CARING & SHARING FOOD PANTRY THANKFUL FOR COMMUNITY SUPPORT

Carol Razo of the First Presbyterian Church of Paulding and Pantry volunteers from the Paulding Exempted Village Middle School volleyball team displaying reusable shopping bags made of T-shirts by the women of the church.

At Thanksgiving time, the Caring & Sharing Food Pantry and its Board wish to express gratitude for all of the gifts from the community.

The mission of the Pantry is to eliminate food insecurity in Paulding County. It does so by providing food and basic personal care items to the people who live here. But actually, acts of kindness and neighbors helping neighbors is what fuels the Pantry's operations.

"The number of clients we serve has been increasing over the past few months," said Jodi Schneider, executive director of the Caring & Sharing Food Pantry. "We are going to hit our all-time, monthly high number of households served by the end of November. And during this time of increased demand, we have witnessed miraculous response from the people and businesses in our community through neighborly and divinely inspired donations of groceries and money."

In the past several months, the Pantry has received dona-(Continued on Page 4)

PARSON TO PERSON

By: Dr. James Bachman Dear Parson,

Matthew 25:31-46 sounds like works salvation. Is it?

No! Jesus here is giving the separation of the sheep and the goats. Notice in verse 32 that this is the judgment of the nations which takes place at the end of the tribulation and is not to be confused with The Great White Throne Judgment in Revelation 20.

The nations are considered as the Gentiles, and the brethren (verse 40) stands for the persecuted Jews during the Tribulation.

The sheep are those Gentiles who will care for the needs of the hungry, thirsty, stranger, naked, sick and imprisoned Jews during the Tribulation. The goats on the other hand, will not care for the needs of the persecuted.

The sheep and goats were not saved or lost by their works, but were identified by their work. "For by grace are ye saved through faith; and that not of yourselves: it is the gift of God: not by works, lest any man should boast." – Ephesians 2:8-9

"SOMEDAY" A WORD OF HOPE

By: Doris Applegate

Perhaps there is not a person who doesn't say, or at least think of a future 'someday' when life gets easier, things get better, the road gets less bumpy and our ship comes in, our dreams come true. Isn't it so? Life can be hard if we are not 'yoked up' with Jesus Christ. See Matthew11:28-30 where Jesus says: Come to me, you who labour and are heavy laden and I will give you rest. Take my yoke upon you and learn of me for I am meek and lowly in heart and you will find rest unto your souls.

My yoke is easy and my burden in light. Jesus Christ bears the heavy load if we let him. This is the 'someday' many, many people want but don't realize that this is the answer. Come on! You don't have to hope any longer. Jesus is reaching out to you, even now and wanting to give you your 'someday'. Don't be stubborn and rebellious like a goat who won't vield but be humble and see the need for help. We don't have to "go it alone".

The 'price has been paid' The blood of Jesus Christ was freely given for all, but it has to be received. Why pass up a free gift? We want free things that the world offers so why pass up the best free gift that enable us to have eternal life and escape hell? Doesn't make sense to me.

The story is told of a little girl who lived in a 'shack' of a house. She said "See that hill over there? 'someday' my dad said when things get better we will build a nice beautiful house there." Perhaps that is the thought behind the song i ve got a mansion just over the hilltop, in that bright land where we'll never grow old, and someday yonder, we will never more wander, but walk on streets that are purest gold." Yes there is a better day coming for believers in Jesus Christ. Our someday can start today if we want. God loves everyone, and that means you. It can't be said any plainer. ""Whosoever will may come and be saved (born again). Choices are made everyday, some good (great) and some bad (terrible). How will you choose? If you choose good, someday we will meet in Heaven. Amen

OHIO'S ALZHEIMER'S DISEASE & RELATED DEMENTIAS TASK FORCE PREPARES ITS FINDINGS

A panel of experts from around Ohio has determined that the state lacks a coordinated approach to the growing public health crisis of Alzheimer's disease and other dementias.

Now advocates around the state are waiting to find out what the recommendations are to fix it.

Ohio's Alzheimer's Disease and Related Dementias Task Force is formulating steps the state should take to create Ohio's first state Alzheimer's Plan. The Task Force is evaluating seven core areas - from early detection and intervention to long-term services and support. With one out of every nine Ohioans aged 65 and older impacted by Alzheimer's disease and other dementias, according to the Task Force's preliminary findings summary, the end result should have a wide impact. Eric VanVlymen, Regional Leader for the Alzheimer's Association in Ohio, said, "As the state begins to take steps to fundamentally and holistically transform the services and systems that help Ohio's families impacted by Alzheimer's and dementia, our hope is that Ohio emerges as a leader in Alzheimer's early detection, education, support, and care delivery."

Dr. Robert Applebaum, Professor of Gerontology and Director of the Ohio Long-Term Care Research Project at the Scripps Gerontology Center at Miami University, said over the past 20 years, Ohio has dramatically improved its system of longterm services from going to about nine out of 10 people being in nursing homes to now more people being served with in-home community-based care, which includes services provided at assisted living facilities. But "just like many other states, there are substantial challenges, and these are the things we are going to have to deal with in the next 20 years because we are going to increase our population in disability pretty dramatically and we've got to respond to the challenges we currently face," Applebaum said.

• Not enough focus on early detection of dementia and helping people forestall cognitive decline

Medicare Part B covers a separate visit with a doctor or a specialist to do a full review of cognitive function. Yet according to the Task Force's preliminary findings summary, fewer than half of Ohioans age 65 and older receive regular cognitive assessments.

"We spend almost all of our money on people after the problem has occurred as opposed to trying to help the problem from occurring or getting worse," Applebaum said. "We would be very smart to at least put some level of resources into helping people forestall or delay or prevent the disability that is physical and cognitive because we know that there are things people can do on the cognitive side to delay declines," he said.

In terms of Medicaid, Applebaum said that the system in Ohio really uses Medicaid as the vehicle to deliver support for people with disabilities. "But the problem is that most older people are not eligible for Medicaid – less than 10 percent of older people in Ohio are eligible for Medicaid," he said.

According to the Alzheimer's Association's Facts and Figures report, last year Ohio spent $2.5 billion in Medicaid costs for caring for people with Alzheimer's.

"Ohio is a big state and we have the sixth largest elder population in America. We're going to have a lot of old people and we've got to be prepared and we are not," Applebaum said.

THE NAME GAME

Penny For Your Thoughts By: Nancy Whitaker

As 2021 starts to wind down, I always like to look back and see what was popular and see lists of what things were in and what were on their way out.

One important and interesting list that appears each year is a list of the most popular baby names. The list never fails to make us wonder about some of the names that parents give their newborns.

We do know that in the past we have heard about monikers such as: Apple, North, Shiloh and Suri.

However, those aren't bad as some celebrities have bestowed names on their offspring such as: Jermajesty, Pilot Inspector, Sosie, Kal-El Coppola, Audio Science, Kyd, Fifi, Rebel, Racer, Rogue, Draco Verta and Buddy Bear. According to a survey done by a magazine the top ten most popular names for girls in 2014 were: Sophia, Emma, Olivia, Ava, Isabella, Mia, Zoe, Lily, Emily and Madelyn. Top names for the boys included: Jackson, Aiden, Liam, Lucas, Noah, Mason, Ethan, Caden, Jacob and Logan.

Southern-style names are up as well. Tennessee is 61 percent more selected for boys this year and Macon is up 29 percent.

According to Ancestory.com some names were just too bad to stick on anyone, but through the years, it was done. Some parents loved eating so much, they named their kids after favorite meals, snacks and condiments. Some of these very uncommon names were: Lunch Magee, Dinner Ware, Bread White, Hero Brat, Mayo Head, Mus-

Parker, Plum Sellers, Banana

A lot of us don't particularly like our name, but they could be a lot worse. Parents have named their children after diseases, saints and even sins. Do you want to know the worst name on record by a magazine happens to be?

It is "Harry Pitts." after hearing that name, others don't sound nearly as bad.

you could rename yourself what would you choose? Let me know and I'll give you a Penny for Your Thoughts.

MILITARY HISTORY IN PAULDING COUNTY

By: Mark Holtsberry

Paul Philander Gusler was born June 29, 1895 near Grover Hill, Ohio. He was the son of Simon Allen and Catherine Eunice (Gilbert) Gusler.

By 1900 Simon, Catherine along with 8 children, were living in Latty, Ohio. Simon was a farmer who made sure that Paul received an education. Paul was schooled in county schools of the community. Simon was still farming and Paul was attending Haviland School. Paul went on to receive college training at Tri State College, Angola, Indiana, he also went to the College of Agriculture at the Ohio State University.

Paul enlisted in Company B. of the 2nd Ohio National Guard in Paulding, July of 1917. On June 5, 1918, in Latty, Ohio, Paul registered for the draft. Records state that he was single and medium build, medium height, dark brown hair, with dark brown eyes. On June 15, 1918, Paul was shipped out to be sent to France, from Hoboken, New Jersey on the ship "Leviathan". Once arriving in France, Paul was assigned to Company I. of the 145th Machine Gun Company, 37th Division, and given the rank of Sergeant.

After being stationed in the Vosges Mountain region, Paul wrote an article to the Paulding Republican newspaper talking about the scenery. "The view from the top of a hill with the sun brightening up the opposite slope of the valley is the finest kind of scene you can imagine". "No I haven't learned how to speak French yet, but I have picked up a few things in the couple of weeks we have been here." "No doubt there is a letter somewhere on the road for me. At least I hope so. From now on it will be pretty difficult to answer letters, as you can see." Paul, along with his unit, took part in the Muese-Argonne Forest, as well as the Ypres- Lys Defensive sector. During the Flanders offensive, on October 31, 1918, in Belgium, the first day of the offensive along the Lys and Scheldt Rivers near Ólsene, Paul was killed by a shell fragment in the throat. In early December 1918, Paul's father, Simon, received a letter from a young man whom had served with Paul since the early armory days in Paulding, that his son Paul had been killed. This man's letter was received before any government official could reach the family.

Paul was cited posthumanously for Meritorious Service in Action by Major General Farnsworth, Commanding General of the 37th Division. Paul was buried in the American Military Cemetery, in Waergham, West Flanders, Belgium, in Block A., Row 2., Grave 18. During the 1920's, the Gold Star Mothers Association, lobbied for a Federally sponsored pilgrimage to Europe for mothers with sons buried overseas. In 1929, Congress enacted legislation that authorized the Secretary of War to arrange for the mothers to visit the graves of their sons in Europe. Mrs. Catherine Gusler, of Grover Hill, chose not to go. The villagers of West Flanders, to this day, still take care of this Cemetery!

LOCAL ALZHEIMER'S CAREGIVER MISSION IS TO LET OTHER CAREGIVERS KNOW THEY ARE NOT ALONE

Pamela Anderson has been a caregiver for a large part of her life. Her primary mission is to keep her mother, who is in the final stages of Alzheimer's, healthy, happy and safe. Another mission is to spread awareness and understanding of Alzheimer's disease and let other caregivers know they are not alone.

Anderson's program, You are Not Alone-Dementia Talk with Pamela, can be viewed Thursday at 7 p.m. EST on The Queen Silvy Now You Know Show on Facebook and YouTube, as well as on Anderson's Facebook group page.

Anderson shares her own caregiving journey through her recorded videos that began more than a decade ago when her father had a stroke. "My mom, who is a retired nurse, became his caregiver," said Anderson. "I would stop by for visits and began to notice changes in my mom's behavior."

said Anderson her mother would call and ask her to come by, then be out shopping and not remember calling her or even that she was supposed to be home caring for her husband. Her mother began to display agitation and defensiveness, something common among PAGE 3 – WEST BEND NEWS – NOVEMBER 30, 2021 is progressing to the final stages, and I recently arranged home hospice care for her."

"I strive to stay aware, informed and encouraged," said Anderson. "That's why I do You are Not Alone-Dementia Talk with Pamela, to help others, to share the things I've learned and to spread awareness and knowledge. I want other caregivers to understand they are not alone in facing Alzheimer's."

Criticism from family and friends can be a challenge and discouraging to caregivers said Anderson. "Being a caregiver can be one of the most difficult roles you have in life, and it can be even more difficult when you are faced with caregiver criticism. You get all kinds of opinions and suggestions from all directions, but mostly from family and friends."

"You must learn to manage criticism and set some boundaries for yourself," she continued. "You don't have to act on every suggestion. Just do what you know is right for your loved one and keep them healthy, happy and safe."

A support system for practical tips, resources and education is important for all "The caregivers. Alzheimer's Association has been the best support system through my caregiving journey," stated Anderson. "They provide excellent resources and important information to caregivers, and continue to be one of my most valuable support systems."

"Locally, the Alzheimer's Association provides care and support services, as well as education programs, absolutely free of charge," said Julia Pechlivanos, Executive Director of the Alzheimer's Association Northwest Ohio Chapter.

'We have early-stage groups for individuals recently diagnosed, as well as support groups for caregivers, plus care consultations. Dementia touches the entire family as well as friends, and the Alzheimer's Association is here to help everyone impacted."

November is National Alzheimer's Disease Awareness Month and National Family Caregivers Month. In Ohio, there are 220,000 individuals living with the disease and 442,000 unpaid caregivers.

Support for caregivers includes in-person and virtual support groups, virtual and in-person education programs, family care consultations and a 24/7 Helpline that is staffed by trained clinicians to offer confidential support and information to people living with dementia, caregivers, families and the public. STUDENTS FOCUS ON SUSTAINABILITY AND RECYCLING FOR 2021 SCIENCE SERIES

Students from the Lima City Schools will be at Ohio State Lima Monday, November 22, 2021, as part of Stardust 2021: The William A. Fowler Science Series. They will visit a variety of labs including chemistry, geology and biology. They will also spend some time with current Ohio State students. 100 students from Lima Senior High School and the South Science and Technology Magnet are expected to attend. As part of the science series, Dr. Bart Elmore, associate professor of environmental history and core faculty member of the Sustainability Institute at The Ohio State University, will speak to the students at 11:15 a.m., in the Martha W. Farmer Theatre for the Performing Arts. The focus of seventh annual series keynote is the relationship between corporations and recycling. Elmore is the author of Citizen Coke: The Making of Coca-Cola Capitalism, a history of how Coke's thirst for natural resources shaped the company and reshaped the globe.

The public is welcome to attend Elmore's talk but seating priority will be given to students. Elmore began his teaching career as a high school history teacher and retains a soft spot for the age group.

"I love writing books, but spending time with young people is honestly a much better use of my time!" Elmore said. "I know that if the engineers, scientists, teachers, doctors, and businessmen of the next generation have a sound understanding of their connection to this amazing ecosystem we live in, they will be more thoughtful in their actions and more curious about how nature can be an ally rather than an enemy in helping us create profitable enterprises that enrich rather than degrade our natural environment."

Following his visit to campus, Elmore will connect digitally with the students to discuss career paths to the sciences and related fields.

In addition to the visit to the campus, students will be studying recycling and sustainability in class. Seventh and eighth graders will also be working with local artist Libbi Barhorst to create an art project from recycled materials to be displayed at South.

More about Bart Elmore

Bart Elmore studies the past to understand how we can live more sustainably on this planet. NW OHIO LAW ENFORCEMENT COLLABORATION 10th ANNUAL LIGHTS FOR LIVES

The 10th annual "Lights for Lives" was a successful operation, once again showing what can be accomplished by law enforcement working cooperatively in a multi-agency, multi- jurisdictional effort. In the spirit of collaboration, the Ohio State Highway Patrol Findlay District partnered with law enforcement agencies across northwest Ohio to participate in the effort. Agencies from Williams, Fulton, Lucas, Defiance, Henry, Wood, Putnam, Paulding, Hancock, Van Wert, Allen, and Hardin counties participated.

"Lights for Lives" is an enforcement campaign focused on saving as many lives as possible. This is accomplished by officers activating their overhead lights and stopping as many vehicles as possible that have committed traffic violations. This is in attempt to educate and change motorists' behavior by officers being highly visible with their overhead lights going. The campaign began November 23 at 6 a.m. and ran through November 25 at 6 a.m., kicking off the holiday driving season. During the 48-hour oper-

LETTER TO THE EDITOR

America or not?

I'm writing this after reading a news article over the weekend about a town that wasn't going to put up holiday lights because someone or some group was offended??? I have been expecting this with the anti everything going on but this was sooner than I expected.

What is so offensive about putting up decorations and festive lights to try to brighten up a year made gloomy by an administration that has gone to the dark side? Here it is, the most Holy day of the year, when we celebrate the birth of the greatest man to walk the earth, who came for we the people, but someone has to be offended by what?

Just wait till Christmas gets closer, I'm sure it will be "too white" or Santa Claus is "too white". I'm not a big Christmas person but this time of year with everything, the lights, the music...it can't help but to make you feel at ease and reflect on what we have. It's not about the presents or spending money, but doing things with and for friends.

What kind of people or groups are offended by lights and celebrating? Probably the same groups that are offended by statues and monuments to history and history itself. They are trying to remove everything that this country was founded and grew on. Wonder if they even teach history in school anymore, they sure seem to be teaching socialism more, brainwashing kids to turn against everything that happened. I'm sorry, history happened, the Civil War, slavery, wars to preserve our freedoms that our government is trying to take away. You can't change or remove history by their acts. It happened and we learned from it and grew stronger and more educated. I'm offended by things too. Mainly BLM groups, Antifia groups who call their violence and illegal acts protesting. And the people who support these acts of destruction are no better than the actual groups. Protesting is one thing, burning, looting, destroying property and injuring people because you don't like something is pure criminal and terrorism but is not being dealt with as such. Thank Obama for this as it started during his years and he let it continue instead of putting a stop to it. Even if the National Guard would have had to be called out with orders to give them X number of minutes to clear out before they started shooting. A bit extreme but these people excite violence and destruction they don't understand anything else.

I'm so sick of these two terrorist groups preying on our country and nothing is done, then they start on this "white privilege" crap and blame us for everything. Now starting on our holidays. I'm sure. Christmas is supposed to be a season of joy, happiness and remembering and giving thanks to be living in America and believing and worshiping as we want. These people in these groups should be loaded into airplanes and given a one way ticket to another country where they have no voice or freedom. Try North Korea or Red China. Let them pull their crap there and see what happens. Or burn, spit or step on that country's flag, they won't be around long. But yet they do that to our flag and call it freedom of speech. That's disrespecting every person who fought and died defending it and all we people who love to see it flying, it represents freedom.

America needs to wake up and take stands against what's going on, especially with our present administration who are pushing for a socialist society. If we don't, we are in bad trouble and it's going to get worse especially the gas prices and everything else. Biden is blaming everyone else and every other country for the prices when he is the one who did it.

So back to the Christmas season, fly your flags, put up your lights and decorations, listen to the holiday music and those who are offended that's too bad. Just ignore it as we intelligent people do when we don't agree with something. It's America people, we have the freedom to do this, at least now we do. And most of all, remember the reason for this special time of year. Not the presents, spending money or trying to keep up with your neighbors, but the man who came for us and gave up everything for us so long ago. Most of all don't be afraid to voice your opinions, by speaking, or in editorials. You have that right, you are

Despite taking some extra precautions this year compared to years past, the attendance did not take a hit, according to Stein.

"This year, we decided to change a few things, like offering a takeout turkey meal as opposed to dining in, and we team a 29-22 lead. The Stoller bucket turned out to be the only fourth quarter points for the red, white and blue. North Central would manage just four points allowing the Raiders to prevail with the three-point win.

While shooting was a little off for both squads, the Raiders did shine defensively. The Eagles were guilty of 23 turnovers to just 13 for WT. Rachel Stoller led the Raiders with 12 points along with eight rebounds and four steals. Abby Moore just missed a double-double with eight points and a team high 10 rebounds. Rounding out the scoring for the Raiders: Elise Miller four; Rylee Troth three and Christina Graham mailed prizes to all winners afterward to avoid post-race congregating," she said. "We certainly wanted to be together again, but also wanted to do things as safely as possible. And our numbers were great. They were similar to our 2018 numbers, which were fantastic."

The top female at this year's event was 15-year-old Nicki Southerland of Muncie, Indiana. She clocked in with a chip time of 17:35, while the top overall male was Angel Martinez of St. Henry, checking in at 18:20.

For North Central, Madison Brown was their go-to player with 14 points along with six boards and five steals. Also scoring for the 0-2 Eagles: Lauren Balser five; Kendal Bonney four and Isabelle Burnett.

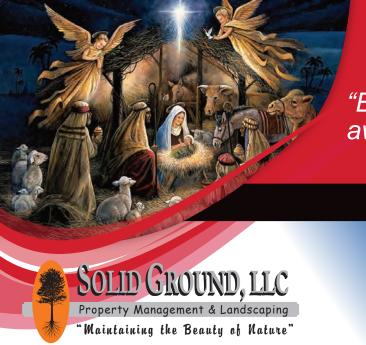

Logan Miller had the remaining basket for the Tigers.

PATRIOTS HOLD ON FOR WIN OVER RAILROADERS

Heritage took a ten-point lead into the fourth quarter and needed every one of them in holding on for a 42-41 victory over Garrett in the boys basketball season opener Wednesday night.

The host Railroaders posted a slim 11-10 advantage after eight minutes of action but Heritage answered with a 16-point second quarter in grabbing a 26-18 halftime lead. The Patriots expanded the margin to 38-28 entering the final stanza where Garrett outscored Heritage 13-4 but came up just short.

TRAILER PARK CHRISTMAS MUSICAL

Van Wert Civic Theatre presents the musical comedy, The Great American Trailer Park Christmas Musical, on December 2, 3, 4, 9, 10, and 11 at 8 p.m. and Dec 5 and 12 at 2 p.m. With book by Betsy Kelso and music and lyrics by David Nehls, this show is a companion to the original The Great American Trailer Park Musical that VWCT produced in 2018.

It's holiday time, and Betty (Kara Place), Lin (Tabitha Kline), and Pickles (Stacie Rife) still reside in Armadillo Acres, North Florida's premier mobile-living community, where tacky decorations and poorly wired Christmas trees holding mudflap angels abound. This year's season will be merrier if they can win the Mobile Homes and Gardens contest for their holiday bling, but the Christmas curse looms over them. Darlene (Nancy Shuffle), the designated Scrooge of the drunken tale, hopes every ornament winds up in the dumpster. Darlene encounters a shocking turn of events when she discovers her good-hearted redneck neighbor Rufus (Jerry Zimmerman) has been stealing her cable. The cat-fightin' and Keg Nog drinkin' heats up when Jackie (Travis Nihiser) shows up to find his woman eyeing another man.

Directed and choreographed by Zimmerman with music direction by Dee Fisher, The Great American Trailer Park Christmas Musical is guaranteed to get you laughing while being thankful for the wackiest relatives in your life. This musical is rated R for language and adult situations.

By: Carter Manz, Paulding FFA Reporter

Recently, 5 Paulding FFA members headed to Carey High School for the District Job Interview CDE. They were able to compete at the district level after placing 1st or 2nd in the sub-district job interview contest at Kalida. Paulding had the following members compete: Paige Jones, Carter Manz, Caydence Rue, Jamy Hunt, and Jayln Klopfenstein. These members prepared a formal cover letter, created their own resume and gathered references. The students picked out a job position in which they wanted to apply for. The students then had to fill out a job application and have a formal interview and completed the contest by writing a follow-up letter. This contest prepares students for future job interviews as well as improving on their public speaking skills. The members did a great job at this competition with Freshman, Jalyn Klopfenstein finishing in 4th place, Sophomore Jamy Hunt in 3rd place, Junior Carter Manz in 6th place, Division 5 member Caydence Rue placing 4th and finally senior Paige Jones placing FIRST in the Sr Division. Great job representing the Paulding FFA Chapter and good luck to Paige Jones as she competes at the State Job Interview Contest in Columbus on December 4th!

DEFIANCE COUNTY FAIR BENEFITS FROM NWEC HOT AIR BALLOON APPEARANCE

"Concern for Community" is one of the 7 Cooperative Principles, but North Western Electric Cooperative (NWEC) takes that commitment a step further. On August 7, NWEC sponsored the Touchstone Energy[®] hot air balloon at the United Way's Defiance County Hot Air Balloon Festival, a fundraising event for the Community Engagement Center.

In addition to the participation in the festival, NWEC also presented a $1,050 donation to the Defiance County Agricultural Society as a result of the balloon's appearance, a sign of the co-op's commitment to community and desire to empower its members' quality of life.

The balloon was introduced in 2000 by Touchstone Energy[®] as a goodwill ambassador for Touchstone Energy Cooperatives across the country. The brand's identity and core values — integrity, accountability, innovation and commitment to community

Touchstone Energy Cooperatives are a national alliance of local, consumer-owned electric utilities across the country committed to providing high standards of service to customers large and small. More than 750 Touchstone Energy Cooperatives in 46 states are delivering energy and energy solutions to about 32 million consumer-members every day.

RIEDEL & MANCHESTER ANNOUNCE DAM IMPROVEMENT FUNDS

Representatives State Craig S. Riedel (R-Defiance) and Susan Manchester (R-Waynesfield) announce dam improvement funding that will go to Grand Lake St. Marys in helping protect the Lake Erie watershed. The funding is part of a $24 million state-owned dam rehabilitation and improvements appropriation approved by the Controlling Board last week.

"Protecting our lakes and watersheds is vital to our environment and economy," Rep. Riedel said.

A portion of these funds will go toward the Grand Lake St. Marys Aquatic Nuisance Species Barrier Project. Modifications to the east dam spillway are required in order to prevent the migration of aquatic nuisance species between the Ohio River watershed and the Lake Erie watershed.

Being proactive is more efficient and economical, and will lead to a better outcome," Rep. Manchester said.

Grant Lake St. Marys was originally constructed as a feeder reservoir for the Miami-Erie Canal. Today, it is one of the region's top recreational attractions, offering boating, camping and swimming opportunities.
