The Paulding County Republican Party is bringing several prominent politicians to the region to discuss the state of the nation during the Lincoln-Reagan Dinner Banquet.

The dinner will be Sept. 25 at the Paulding County OSU Extension Building at the fairgrounds. Doors will open at 6 p.m. with a dinner by Grant's Catering beginning at 6:30 p.m.

The program will feature several speakers. The keynote speaker will be Stephen Moore, the co-author of Trumponomics and former advisor to President Donald Trump. Moore's appearance is sponsored by FreedomWorks. Moore, a conservative economist, will discuss Trump's "economic populism" approach and how Trump worked in public and private to operate the country during his presidency. Moore will speak at 8 a.m.

There are several other speakers that will take the podium prior to Moore. Several candidates for U.S. Senate including Bernie Moreno, Mike Gibbons, Neil Patel and Mark Pukita will speak, as well as U.S. District 5 Congressman Bob Latta and U.S. District 9 candidate for Congress, J.R. Majewski. John Adams, Ohio Secretary of State candidate, and Ohio Supreme Court Justices Sharon Kennedy and Pat Fischer also will take the stage.

Moreno, Gibbons, Patel and Pukita all are running for the Senate seat to be vacated by Robert Portman. Each candidate will speak on their strengths and what they would like to see happen in the nation.

Moreno, a Cleveland businessman, is running on a platform of job creation, lower taxes and reducing unnecessary regulations. Cleveland businessman and investment banker Gibbons' platform includes border security, curtailing federal spending, aiding businesses and defending the 2nd Amendment.

Columbus businessman Patel has stated that he is running to ensure all citizens and states are equally represented Washington. Business in (Continued on Page 3)

SET BACK OR SET UP By: Doris Applegate

Many times we get discouraged by something that we wanted and it didn't come to pass or something we thought would surely happen but it didn't. This is when our faith and trust in God "takes hold". We keep our eyes on Jesus Christ, the Author and the Finisher of our faith, knowing that all things work out for good to those who love the Lord Jesus .

Years ago some young men were invited to Indiana to hold a revival meeting, but the pastor changed his mind about having it and these to preachers decided to put up signs for a revival in a community park where many 'yippies" lived in a commune of the drug culture. As the message in Mark 8:35 was preached "If you save your life you will lose it, but if you give your life for the gospel and for others you will save it." Many so called "losers" found the Lord Jesus as their Savior. This 'set back' became a 'set up for two preachers who only desired to tell the "good news" to people who had never heard.

Our disappointments quite often turnout to be God's appointments. As Christians we are to give our testimony of what the Lord has and is doing for us, preach the word of God to others, show kindness, love and forgiveness to all people and keep occupying till Jesus comes again to set up His Kingdom. All we do for our Savior will be rewarded. "As we do it unto others, we have done it unto Jesus." I love the phrase "Keep on keeping on!" Never give up because you never know when things will turn in your favor.

Remember the story of the farmers mule that fell into a deep pit and the farmer kept throwing dirt in the hole to bury the mule? Well, the mule wasn't dead and kept stomping upon the dirt as it fell around and under him until he was up and out! This the kind of "grit" we need, keep doing what God wants us to do, no matter how small it seems to us, because as Jesus said: Our faith, small as a mustard seed, can grow into a beautiful bush." God is good at turning sorrow into joy, pain into pleasure, tears into smiles, heartache into happiness, loss into gain, sickness into health, death into life and sinners into saints.

What a mighty God we serve! Amen

PARSON TO PERSON

By: Dr. James Bachman Dear Parson,

Can you please explain Ecclesiastes 10:3? This verse says, "Yea also, when he that is a fool walketh by the way, his wisdom faileth him, and he saith to every one that he is a fool."

According to Psalm 14:1 a fool is one who says in his

Celebrating

of Serving our

heart, "There is no God." He thinks, "I will thus say and do as I please." To walk by the way simply means as he goes about his daily activities. His wisdom, which is human and worldly wisdom, doesn't serve him too well because it is a lie and it shows to all that observe and listen to him that he is indeed a real fool. He only has a chance of temporarily fooling other fools.

The key for all of this is to continually seek and pray for more wisdom from God. Proverbs 2:1-6 - "My son, if thou wilt receive my words, and hide my commandments with thee; So that thou incline thine ear unto wisdom, and apply thine heart to understanding; Yea, if thou criest after knowledge, and liftest up thy voice for understanding; If thou seekest her as silver, and searchest for her as for hid treasures; Then shalt thou understand the fear of the LORD, and find the knowledge of God. For the LORD giveth wisdom: out of his mouth cometh knowledge and understanding." James 1:5-6 - "If any of you lack wisdom, let him ask of God, that giveth to all men liberally, and upbraideth not; and it shall be given him. But let him ask in faith, nothing wavering. For he that wavereth is like a wave of the sea driven with the wind and tossed."

Be glad, people of Zion, rejoice in the Lord your God, for he has given you the autumn rains because he is faithful. He sends you abundant showers, both autumn and spring rains, as before. — Joel 2:23

The commissioners accepted their portion of the distribution.

He shared that they are being very careful as to how they spend the money. They hope their decisions will benefit our county for a long time. One of the priorities is to get internet coverage to the river basins to the north (Maumee River) and to the east (Big and Little Auglaize). This would be such a great help to all of the residents. in the area including the school children who have to do their work at home. It was very difficult for the students when school was closed and classes were held virtually. Another benefit would be to those who travel through this area and do not get a good reception.

Sharla Tom Young gave a presentation on non-Fatal strangulation: Receiving and Reacting to the Red Flags of a Survivors story. In just a matter of seconds someone can be strangled and unless the physician, nurse, EMT, is aware of the signs the diagnosis could be totally wrong.

August 24th speaker was David Burtch. Dave lived in California for several years and after retirement chose to come back to his hometown of Paulding. He shared that as he walked around town, he remembered how the town used to look. The store fronts were friendly and there were no empty buildings, but time and area shopping centers have changed our shopping habits. Dave proceeded to approach Paulding Village Council, Paulding County Economic Development, Chamber of Commerce, Community Improvement Corporation and the Vision Board and together they have come together to revitalize not only Paulding but other communities as well. Several studies have been made concerning Paulding County. There is a great need for housing. The potential for spending in Paulding County is 217 million. Studies show that we are only spending around 117 million that leaves a leakage of 110 million that could be coming into our businesses. As for restaurants the projected amount is 20 million with only 10 million being spent. Thus, we need more food establishments.

Through the efforts of these dedicated men and women Paulding has made changes for the better. As you walk around the Court house square new businesses are in place. We have a new bank coming into town. Dave shared that the first building on this corner property originally was Potters Bank. It was a wood structure and was destroyed in a fire so the town chose from that time on that all buildings would be made of brick. A committee is presently working on the who what where and when of all the buildings around the square. If information can be collected on the prior owners, the architecture of the building, the year it was built then this information will be submitted to the proper authorities and hopefully Paulding could be recognized on the National Register of historical communities. Another benefit will be the opportunity to apply for grants. Dave has a vision for Paulding and after hearing his presentation we've only just begun.

This is the 60th year for the Convention for Biennial Gleaner. The event will be held at the Belterra Resort Casino in Florence, Indiana October 22-24. Oakwood Arbor will be sending delegates to vote for Board of Directors and any changes in the Constitution. A Fraternalst of the year will also be honored for the work they do within the community they represent. The guest speaker for the July 26th meeting was Paulding County Commissioner Roy Klopfenstein. Commissioner Klopfenstein was asked to share information on the Covid money that has come into our county.

He shared that along with the county receiving funds so did every village and township. It was not mandatory that the money be accepted. If declined the funds would eventually be re-distributed throughout the communities.

POSSIBLE HEADLINES FOR 2071

Penny For Your Thoughts By: Nancy Whitaker

It is always interesting to look back 50 years ago and see what people thought the world would be like in 2021.

Sometime in the1960s it was predicted that 50 years into the future, we would have: cities under the sea, automated kitchens that would cook, make coffee and serve meals, cars that would run without a driver and also cars that would hover over the skies and fly.

They were not too accurate in their predictions and must have had a lot of faith in future technology to believe that we would have those new inventions.

Stop and think, it was in 1964, that George Jetson and his "spacey" family came rolling into our homes via television. Of course the Jetsons had all of those things and perhaps that is why those predictions were forecast.

Much to my surprise, someone has came up with predictions for the year 2071. They are outlandish and I would think they are meant to be humorous, but here is what has been predicted and may make the headlines 50 years from now:

The spotted owl plague threatens Northwestern United States crops and livestock. It appears as if the writer thinks we will have an abundance of the spotted owl. They will have multiplied and no longer be an endangered species.

CLOSING STAGES

A group is being formed for anyone who has suffered spiritual abuse within the walls of the church. This group is about supporting those who have experienced abuse and want to recover, heal, and grow in Christ We will be started in the fall sometime in September or October. If you are interested contact us at closingstages@live.com with availability or if you have any questions

Another headline was that a baby was conceived naturally and scientists were absolutely stumped.

Cuban cigars can now be legally. Howimported ever, President Chelsea Clinton has banned all smoking.

Also in politics, George Z. Bush, says he will run for President in 2060.

The postal service raises price of first class stamp to $17.89 and reduces mail delivery to Wednesdays only. Wow. Perhaps no one will mail anything. But, robots are delivering mail because dogs won't bite them.

I hope this never happens, but one headline reveals that the average weight of Americans will drop to 250 lbs. Not only that, but, an 85 year, 75.8 billion study revealed that diet and exercise is the key to weight loss. (Who figured that one out?)

Japanese scientists have created a camera with such a fast shutter speed they now can photograph a woman with her mouth shut. (now that isn't even funny)

Supreme Court rules any punishment of criminals will violate their civil rights.

The average height of NBA players will be nine feet seven inches and they can only have 5 illegitimate children.

A new federal law will require that all nail clippers, screwdrivers, fly swatters and rolled-up newspapers must be registered by January 2060. (they will be considered weapons)

The IRS will set the lowest tax rate at 75 percent.

And finally the Floridian voters are still having trouble with voting machines and say it is better to just vote by a show of hands.

Of course these predictions are humorous and beyond our imaginations, but you never know what the future is going to hold. I just wish we would get the automated cars and kitchens that were predicted years ago. And I believe that we will.

Do you have any predictions for upcoming years? Do you remember The Jetsons? Would your dog bite a robot mail man? Let me know and I will give you a Penny for Your Thoughts

MILITARY HISTORY IN PAULDING COUNTY

By: Mark Holtsberry

Now I know that you, the reader, probably have never heard of Paris W. Tucker. Although he does have an interesting first name. On my walk in Bowholtz Cemetery late fall 2020, while visiting the graves of my grand and great grand parents, I saw his gravestone. I remember my uncle, Ray Keck, telling me a story he read about him. So I thought that I would share with you, not only the story, but about the man.

Paris Tucker was born in Allen County, Ohio, November 7, 1840. The son of Lemuel and Maria (Walton) Tucker. Lemuel was born in Virginia in 1804. Maria was born in Ohio. The Tucker's were farmers in Allen County, Ohio, so Paris worked on the family farm.

By 1860, the Tucker family was living in Jackson Township. Paris was working and living on a farm for William Rodgers and his family. As war loomed, Paris enlisted in the army August 17, 1861. Serving as a private with Company F. 38th Ohio Volunteer Infantry, he served as a loyal soldier for three years, three months and twentythree days. He was with the army of the Cumberland, and here is the interesting story. September 1, 1864, Paris was wounded multiple times, nine to be exact. Paris was wounded by a bayonet wound in the left shoulder, shot in the right knee and thigh and also left wrist, these wounds were very severe. He lost an eye from a bayonet thrust that finally put him down.

He mustered out of service, November 23, 1864 at Columbus, Ohio, after completing his term of service. Returning home to care for his wounds, Paris met and married a gal named, Martha Ann Smith, the daughter of John and Mary Ann Smith. Don't ask me which John Smith this is, you have no idea how many John Smith's there were in Paulding County at that time frame! Paris and Martha were married in Paulding, February 2, 1865. Paris and Martha moved to Jackson Township and began farming. Between the years of 1866 and 1882, Paris and Mary became the parents of nine children. The Tucker family remained in farming throughout the 1860's. During that timeframe, they lost a daughter, Nancy, in 1867. In the 1870's the Tucker family remained in Jackson Township continuing in farming. They lost three children within the year after birth. Lemaul in 1871, Lias in 1876, Sarah in 1877. The 1880's found the Tucker family still living in the same household on the same farm in Jackson Township.

The corner of present day Township Road 82 and Township Road 137 in Jackson Township, was the 80 acre tract that the Tucker Homestead. The Tucker's lost a daughter, Polina, who died shortly after birth in 1881. In the 1900's Paris and his wife, Martha, had only a son and granddaughter living with them. It is unclear who the granddaughter belonged to, but they raised her as one of their own. By 1910 Paris and Martha had a daughter, Maria, and her two children, Fern and Paris A., living with them. It seems she got a divorce from her first husband. She remarried years later. Paris was a member of the G.A.R. Crosby Post and enjoyed time spent with his old Civil War comrades. Paris lost Martha, August 24, 1914. She died in Broughton, Ohio. She was buried in Bowholtz Cemetery. Paris followed her in death, September 26, 1914 in Hedges, Ohio. He is buried beside her in Lot 69, Row 4, Section B., Grave 5.

Until Next Time!

ARE YOUR LOVED ONES PREPARED TO BE CARE-GIVERS?

Once you're retired and your children are grown, they are likely "off the books," as far as your financial responsibility for them is concerned. Yet, you're probably still prepared to do anything to help them but are they ready to take care of you if the need arises?

Bryan Post, Edward Jones Financial Advisor

Consider this: Almost half of retirees say that the ideal role in retirement is providing support to family and other loved ones, according to the Edward Jones/Age Wave study titled Four Pillars of the New Retirement: What a Difference a Year Makes - and a slightly earlier version of the same study found that 72% of retirees say one of their biggest fears is becoming a burden on their family members.

The average cost for a private room in a nursing home is now over $100,000 a year, according to the insurance company Genworth. Medicare won't pay much, if any, of these costs, so you may want to consult with a financial advisor, who can suggest possible ways of addressing longterm care expenses.

Even if you don't require a long stay in a nursing home, you still might need some assistance in the future, especially if your health or mental capacities decline. So, start talking to your loved ones about their possible roles if you should ever need caregiving. You may want to create a caregiving arrangement that specifies payment for caregiving services and outlines the expenses to be reimbursed if paid out of pocket by a caregiver. Also, you may want to create the appropriate legal documents, such as a durable power of attorney for health care, which enables someone to make medical decisions on your behalf should you become incapacitated, and a durable power of attorney for finances, which allows you to name someone to make your financial decisions if you become unable to do so yourself. A legal professional can help you make these arrangements and incorporate them into your overall estate plan. A financial advisor can suggest ways of preparing for the costs involved with caregiving and can direct you to relevant resources, such as social services provided by your city or county.

Clearly, there's much you can do to help shield your family from the financial strain of caregiving. But you are not alone: By drawing on other resources and outside help, you can ease the burden on your loved ones. And everyone will feel more secure when you have your arrangements in place.

KUDOS TO MANY Dear Editor,

On behalf of the Sons of the American Legion, Legion Post 297, the Payne Chamber of Commerce, the Payne Event Committee, the Village of Payne and the Payne Ministerial Association, I would like to extend my deep appreciation and gratitude to all of the other organizations and individuals who helped with the Legion's Centennial; the 9/11, 20th Anniversary Commemoration and the local first responders recognition ceremonies this past Saturday and Sunday, September 11th and 12th.

From the well-attended Poker Run, Car Cruise-In and Kids' events that began on Saturday morning to one of the longest and best observed parades in the afternoon (that included the high school marching bands of Hicksville, Antwerp, Paulding and Wayne Trace and lots and lots of fire and emergency response equipment from the Monroeville, Indiana; Antwerp, Cecil/Crane Township; Auglaize Township; Paulding and Payne Departments) to the special speeches and presentations at the 4PM program under the tent that included the announcement of Dr. Kuhn's selection as Payne's 2021 'Rock Star' award recipient to the delicious BBQ food served at 5 that continued throughout the evening...to the live D.J. "CK Sound" entertaining prior to the musical group "Erastus", on stage till midnight and only interrupted by the spectacular (and first in 42 years)

And for those 100 plus in attendance at the 11AM Community Praise and Worship Service under the tent on Sunday morning, the warm summer breeze continued as the Praise Band from the Edgerton Wesleyan Church performed before and after a heartfelt 9/11 sermon was given by Payne's St. Jacob Church's Pastor Eric Durre.

It was just a great weekend to be in Payne....and I want you to know that all of the efforts put forth by so many, many people made the weekend a HUGE success. I think I could name all of those volunteers here in this letter, but I realize that I could inadvertently omit that one person who worked behind the scenes just as hard as I and my counterpart Chad Benschneider, Chamber President did. But I want them to know that 'Benny' and I are indeed grateful for their help and participation. It was just a great community effort.

We are all very proud of how it all turned out.

LETTER TO THE EDITOR

AMERICA'S FAILURE

It doesn't appear likely that America will ever wake up. We've had it too good for too long. You would think 9/11 would have but it didn't. Oh, millions flocked to church thinking their end was near. But just as quickly, they returned to their immoral, liberal, anti-God ways.

Later we had a president for eight years that I always felt had more feeling for the attackers than he did for America. One thing about him that is quite visible is that he does not like our Christian based government and what we stand for. No one has done more to put Christian America down than that president. Liberal Americans fell and keep falling for his daily lies. He bribed states to accept his federally socialist "common core". He also forbid Christian talk in the White House and had military Chaplins discharged for praying in Jesus' name. A Christian based government needs a Christian leader. Our president favored Islam over Christianity. He also reduced our military to critical.

Let's look at some past history that liberals are attempting to destroy because they don't want you having anything to compare today to. They prefer you to be stupid.

Stalin said it in the very early 1900's and Hitler said it a quarter century later. Basically they said "Let me teach your children a short time and we'll be able to control them."

Stalin then brought communism to Russia, killing millions and forcing them to live in hell ever since. They spread it to China, North Korea, Cuba and others. They only know poverty and death.

Germany's Hitler was responsible for sixty million deaths. He wanted to create a perfect race so he had those killed that he didn't like. He concentrated on Jews and mentally challenged and anyone who helped them.

You should look into "Critical Race Theory" that this administration wants to saddle us with.The first thing it does is place all school authority under federal control, just as Russia and Germany did. States and counties will have no say. Washington will tell what, when and how to teach. That's communism.

We need to look deeper into today's politics. You see how fast things change. This administration promised unity but only practice divide and take over. They want to pack our Supreme Court with three more liberal judges, making it impossible to have another conservative administration or even a free election. They want Russia style control. Is that what you who voted for these corrupt leaders really want?

They've also discussed creating two additional liberal states to help control their vote. In 2008 a democrat vice president described their party perfectly when he said, "We'll do anything to win." The 2020 election proved this statement. Think what you want but I will always believe it was shady.

One American organization that supports today's mess stated in the 1930's that we were too strong to take down military so they needed to change our way of thinking. They have, but too many of us are too blind, stupid or stubborn to realize we've been taken to the cleaners.

BREITBART NEWS: Ohio Gov Candidate Jim Renacci: We Need to 'Clean Our Own House' Before Accepting Afghan Refugees

Republicans have largely been vocal about fears over the Biden administration's sloppy vetting process though some in the GOP, including current Ohio Governor Mike DeWine (R), are accepting refugees by the hundreds and thousands. Former Rep. Jim Renacci (R), who is looking to challenge DeWine for the governorship in 2022, said DeWine's refugee stance is not a popular position among Republicans on the campaign trail.

"What I'm hearing from people on the ground is they want us to clean our own house first, get our own economy booming before we start bringing additional people in," Renacci told Breitbart News during a press conference on Thursday. "That's a serious issue, and many Republicans are not happy with some of the stances Governor DeWine is taking, like this one, saying that he's going to be bringing in refugees when we have so many issues."

Renacci and his advisers said they are hopeful DeWine's continued departures from GOP priorities could bode well for the former congressman's campaign.

"One of the funny things about this governor is that he's actually more popular with Democrats - with Biden supporters than he is with Trump supporters," said Brad Parscale, who previously worked as a senior adviser for former President Donald Trump's 2020 campaign. "If you're a sitting Republican governor, that's a problem."

Parscale, who is advising Renacci's 2022 run, said DeWine has been polling poorly with GOP voters, according to internal estimates.

"He will need to scramble to regain GOP voters," he said.

8 COMMON MISHAPS SMALL BUSINESS STAR-TUPS SHOULD TRY TO AVOID

Starting a new business tends to begin with innovation. This could look like a new idea or concept or a creative twist on a something already existing. Moving that concept out of the infancy stage and launching that product into a full-fledged business relies on carefully avoiding the common mishaps small business owners tend to make. #1 Now that you have the idea, it's time for the planning stage. The business plan can make or break a startup company. Like making a cake, one must follow the recipe not forgetting any of the ingredients, so the cake doesn't fall flat. Having a well thought out business plan or recipe is crucial in the success of any new business. #2 Another common mishap involves partnerships. Who's in charge of mixing the ingredients, purchasing the ingredients, and selling that finished product. "Starting a business with a partner particularly a friend or family member can create turmoil down the road for the business," said Lisa Becher, Small Business Development Center consultant. When running a successful business, tough decisions need to be made and this can be challenging on relationships.

#3 The third mishap on our list is having no clear marketing strategy. Many times, the marketing strategy is part of the business plan, but it tends to be its own animal. Questions a potential business owner should ask before starting is how am I going to spread the word about my product or service? And, who does my business impact the most? Don't be afraid to market your business and get familiar with your audience.

#4 One of the most common reasons small businesses fail is due to a lack of funding or capital. Lisa stated that "new entrepreneurs tend to under ask for funding in the initial visit which puts them under on some of their future expenses. Lenders also like to see that you have some skin in the game when it comes to capital." Having enough capital and the right type of funding will surely impact the longevity of a business.

#5 Partnerships with family and friends might not be the way to go, but that doesn't mean you should do it all alone. Having a great team behind you would be in your favor. This team could include an investor, a small business consultant, or someone that has a set of skills that are For example, exclusive. maybe the idea or product is taking off, and you need to spread the word about it. Hiring a marketing or tech savvy individual might be the right fit for your business.

#6 Number six on the list is thinking the business does not have competition. The idea or product could be so unique and creative that the blinders are up for some entrepreneurs. Recognizing early on who the competitors are, direct or indirect, could help set your business apart.

#7 Last but not least, setting realistic goals. With a detailed business plan and help from a qualified team, goals can be determined early on making them more attainable. Setting attainable goals for your business will help determine the process of achieving them.

"Small businesses play a huge role in the economic development of our community. We wouldn't be where we are today as a county without them," said Kortney Williams, Defiance County Economic Development Marketing & Workforce Manager. To learn more about starting a new business and avoiding these mishaps, we encourage any potential business owner to get in touch with the Small Business Development Center. Lisa Becher is a small business owner herself and a wealth of knowledge. Anyone interested in small business development can reach Lisa at 419-267-1264 or nwohiosbdc@gmail.com.

MATT'S MISHAPS

"Serving overseas as a small-town boy from America is intense, stressful and humorous! Enjoy a lighthearted story with me from our last 20 years overseas!" -Matt

CHASED TO THE PO-LICE

Do you get frustrated when you can't find a close parking spot on a rainy day? Until you live in a place in the world where there is no parking or very bad tight street parking, it is hard to fully appreciate the parking places that most businesses provide in small-town America. It is one of the forgotten benefits of small-town living.

Before the days of parking sensors, back up cameras, and even autonomous parking vehicles, we lived in a place overseas where you felt lucky to find a tight space to parallel park in on a narrow street. People drove cars with real bumpers that were made to take a gentle tap. The practice was to parallel park by scooting back into the spot until feeling the tap of the car's bumper from behind, and then move forward until tapping that car's bumper. So on it went, until you wedged your car in and with only a few inches in front and back.

I was amazed once to find an open parking spot at the end and corner of a street. I could just pull back smoothly and pull out smoothly. I was with a small son and we went in a local shop to get what we needed. On returning to our vehicle, a car had parked illegally and very tightly in front of ours. The owner was nowhere to be found, so we got in ours and began the process of tapping bumpers to wedge our car out. As we were pulling out, the owner of the small little Volkswagen in front of us, must have approached and thought we Anger can get the best of any of us. There is a reason for the expression, "blind rage," when a person can charge after someone and not even realize they are walking right into a police station!

OHIO 4-H SCHOOL GARDEN CONFERENCE IS OCT. 22

A school garden can provide students access to a green space to relax and learn more about nature.

Research shows that school gardens can also support and encourage healthy eating as a key factor of childrens' physical well-being, which can aid their social and academic success.

That's just one of several reasons why Sue Hogan, an Ohio 4-H youth development educator for Ohio State University Extension, is coordinating the seventh annual Ohio School Garden Conference, whose theme is "Voices From the Field."

The conference is hosted by OSU Extension 4-H personnel. Ohio 4-H, the youth development arm of OSU Extension, offers 4-H programs to youth in all 88 of Ohio's counties. OSU Extension is the outreach arm of The Ohio State University College of Food, Agricultural, and Environmental Sciences (CFAES).

The conference provides both a networking opportunity and a chance to learn from others who are actively engaged in school gardening and/or provide expertise and education to those who do, Hogan said.

There are amazing school gardeners in Ohio, and we are working together to make school gardening a solid part of the culture in our state," she said. "By teaching adults to use gardening as a context for learning, we are providing skills for the youth who will benefit from participant knowledge to practice realworld science, among other topics."

"In fact, most seasoned school gardeners agree that almost any subject and life lesson can be taught in a garden and may also lead to workforce development."

The conference is Oct. 22 from 9 a.m. to 3:30 p.m. at the Nationwide & Ohio Farm Bureau 4-H Center, 2201 Fred Taylor Drive, on the Columbus campus. The conference is open to teachers, educational administrators, after-school staff, government employees, nonprofit personnel, interested community members, and others who want to start, maintain, or support a school garden, Hogan said.

Registration is $55, which includes a boxed breakfast and lunch and all materials. Online registration is at go.osu.edu/sgc2021. The deadline to register is Oct. 15, and registration fees cannot be refunded after that time. The keynote speaker for the conference will be Bruce McPheron, professor of entomology and dean's chair of CFAES International Programs. Session topics include the following, among others:

• School garden stories from teachers to administrators

• School gardening and autism

- Season extension
- Herbal gardens • Plant diseases
- Pollinators
- Farm-to-school

• How to start a school garden

· French immersion garden during a pandemic

As America's largest youth development organization, Ohio 4-H, which served 171,983 students in 4-H clubs in all Ohio counties last year, emphasizes leadership and citizenship skills. Ohio youth, ages 5-19, participate in 4-H through community clubs, camps, schools, and shortterm experiences.

For more information on the conference, contact Hogan at hogan.239@osu.edu.

By: Reporter, Carter Manz

On September 15, the Paulding FFA competed at the Hardin Northern soils contest. In the soils competition, students must figure out a wide variety of things such as soil type, soil texture, and complete a general knowledge test.

If the students chose to be in rural soils, they also had to answer questions about nitrogen, phosphorus, and potassium levels in soils and whether the soil would be good for farming or not. If students chose urban soils, they would answer questions such as is the soil suitable to have basements dug in that area or not and whether it is a good area to build buildings on.

has demonstrated their commitment to advancing the mission and values of the poultry community. This year's recipient was Carl Link of Fort Recovery, Ohio. Link got his start in the poultry industry at a young age. When he was in high school, he began working at St. Clair Mills, which later became Cooper Farms - where he worked for more than 50 years. During his tenure at Cooper Farms, Link held many titles and retired as the general production manager of the company's south division in Fort Recovery, where he has since returned to work one day a week on special projects. In addition to his leadership at Cooper Farms, Link has served on numerous boards and advisory committees at the state and national levels, including: the Ohio Turkey Marketing Committee, Ohio Department of Agriculture Permitting Advisory Board, the Ohio Pork Council and the National Pork Board.

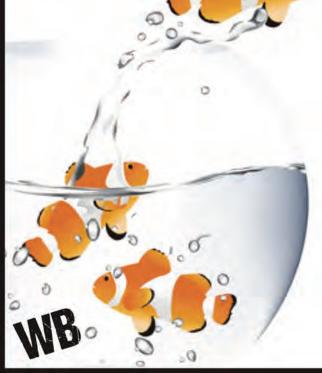

Meritorious Service Award: Lisa Timmerman

The Meritorious Service Award is given annually to someone in academia or allied industry who has provided significant contributions to the Ohio egg and poultry communities. This year, OPA was pleased to honor Lisa Timmerman, of Fort Recovery, Ohio, with this award. For many years, Timmerman served as an integral member of the Cooper Farms team as the egg division manager and animal care coordinator. In these roles, she oversaw all aspects of hen care and flock management. In 2017, Timmerman joined the Hendrix Genetics team as a key account manager leveraging her production experience to add technical service support and strength in the areas of Ohio, Indiana and Michigan. She has gained the trust and confidence of Hendrix's laying hen customers and helped to increase the efficiency and productivity of their flocks. A committed and active member of the Ohio egg and poultry farming community, Timmerman is a past president of the Ohio Poultry Association. In addition, she has served nationally on boards for the United Egg Producers and American Egg Board.

Ohio's egg, chicken and turkey farms are significant contributors to the success of the state's economy. Ohio is one of the leading countries in egg production and produces more than 10 billion eggs each year with an estimated retail value of $523 million. Ohio is also a leader in chicken and turkey production with more than 570 million pounds of chicken and 305 million pounds of turkey produced annually. Ohio's egg, chicken and turkey farms create nearly 16,000 jobs annually, plus an additional 60,000 jobs in supplier and ancillary industries. NEW OHIO INITIATIVES TO ADDRESS FARM STRESS

A new federal grant awarded to the Ohio Department of Agriculture (ODA) will support and enhance several initiatives that address farm stress in Ohio.

In partnership with Ohio State University Extension, training will be provided to mental health and other health care professionals in Ohio on the unique stressors and factors that influence agricultural producers, other individuals working in the agricultural sector, and farm and rural households.

Entitled "Bridging the Gap for Agricultural and Rural Mental Health Training in Ohio," the $500,000 grant was awarded by the U.S. Department of Agriculture's National Institute of Food and Agriculture (NIFA) Farm and Ranch Stress Assistance Network.

"Our farmers and producers are facing incredible stressors," said Cathann A. Kress, vice president for agricultural administration and dean of The Ohio State University College of Food, Agricultural, and Environmental Sciences (CFAES).

"Many farmers are faced with unpredictable issues and concerns daily involving personal health and injuries, equipment and parts, animal health, weather, and crops." Kress said. 'COVID-19 came at an already challenging time for farmers, adding uncertainties and complexities with supply chain, and additional stressors with health and family concerns. Many mental health professionals are not trained, nor do they have direct experience working with the agricultural sector and their unique challenges."

That is where OSU Extension, CFAES' outreach arm, will step in. "Many farmers and rural households do not have access to or have not fully engaged with the resources available to help them address or cope with many of these stressors," said Jackie Kirby Wilkins, director of OSU Extension. "This grant will bring people and resources together to effectively impact farm stress and improve wellbeing. When our farmers are supported, we all benefit."

Under this project, OSU Extension's responsibilities will be

• make existing and newly developed curricula for Ohio's mental health care providers available for continuing education unit (CEU) credits related to the unique stressors existing in the farming community.

· begin to build infrastructure for CEU management.

· provide education and outreach of mental health programming to the agricultural community.

· certify OSU Extension educators as trainers in Mental Health First Aid (MHFA); question, persuade, and refer (OPR); trauma-informed care (TIC); and Generation Rx or other relevant trainings.

putting much-needed resources toward addressing this important topic."

The newest grant will support the expansion of education and training programs designed to build Ohio's capacity to respond to the mental health needs of the farm and rural population, and it will address mental health concerns such as death by suicide, depression, and anxiety. OSU Extension will work with ODA on marketing and outreach strategies.

ers to learn from their peers who have successfully operated CSAs for years as well as hear from OSU Extension experts on a variety of topics."

While all CSAs have some slight differences in how they operate, all work by allowing consumers to purchase a share-some call it a subscription-to a farm in return for weekly deliveries of farm-fresh, local produce, goods, and foods. Farmers and growers benefit because they are able to derive income from the shares, which are often used for payment for their supplies, seeds, and labor costs. During this past year and continuing now, farmers and producers nationwide are seeing an increase in consumer demand for CSA shares because of the COVID-19 pandemic, said Welch, who is also the program manager of Ohio State University Extension's Direct Agricultural Marketing Program. OSU Extension is CFAES' statewide outreach arm.

"Many producers have reported selling out of the available share and have had to start a waiting list of consumers who want to be a part of the CSA," she said. "Our goal with the conference is to share information and best practices to help growers increase their profitability and better serve their customers."

- Topics for the conference include the following: • Online CSA options
- CSA administration

· Continuous crop production

 Introduction to season-extension methods

The conference will also feature a trade show, an optional farm tour, panel discussions from CSA operators, and presentations by:

• Dan and Julie Perkins of Perkins Good Earth Farm, a 180-member CSA, certified organic hardneck garlic and produce farm with an on-farm stand, commercial kitchen, and local wholesale accounts in De Montte, Indiana.

• Theri Niemier-Zimmerman, director of Bertrand Farm, Farming the City with Good Shepherd Montessori School, an agricultural learning center focused on environmental restoration through sustainable farming practice, in Niles, Michigan.

Conference registration is $75 per person and includes meals and handouts. The deadline to register is Oct. 15. Register at go.osu.edu/csaconferenceregistration2021. For more information, contact Welch at welch.183@osu.edu or 740-289-2071.

This project will build on OSU Extension's work on two other North Central Region USDA NIFA farm stress grants. One supported the development of a clearinghouse of state resources that are available on CFAES' Rural and Farm Stress website (u.osu.edu/farmstress). The second grant is supporting the creation of the regional Farm and Ranch Stress Assistance Center, and it has provided funds to add a behavioral health specialist position with OSU Extension.

"Mental health is a serious issue affecting many of our farm families and rural communities all across the state," said ODA Director Dorothy Pelanda. "ODA is proud to be part of a team leading Ohio's efforts and those and other CSA-related questions.

Traci is working on getting kids back on track and they are working progress testing. The kids are still not recovered, education wise, from the COVID year. There is only 9 weeks that the school was closed, but was still a setback for the students. Antwerp is one of the better schools on achievements, but they are still implementing an after school program to try and kids back up to where they should be on standards. The safety grant is now available, and Marty is working with Caleb Miller to see what will be the best path for the school. Enrollment is similar to last year, slightly down. The ACT can now be a measure of giftedness, according to the state. Marty was invited to speak at educational conventions at Orlando and Nashville to present leading the schools forward with science and technology.

October 8 will be a waiver day to "get things done". There must be an offsite evacuation drill with the staff. Every three years the drill must take place and new staff and students must be trained on this.

At the Antwerp vs Tinora football game Antwerp had the largest crowd in a decade. The meeting ended with an executive session meeting.

MUSICAL OPENS AT CIVIC THEATRE

Motherhood, the Musical opens at Van Wert Civic Theatre on September 23 for a two-week run. VWCT is back with "Live Theatre Better Than Ever". This funny show with book, music, and lyrics by Sue Fabisch and arrangements by Johnny Rodgers, takes a walk through all things motherhood - the good, the bad, the funny, and the touching. This is an evening of pure entertainment. In fact, this year's entire season is lighthearted fun. The theme for this season is "We're Still Standing", and VWCT has persevered to bring shows back to their 170-seat intimate theatre on South Race Street in Van Wert, Ohio.

Director / Choreographer Jerry Zimmerman and Music Director Dee Fisher have assembled a stellar cast. This production is a collaboration with Amil Tellers Encore Theatre who will have a six-show run after the show closes at VWCT. Not only is the collaboration innovative but so is the casting. Two of the roles are shared by actresses. Each performance will be a unique show. Debbie Briggs plays the soon-to-be mom, Amy; and Stacy Rife plays Barb, an overworked, underpaid, stressedout mother of five. The role of Brooke, a lawyer who works too much and barely sees her kids, is shared by two actresses - Mary Ann Falk and Laura Warnement. Tina, a single mom struggling to balance work, family, and a divorce, is played by Kristin Lee and Nancy Williams-Shuffle. In addition to the four main characters, a fifth gal graces the stage. Audiences will have to show up to see who is

DENTIFYING AUTISM IS FIRST STEP FOR PARENTS AND CHILDREN

Doreen King was not concerned that anything was wrong when she was asked to come back for a follow-up appointment after her son Calvin's 18-month wellness appointment.

"I didn't think anything of it, because with a small child you see the doctor often," recalls King. "But then the doctor told me he had some concerns about Calvin's development and that he should have been saying a few things by this age and he wasn't saying anything at all. They were also a little concerned about eye contact and development in general." In the United States, about one in six children aged three to 17 years have one or more developmental or behavioral disabilities, such as autism, a learning disorder or attention-deficit/hyperactivity disorder. Developmental screening looks at how a child is developing. The American Academy of Pediatrics (AAP) recommends developmental and behavioral screening for all children at 9 months, 18 months and 30 months. In addition, AAP recommends that all children be screened specifically for autism spectrum disorder (ASD) at 18 months and 24 months.

firmed a diagnosis of autism spectrum disorder. Alexandru Tanase, MD, CMQ, FAAP, a board-certified pediatrician with Lutheran Health Physicians in Warsaw, recommended that the Kings enroll Calvin in a program called First Steps.

"When a child is diagnosed with an autism spectrum disorder, many parents feel overwhelmed and experience high levels of stress. It is important that parents take time to experience the feelings," says Tanase. "The child is still the same person, and the diagnosis just provides a medical explanation for why the child has a certain set of strengths and weaknesses."

"There is no one-size-fitsall treatment," explains Tanase."The goal of treatment is to maximize a child's ability to function by reducing ASD symptoms and supporting development and learning. Early intervention during the preschool years can help the child learn critical social, communication, functional and behavioral skills. An individualized approach with close monitoring is recommended as the child's needs change over time."

King feels Applied Behavior Analysis therapy (ABA) has been amazing for Calvin. The goal of ABA therapy is to increase behaviors that are helpful and decrease behaviors that are harmful or affect learning. "Dr. Tanase checks on Calvin's development often," says King. "He's now four and while mostly not verbal, he is understanding us a lot better. He needed to learn how to learn. He's been able to point to things that he wants, take our hands and lead us. He knows commands so if he's going to do something dangerous, we can tell him to stop' and he does." King says it has been a journey but feels blessed to have people like Dr. Tanase involved along the way. "I don't say this often, but Dr. Tanase is probably the most intelligent doctor I have ever

LEINARD MOBILE HOME Park - An exceptional Place to live!

The Antwerp Chamber of Commerce spotlight for September is Leinard Mobile Home Park at 103 Frank Leinard Parkway Co Rd 424 Antwerp, Ohio.

The mobile home park has been a stable center in the Antwerp community for many years. The farm ground on which the mobile home park stands today was first farm ground that was purchased by Frank and Barb Leinard in 1968. The park grew through the 1970's with the strong production at the Dana-Weatherhead facility and many other plentiful jobs in the area. Interest rates on home mortgages were very high during that time making mobile home living more feasible.

The park has grown to 63 lots today.

Mary Leinard, Frank's daughter, began working with her father at the park in 1997.

After Frank's passing, Mary purchased the park and operated it until just recently when she decided to retire. The park was purchased by Andrew and Jill Elbrecht from Ft. Wayne. It was important to Mary that whoever purchased the park would continue the personal, family oriented feeling that Mary has developed within the park over the last 24 years. There are residents that have been in the park for 35 years with some 3rd generation residents. Mary felt that she found within Andrew and Jill, people who will continue with the legacy that she has worked hard to maintain and Andrew says that he is fully committed to keeping that legacy alive and well.

Andrew will be retaining the name of Leinard Mobile Home Park. The property is a family investment and he will be the face of the park. There are currently 47 homes within the park all of which are occupied at this time. There are 16 additional lots that he intends to place mobile homes on. Andrew intends that the park remain a safe, secure and family oriented park. He wants to main-
