win you ball games.

Maybe me getting this new cap will help...they can use help.

Well, fast forward some....no the cap didn't help.

See ya!

NOT BASS FISHING

By: Stan Jordan

Along about 1980 - 81, this story was taking place down on Lake Istokpoga just a few miles south of Sebring in Florida.

A good friend of mine, Mr. Mason, had an older type pleasure boat almost 9 feet wide and 19 feet long and he had a 2 X 4 mouth across the rear of the boat and holders for four fishing rods and a 15 horsepower, outboard motor that would really tick along at a slow rate, just right for trolling along for crappies. In Florida they're called speckled perch, they are black and white in color.

We would go slow across the lake with a minnow on each hook trolling for crappies. They were not biting this day; there were three of us, Mr. Mason, my grandson, Eric, and myself. We fished long and hard, but it was a nice warm day in February.

We finally caught on and we had Eric to bring it in. I suppose it was eleven or twelve inches long, but as it was the only one we caught, we put the fish back in the lake.

When we got back to the bank, when Eric showed his grandma the size of his catch, his hands were at least two feet apart. I knew, then, by his report, it would be a good true fisherman.

See ya!

A man brings his best buddy home for dinner... unannounced at 7:30 p.m. after work.

His wife begins screaming at him and his friend just sits and listens.

Wife: "My hair and makeup are not done, the house is a mess, the dishes are not done, I'm still in my pajamas and I can't be bothered with cooking tonight! Why the hell did you bring him home?!"

Husband: "Because he's thinking of getting married and I promised him a demo!"

A woman had 50 yard line tickets for the Super Bowl. As she sat down a man came along and asked if anyone is sitting in the seat next to her, "No," she said, "the seat is empty."

"This is incredible," said the man. "Who in their right mind would have a seat like this for the Super Bowl, the biggest sporting event in the world, and not use it?"

Somberly, the woman says, "Well...the seat actually belongs to me. I was supposed to come here with my husband, but he passed away. This is the first Super Bowl we have not been to together since we got married in 1967."

"Oh, I'm sorry to hear that, that's terrible. But couldn't you find someone else - a friend, or relative or even a neighbor to take the seat?"

The woman shakes her head: "No, they're all at the funeral."

A wife treats hubby by taking him to a strip club for his birthday...at the club, the doorman says, "Hi Jim, how are you?" The wife asks, "How does he know you?"

Antwerpian Staff

By: Stan Jordan

This picture was given to me by Sue Fowler. I assume it was taken in the spring of 1941...everyone here is a junior or a senior, except the little fellows on the end. I have no idea who those boys are. I know all of the adults except two ...the one face is hidden and I just can't come up with the other girl's name.

Jim says, "Oh dear, I play football with him."

Inside, the bartender says, "The usual Jim?" Jim says to his wife, "Before you say anything, he's on the dart team."

Next a stripper says, "Hi Jim! Do you crave the special again?"

The wife storms out, dragging Jim with her and jumps into a taxi...

The taxi driver says, "He Jimmy Boy!! You picked up an ugly one this time..."

Jim's funeral is on Sunday!

"Mr. Clark, I have reviewed this case very carefully," the divorce court judge said, "and I have decided to give your wife $755 a week."

"That's very fair, your honor," the husband said, "and every now and then I'll try to send her a few bucks myself."

Devil shows up in church and everyone runs out but an old man. Devil says, "Why don't you run? Aren't you afraid of me?" Old man says, "Nope, married your sister."

Did you know?

in league play and outscored conference opponents 290-26 with six shutouts.

PUMPKIN SMASH VOLLEYBALL TOURNAMENT AT MAC GYM

The annual "Pumpkin Smash" volleyball tournament was again played at the MAC Gymnasium. As is the tournament tradition four fall league teams return to join four new opponents in the tournament. League teams Edgerton 6th grade, Fairview, Edgerton 5th grade and Napoleon joined new comers Stryker, Defiance Tinora, Woodburn Lutheran and Rockford Parkway.

Edgerton 6th grade opened the day with quick work of Tinora 25-11; 25-22 while Napoleon and Woodburn Lutheran battled to overtime with Napoleon edging out Woodburn 25-19; 13-25; 16-14. The next hour provided Parkway with a three set win over Fairview 25-12; 23-25; 15-8 while Stryker made quick work of Edgerton 5th grade 25-19; 25-17.

In the semi-finals Napoleon again went three sets to earn a victory 24-26: 25-21; 15-12 as Parkway wiped Stryker 25-7; 25-8. In the championship game Parkway just proved to be just too strong as they beat Napoleon in two quick sets 25-12; 25-13 to earn the honor of Pumpkin Smash 2019 champions.

In consolation game play, Woodburn beat Tinora 25-23; 25-13; beat Stryker 25-14-25-12 and beat Fairview 25-18; 25-12 to earn a 3rd place finish. Fairview defeated Edgerton 5th grade 25-9; 25-7 then beat Edgerton 6th grade in three great sets 22-25; 25-17; 15-13 while Tinora beat Edgerton 5th grade 25-12; 25-18.

BULLDOGS HEAD OFF RAIDERS

EDGERTON - After a tightly contested first half that had the home team Bulldogs leading Wayne Trace 30-25, it was all Edgerton in the second half. The Bulldogs shut out the Raiders 30-0 to take the Green Meadows Conference tussle 60-25. With the win the Bulldogs improve to 7-2 overall and 3-2 in GMC play and keep their slim play-off hopes alive.

In the first quarter the Raiders managed to take an early lead when Edgerton's Brayson Parrish fumbled the ball over to the Raiders near mid field. Wayne Trace responded with a four-play drive capped off with Trevor Speice hitting receiver Alex Reinhart on a 40-yard pass play to put the Raiders on the board first 7-0.

The Bulldogs would answer and come right back with their own six-play drive covering 57-yards of real estate. The Bulldogs found the end zone when Jaron Cape spotted Logan Showalter for a 25-yard touchdown toss to even the score at seven a piece.

Still in the first quarter, near the five-minute mark Speice powered his way across the goal line on a two-yard play to put the Raiders back on top 13-7 which would be the score at the end of the first period.

In the second quarter, Edgerton exploded for two touchdowns when Kolby Stark took it to the house on an interception followed by a Hunter Price touchdown. Edgerton would lead 22-13 but the Raiders would answer. For the second time in the contest Speice would team up with his favorite receiver, Alex Reinhart, for a 12-yard touchdown reception to trim the Bulldog lead to three at 22-19.

Unfortunately for the Raiders, Edgerton would find the end zone prior to half time. Prince would light up the scoreboard on a nine-yard rumble to keep the Bulldogs in control 30-19. But the Raiders were not ready to pack it just yet, Wayne Trace went back to what was working for them - a touchdown connection between Speice and Reinhart for a seven yard score. The duo featuring Speice and Reinhart was good for three touchdowns in the first half.

The second half had no resemblance to the first as the Bulldogs scored 30 unanswered points. The Bulldogs delivered three touchdowns in the third period with Prince leading the way with TD runs of three and 18 yards. The third score for the winners came when Gannon Ripke alertly picked up a blocked punt and raced 35 yards for a touchdown. Prince would capped the night off with a short dive into the end zone for the final score of the night.

Prince led the Bulldogs offense with 326 rushing yards on 29 carries. While the Bulldogs had their way on the ground the Raiders struggled with just 28 yards of offense in the second quarter. Both Raider QB's, Speice and Nate Gerber, were sidelined due to injuries in the second half. Speice would finish with 62 rushing yards on 14 totes while gaining 13 passing yards on 9-19 passes. Reinhart finished with six grabs for 92 yards.

The Raiders will be home for their final regular season game when they host Hicksville for homecoming.

BLAZERS END SEASON FOR WARRIORS

WOODBURN - For over two quarters Friday night, the battle between Eastside and Woodlan was a defensive gem as both teams were putting up shutouts.

Eastside, though, broke through in the third quarter with a pair of scores and made them stand up in a 21-0 victory over the Warriors to bring an end to the Woodlan football season.

Blazer sophomore quarterback Laban Davis tossed a 61-yard scoring strike to a streaking Wade Miller to break up the shutout and put Eastside on top 7-0.

Davis added a two-yard plunge for a touchdown later in the third quarter to widen the Eastside lead to 14-0.

Ethan Farnsworth also found the end zone for the Blazers, scooting in from three yards out to set the final margin at 21-0.

Woodlan's best scoring opportunity came in its initial possession of the contest as the Warriors drove inside the Eastside ten yard line. However, the Blazers put up a goal line stand and stopped Woodlan on fourth and goal to keep the Warriors off of the scoreboard.

The Warriors close out the season with a record of 3-7 overall while finishing 3-3 in ACAC action.

Woodlan averaged 11.8 points per game this season and gave up 24.1 points a night. The Warriors' seven losses came to teams with a combined record of 58-10 overall this season.

PAULDING COUNTY DEMONSTRATES POWER OF WIND

Paulding County officials visit the new wind farm under construction! More pictures at westbendnews.net

On Friday, October 25 the Paulding County Commissioners hosted representatives and commissioners from around the state of Ohio along with Paulding County officials right here at the new wind farm called Paulding Wind Farm IV (5th Project). This new project will be adding 31 turbines to the area.

The event started at the Paulding County OSU Extension building with County Commissioner Tony Zartman reviewing the progress of the wind farms over the last 10 years.

It all began back in May of 2010 when SB 232 passed in Columbus. Five days later Paulding County became an alternative energy zone allowing it to be accessible to other forms of energy and soon to be the leading county in the state in renewable energy. Within 6 months the county entered into the first agreement with a wind farm. This helped the county come back from the 2007-2008 recession that had the offices closing on Fridays just to make ends meet.

Now, 10 years later, there will be 213 turbines when the latest farm is completed and a county capacity of 505 megawatts.

Multiple companies are investing in the county including CMS, and EDP Renewables, in an amount that exceeds $800,000,000. Farmers have been harvesting the wind now even if they cannot harvest grain.

85th District Representative Nino Vitale from Urbana, OH said, "It's nice to see it all work together in Paulding County." Vitale commented that there is a lot of pushback in other parts of the state concerning wind energy. He has attended other meetings across the state and realizes that Paulding is much more progressive when it comes to technology and alternative energy than other areas.

Ben Winans, Wayne Trace Superintendent, explained how he appreciates the funds for the school district. The new revenue has allowed the district to have funds to hire staff members without increases in cost to the taxpayer. There has been a boost in school grades since the wind farm revenue has started to come of just several years ago. The District Report Card in certain areas has gone from an "F" to an "A" with the latest mark of "B". Funds from wind farm has helped the most vulnerable in the District. It has also helped to upgrade the facilities in ADA compliance.

Following the discussion, a dinner was served by Grants Catering of Antwerp, Ohio.

A Wind Farm Tour began after dinner with Wayne Trace and Antwerp schools both contributing their buses for service transportation. The group went to a site between Antwerp and Paulding and looked up close at the site construction project. The construction has been delayed due to some of the parts being held up in sea ports near Texas. Many of the parts are now on site and they have been moving forward each day.

The highly visible crane that can be seen for miles is 380' tall now, but will be taller once the tower is completed and the turbine is lifted into place. Right now, the crane weighs about 1.4 million pounds.

The wind farm tax dollars for 2019 will total about 7.5% of the county budget - all of which helps with infrastructure, county services, among others. The property owner payments are just over $3,000,000 this year alone.

Every Paulding County resident has benefitted in some way from improved roads, capitol improvements to county facilities, increased Sheriff services and county employee pay and benefits, improvements in schools, EMS and Fire services and much more.

Paulding County's success story for the wind farms is a model for other counties in the state in ways that benefit entire communities with the need for TIF's (Tax Increment Financing subsidies), seeing benefits nearly immediately.

PANTHERS OUTSCORE BULLDOGS 70-40

ADA - Paulding outscored host Ada in every quarter as the Panthers posted a 70-40 win over the Bulldogs Friday night in Northwest Conference football action.

The maroon and white took a 15-6 lead after one quarter before expanding it to 37-20 at the midway point.

Paulding widened the margin to 55-34 at the end of three periods.

The Panthers totaled 556 yards of offense in the contest with 503 rushing yards leading the way.

Jacob Deisler racked up 330 rushing yards and five touchdowns on 33 carries in the contest while Fernando Garcia added 122 yards on ten attempts with two scores.

Quarterback Payton Beckman completed all of his passes for 53 yards.

Paulding closes the season on Friday with a road trip to Crestview as both teams come into the game at 4-5 overall and 3-3 in the league.

The Panthers are looking for their first victory over the Knights since 2010 when Paulding defeated Crestview 36-22 at Keysor Field.

Playing for the final time in a Panther football uniform will be Evan Edwards, Jacob Deisler, Seth Dysinger, Jacob King, Riley Coil, Cole Mabis, Owen Carnahan and Brandon Jackson.

Saturday, October 12th, Harlan Christian School Lady Hawks hosted the Dig-it Tournament. The morning games were pretty rough for the Lady Hawks. The Hawks played Emmanuel Christian at 9:00 a.m. The Hawks lost the first set, won the second and lost the third. They had a short break as Emmanuel then faced off against the NWO Cougars. Emmanuel won that game which put them as the one seed and also sent them to the championship game.

Then the Lady Hawks played NWO and lost again in three sets. This loss put NWO as the second seed and the Lady Hawks as the third seed team. So next the second and third seed teams played each other for the chance to go to the championship game. The Lady Hawks came into bracket play and controlled the game and won in two sets.

This put Harlan in the Championship game against the Emmanuel Eagles. Harlan Christian Lady Hawks took control and won the tournament 25-11 and 25-22.

Stat totals for the tournament were as follows:

Faith Shenkel had 125 assists, 49 serves made, 14 aces, 12 kills, and 1 block Lydia Miesle had 98 assists, 37 serves made, 7 aces, 19 kills

GROWING GIANT PUMPKINS

I took my 8-year-old to a pumpkin show over the weekend and we saw giant, near record-sized pumpkins on display. Now my son wants to grow giant pumpkins like that in our backyard. Is that possible?

Well, with the right seed, using the proper growing techniques in the right conditions, maybe.

Even first-time growers are capable of growing pumpkins in excess of 400 pounds if the seeds you choose to plant are the Atlantic Giant variety, which are available at numerous garden centers and catalogs, according to Mike Estadt, educator, Ohio State University Extension.

"To grow pumpkins in excess of half a ton, it all begins with superior genetics," Estadt wrote in Growing Giant Pumpkins in the Home Garden, a new Ohioline fact sheet.

Ohioline is OSU Extension's free online information resource and can be found at ohioline.osu.edu. OSU Extension is the outreach arm of The Ohio State University College of Food, Agricultural, and Environmental Sciences.

Generally speaking, some of the other things to consider when growing pumpkins in your backyard, Estadt says, include the following.

Site selection and planting: Each pumpkin plant should be allowed 1,000 square feet of growing space in an area that has several hours of daily sunlight and access to water, considering that pumpkins require large amounts of water.

Fertilizer and lime: When planting, you'll need to have the soil tested to determine whether lime and fertilizers are needed based on your soil requirements.

Planting and space requirements: The pumpkin seeds should be planted individually in 12-inch peat pots indoors in April and can be transferred to the ground when the first true leaf is fully expanded, typically 10-14 days after seeding. Once planted outside, they can be protected from frost using row covers, or a small greenhouse.

Irrigation: Pumpkins have shallow roots, so they will need to be watered slowly with at least 1 inch of water per week if your area doesn't experience an adequate amount of rainfall.

Insects and diseases: An insect and disease control program should be initiated when you transplant the pumpkin plants from the pots to the ground. This is because once a bacterial or viral infection has occurred, there is no way to stop it. And several pests are attracted to pumpkins, including striped cucumber beetles, squash bugs, and squash vine borer.

Pollination: While hand pollination is the preferred method to fruit-setting, natural pollination by honey bees, squash bees, and bumble bees will also work well.

Shade: Once the pumpkins get to a certain size, they need to be protected from direct sunlight. For example, you can use a bedsheet draped over the pumpkin, leaving the stem exposed.

If you do choose to grow pumpkins, you'll be in good company here in Ohio. The Buckeye State is one of the top producers of the large, carving type of pumpkins, usually ranking between third or fourth among states for pumpkin production, according to the Ohio Department of Agriculture, with more than 66 million pounds of pumpkin produced statewide last year.

And, from a nutritional standpoint, pumpkins are an excellent, healthy food because they are low in calories, are full of potassium and antioxidants, and the seeds make excellently nutritious and tasty snacks.

In consideration of the cessions made in the first article of this convention, the United States agree to cause the band of Ottawas residing on Blanchard's fork, and at Oquanoxa's village, as aforesaid, consisting of about 200 souls, to be removed, in a convenient and suitable manner, to the western side of the Mississippi River; and will grant, by patent in fee simple, to them and their heirs for ever, as long as they shall exist as a nation, and remain upon the same, a tract of land to contain thirty-four thousand acres, to be located adjoining the south or west line of the reservation equal to 50 miles square, granted to the Shawnees of Missouri and Ohio on the Kansas river and its branches, by the treaty made at St. Louis, November 7, 1825.

ARTICLE IV. The United States will defray the expense of the removal of the band of Ottoways, and will moreover supply them with

NUTRIENT NEEDS AND SOIL HEALTH

By Patrick Troyer, Paulding SWCD

In recent years, an intense focus has been placed on excess nutrients making their way into our streams, rivers, and lake leading to algae blooms becoming a problem. It is not necessarily the nutrients themselves that we are placing our concern on, it is when these nutrients show up in excessive amounts when the alarm bells sound. Algae blooms block sunlight from reaching into the water and deplete oxygen levels which harms fish and other aquatic life in the water as well as our enjoyment of the water.

Soil health and managing nutrients have been of interest as a result. Many extension professionals, soil & water conservation staff, and policymakers have connected soil health as one of the main strategies for keeping that phosphorus in the field and out of the waterways. There is also immense interest in taking a unique perspective on soil and looking at it as a living system with a variety of physical, chemical, and biological aspects. For a long time, those involved in the agricultural industry understand the importance of having a strong physical structure to their soil. The No-Till Farmer writes that producers and soil experts have developed appreciated for the ability of the soil to allow rainwater to infiltrate down the profile and hold said water for plants to be able to utilize. Even though these properties are not a new concept for anyone, they come into play when we focus on phosphorus losses.

A study conducted by researchers at Ohio State University suggests that soil phosphorus levels in agricultural fields have been in decline between 1993 and 2015 in at least 80% of the counties in Ohio. Researchers Steve Culman and Elizabeth Dayton from OSU feel the results play well for those throughout Ohio who are focusing their efforts to maintain good water quality while also upholding adequate agricultural production. Culman and Dayton also point out that the decline farmers throughout Ohio are most certainly doing their part to keep phosphorus in the field and out of our waterways.

One of the most important things that come into play when it comes to nutrient application with phosphorus is to first soil test the field to see if phosphorus is needed in the first place. The soil test might suggest that there are adequate amounts already in the soil so additional application may not be warranted. Soil tests could also help to determine if phosphorus is needed, how much of it will be needed to obtain the desired yield for the crop but not overloading the soil. Overloading soils is where we see our problems with phosphorus making its way into waterways or leaching into the soil arising.

Overall, the No-Till farmer continues to stress that soil health is a concept that deserves our focus since some of the practices that it promotes such as conservation tillage, cover crops, crop rotation are ones that are more than helpful to keeping nutrients in the field and preventing degradation of the soil. Soil health practices cannot simply solve all the problems when it comes to avoiding loss of phosphorus. No-Till Farmer notes that as stewards of the land, we need to combine our soil health management techniques with proper placement, rate, and timing of our nutrient application. Nutrients are needed to grow healthy crops, but it is very critical to remember to be good stewards of the land and knowing what we have before moving forward with applying.

ANN'S BRIGHT BEGINNINGS SUPPORT LIGHTS ON AFTER SCHOOL

Shown here are just a few of our after school kiddos: top: Andros Isidoro, Levi Athy, and Isaac Miller. Bottom: Maria Isidoro, Da'Lonnice Banks and Kamden Laney. We love our kids!!!

Ann's Bright Beginnings is helping to spread the word about the importance of quality afterschool programming! We have joined the YWCA CCR&R (Child Care Resource & Referral) to participate in the only national rally for afterschool programs. On October 24, 2019, millions of people across the country turned their lights on for after school and we were a part of it! We also colored a light bulb provided by the YWCA and stated why we love our after school program.

PHS COMMUNITY SERVICE DAY AT BLACK SWAMP NATURE CENTER

Students are working on applying a protective stain to one of the docks at the Black Swamp Nature Center.

Paulding High School and Paulding Soil & Water Conservation District (SWCD) once again collaborated to hold a Community Service Workday at the Black Swamp Nature Center. Over 350 students in grades 9-12 from Paulding High School and their teachers braved the cool fall weather to make a big difference in their local community. This is the second community service day that has been done by the students.

No task was too big or small for the students as they completed many projects that they and their fellow community members can enjoy for many years to come. One of the most notable projects is the installation of a three-hole disc golf course throughout the grounds of the Black Swamp Nature Center. Students helped to prep everything for the installation of the disc golf holes from prepping holes for the bases to painting signs to mark the holes. This project was funded thanks to donations to the Friends of the Black Swamp Nature Center through the Paulding County Area Foundation.

Other projects completed by the students and staff include: spread mulch on trails and around landscaping, cut new trail for access to Old Meadow Trail, cut back cedars and invasive vines, trim trails, prune around building, remove invasive woody plants, plant bulbs, attach tree ID tags, pick up litter, remove flaking paint from front sign, relocate around 30 LARGE landscape rocks from brush area to building, pull teasel weeds and roots, mount 4 "no gun" signs, mount 2 bat boxes, stain large dock and bench, remove screens and clean windows in building, dust items in building, move picnic table to pavement, mulch front sign, watered new native garden, moving brush piles.

Paulding SWCD and Paulding High School are proud to partner together on this worthwhile project. Be sure to stop out to the Black Swamp Nature Center and see their hard work!

ANTWERP'S CiSTEM STUDENTS RESEARCH PLASTICS

Over the past few weeks, students have been researching plastics and petroleum-based products in Mr. Wade Sisson's CiSTEM class (Careers in Science, Technology, Engineering, and Math) at Antwerp High School. This week, however, students explored alternative fuel sources like biodiesel. Students made a crude form of biodiesel from canola oil and then combusted that biodiesel to see how effective it was at heating and boiling water.

LOCAL MIDDLE SCHOOLERS DRESS LIKE A LINEMAN AT NORTH WESTERN ELECTRIC COOPERATIVE'S ENERGY DAY

Nearly 100 middle schoolers watch North Western Electric Cooperative's high-voltage safety demonstration, where a hot dog was lit on fire and proper technique for exiting a vehicle near downed power lines was demonstrated.

BRYAN, OH — HIGH-voltage safety demonstrations, solar field tours, bucket truck shows, "dress like a lineman" games, and interactive presentations answering the following: What is a cooperative, and what does it take to keep the lights on? Nearly 200 Fairview and Hilltop middle schoolers did all this and more at North Western Electric Cooperative's Energy Day, a special educational day for Be E3 Smart students packed with hands-on activities.

The Be E3 Smart program aims to harness students' curiosity about energy and inspire innovation and leadership. The program's three E's stand for energy, efficiency, and education; its goal is to help middle school teachers show their students the power of energy in their everyday lives. The Ohio Energy Project (a nonprofit based in Worthington) sponsors the middle school teachers' curriculum, and NWECC sponsors various energy efficiency items for students to use at home. This ensures hands-on experiments with every lesson, plus a take-home component students can show their parents and families. These items include low-flow showerheads, LED lightbulbs, weather sealing strips, and more.

Students attending Energy Day rotated between four stations, learning about NWECC's generation portfolio, renewable energy, electric safety, the co-op business model, and how linemen climb poles and work to restore power after outages. Students were also able to put on linemen gear and gloves, racing their teammates to finish a series of tasks.

The takeaway? All the gear linemen wear can make even simple tasks much harder, adding bulk and a need for improved coordination and strength. (See a video of one Fairview student playing the game here.)

One thing is for sure: the students and staff alike had an "electrifying" day! To see NWECC's full photo gallery on Facebook, click here. You can also view the highlight reel video here.

To learn more about Be E3 Smart, visit www.ohio-energy.org. You can also call NWECC at 800-647-6932 or go to www.nwecc.com.

By: Kaitlyn Zeedyk, Fairview FFA

On September 11, members of the Fairview FFA chapter attended the annual Soil and Water Banquet in Defiance. There, Kaitlyn Zeedyk helped recite the FFA Creed with FFA members from Tinora and Ayersville FFA. Clair Shininger helped with the Pledge of Allegiance along with members of Tinora and Ayersville FFA. The members that attended this banquet included Brooke Philips, Clair Shininger, Carrie Zeedyk, and Kaitlyn Zeedyk. The main speaker for that night was Aaron Wilson. "I am an Atmospheric Scientist at The Ohio State University (OSU), holding a joint appointment as a Research Scientist at the Byrd Polar & Climate Research Center (BP-CRC) and OSU Extension-the outreach arm of the College of Food, Agricultural, and Environmental Sciences. I am also a contributing member to the State Climate Office of Ohio. As a nearly life-long Ohioan, I was inspired from a young age by the power of weather and have followed my passion with a deep commitment to this region. I have more than eight years of experience using state-of-the-art numerical models to solve weather- and climate-related research questions." While listening to Aaron Wilson, the members that attended were able to take from his speech ideas for science fair projects. We came home with multiple ideas that members could do for a science fair project in February. On September 30th, members from our chapter helped Ray Woodring of Sherwood Ohio with his yearly sorghum harvest. These members were, Clair Shininger, Bailey Schooley, Brooke, and Logan Hardy, Blake Zeedyk, Kaitlyn, and Brady Zeedyk. These members learned how the sorghum is turned into molasses while enjoying some fresh molasses cookies. Molasses was their sugar during the war times. The sorghum that we cut done was used for demonstration purposes at the Auglaize Village. This community service was a great way to learn about the history of sorghum and molasses and how to help one another.
