LIFEWISE - PAULDING EX-EMPTED NOW ENROLLING FOR FALL 2021

Bible-based character education program to start at Paulding Elementary this fall

Paulding, Ohio - This fall, Paulding Elementary will launch a program that will provide character education to students.

After months of planning and preparation, LifeWise -Paulding Exempted is preparing to launch. Once a week, students will be escorted to the Paulding United Methodist Church Fellowship Hall school hours to participate in interactive lessons about the Bible. Each lesson relates a Bible passage to a relevant character trait that the students are encouraged to practice in their families and communities. The program will not only strengthen students' character develop-ment and mental health, but it will also benefit educators' efforts to build strong students in their classrooms.

Paulding Elementary students will have their first LifeWise lesson on September 7th. Twenty-three parents have already enrolled their kids in the program, and the leadership team expects enrollments to grow significantly as the school year approaches.

LifeWise Academy is a Released Time Religious Instruction (RTRI) program that provides character-focused, Bible-based education

CECIL COMMUNITY CHURCH GETS A SIGN

Church (CCC), 203 S. Main St, Cecil Ohio 45821 419-564-8383 will host 2 concerts in August 2021. The West Bend produced sign is designed for certain things to show from the road driving by and details appear when walking by the sign. The copyrighted stain glass window is visible from the road, yet a description of each symbol on the stain glass window is visible when standing near the sign. The church in the Cecil Community made use of local experts to make the sign with certain specifications for being able to still slide letters in the sign and keep it permanent on the name and information. This is a great way to communicate. West Bend Printing & Publishing has been making signs and vinyl for years along with other printed products.

CCC offers Sunday School at 10 AM & Sunday Worship 11 AM with different activities on Sunday Evening. The First Sunday 6 PM is always a prayer meeting. Anyone may come to receive prayer for else. Requests may be texted to 419-564-8383 The Third Saturday is food pantry hours 12 noon to 3 PM and emergency food is available weekly following the 11 AM Worship Service on Sundays. Various small groups are offered throughout the year. Living free groups are offered to help people deal with life controlling problems. A Thursday group 7 PM helps people stay sober, have a sound mind and think clearly about life. Morse Family Gospel

PARSON TO PERSON

By: Dr. James Bachman

I have heard people mention something about praying a hedge of thorns around someone. Where do they get that and what does it mean?

The hedge of thorns is mentioned in Hosea 2:6, "Therefore, behold, I will hedge up thy way with thorns, and make a wall, that she shall not find her paths." The children of Israel had been very wayward at that time and they found it very easy to walk in their evil paths. So God, in love, decided to provide some divine restraints to help prevent His people from so easily falling into their old ways. I think it is great to know that God can do this sort of thing. Thus, we should take advantage of this for ourselves and those we love by daily asking and believing God for a hedge of thorns, which will help us

DECISIONS OR DIVINE IN-

Penny For Your Thoughts By: Nancy Whitaker

Every day, we literally make tens of thousands big and small decisions, consciously or unconsciously. From priorities we set at work, to stories we tell, from which shirt to wear, to what we have for dinner. Now these are not big decisions, they are simple choices we make such as: "What do I want for breakfast? Do I want tea or coffee? Do I even want breakfast?

Then we decide, "Do I want to take a bath or shower? Should I pack my lunch? Should I eat out? Oh my! What should I wear today? How should I do my hair? Shall I wear a jacket or a sweater?

These every day choices we make may only effect us, but sometimes even these choices can alter your life or someone else's. For instance here is a scenario of what happened to a man when he was preparing for work. The story goes: "It's a sunny day in Midland, Texas, in 1954. It's 8:00 am and the man is about to leave for work. He walks out of his home, closes the door behind himself and walks towards his car. While he opens the car door, he notices he is not wearing his watch. He thinks for a couple of seconds and decides to go back in the house and retrieve it from the kitchen table. At 8:01 am he walks out again, to his car, heading for another day at work. A mere 30 seconds later, he hits a young boy crossing the street, because he failed to notice the child. The child is Now, look at the other pic-

Now, look at the other picture. This is the same scenario, but a different outcome. Instead of making the decision to go back in and get his watch, the man decides that he didn't really need a watch that day, drove away and headed for another day at work. Approximately 30 seconds later, he looks in his rearview mirror and sees a young child crossing the street. The man goes on without his watch and the child goes on his way to school. The child is alive.

Let's assume the second scenario actually happened. The child would grow up, and as a young man, gets married (which would not have happened had he been killed in a car accident) to a girl he met at a barbecue (where he would not have been had he been killed in a car accident). Had he actually been killed in a car accident, it is likely that the girl would have married someone else.

Now that same couple had two daughters, twins, which they would not have gotten had he been killed in a car accident when he was a child; the young man went into politics and had quite an impact on his country and the world, which would not have happened had he been killed in a car accident when he was a child.

Small decisions (or the lack thereof) have the potential to change the course of your life and the lives of others, and potentially the entire world. This doesn't mean we have to ponder each decision we make each day. That would set us nuts. But it doesn't hurt to think through this concept and become more aware of the processes that lead to different outcomes.

I have read and heard about how a gut feeling not to take a certain flight or travel at a certain time has resulted in what I like to call divine intervention. In a lot of these cases the airplane crashed or there was a pileup on the highway. Again decisions have the power to impact.

When looking at it from a different perspective, doing something small for another person can have a great positive impact on one's life. Recently while playing music at a restaurant, I went up to pay my bill. I still don't know why, but I paid for one of the musicians pie and coffee. I just felt like doing it.

He was amazed that I had paid for his food. Actually it made his day because he had just helped another person by doing a good deed. We discussed how it all played out and how that sometimes when you do good things for people, good things will return. Even little decisions can help someone and sometimes little decisions and circumstances can harm or hinder someone.

Did you ever make a very small decision that, in the end, had enormous good things return to you? Do you believe that certain decisions we make can impact someone's life? Decisions, choices, divine intervention? Let me know and I'll give you a Penny for Your Thoughts.

MILITARY HISTORY IN PAULDING COUNTY

By: Mark Holtsberry

Nathan Wyatt was a prosperous agriculturist and stock raiser of Latty Township. He was known for being one of the leading citizens in the area and was born November 10, 1844, in Wilkes County, North Carolina to David and Parmelia (Winkler) Wyatt.

His family was one of the oldest families of North Carolina. David and Parmelia, or Milly as she was known, raised eight sons and six daughters. Nathan's opportunities for receiving an education were limited, so most, who knew him, would say Nathan was a self-educated man.

When war between the states or Civil War broke out,

October 19, 1863, at Camp Holmes, Raleigh, North Carolina, Nathan was drafted into the Confederate Army. He served in Company D. 26th North Carolina Infantry. Other records show that the date was November 19, 1863.

On April 28, 1864, Nathan got sick and was allowed to come home. Other records show that he went home and never returned to the Company, thus listing him as absent without leave, or AWOL. He had served six months and eighteen days.

In 1868, Nathan left his home in the mountains of North Carolina and walked some three hundred miles to Catlettsburg, Kentucky; came by boat to Cincinnati; traveled by train from Cincinnati to Belfountain, Ohio. From there, he made his way on foot to Covington, Miami County, Ohio. When he arrived, in his possessions were two suits of clothes, five dollars in silver and the same amount in gold.

Nathan became a farm laborer and worked in Newberry for about seven years in the tile making business. It has been said, that Nathan worked at a tile mill, in Van Wert County, called Hattlery Tile Mill. In April of 1872 Nathan's father, David, passed away, followed by his mother Parmelia, in 1878.

Nathan married Sarah c. Fristoe, December 21, 1876. She was the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Fristoe of Shelby County, Ohio. In 1877,

If you're in the early stages of your career, you're probably not thinking much about retirement. Nonetheless, it's never too soon to start preparing for it, as time may be your most valuable asset. So, you may want to consider retirement savings vehicles, one of which is an IRA. Depending on your income, you might have the choice between a traditional IRA and a Roth IRA. Which is better for you?

There's no one correct answer for everyone. But the more you know about the two IRAs, the more confident you'll be when choosing one.

First of all, the IRAs share some similarities. You can fund either one with many types of investments - stocks, bonds, mutual funds and so on. And the contribution limit is also the same - you can put in up to $6,000 a year. (Those older than 50 can put in an additional $1,000.) If you earn over a certain amount, though, your ability to contribute to a Roth IRA is reduced. In 2021, you can put in the full $6,000 if your modified adjusted gross income (MAGI) is less than $125,000 and you're single, or $198,000 if you're married and file jointly. The amount you can contribute gradually declines, and is eventually limited, at higher income levels.

But the two IRAs differ greatly in how they are taxed. Traditional IRA contributions are typically tax-deductible (subject to income limitations), and any earnings growth is tax-deferred, with taxes due when you take withdrawals. With a Roth IRA, though, your contributions are never tax-deductible - instead, you contribute after-tax dollars. Any earnings growth is tax-free when withdrawn, provided you've had your account at least five years and

LONGTIME EACS TEACHER AND FIRST GRADE CLASS RE-GONIZED FOR NATIONAL AWARD

The EACS Board of School Trustees recently recognized Ms. Karen Augustine, and her first-grade class at Cedarville Elementary School for being finalists in the 2020-2021 National Book Challenge!

As a finalist in the oneand-only National Book Challenge, Ms. Augustine's classbook was selected from entries across the country and awarded as a Top 50 book based on its originality, creative storyline, and colorful illustrations. This nationwide contest was open to more than 60,290 books that were submitted to Studentreasures for free publishing this school

For this honor, her class will receive a $50 gift card, plus a published author certificate for each student (26 of them). Each of the first-grade authors were recognized for their contributions to their book, "Super Special Me!," which was published earlier this year through Studentreasures' free publishing pro-

Ms. Augustine and her students created "Super Special Me!", when they were inspired by how they see themselves and what they want to be when they grow up. The firstgrade authors put forth their best effort, researching, writing about, and illustrating their all about me book, before they sent their completed pages to be published. Ms. Augustine said, "Helping to build up my first graders' self-confidence was an important component and taking time to have the kids create their own book pages celebrating ways they are unique and special, and then having all their hard work and effort published into hardcover and softcover bound books, was a wonderful way to do just that! Witnessing the comments and squeals of delight in themselves and their work was priceless. The class book, "Super Special Me!" is a precious keepsake that they can open and enjoy again and

PAULDING COUNTY HEALTH DEPARTMENT URGES RES-IDENTS TO GET VACCI-NATED

WHEREAS, the Paulding County Health Department has an obligation to prevent disease in the community;

WHEREAS, the Paulding County Health Department values empowerment by providing individuals with the information necessary healthy decision-making;

The Paulding County Health Department released the following statement of concern and call to action:

COVID-19 is spreading in Paulding County. Paulding County had the 34th highest COVID-19 cases per capita (cases per 100,000 population in 2 weeks) in the state of Ohio on July 22, 2021.

The Delta variant is actively spreading in Ohio. The COVID-19 variant known as "Delta" (B.1.617.2) has been identified as a variant of concern by the Centers for Disease Control and Prevention. While less than 1% of all COVID-19 cases in Ohio were associated with the Delta variant at the end of May, the percentage of cases from Delta are doubling each week. Projections show that Delta will be the dominant strain in

The following is known about the Delta variant:

- The Delta variant is more transmissible.
- The Delta variant affects younger people (ages <50).
- The Delta variant has double the risk of hospitalization than the variant spreading last winter. • The Delta variant is ac-
- tively spreading in Ohio. • The Delta variant is a real
- threat to unvaccinated Paulding County residents. Vaccination is the best protection against the Delta vari-Paulding County's COVID-19 vaccination rates lag behind our neighboring Ohio counties (Defiance, Putnam, & Van Wert County) and Ohio. As the Delta variant spreads, it is critical for Paulding County residents to get a COVID-19 vaccine.

We ask that individuals encourage their family members to take the opportunity to protect themselves and others by getting vaccinated.

We ask business leaders to provide information about COVID-19 vaccines to their employees and encourage them to get a COVID-19 vaccine for themselves, their friends, and their families.

We ask faith leaders to reach out to their members to encourage them to obtain a COVID-19 vaccine for them-hiking and the great outdoors. His love of trails increased later, as Mack's best friend in the Army had been a mountain guide in Colorado prior to enlisting and took him on several trips when they were stationed in Washington State.

"He and I ended up going on a lot of trips to Rainer National Park and the Olympic National Park, where we did a lot of hiking and climbing," Mack recalled. In fact, one of Mack's favorite hiking memories was at Olympic National

"It's just a beautiful place and is known for being a very rare climate rainforest," he

To date, Mack has hiked in six states, as well as two other countries.

Weekly, he now can be found taking a short walk on one of the many trails in the region. Mack said he manages to get a couple of longer distance hikes each month too.

He's also introducing his children, Caroline and Henry, to hiking as well. Mack said another of his favorite memories associated with trails is one of the first hikes with his kids in Defiance County.

'We had a lucky day when it comes to wildlife sightings," he recalled. His children were able to watch bald eagles, an owl and blue herons. They even found butterfly cocoons and cicada shells.

His children still love going on hikes with him.

"My kids always enjoy a new trail," he said. "At the age they are, everything is about exploring something new in the wilderness." Mack said he's proud that Defiance County has so many great trails and parks for individuals to disPhone: 419-258-2000 • Email: info@westbendnews.net cover and enjoy. "I think the continued work by the different municipalities and even private organizations to improve parks throughout Defiance County has been tremendous," he said. " During the pandemic, people needed something to be able to do (and getting out to a park or on a trail was ideal). I think it has led to a great resurgence in many communities to take a look at parks and trails and the quality of life it brings to any com-including ones at Independence Dam State Park, Penney Nature Center, Oxbow Lake and others. "I hope to see more public awareness for trails through Defiance County," he said.

Mack pointed out there are many great trails in the area

munity."

"Many people are unaware that we have one national scenic trail (the North Country Trail) that runs from North Dakota over 4,600 miles to Vermont and actually comes through Defiance County. We also have the Buckeye Trail, which ... runs a loop all the way around the state."

History buffs also can take a walk along the Tow Path in the county. "The Tow Path along the old canal is a great highlight to the past of our community and, if hiked through, actually leads up into the Toledo Metro Parks Systems -- which gives a person insight into how connected our communities have been for so long," Mack said.

Mack even helped bring a water trail to the area.

"The Maumee River Blue Water Trail was a great enhancement to our area," he said. "I worked as commissioner with Stephanie Singer, who at the time was with our county soil and water (district) to bring that reality to our community. We are roughly the halfway point in a kayaking trip affectionately known as Fort to Port. It's another feature in our outdoor arsenal that brings quality of life to the community."

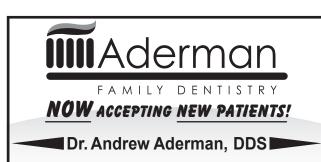

Trails are great quality of life assets for any area.

"I know that having more trails, and better trails in our (county) makes life better for our community," Mack said. " It gives people access to our beautiful natural resources and walking through the woods, or along a river, or through some natural grasslands just helps provide some clarity and relaxation in stressful lives. It's also a great family-friendly adventure. Instead of kids staring at screens, it challenges them to get out and experience life rather than just watch it. It's also easy exercise. It doesn't matter what type of trail; I have seen people walking, riding bikes, or running." Hiking trails also have economic benefits for communities. They increase the value of nearby properties and make communities a more attractive place to live, according to the American Hiking Society. A good trail system also may affect where a business or industry decides to locate, as trails are considered a great amenity for a community to offer. They can help attract workers, and their use helps lower medical costs. According to a report by the National Park Service, individuals who took part in outdoor recreation such as hiking filed 14 percent fewer health insurance claims than those who did not utilize parks or paths as part of their lifestyle.

No matter the reason, Mack encourages others to get out and enjoy area trails.

"Defiance County has abundant natural resources, beautiful parks for kids to play that I know every municipality has worked to improve over the years, as well as, great state parks. I would encourage anyone to try something new in any of these places we have whether it's hiking, kayaking, running or just going to have lunch and enjoy the outdoors," he said. " Also, remember, many of these places have associated outdoor groups that help maintain and promote what is offered. If you really enjoy these places, don't be afraid to volunteer to get out and help make them even bet-

LETTER TO EDITOR

The Bad Boys Car Show Saturday, July 17th was a real nice show. The cars were nice and they had between 120 -130 cars. The day turned out beautiful with no rain.

But there was a problem. At a car show, there is a cardinal sin to all car shows. One trophy winner to a car, even if it is a fantastic car. If a car is fantastic, it will probably receive the "Best of Show" trophy. I was told there were approximately 60 trophies and plaques for the show and too many trophies went to too few people.

At the car show on Saturday, some cars received multiple trophies. This is a NO, NO. This will spoil a car show fast. I know. I've been to a couple of shows that have been shut down because of this problem. If you have a computer program set up right, it will kick out a red flag showing that a car already has been picked for a certain category and is receiving a trophy. I know a lot of people were upset and said they will not be back. I know I've run a lot shows and I've been to a lot of shows. Multiple trophies to one car is not the way to go. Also, we want people to know that this show was not sponsored but Big Boys Toy Car Club, Inc. as previously advertised.

So, which IRA should you choose? You'll have to weigh the respective benefits of both types. But when you're young, you may have particularly compelling reasons to choose a Roth IRA. Given that you're at an early point in your career, you may be in a lower tax bracket now than you will be during retirement, making the tax-deduction of traditional IRA contributions less beneficial. So, it may make sense to contribute to a Roth IRA now and take tax-free withdrawals when you're retired.

Also, a Roth IRA offers more flexibility. With a traditional IRA, you could face an early withdrawal penalty, in addition to taxes, if you take money out before you're 591/2. But with a Roth, you'll face no penalty on withdrawals from the money you contributed (not your earnings), and you've already paid the taxes, so you could use the money for any purpose, such as making a down payment on a home. Nonetheless, you may still want to be cautious about tapping into your IRA for your spending needs before you retire, since IRAs are designed to provide retirement income.

If your income level permits you to select a Roth or traditional IRA, you may want to consult with your tax advisor for help in making your choice. But in any case, try to max out on your IRA contributions each year. You could spend two or three decades in retirement - and your IRA can be a valuable resource to help you enjoy those years. Antwerp

At this time, we have no clubs that have been able to commit to providing service on the 4th Saturday. I have been in contact with a number of entities and am hopeful of getting a "yes" very soon. The first pickup with the big trailers will be the last Saturday of July, IF we're able to find a club/clubs willing to take on the timeslot. This is a fluid situation with tweaking going on everyday so remain patient as we iron out the details. Worst case scenario, I'll come over during the week to accommodate as many folks as possible. Obviously, having Saturday pickups is very desirable because it's much more convenient and will result in higher volume. I believe we'll get there, it's just going to take some time.

Starting in July, the 3rd Wed of the month will now include

Latty 2:30-3:00 (Park by the Village

Meeting Hall) As we all adjust to this new schedule, I would like to include a few reminders:

1. Absolutely, no material will be picked up off the ground. All of the students/ parents have been instructed to NOT process any bags, etc.. that are present when they arrive. This is an issue of safety. I work very hard to keep our volunteers from any accidents that can result from unseen insects, any snakes that have taken up residence, material that has been urinated on overnight by our nocturnal friends, hidden steel cans with lids that have not been pushed down inside the can, etc.. The County does not provide insurance for any of our volunteers so if an accident occurs, the financial hardship will fall on the family. I want to avoid that at all costs so please work with me to keep our kids and fantastic volunteers safe. I wish I was able to accommodate everyone's schedule but we do the best we can so I'm hopeful you're able to respect

2. Please sort all of your material. I am trying to provide as many opportunities for pickups around the County as possible. If I have to spend time sorting, it cuts down on time for pickups. I've been able to add 9 additional pickups to an already challenging schedule because so many of you have made a concerted effort to sort your recycling before bringing it. Thank you so much for doing that! You are appreciated.

3. Remember to sort your clear milk jugs/vinegar containers from the rest of your number 2 plastics. White milk jugs go in with your number 2 plastics. Some of our faithful, Junction recyclers, actually number the bags for me so I know if it's a 1 or a 2. You guys are the best!

4. STAY PATIENT! We're going to have some new faces so let's encourage them in their efforts. I am delighted to be able to make donations to these clubs for their contributions to the WMEA Program and hope to be able to offer scholarships in the future. The EA of the WMEA Program stands for Education/Awareness. Although we are sorry to lose Erie Recycling it has opened up a tremendous opportunity for educating our students on the importance of recycling. We are able to go from theory to "hands on" training as they see exactly what's involved in the WMEA Program. Who knows, one of these students may catch the bug and decide on an Environmental Sciences major as they move forward with their education.

5. Kohart's Salvage on SR 613 will take all of your recycling with the exception of plastics and glass. Their number is 419-399-4144 for hours of operation.

6. Van Wert County Solid Waste Management District will take all of your recycling including glass and plastics. Their address is 1135 N. Washington and phone number is 419-238-7767 for hours of operation.

7. Werlor's of Defiance no longer provides residential drop off service.

8. I will have articles in the West Bend News, Paulding Progress, the WMEA website, as well as PSA's on 102.7 to keep everyone updated on Program changes. As always, feel free to call me at the office or on my cell. The number is 419-399-3630 for the office and 832-444-4814 for my cell. If you're able, call my cell because you'll get me much more quickly. I try to get into the office at least once a day, but if it's time sensitive, definitely call my cell.

NEIGHBOR AND EXPLORE

The Dog Days of Summer are upon us. Come out with the Antwerp Chamber of Commerce and Grab your neighbor and explore your downtown on August 10th.

We thought we would say good bye to summer by celebrating the Dog Days of Summer with our very own 3rd annual Antwerp's dog show.

Categories will be simple: Big dogs (over 30 pounds) and little dogs (30 pounds and under). All breeds are invited to participate. Dogs will be judged against "dog standards": Most appealing eyes, waggiest tail, dog the judge would most like to take home, best paw shake, and dog that looks most like their owner. We do have to limit our furry friends to 8 pups in each category. "Best in show" will be rewarded. The winning dog will become Antwerp's "top dog" for the next year. His/her reign will begin with a tour of the town, followed by an appearance and interview on Facebook.

Judging will begin at 6:00 in front of Dr. Mowery's office. To register your pup for the dog show, please send an email to antwerpchamber@gmail.com with your dog's name and weight or bring your dog up before 5:45 that day so we have time to get him/her entered. We are taking only 8 large pups and 8 small pups. Entry fee will be an item (or money) that will be given to the Paulding County Dog Kennel. Several of our businesses will continue to be open that evening for your shopping pleasure. We encourage you to stop in and check out any summer items that will be on

THE ANTWERP COMMUNITY BAND IS BACK – JOIN US

Have you ever thought about joining the Antwerp Community Band but decided that it had just been too long since you last played your instrument? Well, if so, this is the perfect time to put that line of reasoning aside. On July 8, 2021, the Band had its first meeting since March 2020, when we, like everyone else, were sidetracked by Covid. That's sixteen months during which very few of us did any substantive practice at home. So, if you think you would be at square one if you resumed playing, be comforted. Most of us are now at square two! We recognize that our group is starting over and that it will take time to get back up to speed. New members will have a great opportunity to improve along with the somewhat rusty veteran players. The Band owns a number of instruments, so if you don't have your own, we may be able to help you. If you have questions, please call our director, Steve Hahn, at (260) 486-4148. We meet on Thursday evenings at 7 pm in the bandroom at Antwerp Local Schools. Please come and join us - there has never been a

may not be a right answer to whether applying fungicides to healthy soils and plants is really needed or even prof-

Fungicides are commonly used to control of fungal pathogens by changing the activity and the number of soil microbes. Beneficial fungus breakdown and mineralize nutrients, making these nutrients plant available. Some foliar applied fungicides reach the soil and may have a negative effect on the soil microbial population. Crop scouting is critical so that fungicides are only used when necessary and fungus resistance does not occur. Most fungicides are broad spectrum meaning they are designed to suppress or terminate most fungi, even the beneficial ones.

Some beneficial fungi suppress plant root diseases and promote healthier plants by attacking plant pathogens with fungal enzymes. Fungi decompose soil organic matter and efficiently supply nitrogen, phosphorus, many micronutrients, and even water to the plant better than the plant roots themselves, since fungi hyphae are so small and numerous. Beneficial fungi also produce antibodies to reduce or suppress other harmful microbes. Over applying fungicides carelessly may be harmful to beneficial mifungicide. Corn tar spot shows up as small, raised, black spots scattered across the leaf surface. The leaf is rough to touch and looks similar to rust. Currently, there are no corn hybrids that are resistant to corn tar spot but some hybrids are more tolerant than others so the disease may progress slower and the yield loss may be more limited. Corn tar spot exists in the crop residue and is carried on air currents and can travel several miles. Healthy soils with good residue decomposition may be beneficial in reducing this fungal disease. Corn tar spot thrives when summer growing conditions are wet and humid. There are many fungicides labeled for corn tar spot supand thinking about applying a pression. Fungicides can reduce the incidence of tar spot but this disease reproduces quite rapidly. Timing of corn fungal application is critical and should be applied to corn during R1 (Silking) to R3 (milk stage). There is a natural fungal parasite that infects tar spot but not much is known about its effectiveness yet. Increasing corn spacing and reducing corn population may help reduce canopy humidity also help. In Mexico where this disease is common, corn experts suggest a good practice is to avoid over fertilizing corn.

Crop rotation may help some but the inoculant can easily travel several miles from a neighbor's infected fields. It has been observed that many fields that had soybeans then rotated to corn had as much disease as fields planted corn back to corn. Crop rotation helps with other diseases like grey leaf spot, northern corn leaf blight, and anthracnose which are also common in corn.

Grey leaf spot can rapidly increase with warm temperatures 70-90°, high humidity greater than 90% or periods of prolonged (12+hours) leaf wetness. Scout the lower corn leaves about two to three weeks before tasseling. Corn leaf lesions are long (up to 2 inches), narrow, rectangular, and light tan colored turning grey. Northern corn leaf blight symptoms are canoe-shaped lesions 1 to 6 inches long. The lesions are initially bordered by graygreen margins that turn tan colored and may contain darker areas where the fungal spores form. Northern corn northern corn blight generally have to be sprayed preventively before the disease shows up. Pick corn varieties that are resistant to both these two diseases if possible.

Corn anthracnose symptoms start on the lower leaves is often the first corn disease that shows up. Small, round to irregular, water-soaked spots first appear on lower leaves. Spots later turn yellow and then brown with reddishbrown borders. Anthracnose thrives under cooler temperatures and moisture and tends to slow down when summer temperatures are hot and dry. Most crops can resist fungal disease better when they have adequate nutrition and good soil health.

CHOW LINE: DEEP YELLOW FIELD SPOT ON WATER-MELON KEY TO CHOOSING SWEET, RIPE MELON

What's the best way to choose the perfect melon?

Whether it's watermelon, cantaloupe, honeydew, or other melons, summer days (or any day!) are a wonderful time to indulge in these delicious, nutritious fruits.

Not only do these fruits taste wonderful, but they are also healthy, low-calorie treats that are packed with vitamins. For example, a cup of cantaloupe has 60 calories and is rich in vitamins A and C, while a cup of honeydew has 64 calories and is rich in vitamin C and potassium and provides B vitamins. A cup of watermelon has about 45 calories and has significant amounts of vitamins A and C.

Watermelon is also 93% water, and the red variety is a good source of lycopene, a phytonutrient that gives watermelon its color. Lycopene appears to protect the body against a growing list of cancers, which includes prostate cancer, breast cancer, endometrial cancer, lung cancer, and colorectal cancers, according to an Ohio State University Extension Ohioline fact sheet.

Another benefit is that lycopene helps protect cells in the body from damage associated with heart disease.

When choosing the perfect cantaloupe, it is important to make sure the melon has no bruises or discolorations. It should have a smooth, slightly sunken, and well-rounded stem end; a sweet, musky aroma; and a prominent and evenly distributed corky webpattern that is buff or a light tan color on either a green, yellow, or gray background.

Ripe honeydew should have a creamy yellow color when picked. If the melon is green when picked, it will never ripen, according to the OSU Extension fact sheet. The skin should have the feeling of velvet, and the blossom end should feel slightly springy.

When it comes to watermelons, here are a few tips from OSU Extension, the Watermelon Board, and the U.S. Department of Agriculture on how to pick the best one:

PROPOSED VARIANCE ISSUE

Please be advised that Jamie and Chantel Lawson of 614 South Erie Street filed a variance request with the Village of Antwerp requesting that the required 5-foot side setback be amended to allow them to place a privacy fencing on the south side of property line.

- Look at the spot where the melon has been resting on the ground. A pale yellow or cream spot indicates ripeness, while a pale green or white spot indicates immaturity.
- Scratch the surface of the rind with your thumbnail. If the outer layer slips back with little resistance, showing the green-white under the rind, the watermelon is ripe. Scratching unripe melons leaves only a darker, depressed
- Choose a melon with a smooth surface, a dull sheen, and well-rounded ends.
- Choose a melon that doesn't have bruises, cuts, or
- Pick up the watermelon. It should be heavy for its size. As a watermelon is 93% water,
- most of the weight is water. • If you are choosing precut watermelon, the more red flesh and less white rind, the riper the melon.

And remember, even though you typically don't eat the peel from most melons, it is important that you wash the melons under running water before cutting into them. Melons are grown on the ground and can sometimes harbor harmful bacteria. Peeling or cutting unwashed produce can transfer dirt or other contaminates from the surface of the produce to the portion of the fruit or vegetable you plan

In fact, firm produce such as melons should be scrubbed with a clean produce brush before peeling or cutting into them. And they should then be dried off with a clean paper towel or cloth to further reduce harmful bacteria that may be on the skin, according to the U.S. Food and Drug Administration. The Center for Regional Development (CRD) at Bowling Green State University (BGSU) recently launched their initiative "Reimagining Rural Regions," or R3 for short. The R3 Initiative is a two-stage process that begins with a community-led CRD facilitated process to identify assets, opportunities, challenges regarding current and future placemaking opportunities. Part one of the process will involve significant public outreach and engagement and ultimately result in the identification of 2-3 placemaking projects. Part two of the R3 Initiative will use teams of BGSU undergraduates from the Placemaking and Community Engagement (PaCE) program to provide capacity to move the projects identified by the community toward implementation.

Van Wert was selected as one of three communities in the CRD's inaugural R3 cohort. Building off the 2021

Downtown Redevelopment Master Plan, The Van Wert County Foundation (VWCF) and Van Wert Forward wants to use the R3 process to determine what types of community amenities will successfully attract a wide array of Van Wert residents and visitors to the downtown core, with a focus on the residents. An amenity is "A regular, intermittent, or singularly occurring indoor or outdoor element, program, or event available to all residents and visitors of the City of Van Wert, that helps establish a sense of community identity and provides comfort, ease and/or enjoyment."

The VWCF is seeking interested individuals who would like to serve on the R3 Steering Committee to help guide this process forward and determine initiatives included in the amenity plan. THE TALE OF FRANCES SLOCUM

The story of Frances Slocum is true and has been told in many American history books. She was kidnapped from her family by Delaware Indians when she was five years old and remained with Indians until her death in 1847. She may have even come down the Maumee River and stopped at the trading post North of Cecil at one time.

The family of her father, Jonathan Slocum and her mother came to locate where the present city of Wilkes-Barre is. They came from Warwick, Rhoade Island in about 1777 with the family of nine children. The father was against the warlike spirit of Torys and the British, however, one son, Giles, did take part in a battle of July 3, 1778.

It has been said that there were prowling clans of savages and Torys harassing the valley and causing much mischief after the battle. On such a day, the Delaware Indians approached two of the neighboring Kingsley boys. The elder had on a Continental coat, which aroused the savages

News

The Slocum neighbors were aroused in time to see the neighbor scalped. The elder daughter ran to the woods with a young child, two years old, to hide. It was said that the Indians laughed at her and were about to take away a boy at the home when Mrs. Slocum pointed to the lame foot. They dropped the boy and discovered little Frances Slocum hidden under the staircase. They kidnapped her to the mountains. Mr. Slocum was absent at the time. When he came home with Isaac Tripp, his father-inlaw, Mr. Slocum was shot dead and Mr. Tripp was wounded and scalped. Later that month, in sight of the fort the Indians shot and scalped the others. In little more than a month, Mrs. Slocum had lost "Frances", taken away as a captive; two more taken as captives and her husband and father were killed and mangled by the In-

In 1784 two of the Slocum bros. visited Niagara trying to find their sister after peace had settled in the country. Rewards were offered. Nothing came of it. The brothers went west in 1797 going to settlements looking for Frances. Her mother died never seeing her again. She was adopted into a family of Delawares, who raised her and treated her as their own child. They died somewhere in Ohio. She was then married to a Miami, by whom she had 4 children. She said she lived a long and happy life as an Indian.

In 1835 a letter was written to the Postmaster from "Geo. W. Ewing". It explained the whole story and circumstance of "Frances Slocum". He hoped to make some connections for the family. (The letter got lost in the shuffle and the post master died). The letter was finally sent the the newspaper. A lot of people were acquainted with the Slocum story and the family.

"Here then at last, by this unmistakable token, the lost was found. Her memory proved to be unerring; the details of 60 years old were perfect, and given in such a manner as to awaken in the hearts of the Slocum family warm

DOUBLE CROP SOYBEANS OR COVER CROPS?

Approaching mid-July, some farmers are still debating whether to plant soybeans after wheat harvest. Double crop soybeans are risky but high soybean prices, early summer planting and good weather favor farmers taking the risk. As summer progresses, the risk of failure increases on double crop soybeans. Cover crops are often planted from June to October with good results depending upon the species and weather. Planting cover crops after mid-July becomes a much safer proposition.

Let's start with looking at our current crops. For the most part, corn looks great this year while soybeans are average at best, depending upon the field. Corn was planted when the soil was dry and then it started to rain and soybeans where planted. Soybeans suffered from seed corn maggot and/or wire worms, and then if the soil was vertically tilled, standing water and pathogens (fusarium, phytophthora, etc) began a problem. In some fields, soybean struggled with slow growth due to small puckered and/or cupped leaves. Usually this is an indication of herbicide damage which looks like 2-4D. However, if 2-4D was not used, what could be the problem?

Last year, the weather was exceeding dry from summer through early spring. Herbicides generally break down fairly quickly with adequate moisture, heat, and biological activity. When soils remain dry, some herbicides stay attached to the soil particles for long periods. Soluble herbicides will inhibit weed germination and also break down, but herbicides in a dry soil stay attached to the soil particles, do not inhibit weed germination, and do not break down quickly. Herbicide carryover then becomes an issue. Resicore is corn herbicide that is a combination of acetochlor (Harness, Group 15 herbicide), mesotrione (Callisto, group 27 herbicide) and clopyralid MEA salt (Stinger or Curtail, group 4 herbicide). Group 15 herbicides include Dual, Zidua, and Harness which may cause these symptoms under dry conditions. These products usually break down fairly quickly but in fields that were very dry and or had low soil organic matter (SOM), farmers are seeing patchy issues with soybean growth, depending upon soil type and moisture. Soils with higher SOM and moisture generally have less issues because they have higher microbial diversity, they hold more water, and the SOM buffers the soil. Improving soil health Seth Baker, CEO of The Van Wert County Foundation, is pleased to announce grant funding support in the amount of $25,000.00 for a new public safety program in our community; Project Lifesaver. Kevin Mathews, Director of the Council on Aging, applied for the grant in cooperation with the Van Wert County Sheriff's Department.

Project Lifesaver is the premier search and rescue program operated by public safety agencies. It is strategically designed for "at-risk" individuals prone to the lifethreatening behavior of wandering. There are three key components utilized by the Project Lifesaver program which enables first responders to achieve the program's mission of "bringing loved ones home.'

CUTTING EDGE LO-CATING TECHNOLOGY

Project Lifesaver is in a constant state of research and development to ensure the program utilizes the latest and most effective technologies, both in the prevention of wandering and the recovery of a client in the event of elopement.

INNOVATIVE METHODS

Project Lifesaver

strategically designed methods and techniques for the specific use of recovering individuals with a cognitive condition. When applied by first responders, these innovative strategies enable the most efficient rescue of an eloped client.

COMMUNITY POLIC-ING COURSES

Project Lifesaver provides first responders with a basic understanding of cognitive conditions, giving them the necessary tools needed to respond to an elopement and assess and effectively manage an eloped client's safe and comfortable return.

changed their cover crops

Since USDA-NRCS has

rules, cover crops can now be mowed, hayed, or grazed. Grass cover crops like sorghum or Sudan varieties, oats, barley, and cereal rye can be sown and harvested. These grass cover crops will also benefit from manure applications. Manure can be applied either before the crop is sown or apply after the cover crop is at least 3-4 inches tall. Liquid manure may burn the leaves and slow down plant growth.

Legumes like hairy vetch (prefers well drained soils) winter peas, cowpeas, crimson clover, and Balansa clover can be planted now to obtain 100-200# of nitrogen for next year's corn crop. Most legume and clovers need to be established between Mid-July and Mid-September to get a good crop. Early planting generally improves establishment and nitrogen content. Winter peas planted August 1st may yield 150# N while those planted in September only yield 50-75#

N depending upon the stand. Brassicas like daikon radish, kale, rape, turnips, and Ethiopian cabbage can also be planted early. Buckwheat and sunflower are great pollinators. Buckwheat goes to seed within 45-60 days and is great for loosing the top 3-4 inches of soil. Sunflowers are deep rooted and improve drainage. Farmers often plant 5 to10way cover crop mixtures to get multiple benefits. For the H20 program, at least 50% of the mixture needs to be a cover crop that survives the winter. After wheat harvest, planting cover crops is a great way to improve soil health. James J. Hoorman Hoorman Soil Health Services
